Republican County Contests Highlight Primary Election

MAIN STREET

From Don Harris, former Belmond florist who now lives near Colorado Springs, Colo., we've received a remittance in payment of his Independent subscription for another year. "Let it come," Don remarks. "It's part of the family." Nothing brightens an editor's day quite so much as a few kind words like those of Mr. Harris'.

—M-S—

We're more or-less accustomed to hearing expressions of satisfaction over the good job Independent classified ads do, but it's relatively rare that we have one cancelled because a first insertion has been TOO effective. That was our pleasure this week, however.

Stanley Moe walked into the office and ordered a FOR SALE ad on spring fries to be taken ont, although it had been ordered to run for two more issues.

"People are running my wife ragged," he explained. "We've sold close to 175 fries since last Saturday. That first insertion was a great plenty."

If you take Stanley's advice, you won't go messin' around with an Independent classified unless you want ACTION. Don't forget, they're also mighty effective in getting rid of "white elephants" that YOU want to get rid of, but which someone else could put to good use.

—M-S—

We regret that the name of Leslie J. Johnson was incorrectly listed on last week's World War II Memorial Day roll of honor. Also by some hook or crook the name of Nancy Johnson—whom we'd intended to recognize as author of the 1950 Class Will—got lost in the shuffle and the document was not so credited. Anyway, Nancy did it!

—M-S—

Mrs. Pat Dillon, uninfluenced by her optimistic fellow-townsmen, entered a census guess of 2,073 in the contest conducted by Dutch Thompsen's clothing store and thereby wins title to a new hat. Hers was the only guess that was lower than the unofficial total reported by the district supervisor last week. All others ran more than 100 higher than the 2,173 that the enumerators counted.

In the give-away contest conducted by Ted's Shoe Shop in celebration of Ted and Nita Behrend's 10th anniversary in Belmond, H. J. Mourlam won the men's brogans, the women's slippers went to June Brasser and the the kids' shoes became the possession of Marilyn Mason.

—M-S—

LADY! Do you still have the same husband you started out with? Is he still just as manageable as ever? Is he still able to look a box of bicarbonate in the face without reaching for a glass and spoon? If you can answer all the above questions in the affirmative, you have scored 100 per cent and are therefore eligible to enter the Father's Day Menu Contest being sponsored by Spurling's Cafe.

In an ad in this issue, Proprietor Ed Spurling proclaims that he will give six bucks in prizes to the three persons submitting the winning menus in said contest. Look up the rules and get your entry ready. YOU can use a bit of pin money as well as anyone, can't you?

Republican Women Will Hold Meeting on Friday

Republican candidates for county offices and the two candidates for state representative, Clark McNeal and George F. Peterson, will be guests this Friday at a luncheon being held by the Wright County Republican Women at Clarmond Country club.

All the candidates will be introduced during the course of the meeting, over which Mrs. Robert Blue—as head of the women's organization—will preside. Luncheon will be served at 1:00 p. m.

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW TUESDAY SPONSORED BY ROWAN FIRE DEPT.

Rowan will be the site of a Jersey Cattle Parish Show next Tuesday, June 9, according to an announcement by Hubert Tudor, well-known breeder of Jerseys and president of the Parish No. 2 association. The Rowan community fire department will sponsor the event.

Mr. Tudor expects between 30 and 60 head of cattle to be entered. The No. 2 parish includes about 10 north central Iowa counties. Champions and reserve champions will be selected in each class and these winners will be eligible to compete for state honors at the All-Iowa Fair at Cedar Rapids later in the summer.

A cattle expert from the Iowa State college department of dairy husbandry will judge the entries.

The public is cordially invited to visit the show, which will be conducted on Rowan's main street. At noon, lunch will be available through the auspices of the fire department.

Architects Asked to Submit Preliminary Hospital Plans

Further Progress Rests Heavily On Pledge Payments

After a brief spell in the doldrums, the movement to bring Belmond a new, modern hospital got back into gear this week with submittal of general specifications to two architectural firms, with a view to actual drafting of plans.

Several key members of the planning board met Wednesday and agreed tentatively that $175,000 should be earmarked for construction costs and that a minimum of 28 to 30 beds should be set. With these figures to go on, the architects have been asked to make definite suggestions as to what they can offer and, if feasible, to sumbit rough sketches.

At this time it appears very likely that the site of the hospital will be the area that at present comprises the city parking lot and the back portion of the lot occupied by Steele Memorial Clinic and Hospital. A number of potential sites have been carefully studied, but the central location of the one mentioned was a determining factor in winning the favor of the site committee.

It would permit construction of a hospital of the size proposed, which would include one four-bed room and 13 to contain one or two beds, according to demand. Whether the building will be of one or two-story construction will depend largely upon recommendations of the architect.

Payment of pledges has bogged down badly in the past couple of weeks, and Treasurer A. C. Hanson asks that contributors be reminded that it is vitally important that pledges be paid at the earliest possible moment.

Unpledged contributions will also be most welcome, needless to say, as the planning board is having to operate on a definitely minimum budget and additional funds will both simplify their job and assure a hospital of which the Belmond area can be rightfully proud.

Several hospitals have been closed in recent weeks by the state department of health because they failed to meet required standards. Since the local doctors have been notified on several occasions that continued operation of Steele Memorial hospital depends upon progress being made toward replacing it, the planning board stresses that time is of the essence in completing plans for the new structure.

DR. NELSON VACATIONING

Dr. A. M. Nelson announces in today's paper that his office will be closed until June 12, while he and Mrs. Nelson are vacationing at Crane Lake, Minn. They left last Sunday morning.

CLOSING NOTICE

FIRST BAND CONCERT OF SUMMER SEASON SCHEDULED THURSDAY

First in the series of summer band concerts is scheduled for next Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. in the city park. The concerts will extend through a period of eight weeks. It is hoped that a musical aggregation of 50 pieces can be organized for the summer season.

Director Duane Cunning is a bit discouraged about the success of the concerts in view of the refusal of several employers to release for an hour on concert nights the young musicians who have summer jobs under them. He is still hopeful that something can be worked out on this score.

Any adult musicians who would be interested in playing with the band during the summer concerts are cordially invited by Mr. Cunning to do so. The first rehearsal will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the school band room.

As usual, student musicians will be given private lessons during the concert season and these will be started next Monday. Mr. Cunning says that lesson schedules will be mailed out this weekend.

Tomahawks Down Rockwell, 5 to 3

Playing much better ball than they did in their opening game, the Belmond Tomahawks downed Rockwell Sunday on the latter's diamond by a 5-3 score to avenge an earlier 11-5 defeat by the same team.

Bud Nissen allowed seven hits but kept them quite well scattered; he fanned 11 batters and walked only two. At the plate, Bud Boelman made his batting record six-for-seven to date by hitting safely three times in four plate appearances.

Jake Koenen, the Meservey star, Max Spain and Pitcher Nissen each collected a pair of hits. Lowell Gaetzke got Belmond's only extra base hit, lashing out a double as the first man at bat.

Clark, pitching for the losers, was touched for 12 hits as he struck out six and passed one man. Co-Managers R. B. Thompson and Charley Studebaker were greatly encouraged with the Tomahawks' showing and look for them to give Garner a real tussle in the season's league opener at Garner next Sunday.

Sunday's summary:

Belmond	210	000	200--5-12-2
Rockwell	000	012	200--3- 7-1

Batteries: Nissen and Boelman; Clark and Fitzgerald.

Ronnie Hunter Elected College Paper Editor

CELEBRATION PLANNED

June 12 through 14 are the dates set for the annual American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars celebration and joint committees are rapidly completing plans for the big event. The Boone Valley Carnival, one of the better shows traveling in the midwest this year, has been engaged for the occasion. A complete list of celebration features will be published next week.

VETS' AUXILIARY BID $7,000 FRIDAY NIGHT TO GET REFRIGERATOR

Last Friday's Lucky Buck auction brought the Veterans Memorial building a new refrigerator as the Auxiliary of the veterans organizations bid in the handsome eight-cubic-footer for $7,000. This was the highest bid that has been made on any article to date.

Nearly $36,000 in Lucky Bucks were paid for items aggregating slightly over $400 in retail value in the most successful auction yet conducted. With only one more auction to go, bidders were inclined to spend their Bucks more freely.

Melvin Soma took home the Elgin watch on a bid of $5,025. The kiddie's pedal roadster went to Aeiko Blau of Meservey for $1,650, the bathroom scales were knocked down to Peter Daniels for $1,100 and Mrs. Howard Johnson of Bode paid $1,505 for a large box of General Mills products.

A bid of $1,225 brought Harold Baker a smoked ham, $1,175 brought Pat Smith a generous supply of groceries, $1,025 got Herman Kuhlers five gallons of 2-4-D spray, and Dick Ersland got himself a new pair of shoes for $1,150.

As an all-out finale to their Lucky Bucks promotion, Belmond merchants will have over $450 worth of merchandise to put on the block this Friday evening.

Among the major items will be a studio couch, another Elgin watch, hunting rifle, electric toaster, floor lamp, electric fan, 6x16 tire, lawn chair, high chair, and kitchen stool. Bidding again starts at 8:00 p. m.

Services Monday For Mrs. Dorr, 59

Funeral services were held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Francis church for Mrs. Albert Dorr, who passed away suddenly last Thursday at her home. A lifelong resident of Belmond, Mrs. Dorr was 59 years of age.

Rev. R. A. Ormsby officiated at the services and burial was in St. Francis cemetery. Anderson Funeral Home of Clarion took charge of the service for Fulton Funeral Home.

Mrs. Dorr, nee Nelllie Fulton, was born here on April 10, 1891. She wed Albert Dorr on Oct. 6, 1909. The marriage brought her responsibility for the care and upbringing of five children of Mr. Dorr by a previous marriage and seven children were born to her and Mr. Dorr.

She is survived by her husband and all 12 children: Joseph, Leo, LeRoy, Lauron and Elsie, who is now Mrs. Louie Kaz of Chicago; Dwane, Donald, Clair, Francis (Mrs. Jack Lansing), Paul, Larry and Marilyn (Mrs. Leonard Anderson).

Of the children living out of town—Mrs. Kaz; Lauron of Riceville; Roy, who lives in Canada; and Joseph, who resides in Californit—all but the latter were able to come to the funeral.

The eight sons and stepsons present served as pallbearers.

Mrs. Dorr left, besides her husband and children, two brothers —Joe Fulton of Fort Dodge and Fred Fulton of Belmond; and two sisters—Mrs. Genevieve Hood of Belmond and Mrs. Mamie McVey of Traer.

Pin Meeting Postponed When Too Few Turn Out

Because of the small turn-out of league representatives, no action was taken at the proposed organization meeting scheduled for last Friday at Bowl-Mor Lanes to initiate the men's bowling plans for next year. An effort will be made to assemble a representative group at a later date.

Prize money that was to be distributed at Friday's meeting can be obtained from Bernold Kinseth at the bowling alleys.

Plague of Cutworms Threatens Heavy Damage to '50 Corn Crop

Dr. Jan Lillie of the Iowa State college entomology department was in Belmond on Tuesday conferring with officials of the Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn company in regard to the cutworm plague that is threatening this year's corn crop.

According to R. B. Thompson, company president, damage from cutworms may easily be the heaviest that this area has experienced in the 16 years he has been engaged in the hybrid corn business — and possibly the worst ever. The threat is especially great in fields that were in sod a year ago.

Growers for the Thompson company are, almost without exception, planning to spray their fields with "toxamine" to combat the worms. This chemical has proved the most successful of any so far tested in controlling cutworm damage.

Mr. Thompson says that this area has always been badly afflicted with this particular pest. Mr. Lillie plans to set up some test plots to determine the effectiveness of some promising but relatively untried control chemicals.

The entomologist will return to this neighborhood next week to interview farmers willing to cooperate in the testing by allowing application of the chemicals to a portion of their corn land.

Cutworm damage will be the worst during the next two or three weeks, Mr. Thompson says. He recommends that farmers wishing to limit cutworm damage by chemical applications should arrange for their fields to be treated as soon as possible.

With four-row planters now in prevalent use by his growers, Mr. Thompson says the hybrid company's plantings for this spring are just about on normal time schedule despite the slow season. All of the seed corn is in and a very large part of it is already up, he added.

Mrs. Agnes Fitzgerald left Sunday for a ten day vacation at Schenectady, N. Y.

Squires Resigns; Accepts New Job

Ceabern H. Squires, for the past four years Belmond High school principal, has resigned his position to accept the superintendency at New Providence consolidated school.

New Province is in southern Hardin county and has a population of about 250. The school has an enrollment of 210 and the high school a student body of 60.

Mr. Squires came to Belmond after four years' service in the U. S. Army and prior to his war duty he had given radio instruction to Army Signal Corps trainees at Tech High in Des Moines.

A graduate of Simpson college in 1940, Mr. Squires entered the teaching field at Blencoe, where he was a high school instructor until the end of the 1941-42 school year. He has been studying lately at Drake during summer vacations and hopes to complete his requirements for a Master's degree in education before taking up his new duties this fall.

Supt. Don Faris has only praise for the way Ceabern has performed his duties as principal and no doubt expresses the feeling of the entire community in expressing regret over his departure. However, the step represents a nice advancement for Mr. Squires and Mr. Faris is confident his aide will be very successful in his new work.

Mr. Squires' resignation was received only this week, so nothing has been accomplished yet in the way of finding a replacement for him on the school staff.

Latvian 'DP' Family Happy with New Freedom; Fled Native Land to Escape from Communists

Considering the ordeals they've been through, you'd look a long time to find another family as friendly, happy and hopeful as that of Julius Lippins of Meservey. As native Latvians they experienced the blight of both Russian communism and German Nazism; as displaced persons they have known what it is to be homeless in a strange land.

But most important, as thoroughly good, God-fearing individuals, they have come through 10 years of trial remarkably free of bitterness and full of hope for the future. In short, they're a truly remarkable family.

The Lippins arrived in Meservey two weeks ago, under sponsorship of the E. U. B. church. Mr. Lippins is doing carpentry work with Louis Dorenkamp and is delighted to be following the occupation of his choice. After "going on his own" at the age of 17, he worked as a carpenter for four or five years until his father's ill health caused him to take over the family farm near Malupe in Latvia.

The Lippins' native land first fell under the Russian yoke back in 1940 when the Soviet decided it needed Latvia's three major seaports to give Russian access to the Baltic sea. The years of 1940 and 1941 were black ones and the Latvians were not long in learning what it mean to be under communistic rule.

Mr. Lippins reports that on June 14 and 15 in 1940, 350,000 Latvians were shipped to Russia to work in slave labor camps. He, like many others, hid out in a dense timberland to escape a similar fate. He remained hidden for four months on one occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lippins recalled with a bitter smile the results of the Russian-controlled election which placed communists in control of their country. Although many of their countrymen disappeared on election day rather than be forced to vote against their will, published reports of the election told of nearly 100 per cent balloting in favor of the Red candidates.

Mr. Lippins says that an estimated 15 per cent of Latvia's population was turned to communism by infiltration of Russian propagandists prior to the coup that put Russia in control. It was a dismayingly simple matter, when the time came, for

Nomination As Representative Also at Stake

Five county contests—three of them involving Republican nominations to county posts — will share the spotlight as Wright county voters cast their ballots next Monday in the primary election.

While some first-class scraps are in prospect among candidates for various state nominations, local interest will center in the Republican races for sheriff, county attorney and District 1 supervisor; the contest for Republican nomination for state representative; and a Democratic two-way battle for the supervisor nomination.

Both Clark McNeal of Belmond and George F. Peterson, who farms near Clarion, have waged quite determined campaigns in seeking the nomination for state representative. Both are widely known over the county and claim a considerable number of enthusiastic supporters.

Sheriff Bob Blecker is opposed by Pat Stewart. Both being from Clarion, geography will not enter into this contest and the incumbent is generally conceded a better than fair chance to get the nomination.

In opposing County Attorney Harlan Larson of Goldfield, R. Ralph Austin of Clarion has been conducting as vigorous a campaign as the county has witnessed in quite a while. The younger man has somewhat of a handicap in his youth and inexperience, whereas Larson has earned general approval of the manner in which he has conducted his office during his two terms. Nevertheless, if "beating the bushes" really pays off at the polls, Austin may surprise a good many with the number of votes he gathers.

In the contest for District 1 supervisor, John Greenlander has the advantage of being the incumbent. He has served on the board since the death of Alex Smith, and thereby has gotten a start on "learning the ropes." Oren Hanson says he has promised himself for some years to take a stab at running for the supervisor's job and undoubtedly will have the support of quite a number of farm friends and acquaintances.

The only Democratic contest is for the District 1 supervisor nomination. Tuck Parker and Francis McNulty are the opponents in this instance. Parker's lengthy service as a county road worker may easily serve as a vote-getter that McNulty could find hard to overcome.

Names of those who will serve on election board in Belmond and adjacent townships appeared in last week's paper. The full membership of all boards in the county appear in the board proceedings which are published elsewhere in today's issue.

Polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. and ballots in Belmond will be cast at the customary voting places: First Ward —city library; Second Ward—city hall; Third Ward — high school.

Sale of Poppies Brings Auxiliary Total of $174

Sale of poppies last Saturday by members of the American Legion Auxiliary brought in a total of $174.83, according to Mrs. Charles Wilmarth, head of the poppy committee.

Of this amount, $104.00 was paid to the disabled veterans who made the paper flowers and a balance of $70.83 was netted by the local Auxiliary. A fourth of the amount, $17.71, goes to state headquarters and the remainder will be added to the unit's Veteran Welfare fund.

Small poppies were donated to make wreaths for the miniature cemetery at the city hall, and large poppies for construction of the wreath laid on the grave of the "Unknown Soldier" and to decorate the graves of all deceased Auxiliary members.

Don C. Benson Receives Fine Job Advancement

Don C. Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bsnson, has lately been promoted to assistant manager of the large Sears and Roebuck department store at Cedar Rapids.

A Belmond High school graduate, Don was four years in the U. S. Army, being discharged as a captain. He obtained a college degree in commerce from the State University of Iowa in 1947 and joined Sears and Roebuck after his graduation.

When the German offensive in 1941 enveloped Latvia, Nazi control was welcomed as decidely preferable to that of the Russians. It was deemed much the lesser of two evils. Latvians had no enthusiasm for their "liberation" by Russia when some three years later the Red forces recaptured the country.

When Russia had taken over Latvia earlier, the citizens had no choice but to remain. In 1944 they were given two hours to depart, if they wished to leave. The Lippins traveled by horse and wagon to the seacoast, where they were fortunate enough to obtain passage to Germany on a ship jammed with 3,500 Nazi soldiers and fellow refugees.

At the close of the war, the family spent four months in a Russian DP camp near Brandenburg. The Reds were permitting no refugees of Baltic or Slavic descent to leave Russian territory, but the Lippins escaped at night and succeeded in reaching the Allied sector of Berlin.

The Russians also allowed no refugee from Red satellite nations to be shipped through the Red-controlled area surrounding the German capital, but again the Lippins were lucky. The Allied authorities successfully smuggled them and a handful of other Latvians into British territory on a train loaded with Italians and other persons of "permitted" nationalities.

It took the Lippins until August of 1949 to obtain the necessary papers to enable them to come to this country. In the meantime they were relatively happy in a British DP camp. Mr. Lippins was a camp carpenter at about $20 per week; and his son John, now 19, was active as a Boy Scout leader. Last December they obtained transportation and at last gained the freedom of United States' shores.

From January until their transfer to Germany, the Lippins lived at Brighton, Iowa. They are most happy and content with their lot at Meservey. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lippins smilingly declared they at last felt like they were "at home."

Besides John, they have two other children. Their daughter Valda is 17 and works in the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Basener, southwest of Meservey. A second son, Guntis, will be seven in August. Both John and Valda speak English quite fluently — amazingly so considering they have studied the language for only two years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lippins understand English fairly well and are learning fast, but they leave most of the talking up to John and Valda at present.

John (that's really the Anglicized form of his original name, but he prefers to be so called) hopes to enter Meservey High school as a senior next fall. Valda plans to enter the freshman class.

Mr. Lippins intends to stick by carpentry "as long as work is plentiful" but would readily return to farming later on if the shift seems required. John is mechanically minded and would like to work with machinery after he completes his schooling.

He is handicapped by a right arm that was withered by "polio" when he was only seven — but your reporter predicts that nothing will stop the extremely likeable young fellow from making a success in life.

Rev. A. E. Wilken brought Valda in from the Basener farm the evening the family was being interviewed and she made it a gala occasion by attiring herself in a colorful, native folk-dancing dress. She explained that the girls of each geographical district in Latvia have distinctive attire for dance festivals, so a glance tells where a young lady comes from.

After an hour or so in the Lippin home, your reporter can only say—no matter how much the Lippins like Meservey, the townspeople are bound to like the newscomers every bit as much. They're grand people and its a pleasure and an inspiration to know them.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Benson of Cedar Rapids spent the weekend at the Claude Benson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Gabrielson were callers at the C. A. Didio home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Didio and family visited at the Merlyn Didio home in Clarion Sunday evening.

Mrs. Lottie Meinders accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Meinders of Clarion to Webb on Sunday where they visited at the Heiko Beenken home.

The greatest joy illuminates the simplest life: The happiest home is frequently the simplest, where peace and love are placed above ostentation. And in the final passage from earth to His waiting arms, the greatest tribute is the simplest, which in quiet dignity expresses complete faith in the life to come.

To us, each funeral service is an act of simple devotion, reverently conducted in its every detail so as to be a source of comfort and inspiration to the living as well as a worthy tribute to the departed.

Save Your Corn
On Sod Ground

Cutworm damage is ~~the worst in years~~ again Serious in corn fields planted on sod ground (even one year clover sod). A large percentage of these corn fields will be lost unless something is done to stop the cutworms. It is getting late to replant with corn.

TOXAPHENE
Will Stop Cutworms

This Company has never lost a seed field to cutworms that was sprayed in time with Toxaphene. In cooperation with Iowa State College entomogolists the past three years, we have used numerous chemicals and baits to stop cutworm damage. Toxaphene applied at two pounds of technical toxaphene per acre is the one material that stopped the cutworms.

We Have In Stock

TOXAPHENE FOR CUTWORM CONTROL.
DDT FOR CORN BORER AND FLY CONTROL
2, 4-D FOR WEED CONTROL

To the Voters of Wright Co.

Monday, June 5th, is the date for the Primary Election. As a candidate for the office of County Attorney in Wright County on the Republican ticket, and to better acquaint you whom I have not contacted with my qualifications for office, I am making the following statements concerning myself:

As the eldest son of R. S. Austin, the abstractor, I was born and raised in Wright County, graduated from Clarion High School in 1933 and for six years attended the University of Iowa, receiving a B. A. Degree in 1938 and graduating from the College of Law in 1940 with the degree of Juris Doctor.

For eight years I have been engaged in the practice of law, the past five years in my own office South of the Court-house. I served as City Attorney for the City of Clarion for three years and am qualified for the office which I seek.

I am not under obligation to any person or group of persons and can promise you fair and impartial enforcement of the laws of the State of Iowa. If elected, I will serve the people of this county to the best of my ability.

YOUR SUPPORT JUNE 5th
WILL BE SINCERELY APPRECIATED

OF ELLINGTON TOWNSHIP

To The Public of Hancock County

It's true that I have been coroner for several years.

Elections to succeed myself proved merit and ability as a county official.

The State and Federal Bureau of Investigation cautions the citizens to elect only experienced and trained men for this vital office.

The experience I have had in the Coroner's office as well as with the Iowa Peace Officers' Association, the State Bureau of Investigation, and the training in the laboratory and field division of the United States Army cannot be disputed and has proven to be very valuable knowledge.

It is said that I am a successful professional man, and have had the endorsement of my immediate community, having served business associates as President of the Britt Commercial Club. Have always been active in community affairs.

Being 41 years of age enables me to continue to serve you efficiently, if elected. Your vote will be appreciated.

Democratic
shall continue to prevail

We will continue to demonstrate to the rest of the world the benefits of our way of life in which our individual preferences rule instead of a dictator's orders.

One notable example of democratic equality is the fact that every family can arrange with us for a funeral of irreproachable character at the price it can afford to pay.

VOL. 30 NO. 33 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | Belmond, Wright County, Iowa | Thursday, June 1, 1950 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | The Family Newspaper

Officer Election And Installation, Contests Slated

Annual Wright county 4-H girls' Rally Day is to be next Thursday, June 8, in the Rowan school auditorium beginning at 10:30 a. m. All 4-H girls, parents and 4-H friends are given a very special invitation to attend and see the campaigning and installation of the new county officers. Each club that has a nominee for county officer does its own campaigning and some very original ideas are usually introduced.

The leaders and committee women will be honored in a special ceremony. Two women from the 4-H organization will be initiated as honorary members. The womens' namés are kept secret until Rally Day.

Little Liberty Ladies — Jean Reichter; Lincoln Lassies League —Jan Tillman; Jolly Joy Makers —Jean Ann Olson; Up and Coming Vernonites—Delores Denger; Woolstock Willing Workers —Laurel Wilson.

There are only 11 nominees for county office this year because the Belmond Busy Bees and Lake Livewires have no girls who have the age and club-year qualifications required of candidates. A girl must be 14 years of age as of Jan. 1, 1950 and in her third year of club work to be a nominee for county office. She must also have held a club office and be currently active in 4-H work.

Each club president will give a three-minute report on the highlights of her club's work for the past year. The club presidents are: Belles of Boone—Lois Kleen; Belmond Busy Bees—Mary Lou Baker; Blaine Blue Ribbons—Rosemary Draves; Dayton Dandies—Rachel Peterson; Grant Go Getters — Judith Woodin; Iowa U-Go-I-Go—Pat Ketchum.

Jolly Joy Makers—Bertha Mae Clark; Lake Livewires—Shirley Anderson; Little Liberty Ladies Jean Reichter; Lincoln Lassies League—Ruth Simmons; Eagle Red Peppers—Barbara Christensen; Up and Coming Vernonites—Elaine Schroeder; Woolstock Willing Workers—Laurel Wilson.

Beulah Bowers, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Iowa State college, will speak on "Look to This Day" as a feature of Rally Day. Miss Bowers comes highly recommended by Ray Cunningham, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Iowa State college, who has spoken a number of times in Wright county.

Another high-light of the get-together will be the county picture contest, in which each club has a junior and senior girl entered. Senior girls: Mary Lou Baker—Belmond Busy Bees; Joanna Yungclas—Belles of Boone; Florence Mechem—Dayton Dandies; Norma Jean Mishler—Eagle Red Peppers; Rosann Nigg—Grant Go Getters.

Joan Aldrich—Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Shirley Anderson — Lake Livewires; Margery Roseland—Little Liberty Ladies; Bertha Mae Clark — Jolly Joy Makers; Rita Beisner—Up and Coming Vernonites; Marie Campbell—Woolstock Willing Workers.

Judges — Mrs. Leo Woodley and Mrs. Homer McGrath.

Collene Sellers—Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Karen Veldhouse — Lake Livewires; Marcia Robinson—Little Liberty Ladies; Karen Campbell—Jolly Joy Makers; Carol Rout—Up and Coming Vernonites; Helen Miller—Woolstock Willing Workers.

Judges—Mrs. Thomas Mathre and Mrs. Lettie Zuber.

A covered-dish luncheon, at noon will be in the charge of Mrs. Clarence Whitten and the mothers of the Lincoln Lassies League.

PLEASANT PIONEERS

Regular meeting of the Pleasant Pioneers 4-H Club was held on May 24 at Kenneth Halfpap's with nine members, one visitor and one leader present. We decided to have a club tour of projects on June 21. The tour will begin at Richard Goeman's home a 9:00 a. m. Arlen Pals reported that the recent scrap iron drive amounted to $19. This will be placed in the club treasury. The club voted to give two dollars to each delegate who attends District 4-H Camp and boys' short-course.

BELMOND BUSY BEES

A Mother's Tea was held at the home of Mary Alice Studebaker by all the members of Belmond Busy Bees 4-H club on the evening of May 9. All mothers were present and all received a pink carnation corsage from their daughters. Mrs. Lettie Zuber of Clarion was also a guest.

A program was given which began by all the members singing "Over the Meadow.' "Welcoming Our Mothers" was given by Mary Ellen McClure, a piano duet by Marjorie Johnson and Mary Alice Studebaker, a poem by JoAnn Slining, a solo "Dreaming" by Mary Lou Baker, a Mother's Day poem by Sandra Didio, a duet "Dearie" by Marjorie and Margaret Gabrielson, and a Mother's Day cake recipe by Myrna Strait Janet Slining was in charge of the program.

Tea was served by Mary Lou Baker doing the pouring.

GRANT GO-GETTERS

Members of the Grant Go-Getters 4-H Club entertained their mothers at their annual Mothers' Day party at the home of their leader, Mrs. Otis Harris, on Friday evening, May 12. Judith Woodin welcomed the mothers and Mrs. C. C. Woodin gave the response. There were 24 present.

The following program was presented: Janice Sann sang "Dearie", accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Amos Sann. Margery Murphy presented two reedings. Barbara Barnes also gave a reading.

Linda Barnes conducted a written contest which was won by Mrs. Amos Sann and Janet Kee. Jeanine Hardy held a balloon contest which was won by Mrs. C. C. Woodin. The winners of the picture study contest, who will represent the club at Rally Day, were Rosann Nigg in the senior division and Margery Murphy in the junior division.

LOTS OF RACES ARE HOPELESSLY LOST AT THE Starting Line

A slip as the starting gun was fired has caused many athletes to drop from first to a lower placement, even though they may have potentially been the fastest runners. Alertness to change as in a relay race when the baton changes from one man to the next has caused the team with the most ability to lose its race because the change wasn't made smoothly.

So it is with feeding your young poultry and livestock. Get them off to a good start with BETTER FEEDS that have been scientifically blended and tested to produce strong bones and a foundation for top quality meat. Then be alert to the changes that occur in growth.

BETTER FEEDS have been provided for all stages, of development from chick to chicken; from pig to hog; or from calf to cow. Proper feeding gets the infants to marketing size quicker and demands a higher price because they are highest quality.

Come in and let us go over your feeding plans with you . . . without obligation. Most planning farmers know what they want and we can show you how our feed department can cooperate with you so we will each benefit.

That Unofficial Census Report Is Raising Many An Eyebrow

With announcement that Belmond's population, by unofficial count, has increased only 64 souls in the past 10 years, the general concensus seems to be that there's an Ethiopian in the woodpile somewhere. You'll look high and low without finding a single person who's lived in this community for the past 10 years who will concede that it is even conceivable that the town has grown no more than that in the last decade.

We feel that it is only fitting that a few facts be considered in the light of the census report released last week, which placed our present number at 2,173 compared to 2,109 in 1940.

For one thing, it would mean that during the depression-ridden 'thirties sufficient housing was erected in Belmond to accommodate a population increase of 376 individuals (the 1930 census showed a population of 1,733), whereas the building boom that the post-war years have witnessed was inspired by the addition of 64 newcomers to the community. Doesn't sound logical, does it?

About two years after the official 1940 census was taken, a comprehensive survey was conducted as part of a statewide church census gave Belmond a population count of approximately 1,875—around 225 shy of the figure arrived at during the earler federal nose-counting. The results of the church canvass were carefully audited by Fred Fulton, who headed the local project, and confirmed by church leaders of the community.

If the religious-survey count can be accepted as reasonably accurate, a population growth of approximately 300 in the past eight years would be indicated. This would be much more in line with estimates made by Belmond residents in advance of the 1950 census-taking.

One misconception has been quite widely prevalent in regard to the effect of the 1940 census on the local post office. We've heard many express the understanding that the post office classification was advanced by the reported increase to more than 2,000 population. Postmaster J. C. Brady informs us that this was not the case. Gross revenue largely governs the classification of a post office, and Belmond's entry into the 2,000 bracket had no effect on classification, salaries, or in any other regard.

If Belmond's population in 1940 actually WAS more nearly the number reflected by the religious survey than that reported to the federal census bureau, accurate accounting of that fact would have had an effect on both the town and country.

With less than 2,000 population, Belmond would have remained in the "village" category and division into wards would have been unnecessary. What influence the ward arrangement may or may not have had on city election results in the past decade is entirely open to question. It is certain, however, that the necessity for two extra election boards, publication of three sets of ballots, etc., made Belmond's election costs heavier over the 10 years than they would have been if we should rightfully have remained in the "village" bracket.

Insofar as the county is concerned, the 1940 offficial population was only 20,038—and the pay grade for elective officials goes up at the 20,000 mark. Far be it from us to begrudge the under-paid county officers the salaries that the official 1940 census warranted, but the fact remains the legitimacy of their qualification for 20,000-and-over pay bracket for the decade past appears somewhat under suspicion. From their standpoint, if from no other, we're happy that Belmond's rather questionable count of 1940 at least served the useful purpose of getting them more nearly the pay their services deserve.

Otherwise, we can only say that the 1940 official report certainly built us up to an awful let-down.

We Humbly Make A Suggestion A Bit Outside The Law

As the vacation season comes upon us once more, bringing the prospect of relatives and friends occasionally dropping in on us—providing they don't whiz right through Belmond without even realizing they've come and gone — we'd like to make a criminal suggestion.

Why don't we get up a group of vigilantes, equipped with stencil and black paint, to make a foray along Highway 69 and emblazon on the road signs between Jewell and Garner the righteous name of "Belmond" and the distance thereto?

Sure, it would be breaking the law a wee bit, but apparently, it's the only way the public-at-large is ever going to be informed via highway commission road signs that Belmond exists. As near as we can recall, that sign by the Garner viaduct is the only one on Highway 69 that mentions us. From the south, the secret of our location is kept 100 per cent perfect.

It's plain as the nose on Durante's face, podners, we're goin' to have to take the law into our hands. Do we hear any volunteers?

Time Saved NOT Contouring Costs Many A Farmer Plenty!

When driving through the hilly sections of Wright county, we're always set to wondering why so few of the farmers in that area employ contouring to reduce the loss of essential soil minerals through erosion.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, proper contouring can cut losses on up-and-down furrows by about two-thirds. Actual tests have shown that contouring such land saved about 56 pounds of nitrogen (the amount in 10.6 bags), 99 pounds of phosphoric acid (10 bags) and about 1,000 pounds of potash (the equivalent of 200 bags) PER ACRE.

Normal cropping of 150 cornbelt acres farmed on a three-year rotation plan was found to remove annually four and a half tons of nitrogen, five and a half tons of phosphoric acid and six and a half tons of potash; it would take around 90 tons of ordinary fertilizer at a cost of over $3,000 to replace this loss.

Mind you, that is NORMAL soil depletion. Add to these totals the additional losses incurred by erosion and you can see the high price that is paid for the time saved by NOT contouring

Six billion dollars' worth of lime, phosphorus, potash and nitrogen is lost from the nation's soils each year, the U. S. D. A. reports. That's ONE-THIRD as much as our crops are worth. A sizeable reduction in that figure could be effected by proper contouring of hilly fields.

To our notion, such contouring should be a MUST with every farmer whose fields present a more than minor erosion problem.

A bit of natural justice transpired at Dallas, Tex., last week when the league commissioner fined a baseball umpire who was goaded by a heckling fan into voicing the query "How'd you like a punch on the nose?" It SHOULD be a lesson to all despotic arbiters—but we'll warrant that the next time a disgruntled player poses the same question to an umpire, the dissatisfied lackey will get the old heave-ho. A baseball diamond is one place in the American scene where freedom of speech is subject to definite restraints. How come nobody gets excited about it and gets out an injunction against the umpire?

CHANGED MIND

John Denny escaped from the Van Buren county jail last week, then changed his mind and returned to the jail a few minutes after his absence was discovered.

Belmond Soldier Has Narrow Escape During Army Search for Lost Plane

CAMP HIRATSUKA, JAPAN.—While searching for possible survivors from the military transport plane that crashed April 22 on a remote mountain in Japan, PFC Roger E. Nelson, son of Martin A. Nelson of Belmond, barely escaped injury when a bounding boulder plunged across his path and rolled over a 180-foot precipice.

Nelson is a jeep driver in the 16th Reconnaissance Company, First Cavalry Division, and was a member of the rescue party that was first to reach wreckage of the plane in which 37 persons lost their lives. The large transport smashed into Mt. Tanzawa-Yama, 200 feet from the peak, just 20 miles short of its destination.

The patrol was alerted at 1:30 p. m., April 22, when the plane—enroute from Manila, Philippine Islands, to Tachikawa Air Japan—was first reported down. An hour later the patrol moved from its home station, Camp Hiratsuka, to a trail-head near Okura, the village nearest the scene of the accident. Here a bivouac was established for the night.

At daybreak the following morning, April 23, the patrol moved out. Struggling through dense vegetation and over rocky slopes in rain and fog, they reached Mt. Toga-Daka at 10:30 a. m. After a brief rest they continued on toward Mt. Tanzawa-Yama, where the plane was believed to have fallen.

As the patrol worked its way up the rocky incline of an adjacent hill one of the members spotted the wreckage near the top of Mt. Tanzawa-Yama. This was at 1:25 p. m. Working at top speed, the first members of the party reached the area one hour and five minutes later.

With full loads of medical supplies and equipment the patrol had been able to carry only a minimum of rations and water. An attempt was made to supply them by air, but due to adverse weather conditions only four cases of rations were delivered by parachute.

Supplies were finally packed in by members of the 16th Reconnaissance Company, using the trails that had been established by the rescue party.

RYP OUTING PLANNED FOR TUESDAY EVENING

The aroma of juicy steaks and sizzling hot dogs will fill the air next Tuesday evening as the Rural Young People gather at Lake Cornelia for their regular monthly meeting. The picnic site will be on the east side of Lake Cornelia, just north of the Lakeview ballroom.

Paul Dempsey, program chairman, announced that Rev. J. H. Miller of Belmond will present a discussion on the topic, "Preparation for Marriage." Following this educational phase of the program, the entire group will then go to the Cornelia skating rink for the remainder of the evening.

Janet Lerdal, refreshment chairman, reminds all persons to bring steaks, wieners or hamburgers for themselves; the other supplies will be furnisheds.

HOW LONG DID IT TAKE YOU TO COURT YOUR WIFE?

Did you just happen to see her, walk up to her, ask her to marry you, call in the minister—right on the spot? Perhaps not—it probably took a lot of calls, many evenings on the family davenport, movies, flowers, candies—and a lot of nice things over a period of time before you closed the deal.

IT'S THE SAME WITH ADVERTISING . . . YOU CAN'T "WOO" CUSTOMERS WITH ONE AD . . . YOU'VE GOT TO "CALL ON THEM" OVER A PERIOD OF TIME.

To the Voters of Wright County

I am using this means to inform you that I had intended to contact each voter personally. This has been impossible due to the business in the sheriff's office, which has to be taken care of at this time.

I have executed the duties as your sheriff to the best of my ability and feel that my record warrants nomination. Your vote for me in the June 5th Primary will be sincerely appreciated.

Planning to Form County Historical Society June 8th

With a view to clarifying facts and accumulating data concerning Wright county's past, formation of a Wright County Historical Society has been proposed and June 8 has been designated as the date for a permanent organization meeting. The gathering will be held at the courthouse in Clarion at 8:00 p. m.

Those interested in forming such a society point to several reasons why such an organization would be practical. Among them they cite the fact that the county's centennial is but a few years off, making it particularly timely to gather and record available historical facts right now.

Furthermore, some points of history have become somewhat clouded and need to be substantiated. For example, Clarion has long been recognized as the birthplace of the 4-H club movement, but several states are currently claiming this distinction.

O. H. Benson, former Wright county superintendent of schools who initiated the movement, would willingly turn over substantiating records to a permanent historical society, if one were organized.

At a preliminary meeting of individuals interested in a county historical society's formation, Ray Richardson of Clarion was elected as temporary president, J. Ed Kerstein of Clarion as vice president and Josephine Uhr of Eagle Grove as secretary-treasurer.

Tentative directors are Robert Blue, Homer McGrath, Jelske Cramer, Olive Munnis and Jay Vendelboe of Clarion and Preston Tyrrell of Belmond.

Everyone interested in the purposes and aims of the proposed society are cordially invited to attend the organization meeting two weeks from today (Thursday).

Iowa Needs His EXPERIENCE

Bourke Hickenlooper is a veteran of World War I and a graduate of Iowa State College and the University of Iowa. From his entry into politics as a member of the Iowa Legislature in 1934, he has gone steadily forward. In each successive responsibility . . . as Lieutenant Governor, as Governor and as U. S. Senator . . . he has demonstrated his ability to grasp affairs of government and to serve state and nation with courage and ability. You can count on Bourke Hickenlooper to continue to do the job well.

LEADERSHIP

In the U. S. Senate leadership and ability to help our State can be measured by the seniority, recognition and service of a member. Sen. Hickenlooper is a member of the vital committees on Agriculture and on Foreign Relations. He is the ranking senate Republican member of the Atomic Energy Committee and was its first chairman. His championship of sound non-political farm programs for the prosperity and freedom of agriculture, for conservation, REA, rural telephone service, farm highways, education, and farm marketing and research are well known.

AND COURAGE!

Sen. Hickenlooper has courageously fought for our national and internal security. For this he has been attacked by the left wing propagandists but events have proved him right. He is fighting for a balanced budget, sound tax reduction, and freedom of opportunity; he is fighting against government squandering, the mounting public debt and the growing socialism of the present administration. Hickenlooper votes in the public interest by conviction and not for political expediency. His courage has won him a place on Mr. Truman's purge list. For courageous, able and honest representation for Iowa in the U.S. Senate, "STICK WITH HICK."

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

On June 10, Adviser Duane Sandage and 27 members of the Bemond chapter of Future Farmers of America will take off on an all-day tour of the members' projects. It might make some of the boys' elders open their eyes a bit if they tagged along, because those youngsters are real, genuine "future farmers" in the the making.

Mr. Sandage has done an admirable job both in his vocational agriculture course and with the Future Farmers in the year and a half that he has been in Belmond.

His work impresses us as being very similar to that of a grade school or freshman-sophomore football coach. In towns where great emphasis is placed on sound training for youngsters from 10 or 11 through 14, you usually find some great teams produced. By the time the young sprouts get ready for varsity competiton, they're well grounded in fundamentals and really ready for "the big time."

That's how it's going to be with these boys who are having the advantage of participation in FFA projects. They're going to have a lot of basic knowledge packed away in their noggins before they get out on their own—which will save a lot of learning by trial and error.

—RFD—

When asked if the boys' fathers showed much interest in the methods and operations their sons were taught in vocational agriculture, Duane said that in quite a few instances they decided it might be worthwhile to have a try at some of the practices that are recommended to the Future Farmers. Quite a number, for example, have been putting the FFA pig ration to a test.

One boy's father, however, believes he is using a ration that is superior and a bit of friendly father-and-son competition has been the outgrowth. Duane says that if the dad's mixture proves the better, he's perfectly willing that the boys should shift to it next year.

—RFD—

A very modest appraisal of the current value of the livestock owned and fed by the FFA members in their various projects places the aggregate at more than $4,200. Since the boys have a total of 109 spring pigs that are presently valued at only about $8.00 apiece, on the average, by schooltime next fall the value of the project livestock should be very much greater than at present.

Altogether, the Future Farmers have 19 sows. Two of them are yet to farrow, so the crop of spring pigs should reach 120 or better by the time the last precincts are heard from. The present value of the project swine is set at $2,114.

—RFD—

Sixteen ewes are owned by the various boys, and so far they have produced 20 lambs. Three bred ewes have not yet produced their offspring. Duane puts the value of sheep, right now, at $540.

Besides the pigs and sheep, the boys own five beef steers, one beef heifer and four dairy heifers. The combined value of the cattle is set at $1,655.

—RFD—

Besides the livestock projects, the boys are raising 24 acres of corn "on shares" with their dads. These corn plots are expected to go a good way toward providing feed for the stock. One hybrid seed corn company has offered FFA members sufficient seed corn to produce an acre each of two varieties, without cost, if the boys will plant another adjacent acre in another brand of hybrid.

We'd say, offhand, that the hybrid concern has quite a stunt there. The test will certainly give the boys a good opportunity to compare the free seed with others on the market. If the gratis hybrid justifies its producer's confidence, the offer should develop some good customers for years to come.

—RFD—

An acre and a half of truck garden is under cultivation by the FFA members, planted mainly to potatoes, popcorn, sweet corn and similar crops, which will provide a bit of extra money to help get the livestock through the feeding period.

In addition, the boys are cooperatively farming 2.35 acres on the L. B. Oberhauser farm. One acre is in popcorn, which the boys will again sell during the basketball season; the balance is in soybeans.

—RFD—

With no reflection on the farming ability of the fathers intended, we suspect that these boys will turn out to be even better farm operators than their dads. Not smarter, perhaps, but certainly better informed. And it's our guess that most of the dads will agree with us. The Future Farmer activities, in combination with the course in vocational agriculture, give the boys a break their fathers never had.

Who knows — maybe in time these Future Farmers will be able to work out an agricultural program that will really tick. If they are, that would certainly prove our point beyond argument. It's a dead cinch that the "old folks" have failed on THIS score, so far.

Hottest man on the Clarmond Country club golf links last week was none other than the flailing florist and former state champ, Fred Gordon. On Thursday the flower fancier gave evidence that he's still tough as ever by coming within a stroke of the course record with a red-hot 34.

A couple of days later he almost literally burst into flame. On the ninth hole he started dancing a jig, batting at his hip and muttering some unkind words about a bee. After a few seconds of strenuous activity he found the actual source of his discomfort—a still-smoking pipe which he had absent-mindedly slipped into his hip pocket.

A bit disconsolate, Fred looked forlornly at the smoldering remains of the pocket and remarked, "This was about the only pair of pants that HADN'T happened to!"

Even after lengthy deliberation we could think of no feasible reason for printing the above picture of Betty Tunnel of Minneapolis, a young lady who seems to be advertising either sun tan lotion, mosquito repellant or peroxide. Nevertheless, we felt that a certain element among our subscribers would find a degree of esthetic satisfaction in merely viewing the scene.

To be fair to all, we decided we'd print Sister Tunnel upside down—thereby making it easier for disinterested readers to disregard the whole thing. How come YOU turned the page around to peek?

—M-S—

Those Lucky Bucks really came out from under the mattress for the final auction held last Friday night. Nearly 120,000 Bucks were bid on the attractive merchandise items that were offered during the grand finale. When you consider that each one represented a dollar in hard cash that had been spent in Belmond stores, that is not a figure to be sniffed at.

Top bids were 16,000 for the studio couch (by Jack McLaughlin) and 15,000 for the Elgin watch (St. John church). The Lutheran folks also acquired an ironing board, table lamp, toaster and lawn chair. The Oddfellows, with Glen Thompson as their "agent", acquired the food mixer for 10,500 Bucks.

The Chamber of Commerce would welcome comments in regard to the Lucky Buck promotion. It was, after all, conducted for the benefit of Belmond shoppers. If you liked the idea, why not pass the word on to the merchants or Chamber Secretary Luin Cox?

And if you think it would bear repeating at a later date, make your opinion known. The stunt cost the businessmen a tidy piece of cash. They'd very much like to know if it was generally considered worthwhile.

Last week Third Street N. E. appeared as shown above, with the north half of the center strip of paving all laid. Picture was taken from the Rock Island tracks, looking west. Progress has been slow on the paving project because of the bad weather, but work has been picking up steam the past few days.

Now, all the paving gang has to do is lay the south half of the center strip, pour the margins on either side—including curbs and gutters—and Belmond's newest paved street will be ready for use (also the STOP signs thereon.)

No word to the contrary having been received, the Liberty Bell replica promoting the current Independence Savings Bond Drive is expected in Belmond sometime next Wednesday. Time and place will be the First State bank corner from 12:00 to 2:00 p. m. Its only other showing in the county will be at Clarion, also scheduled for Wednesday.

Veterans' Celebration Plans Set; Three-Day Affair Starts Monday

Hoping to take a king-sized bite out of the balance still due on the Veterans' Memorial Building, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars have lined up a host of really first-class entertainment for their annual celebration scheduled for next Monday through Wednesday.

As previously announced, the vets have engaged the well-known Boone Valley carnival for the three days, offering a variety of rides, shows and concessions. This carnival has been playing in much larger towns than Belmond, and the celebration committee feels it was extremely fortunate to sign up the big show for its appearance here.

Really big doin's are planned for the celebration's final day. Several top-flight free acts have been obtained for performances both in the afternoon and evening. King Cole, who has made a big name for himself as a night club entertainer, will be master of ceremonies.

As a comedian, Cole played the Orpheum circuit for a number of years before turning to the night spots. He is well known to a host of Iowans as a former "M. C." at both the Ran-da-voo and Dave Fidler's club at Des Moines.

Betty Lee Hogarth of Omaha, 1949 national champion baton-twirler, is another headliner on the program. The attractive blonde miss has appeared with both Horace Heidt and Sammy Kaye and was featured at last winter's Ice capades at Minneapolis. Besides her twirling skill, she is an excellent dancer.

"The Lowells" will also have a featured spot in the free show. This act features a pair of very fine tumblers and is given added spice by the collaboration of their six-year-old youngster.

These entertainers will present a half-hour show in the city park starting at 2:30 p. m. and in the evening will give a full-hour show starting at 8:00 o'clock. Carnival attractions will be lined up on the south and east sides of the park.

Wind-up of the three-day celebration will be a big dance at the Veterans' Memorial building, which will get under way about 9:00 p. m. Wednesday.

New Veterinarian Joins Dr. Classick as Partner

Dr. R. W. Misner, a graduate this spring from the veterinary department of Iowa State college, is joining Dr. H. J. Classick in the conduct of his practice here. The two men are forming a business partnership.

Married and the father of two children, Dr. Misner will move his family into the home being vacated by Chris Wagner. The Misners have a three-year-old son and a daughter three months old.

Dr. Misner is a World War II veteran and served as a bomber navigator throughout the Italian and German campaigns.

Dr. Classick says that his new partner comes very highly recommmended. The young veterinarian plans to take up his duties here immediately.

Former Woolstock Youth Narrowly Escapes Death

Lloyd Fry, former Woolstock youth now residing at Webster City, narrowly escaped fatal injuries late last Saturday night in an auto mishap just southwest of Lake Cornelia.

Driving a 1936 Ford, he missed a corner on the gravel road he was traveling, crashing into a telephone pole. He received a severe gash in his neck which barely missed the jugular vein. He was taken to the Webster City hospital.

Three companions—Don Mathews of Woolstock and Danny Lesher and Weldon Krieger, both of Webster City—suffered only cuts and bruises. The car was demolished.

FIELD LIGHTS ARRIVE

Lighting equipment arrived here Wednesday which will enable the high school diamond to be used for Belmond softball League games for the rest of the season. The opening game, won by Eliott's over General Mills last Monday evening by a 10-5 count, was played on the GMI field. This (Thursday) evening Mello Maid meets VFW at 7:15 and John Deere plays Helland and Long in the second contest. Monday night Mello Maid opposes Elliott's and John Deere is pitted against VFW.

Tomahawks Play Excellent Ball To Win Initial Loop Tilt, 2-0

Belmond's Tomahawks made an impressive start on their North Iowa League schedule Sunday by trimming Garner 2 to 0 in a well played game on the latter's diamond. Bud Nissen allowed only four hits—no two in an inning—and struck out 10 to keep the losers under control most of the way.

Three hits in the fourth frame gave the Tomahawks their winning margin. Max Spain singled and advanced to second on an overthrow at first. Jake Koenen lashed out a double to bring in the first score and then crossed the plate himself on a single by Wes Boller.

Garner threatened in the second when a hit and an error placed men on second and third, with only one out. Nissen got Johanson to ground out and then fanned Peck to retire the side. In the eighth, Steinberg reached third on a sacrifice and a play at first, after he had singled. Nissen walked Knoke, a heavy hitter, then forced Brugman to hit a grounder for the third out.

Cookman, Garner moundsman, issued nary a pass—compared to three by Nissen; but the losing hurler fanned only seven men while Nissen struck out three more. Both teams were guilty of a pair of errors.

Rowan trimmed Kanawha 8 to 2 and Rockwell dumped Sheffield by a 7-2 count to join the Tomahawks in the undefeated ranks. This coming Sunday Belmond plays host to Rowan, Sheffield goes to Kanawha and Garner travels to Rockwell.

Sunday's summary:

Belmond 000 200 000--2-6-2
Garner 000 000 000--0-4-2

Batteries: Nissen and Boelman; Cookman and Brugman.

Mrs. Oberhauser To Head Republican Women's Club

Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser was elected president of a newly formed Republican Women's club for the Belmond-Rowan area which was organized at last Friday's meeting of the Wright County Republican Women at Clarion.

Mrs. C. C. Christie was named secretary-treasurer of the new organization and vice president will be selected from among the Rowan members. About 25 women signed for membership in the group, from the 50 or so who attended the county conclave.

Introduction of Republican candidates for county offices and state representative featured the meeting. Mrs. Robert Blue of Eagle Grove, county Republican Women's president, led the meeting. A review of John T. Flynn's book, "The Road Ahead", by Mrs. A. W. Lieuwen was another highlight.

Wm. Parker One of Nine Wright County SUI Grads

Nine Wright county students have completed their college work at the State University of Iowa and will be among 1,878 graduates who will receive degrees tomorrow afternoon at the school's largest commencement in the history.

William A. Parker, son of Mrs. Viva Parker, is the only Belmond High school alumnus who will receive a diploma. He is to receive a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Other B. A. degrees will go to Alysia P. Larson of Clarion, Dona F. McNaughton of Eagle Grove and Rose M. Martin of Goldfield. Bachelor of Science degrees have been earned by the following Clarion residents: Keith P. Hecox and Demetra C. Preftakes in commerce and Mrs. Delores C. Wright in pharmacy.

Alvin Iverson of Dows and Richard E. Miller of Williams get degrees in commerce and Robert B. Norris of Eagle Grove will receive the degree of doctor of dental surgery.

Bobby Watts spent Tuesday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Watts.

Girls "Phys. Ed." Teacher Elected

Last vacancy in the Belmond school faculty was finally filled last Saturday with appointment of Helen Colleen Kelly of Dubuque as girls' physical education instructor.

Miss Kelly—best known to her friends as Colleen, rather than Helen—is 23 and this spring completed her college requirements for a bachelor of arts degree at the University of Dubuque.

The new instructor held an A-minus average for her college courses and was also a leader in extra-curricular activities. She was given excellent recommendations by the college authorities.

Miss Kelly belonged to Lambda Tau Delta social sorority and was elected to Alpha Pi Omega, honorary athletic society. In the Dubuque community she was active in church work of St. John's Episcopal church.

4-H'ers to Attend Clear Lake Camp

Thirty-six Wright county 4-H boys and girls will attend district camp at Clear Lake from next Wednesday to Friday afternoon. Approximately 450 4-H'ers from 11 counties in northeast Iowa attend. This is the camp's fourth year. Two delegates from each club in the county are allowed to attend. It is a general policy that a 4-H'er only attends camp one time.

This year's morning programs will be devoted to various handicrafts and the afternoons to sports. Specialists from the Iowa State college extension department will assist with the program. A variety of entertainment for the evenings also has been planned.

Girls' club representatives include: Joan Slining, Belmond Busy Bees; Bonnie Kelling and Joanna Youngclas, Belles of Boone; VaDonna Schroeder and Mary Lou Akers, Blaine Blue Ribbons; Jackie Wanken and Lois Hahn, Dayton Dandies.

Judith Woodin and Barbara Barnes, Grant Go-Getters; Norma Jean Mishler and Shirley Bernard, Eagle Red Peppers; Marjorie McKinley and Lois Aldrich, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Jo Anne Krause and Veola Rowley, Norway Jolly Joy Makers.

Jean Richter, Little Liberty Ladies; Marilynn Whitty and Sharon Woodley, Lincoln Lassies; Rita Biesner and Colleen Norris, Up-and-Coming Vernonites; Marie Campbell and Glenda Wilson, Woolstock Willing Workers.

Mrs. Cathren Norris, 88, Passed Away Monday

Mrs. Cathren Norris, mother of Charles Norris of Belmond and Mrs. John Chapman of Goodell, passed away Monday at the Rust Nursing Home in Britt at the age of 88. She was born in England on Feb. 8, 1862.

Services are to be held from the Fulton Funeral Home this (Thursday) afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with Rev. J. Heber Miller of the Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in Belmond cemetery.

Missouri Laborer Nabbed Thursday on OMVI Count

John Terry, a Missourian who is currently working for a Clarion contractor, was arrested about 9:00 p. m. last Thursday by Patrolman Conlon of Hampton on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The arrest was made on Highway 69 three miles south of Belmond.

Appearing before Justice of the Peace O. E. McGahey at Clarion the following day, Terry was bound over to the grand jury and was given his temporary freedom after posting $500 bond.

SOFTBALL GAME FRIDAY

Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock the GMI Men's Club softball team will take on Isenberger's Hatchery of Clarion on the General Mills diamond. A modest admission fee of 25 cents per car—with no limit on the number of occupants — will be charged to help defray lighting expense and help toward the purchase of new equipment.

JACK RIGGS ENROLLED AT 12TH BOYS STATE

Jack Riggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riggs, was one of an army of 720 Iowa youths that descended on Camp Dodge near Des Moines last Sunday as the 1950 session of Hawkeye Boys State opened.

Intended to teach the young delegates fundamental principles of American government and citizenship, this American Legion project is now in its twelfth year.

JACK RIGGS

A major highlight of the seven-day event is the general election which was scheduled for yesterday.

On Monday, Jack—who was sent to Boys State by the local Legion Post—found his time occupied with party and county conventions, for which the delegates were divided into two political parties. Both the "Federalists" and "Nationalists" were to draw up complete tickets of candidates for the election.

Among the speakers the boys were scheduled to hear during the week were Governor William S. Beardsley and J. L. Dalton, special agent for the federal bureau of investigation. Marshall Camp of Creston of the Iowa department of the American Legion, addressed the boys at their opening session on Sunday.

Lewis Hauge, 75, Died Last Friday

Lewis Hauge, 75, a resident of the Belmond community for some 60 years, passed away suddenly last Friday evening after having suffered a cerebral hemorrhage earlier in the day.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Trinity Lutheran church, with Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating. Burial was in St. Olaf cemetery and Boone Funeral home was in charge of the services.

Born August 4, 1874 at Huxley, Iowa, the son of Holvar and Carrie Hauge, Lewis moved to this vicinity with his family when he was about 16. On March 14, 1900, he was wed to Mary Norby; four sons and four daughters were born to them.

Mr. Hauge was active in farming until he retired about two years ago. Since then he had served as a representative of the Moorman Manufacturing company of Quincy, Ill. All his life, Mr. Hauge was a loyal member of the Lutheran church.

Surviving, besides his widow, are three daughters— Mrs. Preston Tyrrell of Belmond, Mrs. Adelaide Muyres of Minneapolis and Mrs. Luella Dixon of Los Angeles; and four sons — Alvin and Dale of Belmond, Galen of Britt and Wilmer of Goodell. A daughter, Alma Clarette, died in infancy.

Squires to Stay On As Principal

Ceabern Squires has informed Supt. Don Faris of a change in plans which will allow the popular high school principal to remain on the Belmond school staff for another year.

Last week Mr. Squires had announced his intention of accepting superintendency of the New Providence consolidated school. Discovering that the New Providence school board wished him to take summer work that would interfere with completion of his requirements for a master's degree in education, Ceabern decided to turn back the contract and retain his position here.

Although the New Providence board was willing to forego its stipulated requirement for summer study, Mr. Squires says he preferred not to force that decision on the trustees. He will now complete study at Drake for his master's degree, as he'd planned.

It all works out very satisfactorily for the local school board, whose members are most happy to have Mr. Squires remain for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Benham visited at the home of Mrs. E. A. Paulson in Clarion Sunday.

SCHOOL BOARD NAMES GOEMAN TO VACANCY

Rammer Goeman, Pleasant township farmer, was sworn in as a member of the board of education of the Belmond Independent School District at a meeting of the group Tuesday evening. He succeeds John Greenlander, who resigned from the board some time after his appointment to the county board of supervisors.

Mr. Goeman has one youngster in school—a son, Richard, who will be a Belmond High school sophomore next fall.

Other members of the board are Dr. A. M. Larson, president, Dr. S. P. Leinbach, Roy Henderson and Mrs. A. C. Hanson.

County Historical Group Will Organize Tonight

All persons interested in affiliation with the proposed Wright County Historical Society are urged to attend the organization meeting scheduled for this (Thursday) evening at the courthouse in Clarion, starting at 8:00 p. m.

Besides electing officers at this meeting, the society will draft aims to guide its activity along the line of assembling and cataloging Wright county historical data.

Robert Blue of Eagle Grove and Ray Richardson of Clarion are the moving spirits behind the society's formation. Preston Tyrrell of Belmond is a member of the tentative board of directors.

Band Will Attend Festival Tuesday

Director Duane Cunning will take a 50-piece band to represent Belmond High school at the annual North Iowa Band Festival at Mason City on Tuesday of next week. Royalty for the occasion will be Dorris Kickbush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Kickbush, who is Belmond's candidate for festival queen.

Six twirlers will accompany the band to lend a flourish to its parade appearance—Dixie Carstens, Betty Clare Henderson, Alice Lieuwen, Shirley Proeger, Marian Loats and Arline Slining.

By latest report, 86 high school bands will participate in the festival, which is rapidly developing into one of the biggest affairs of its kind in the entire nation. The bands will parade down Federal street, starting at 10:00 a. m.

At 7:30 p. m. the evening performance at Roosevelt field will get under way. The bands will enter individually and a feature of the program will be several numbers by the massed ensemble.

Another high point of the evening will be crowning of the festival queen, selected from among entries submitted by each competing band.

Mr. Cunning urges, incidentally, that it be remembered that the band will present the first of its series of summer band concerts from the park bandstand this (Thursday) evening at 8:00 o'clock.

County Attorney, Sheriff Also Get Voters' Approval

By virtue of a healthy margin established in his home town of Belmond, and in the townships of Belmond, Grant, Iowa and Pleasant, Clark McNeal won the Republican nomination for Wright county state representative in Monday's primary election by a 211-vote edge over George F. Peterson of Clarion.

McNeal received a total of 1,834 votes to Peterson's 1,623; but the northeast corner of the county gave the Belmond candidate 455 votes to his opponent's 153. The balloting in Eagle Grove and Clarion was just about a standoff, insofar as the representative race was concerned. In the former McNeal held a 391-365 advantage; and in Clarion, Peterson was in front 408 to 395.

Next closest county contest was that between Harlan Larson, incumbent county attorney, and R. Ralph Austin. The Goldfield candidate won by a 650 margin, with 2,217 votes to the contender's 1,567. Sheriff Bob Blecker had no difficulty in thwarting the efforts of Pat Stewart to unseat him; Bob tallied 2,820 votes to his fellow townsman's 919.

John Greenlander, seeking to succeed himself as District 1 supervisor, was the only retiring member of the county board whose campaign for re-nomination was successful. He received 354 votes to more than double the count on Oren Hanson, who polled 150.

In District 2, where incumbent H. C. Pinkham of Goldfield was not a candidate for renomination, Carl Kelling nosed out John Schipull, 248 to 216. Third in the field was Howard Stevenson with 96 votes.

William Fisher of Eagle Grove, District 3 supervisor, was upset by Albert Christopher by a 698-624 margin; and in District 5, Supervisor Tom J. Henry of Clarion was defeated by Harland Hill, 567-457. Gene Boyington ran third with 241. The term of George Trowbridge of Dows, in District 4, does not expire until 1952.

In the only Democratic contest for supervisor—in District 1—Francis McNulty defeated Tuck Parker for the nomination, 75 to 51.

With Republican ballots in the county totaling in the neighborhood of 3,800, the heaviest vote was cast in the contest for county attorney—3,784. Close behind in interest was the race for state representative, which attracted 3,739 votes.

Among state and national contests, the candidates for U. S. senator drew the heaviest balloting, Bourke Hickenlooper receiving 2,562 of the 3,501 votes cast. Wright county electors gave Wisdom only 595 and Thompson 344 votes.

In the Democratic contest for the senatorial nomination, the county voters just about reflected the state balloting. A. J. Loveland, the Brannan Plan advocate, received 197 votes, Nelson

ELECTRIC FARM and HOME FREEZER

To take full advantage of the convenience and economy of frozen foods, you must have your own individual Electric Foods Freezer. You can get one in a size to fit your needs exactly, whether for farm or city home.

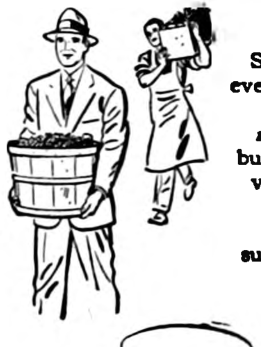
Better Quality

Buy the best of everything when available. Stock up on all kinds of commercial frozen foods when plentiful and prices low. Buy fresh foods at their peak of goodness, right when they're in season, freeze and store with all their quality and flavor locked in.

Avoid Waste

Cook large, economical quantities of roasts, stews, beans, gravies, sauces, and freeze until needed. Have "planned-overs" instead of leftovers.

Save Time and Money



Shop once a week, or even every two weeks. Buy foods at quantity prices and really save. Fruits by the bushel, berries by the crate, vegetables by the hamper, ice cream by the gallon, a week's or month's supply of meat at one time.

Freeze instead of Can

It's easier to freeze foods—and you enjoy fresh, peak-of-goodness flavor. You can easily prepare and freeze the fruits and vegetables you raise in your own garden, and save a lot of time and money, too!

Frozen Game

For the sportsman, there's no need to give away the fish you catch, or the game you shoot: Simply freeze it.

"Frozen Pantry"

Imagine having all the food you need in the house at all times—from snack to complete meal! No concern then, about unexpected guests. You can even prepare quantities of pies, cakes or biscuits days ahead, freeze them ready to pop into the oven—or bake first, then freeze.

No "Seasons"

With your own Electric Food Freezer you can enjoy strawberries at Christmas, or oysters in August. No need to depend upon "fresh" fruits or vegetables shipped long distances at premium prices. You are really the master of your menus!

Severseike-Swenson Marriage Took Place Thursday Evening

In an impressive candlelight service last Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Dorothy Ramona Severseike, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Severseike, became the bride of Gerald Dean Swenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Swenson.

Tall basket bouquets of white gladioli and candelabra formed a setting for the double-ring ceremony, which was read by the bride's father, who in turn was assisted at the altar by the Rev. F. T. Lokensgard of Humboldt.

Seated at the organ console was Mrs. H. C. Simerson, who played appropriate nuptial music and who also accompanied the soloists in their selections. Prior to the processional Jerry Hanson sang "Because" and Miss Glennice Erickson, Kelly, sang "O Perfect Love." At the close of the marriage ceremony, while the bride and groom were kneeling, "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Jerry Hanson.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of heavy antique ivory slipper satin, made with fitted bodice and full skirt, with a bustle effect that draped into a long, sweeping train. She wore elbow length gauntlets of chantilly lace, trimmed with satin. Her fingertip veil was an off-the-face bonnet, handmade of exquisite illusion, with a discreet seed pearl trim.

She carried a white orchid on a white satin Bible, from which fell long white satin streamers to which white sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley were tied. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Helen Jacobson, Iola, Wis., a college friend of the bride, was maid-of-honor and wore an orchid gown of shadow taffeta with matching mitts. She carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas and daisies. The four bridesmaids—Marion Tyrrell, Belmond, Dorothy Hanson, Clarion, Marian Severtson, Watertown, S. Dak. and Ruth Wik, Minneapolis, Minn.—wore identical gowns of green shadow taffeta with matching mitts. They each carried a handbag made of the same material to which was pinned a white gardenia encircled by baby roses. All the attendants wore sprays of baby roses in their hair to match the gowns.

Donald Swenson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the four ushers were Odean Severseike, Donald Goeman, Irwin Rosheim and Arthur Stockseth. Dick Barkema and Roger Tendall served as candlelighters. The groom and his attendants all wore light colored suits and white carnation boutonnieres.

Sharon Swenson and Iva Jeanne Pals, nieces of the groom, were flower girls and wore identical gowns of yellow shadow taffeta. Each carried a basket of rose petals and wore little corsages of sweetheart roses. Shirley Swenson, also niece of the groom, who was dressed exactly as the flower girls, and Kenneth Sheldahl, cousin of the bride, dressed in white, carried the rings on white satin pillows.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD D. SWENSON

Mrs. Severseike, mother of the bride, wore an aqua dress with beige accessories, and Mrs. Swenson, mother of the groom, wore rose with navy and white accessories. Both wore corsages of roses and sweet peas.

A reception was held in the church parlors for over 500 invited guests. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake with miniature bridal couple on top. White hand-crocheted nutcups—made by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Emma Sandeno—edged with the bride's colors, yellow, green and orchid, helped decorate the bride's table.

Head dining room hostess was Miss Viola Sheldahl, aunt of the bride, who was assisted by the Mesdames Ardell Johnson, Clarence Johnson and A. P. Thompsen. Mrs. Silas Espe and Mrs. Sam Alne, aunts of the bride, poured, and were assisted by Mrs. Harold Johnson and Miss Matilda Skovlin.

Miss June Torkelson, Buffalo Center, served the bride's cake and Miss Marie Brown of Chicago, Ill., was in charge of the guest book. The gifts were opened and arranged by the Mesdames Gerhard Thompson, Albert Hanson, Herschel Johnson and Thomas Mathre.

The bride was graduated from the Belmond High school with the class of '48, attended Waldorf College at Forest City for one year, and for the past eight months has been employed at the First State Bank in Belmond. The groom was graduated from Belmond High school with the class of '47 and since that time has been engaged in farming.

After a two weeks trip through the southern states, the couple will be at home on a farm two miles northwest of Belmond. For her going away outfit, the bride wore an off-white gabardine suit with green accessories.

● McNEAL WINS . . .

G. Kraschel 163, Alvin P. Meyer 88, Otha D. Wearin 19, W. M. Shaw 16 and Ernest J. Seeman nine. Something over 500 Democratic voters cast ballots in the primary.

In the Democratic governorship race, Lester Gillette snowed under Myron Bennett, 337 to 85.

Balloting in Belmond proper largely followed statewide voting on state and federal candidate — even to Jessie M. Parker barely nosing out Paul Norris in the vote for the state superintendency, 119 to 107. W. H. Nicholas for lieutenant-governor and Attorney General arson were both given large pluralities.

Biggest surprise in the local voting, to many, was the single-vote margin that County Attorney Larson earned over his young Clarion opponent, R. Ralph Austin. Austin's earnest campaigning in this bailiwick obviously paid off, for he drew 136 votes to Larson's 137. The townships of Belmond, Grant, Iowa, and Pleasant were definitely in the Austin camp, 172 to 154—so the loser had a 17-vote edge in the county's northeast quarter.

Casting less than 450 ballots, compared to 978 in the recent city election, Belmond voters indicated an obvious lack of interest in Monday's primary contests.

HELLO WORLD

NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT AND HEARING

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given that a plat and schedule are on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Belmond, Iowa, showing assessments proposed to be made for and on account of the cost of construction of a storm sewer as follows: A 24 to 8 inch storm sewer, commencing approximately at the S. W. corner of Block 8, Original Town of Belmond, Iowa, thence running northeasterly across said Block 8; thence east across the highway and on Third Street N. E. (Hathaway Street) to approximately the east property line of Sixth Avenue N. E. (Queen Street); against properties abutting upon and adjacent to said improvement, said plat and schedule showing the separate lots and parcels of ground proposed to be assessed for the cost of said improvement, the names of the owners thereof, so far as known, and the amount to be assessed against each lot of parcel of ground and against railway companies assessable therefor.

You are further notified that at 8:00 o'clock P. M. on the 29th day of June, 1950, in the City Hall in Belmond, Iowa, the City Council of Belmond, Iowa, will hold a public hearing in regard to said proposed schedule of assessments and will receive any objections offered thereto, and after receiving said objections said Council will adopt said plat and schedule as proposed or may revise and adopt the same.

By order of the City Council of Belmond, Iowa.

Carrie L. Courtney,
City Clerk 34t2

NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the City Clerk of Belmond, Iowa, until 8:00 o'clock P. M. on the 29th day of June, 1950, for the bonds herinafter described. At the hour above named all sealed bids which have been received will be referred to the City Council at a meeting then to be held. After the receipt of such sealed bids, if any, open bids will be received and the bonds will then be sold to the highest bidder for cash. The bonds to be offered are the following:

Sewer Bonds in the principal amount of $8,000.00, to be dated June 1, 1950, and to mature as follows:

$2,000.00 on December 1, 1951

COMMUNITY METHODIST CHURCH

Alexander and Latimer

Rev. E. A. Cochell, Pastor

This month the Methodist churches are preaching about "Our Faith in the Kingdom of Heaven". It is God's plan for social relations. The sermon topic for Sunday will be "Children in the Kingdom of Heaven."

Wanted: 10 men for a men's chorus to sing on Father's Day, June 18. Come to practice this Thursday evening at 8.

A packed house enjoyed the closing program for the Vacation Bible school last Sunday evening. The children look forward to another year's school.

THE ALEXANDER REFORMED CHURCH

Rev. B. T. Vander Woude, Jr.
Pastor

June 11
Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.
Morning service at 10:30 a. m.
Evening service at 7:30 p. m.
Thursday, June 8—

The Alexander Reformed church will hold its annual Mission Festival on Thursday. Services will be held at 9:30 a. m. for the Sunday school. The regular services of the day will be held at 10:30 a. m.; 2:00 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Rev. Joseph Esther, missionary from China will be the principle speaker. He will be accompanied by two native Chinese from the mission field and also a native Korean. These natives are young men studying in this country in preparation to return to their native land to do missionary work among their own people. Rev. Esther and some of the native Chinese will be taking part in the morning and evening services. Rev. Fred Buseman of Waterloo and Rev. A. J. Koopman of Aplington will take part in the afternoon service. All guests and members will be fed at the church throughout the day. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Friday, June 9. The Ladies Aid will meet at 1:00 for the purpose of cleaning the church basement. All the ladies of the church are invited to come prepared and equipped for the church basement cleaning project.

Rev. and Mrs. B. T. Vander Woude, Jr., spent the past week in Holland, Mich., to attend the wedding of his brother, Cornelius Vander Woude. Cornelius Vanderwoude, who is a student in Western Theological Seminary at Holland, Mich. was married to Miss Betty Brinkman, also of Holland. The newly married couple are spending the summer in a student charge near Kalamazoo, Mich. Both Rev. and Mrs. Vander Woude participated in the wedding. Mrs. Vander Woude acted as one of the bride's attendants, while Mr. Vander Woude was one of the ushers.

Mrs. E. R. Harris was a dinner and supper guest at the Kenneth Bailey home at Rowan on Sunday.

The following were dinner guests at the L. B. Bell home on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Poland and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Neal and children of Ackley, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Card and children of Dumont, Mr. and Mrs. Kenet Ginapp and son and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pals and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peters and Eric of Northwood, who spent a few days here at the H. A. Peters Home while Mr. and Mrs. Peters were at Rochester, Minn., went to Waterloo Saturday where Charles will assist in the Walker Shoe store at Waterloo and take at course at Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls this summer. Mrs. Peters spent Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Brower.

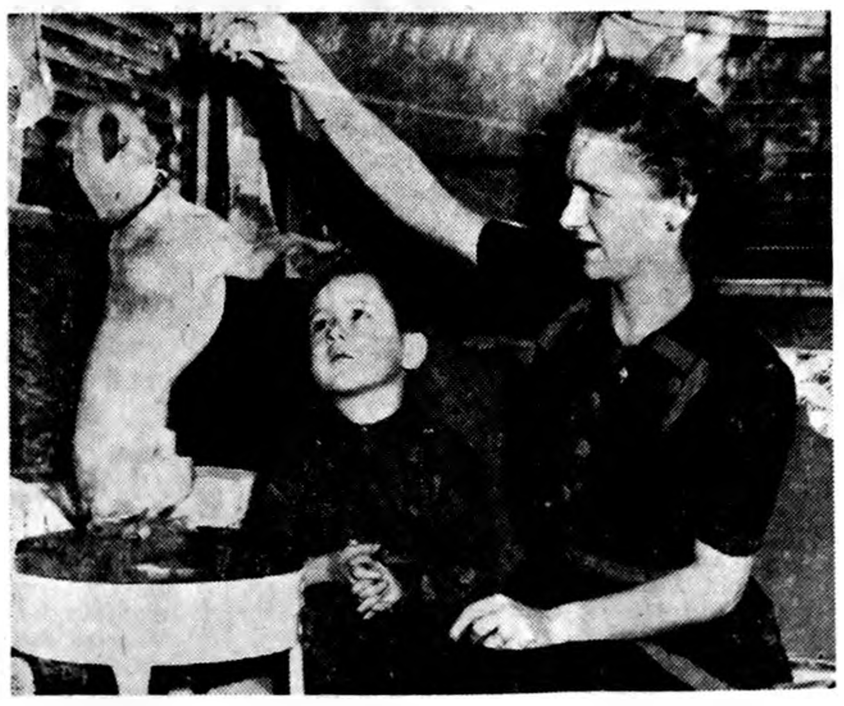
Hadacol Helps Wife Keep Her Family Well and Happy

HADACOL HELPS FOLKS SUFFERING FROM DEFICIENCY OF VITAMINS B_1, B_2, NIACIN AND IRON



Mrs. Edward H. Newton, 4364 Reading Road, Cincinnati, Ohio. feels that a wife's chief responsibility is attending to the welfare of her family at all times. HADACOL has been a big help to her in keeping her husband and little nephew well and happy.

Mrs. Newton's family, like so many, were suffering deficiencies Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

HADACOL brought such wonderful results to her husband, who had suffered from stomach distress that Mrs. Newton gave HADACOL to her three-year-old nephew, Bobby Newton, with equally gratifying results.

Mrs. Newton's Statement

Here is Mrs. Newton's statement: "I gave my little nephew HADACOL because he was pale; he had no appetite; he was run down and he caught colds repeatedly. After taking HADACOL, he has an appetite, has color in his cheeks and he is healthier all the way. My husband has always been troubled with his stomach. After taking five large bottles and three small bottles of HADACOL, he eats anything and is not bothered with his stomach." Mrs. Newton has recommended HADACOL to many of her friends.

Helps You Feel Wonderful!

Why not have a similar happy experience happen to you? Now don't keep putting it off—don't say that you'll start taking HADACOL tomorrow. START TAKING IT TODAY! If only you'd realize the wonderful benefits that people by the thousands are getting from HADACOL, you wouldn't delay a single minute.

Hundreds of Doctors

. . . have prescribed HADACOL for their patients, have requested quantities of HADACOL for their own clinical use and for their own families. The fact that HADACOL is scientifically formulated, compounded so that it contains therapeutic quantities of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron to supply deficiencies of these vital elements and is enriched with helpful amounts of Manganese, Calcium and Phosphorous (in liquid form), help to account for its increasing acceptance by doctors.

You'll Feel Great . . .

. . . with the first few bottles you take, or your money back. There is only one HADACOL and it is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. So give this remarkable HADACOL formula a chance to help you if you suffer from any sickness caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron. Remember that HADACOL is amazingly different and amazingly effective because it treats the real cause of the conditions you suffer from by supplying the deficient elements of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron. Make up your mind to take HADACOL regularly. Refuse substitutes. Don't be satisfied with temporary relief. Insist on the genuine. You can't lose a cent, because it's sold on a strict money-back guarantee. Only $1.25 for Trial size. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

Memorial Day Services Conducted Last Tuesday By Legion and Auxiliary

The American Legion and Auxiliary had charge of Memorial Day services last week at Amsterdam Cemetery, with many former local folks in attendance from Belmond, Klemme, Kanawha and Garner.

Rev. Vernon Jaberg of Klemme gave the address. Mrs. Darwin Boller laid a wreath on the unknown grave; Louise Johnson offered the prayer; Ileen Langlitz recited "In Flanders Field."

V. E. Harris read the honor roll while Barbara Boller and Harriett Boller placed poppies on the unknown grave. The squad fired a salute under the command of Kenneth Boller and taps were played by Marvin Lackore of Hayfield.

The Auxiliary had placed white crosses on each soldier's grave, marking veterans of the Civil war, World War I and War II. Ed Albers raised the flag.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eurom of Clemons were weekend visitors in the Dan Miller home. The ladies are sisters.

Harriett Van Buskirk, who is a student in the school for the deaf at Council Bluffs, came Saturday to enjoy the summer vacation with home folks, the Lloyd Van Buskirks.

Edward Hemenway, son of Mrs. Adelia Hemenway of Corwith, graduated May 29 from Morningside College in Sioux City. He received a B. A. degree majoring in business administration. He will teach commercial in the Williams school next fall. The Hemenways were Goodell residents for many years.

Mrs. Lauritz Peterson and three children accompanied her brother, Merle Peterson of Waverly, to Minnesota, Saturday. They visited Mr. and Mrs. George Nolte at Adams and the Walton Petersons at Kasson. Lauritz took the bus there Monday evening and all returned home Tuesday night.

Mrs. Merlin Lowenberg and Cynthia went to Kanawha Sunday and attended a shower honoring Marilyn Price who is to become the bride of the former's cousin, Orville Weiland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boller and Carolyn went to Thompson Sunday and visited friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dewey and Arlin went to Britt on Monday evening where they attended the alumni banquet. Mrs. Dewey is an alumni.

Mrs. Erma Nielsen and Don, Mrs. F. O. Fitts and Thera and Mrs. Claude Benson visited at the Gerald McSweeny home at Osage Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brede, Judith and Delwyn visited Sunday with friends, the Roy Fords in Garner and Emil Beiers in Klemme.

Carl Sellers, who attends school in Kanawha and plays the cymbals in the band, played at the Memorial Day service and also in the street concert Wednesday evening.

The Lyle Green family in company with friends, the Joe Finnegans of Klemme, fished at Rice Lake Sunday.

Mrs. Merlin Lowenberg and Cynthia attended Memorial Day services at Britt and spent the remainder of the day in the parental Fred Wieland home at Kanawha.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pals of Meservey were Sunday visitors in the home of his sister, Mrs. Frank Ostendorf.

Carl Martin of North Liberty came Saturday to help his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dan Martin, celebrate their 39th wedding anniversary. On Sunday he went to Virginia, Minn. to join his wife and son who are visiting Mrs. Carl Martin's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Ver Helst accompanied by Mrs. Herb Kohler of Meservey and Mrs. Winnie Smith went to Council Bluffs on Thursday, returning on Friday. They brought the VerHelsts' six year old daughter, Virginia home for the summer vacation. She has attended the School for the Deaf the past school year and is showing marked improvement which their many friends are pleased to hear. Mrs. Ver Helst's mother, Mrs. C. H. French of Clear Lake stayed in the former's home while they were gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruth of Winterset were weekend visitors in the J. J. Cook and O. C. Evenson homes. These three couple became friends a year ago while wintering in Texas. On Sunday the Evensons took their house guests to Northwood where they were guests in the Harley Danner home.

Jake Gram, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Gram, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Gram and children of Cedar Falls attended Memorial Day services on Tuesday and called among old friends.

Bridal Shower Given At John Lauen Home

Agnes Beal of Primghar was honored with a bridal shower, Thursday afternoon in the John Lauen home. Sixteen ladies, old neighbors of the Hemenways, were the folks present. The afternoon was spent with contests and socially and a lunch was served. The honored guest received nice gifts. Miss Beal will become the bride of Edward Hemenway of Corwith Friday of this week at a church wedding in Primghar.

E. U. B. Ladies Aid Meets Next Wednesday

Mrs. Roy Halfpap and Mrs. Donald Burk will be hostess to the E. U. B. Aid, Wednesday of next week in the church dining room. Mrs. L. W. Wesenberg will lead devotions.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Brunes had their son, Steven Grant, baptized Sunday at the Methodist church in Kanawha. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brunes, daughters Ethel of Belmond and Belva of Mason City attended the service and all were dinner guests in the parental James Shelton home.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bjelland went to Clarion Sunday afternoon and visited his mother, Mrs. Sam Bjelland.

Goodell folks will be interested in hearing the whereabouts of a former Goodell resident, Clifford Brogan. Since the death of his wife he has been staying with his daughter, Marvel in Moberly, Mo., but recently has failed rapidly in health and is now in a hospital at Macon, Mo.

Goodell friends were interested and pleased to read in last week Garner paper that the Garner school annual was dedicated this year to Charles Tompkins. The latter has been principal of the Garner school the past 28 years. He was superintendent of the Goodell Independent school five years, leaving here in 1918. It was a complete surprise to Mr. Tompkins but the paper quoted his remarks of response which were as usual very fitting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Beier went to Fort Dodge Sunday and spent the day in the home of their son, Walter.

Contract Bridge Club Enjoyed Family Picnic

The Contract Bridge club and their families enjoyed a spring chicken picnic dinner at Beed's Lake, Hampton Sunday. Families present were the Urbatschs, Carl Greens, Paul Veldhouses, Ernie Kurtzs, Walter Bollers, V. E. Harris', Kenneth Bollers and Campbells.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lilly of Cedar Rapids were Thursday visitors in the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Beier.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matson of Clarion and their niece, Mrs. Bonnie Howell and baby of Midland, Texas, spent Sunday with relatives, the Newgards.

Mrs. Bill Berkey and Joan of Vinton came Tuesday for Memorial Day services and were guests in the home of the former's brother, Robert McNutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Howard and Kathryn of Waukeegan, Ill., and Mrs. V. E. Kachelhoffer of Ackley were Thursday dinner guests at the Carol Miner home.

Mrs. John Ahrenkiel, Louise Johnson and Mrs. J. E. Savogue enjoyed supper and the evening Saturday in the Matt Smith home at Klemme.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Zeigler, Carol and Roger spent Sunday at Corwith in the home of his sister, Mrs. John Babcock.

The Senior class of the Kanawha High school dedicated their annual to Mrs. Blomgren of Britt. Mrs. Blomgren was English teacher in the Goodell school 35 years ago.

Mrs. Suurballe Dies at Age 81

Goodell friends were saddened Friday when word came from Mrs. C. H. Tompkins of Garner saying that Mrs. John Suurballe, age 81, had passed away Thursday evening at Mason City.

The deceased came to Goodell as Dela Andrews many years ago to help care for her sister, Mrs. John Suurballe, who at the time was very ill.

After her sister passed away, she remained in the home to keep house for the family. Later she became the wife of Mr. Suurballe and they were local residents for several years, the latter having charge of the bank.

The Suurballes later moved to Garner and Mr. Suurballe was elected Hancock county treasurer. He passed away several years ago.

Goodell folks will always cherish the memory of Mrs. Suurballe for the unending church work and kind deeds she did while living here. The past four years she had been in failing health and was cared for in the home of her niece in Mason City.

She leaves her two adopted step-children — Ted Suurballe, who is employed in a bank in Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Kruspig (Eva) of Fort Wayne Ind.; and a grandson, John Suurballe, who this month is receiving his master's degree at Iowa City.

All the above came for the funeral services, which were held at Garner Saturday at the Methodist church, with the Rev. W. S. Cunningham officiating. Burial was at Garner.

Arthur Ruka, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, Mrs. A. M. Graeber and Mrs. Amos Hanson were local folks attending the service. C. H. Tompkins, formerly of Goodell was one of the pallbearers.

Ray Schleusner and Hayde Jacobs of Garner were Tuesday evening visitors in the home of relatives, the Kenneth Johnsons.

Mrs. Lee Milsap of Williams and Mrs. Pat Dillon of Belmond accompanied by their sister, Mrs. Laton Avery of here went to Belmond Monday to attend the funeral of their friend, Mrs. Dorr. Mrs. Avery went on to Williams with Mrs. Milsap and returned home via bus that evening.

Here's why we say:

"Go for a ride_and you'll go for MERCURY!"

1. The right power!

You get the right POWER! Not a little engine! Not an oversized one! But 110-horsepower in a V-type, 8-cylinder, made-for-Mercury engine that knows where it's going—and gets there smoothly, quietly—with plenty in reserve. And the new Mercury is "America's No. 1 Economy* Car"!

2. The right roadability!

3. The right riding comfort!

You get the right RIDING COMFORT! With plenty of room for six big people inside . . . with "Cushion-Coil" springing . . . and ease of handling that's second to none. It's the kind of perfectly balanced car you've dreamed of driving. Try the new Mercury yourself today — and see!

COUNTY GETS $27,855 STATE CHECK TOWARD '49 LAND TAX CREDIT

A check for $27,855.88 has been received by the county auditor's office from the state comptroller representing the aggregate agricultural land tax credit refunds for Wright county covering the year of 1949.

This is the fourth and largest check Auditor Roger Charlson has received for this purpose—the previous ones covering the years of 1946 through 1948 — and is the first likely to allow for 100 per cent settlement of claims. The 1948 check was $16,573.24; for 1947 — $17,401.29; and 1946—$4,194.13.

The tax credit goes to all owners of 10 or more acres of land lying within the confines of an independent school district and is intended to reduce their net tax millage payment on general school fund levies to 15 mills.

Treasurer Harold E. Sullivan says that no checks for land tax credits will be made available until proper distribution of the 1949 amoun has been determined. He estimates that that breakdown will be completed by late June or early July.

When individual refunds for 1949 have been established, all checks for the four years since the agricultural land tax credit act went into effect will be ready for distribution at the same time. Then they either can be claimed by written request or picked up at the treasurer's office.

George Hinman, Imogene Halfpap and Ed Gabrielson attended Baccalaureate services of Iowa Methodist hospital at Des Moines Sunday. Lelia Riggs is a member of the graduating class.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spurling, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Shoberg and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spurling, Sr. of Stratford and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hokel and family of Spence were Sunday visitors at the Ed Spurling and H. A. Hokel homes.

4-H Boys and Girls May Now Receive Thorough Physical Examinations

Arrangements have been completed whereby all 4-H members may receive a thorough physical and dental examination. In addition the hemoglobin, urinalysis, and "T. B." tests are given. Each 4-H member is able to visit his own family doctor and dentist for this examination.

This step toward county health improvement has come about as a result of widespread interest by 4-H members, their leaders and families, as well as through the full cooperation of the Wright County Medical association.

Surveys that have been made indicate that only a very small percentage of growing boys and girls receive health examinations and most of these are not conducted regularly. One letter of the 4-H emblem signifies "Health for better living", and as the 4-H program expands more emphasis and interest is being shown in this all important phase.

4-H GIRLS ANNOUNCE SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

Seven girls' 4-H clubs plan to have softball teams this summer, and a complete schedule of games has been drafted. All will be played on the Clarion school diamond on Friday evenings, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Each team has a manager to direct its practice sessions and help direct at the games. The managers are:

Harlan Poolman of Galt, Lincoln Lassies League; Glen Wilson, Sr., of Eagle Grove, Woolstock Willing Workers; Don Lyons of Rowan, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; LeRoy Schaumburg of Clarion, Dayton Dandies; Don Blue of Eagle Grove, Eagle Red Peppers; Eldon Barnes of Clarion, Grant Go-Getters and Richard Stockseth of Belmond, Belmond Busy-Bees.

Following is the game schedule, which the mandgers suggest be clipped out for future reference: June 2—Lincoln vs. Woolstock; June 9—Iowa vs. Dayton; June 16—Eagle Grove vs. Grant; June 23—Belmond vs. Lincoln.

June 30—Woolstock vs. Iowa; July 7—Dayton vs. Eagle Grove; July 14—Grant vs. Belmond; July 21—Lincoln vs. Iowa; July 28—Dayton vs. Woolstock; Aug. 4—Eagle Grove vs. Belmond.

NEW 4-H ASSISTANT

Jeanne Gantarek, a junior student from Iowa State college, will assist Mrs. Lettie Zuber, county home economist, this summer with the girls 4-H work. Miss Gantarek is from Owatonna, Minn., and was a 4-H club member for eight years. Last summer she worked as an assistant in 4-H work in Minnesota. Miss Cantaarek begins her duties on June 12.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK --

"Gus" Halverson Keeps Up With Latest Trends

IF HIS FARMING ONLY MATCHES HIS BOWLING HIS SUCCESS IS SURE

MR. AND MRS. GARFIELD HALVERSON, JR.

Although he's been farming on his own for only five years, it would be our guess that Garfield Halverson, Jr., is well launched on what will prove a highly successful farming career.

Familiarly known to his friends as "Gus" since he dropped the name "Junior" in high school, Garfield the younger and his wife live just east of the farm which Garfield, Sr. owns and operates about seven and a half miles northwest of Belmond. Gus farms the 160 on which the young couple live and another 80 across the road. Both comprise a part of 480 owned by the elder Garfield.

We commented that it was pretty nice that his dad had such a fine piece of land all ready for him to start farming on, and Gus replied, "He makes a good landlord, too." We'll warrant that Gus found his father an able agriculture instructor, too. It's no accident when a son enjoys the early success in farming that Gus has.

One thing opened our eyes in a hurry, soon after we set out to interview the young Halversons. Conversation turned to the corn allotment program, and Gus told us frankly, "I really got a somewhat larger allotment than I had a right to expect."

He explained that during the three years on which the allotments were based (and plantings were running pretty high on nearly all farms), he had one particularly heavy corn year because a winter freeze killed out quite a piece of clover and the field had to be replanted in corn in order to get a crop off it. The end result was that Gus's allotment ran 103 acres.

Needless to say, he is willly complying with his acreingly complying with his acreage quota. "I'd have com- "even if my allotment had been considerably less. But it just goes to show how a thing like that freeze-out could give a fellow a break over a good farmer conscientiously sticking by the very best of soil conservation practices."

The Halversons have a nice start toward building up a really fine Hereford herd thanks to his parents' idea of a practical gift. When Gus graduated from Belmond High school in 1942 (his wife, formerly Esther Meints and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meints, got her diploma three years later), his father gave him a promising heifer. When the couple got married four and a half years ago, each got another. From these three, they've already developed a herd of 28, including cows and calves.

Twice cows in the herd have produced twins, and Gus says he was pretty lucky over quite a stretch in getting heifer calves. His dad helped him build the herd by trading him heifers for bull calves on several occasions. Gus also has 15 head of feeder cattle which he bought last fall. As is quite obvious, he's well sold on the average of cattle as a item in his farming program.

Gus is very closely watching the results of a new (for him) experiment he's undertaken this spring. His older brother Ervin, who the past year bought 240 acres down near Dows, has bought a drill-planter for oats. Ervin wasn't yet ready to plant when Gus was set to get his oats in, so he loaned Gus the outfit to put in 40 acres. The field is coming remarkably well, being far ahead of his other oats, and Gus and his dad have been so favorably impressed with the looks of the patch at this stage that they are very seriously considering the purchase of a planter of their own.

A strip at the south edge of the field looks somewhat inferior to the balance, which prompted Gus to remark, "That area was in corn three years in a row because of clover freezing out that one year. Guess it provides a pretty good object lesson in the value of proper rotation."

The rest of the field, though, looks wonderful. Gus says that use of the planter has a number of advantages. It allows for application of fertilizer right along with the planting (he's fertilizing his oats for the first time this year, employing 6-24-0. Lots less seed is needed than if it were broadcast. And he anticipates that the better-spaced planting will produce a much better stand of timothy and clover — which were seeded along with the oats.

Gus has 76 acres in oats this year, 28 of which are in the new Shelby variety. . . One thing you gather very promptly in "talking farm" with Gus. He's not a fellow to do things because he did 'em last year and the year before. He wants to become a steadily better farmer and feels that part and parcel of such an aim is keeping up with new trends.

He's a conscientious member of the soil conservation district and is carefully abiding by the rotation plan recommended for his acres.

He farms on crop-shares with his father (who is assisted by a younger son, Merlin, in farming his other 240 acres), but his livestock projects are entirely his own. Besides the well-started herd of Herefords and the feeding stock, Gus has a batch of 120 spring pigs. He's bought a hybrid hog and his sows are Duroc-Poland crosses. He's heard lots of pros and cons in regard to the advantages of hybrid swine, so he determined to find out the answer for himself.

The Halversons also have 250 laying hens and recently bought 308 pullets—all leghorns. He plans to cull out the flock but is considering increasing its size somewhat over the present number of 250 layers.

Mrs. Halverson is one town-bred girl who's completely sold on being a farm wife. "I would't go back to living in town for anything," she says.

Esther shares her husband's enthusiasm for fishing as a pastime; in fact, she declares that she's rather nourished Gus's interest in angling, instead of the other way around.

The late season beat them out of any opportunity to get in a spring fishing jaunt this year, but they're both already planning on a Minnesota lake outing in the fall. Flowers are also a hobby of Mrs. Halverson's, and she likes to have lots of them around.

Gus is a bowling enthusiast—and a mighty capable bowler, too. During the past year, the 277 he rolled at Bowl-Mor Lanes was the highest score turned in during the entire season. He is hopeful that a team will be organized out in his neighborhood to participate in league bowling next winter.

Both the young Halversons belong to St. Olaf Lutheran church and they are loyal members of the Farm Bureau. They're an up-and-coming couple we predict that in years to come they will without question earn the reputation and esteem presently enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Halverson, Sr., as one of Wright county's truly outstanding farm families.

Salaries of County Officials Badly in Need of Revamping

The $150 reduction in annual salary that this county's elective officers are facing as a result of Wright's reduction in population below the 20,000 mark points up a matter that the state legislature has too long disregarded. Present pay of some of these county officials, which is set by the legislators, is simply inadequate for this day and age.

While the county's population remained over 20,000 the elective posts paid $2,850 per year. Assuming that the unofficial 1950 census report is reasonably accurate and complete, that figure will drop to $2,700 now that the county population misses 20,000 by several hundred.

Heavy responsibility is attached to every county office these days. There can be no denial that the responsibilities of some of the elected job-holders are greater today than ever before and are increasing almost year by year. For example, the volume of business on which the auditor and treasurer had to keep books in 1939 was less than $2,000,000. Last year it was in the neighborhood of $3,250,000.

We'd like to ask the legislators how many business firms they can name which do a gross volume of business as large as this county's, and whose treasurer and auditor are paid $2,700 annually —or $2,850—or less than THREE TIMES either figure.

During the past 10 years, the salaries of county elective officials have been jacked up from $2,000 to their present level, but they remain ridiculously low in some cases. There should be a proper relationship between the salaries of appointive and elective officers. Certainly none exists at present.

The county engineer receives $3,900, the assessor $4,000 and the county superintendent $4,500. We don't wish to imply that they are overpaid; but if these salaries are appropriate, the $2,700 that will be drawn by the treasurer, auditor, clerk of court and recorder is obviously inadequate.

Of course, the base pay is the same for the sheriff and county attorney. However, the former is provided with living quarters and clears some extra money on mileage (time was when feeding of prisoners produced a bit of "velvet"; but with only 35 cents allowed per meal, that should be a skimpy source of income any more). The attorney in 1948 made an additional $1,074 in commission on fines, and $767 last year; also, his is a part-time job. Certainly the remuneration of these two officials is more reasonable than that of the treasurer and auditor.

Wright county has been most fortunate, by and large, in atttracting honest, competent officers to fill its elective posts. It's begging fate, however, to expect this state of affairs to continue indefinitely. In fairness to hard-working, underpaid county officers the state over —and as a guarantee to continued, capable administration of county affairs— the legislature should PROMPTLY review and readjust the salaries of elected county officials.

Historical Society Strikes Us As Mighty Fine Undertaking

The plan to organize a Wright County Historical Society impresses us as a most sensible one. Although a county history has been written, there is much background material that has never been recorded—and the time is fleeting during which "old-timers" will continue to be available, whose memories go back to the early days when this was settlers' territory.

The most immediate purpose of the organization will be to clarify the part that Wright county—and former County Superintendent O. H. Benson, in particular—played in establishment of the national 4-H club movement. However, the goal of the society will undoubtedly be to create an archive containing as complete historical data on the county as is obtainable.

We congratulate Bob Blue of Eagle Grove and Ray Richardson of Goldfield for taking the initiative in organizing the proposed society; and we urge all pioneer residents and persons possessing family records pertaining to the early settlers to scour those attics and closets for material that will be of value to the historians.

"Re-Dedication Month" Offers Opportunity for Self Appraisal

Prompted by a movement initiated by the National Editorial Association (of which the Independent is a member), Gov. William S. Beardsley has proclaimed June to be "Re-Dedication Month." One June 25th, delegates to the N. E. A. parley at Providence, R. I., will make a pilgrimage to Plymouth Rock to reaffirm "our faith in the ideals of liberty and justice on which this nation was founded".

We cordially urge local church, civic and patriotic groups to employ this theme at their assemblies during the month and suggest it as an appropriate sermon topic on the final Sunday, to coincide with the re-dedication ceremony.

Certainly much faith in simple, personal virtues has been supplanted by dependency upon a paternalistic state; and there is an outright effort by some misguided individuals to twist the status of government from that of servant of the people and transform it into their master.

Personal integrity and self-reliance made the United States the mighty nation that it is - and sacrifice of these traits on the altars of political opportunism and selfish minority interests today threatens the strength that has made our nation the keystone of democracy's fortress in a confused and divided world.

For these reasons we deem the N. E. A.'s gesture particularly timely and praiseworthy and sincerely hope that its agggregate effect will be measurable in increased rsolution that further advance toward the benign (?) slavery of socialism and will be earnestly opposed.

Iowa Hog-Raisers Share In Nation's Richest Pork Barrel

"Small wonder a pork barrel has become known as something worth having a hand in," remarks the Iowa Development Commission in commenting on the volume of business done by Iowa pork-raisers last year. Thanks to its ample supply of corn, Iowa was far in front of all other swine-producing states.

Raising nearly 4,103,000,000 pounds of pork, this state's farmers nearly doubled the output of their nearest competitor—Illinois—whose total was a bit under 2,079,000,000.

From the dollars-and-cents standpoint—which, after all, is the "pork barrel" standpoint—Iowa farmers gathered in more than 700 million dollars from their sale of hogs; and they produced another $37,500,000 worth, approximately, which ended up on their own tables.

Taking the nation's entire pork output into consideration, a peacetime production record of 20.4 billion pounds was produced. Iowa's share represented 24 per cent of that total.

Last year 15,661,000 head of hogs rooted over Iowa feed lots; this year, prior to spring farrowing, nearly 12 million hogs was the state's estimated swine population. To all appearances, lovers of ham, bacon, pork chops and allied delicacies can once more depend upon Iowa to satisfy a large part of their appetite for pork.

Top educators are urging that financially poor but intellectually brilliant young people be assured scholarship aid for education beyond high school. It's an excellent suggestion. The valedictorian of the writer's high school class is today a factory hand; the class "dummy" is making better than $15,000 annually on shere "push". Opportunity for further education would have multiplied the former's social value many times over.

Value of Iowa's Dairy Production For Year 1949 Over 175 Million

Dairy cows and their products make up a 175-million-dollar industry in Iowa.

In fact, value of Iowa's dairy production for the past year totals $179,542,000, according to figures released by Frank Barker, manager of the Iowa Dairy Industry Commission.

In 1949, butter produced in Iowa was worth 115 million dollars. Ice cream production was valued at 12 million dollars, and bottled milk and cream at 40 million dollars.

Other products included in the over-all total were cottage cheese, evaporated milk, dry milk solids, and buttermilk.

Each section of Iowa is represented on the commission by a farm resident who derives the major share of his income from dairy products. The Commission also includes representatives from Iowa State College and the office of the Secretary of Agriculture.

This state commission is charged with the responsibility of nutrition educational activities, and promoting the sale of Iowa dairy products. Over the years, because of this promotion, the consumption of Iowa dairy products has increased, both within the state and across the country.

Through the American Dairy Association, the Iowa Commission cooperates with 39 other important dairy states in the nation-wide promotion of dairy foods.

Dedication of June as Dairy Month to recognize the importance of the dairy cow and the dairy farmer has been one of the prominent features of the Commission's activities. Iowa today ranks among the leaders in the success of this coordinated national promotion due, in large measure, to the support of the newspapers throughout the state.

Members of the present commission include: Folmer C. Hansen, Cedar Falls, chairman; Marvin McLain, Brooklyn, first vice chairman; George C. Ruth, Onawa, second vice chairman; Wm. J. Baker, Mt. Pleasant; Arnold M. Pancratz, Dubuque; Willard Torgrim, Decorah; Clyde Core, Pleasantville; L. R. Beath, Corning; Cylde Munson, Gowrie; Prof. C. A. Iverson, head of the Dairy Industry Department, and Dr. C. L. Cannon, head of the Dairy Husbandy Department, both of Iowa State College; and Roy J. Sours, chief of dairy and food division, Department of Agriculture, Des Moines. Frank Barker, Des Moines, is the secretary-manager of the Commission.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dieser and Linda of Austin, Minn., were Sunday dinner guests at the Gaylen Johnson home.

"A year ago we were having so much udder trouble (mastitis) that we were planning to go into a mastitis control program. After using the Marlow Milker a short time the udder trouble cleared up.

"Our daily production averages about 5,200 pounds of milk and we test in the Cow Testing Association for butterfat. The run varies from 43 to 45 pounds of butterfat per month and the herd average for 1949 is about 435 pounds butterfat."

Charles Marks, Anaheim, Calif.

"I am well pleased with the Marlow Milker, have had no mastitis since installing it. Easy cleaning is a good feature. I like it the best of any machine I have seen. I am glad to recommend it to anyone."

Peter Bancroft, Coleman, Wis.

J. C. Marlow, nationally known breeder of purebred dairy cattle, and a dairyman for over forty years.

J. C. Says: "Ask any Marlow user about the Marlow Milker. They will tell you the Marlow is easier on udders, that it eliminates a major cause of mastitis flare-ups, increases milk production, and makes dairying easier and more profitable. Get the facts, and you'll get a Marlow."

it means SO MUCH to you . . . and to Iowa

To you and your family, Butter means Good Eating. For nutrition, for health, for downright goodness of flavor, there's nothing finer than good Iowa butter.

To Iowa land, Butter and Dairying mean increased productivity, for Iowa's 1,275,000 dairy cows provide a constant replenishment of fertility to help offset the effect of heavy cropping.

To every county in the state, Butter means steady income, through the steady milk and cream checks that mean good living for Iowa farm families—and good business for Iowa towns and cities. Last year, the value of Iowa's dairy production exceeded $175,000,000.00 — and Butter is Iowa's No. 1 dairy product.

Yes, Butter means so much to Iowa—and to you. Use it generously in cooking and baking. Let your family enjoy it at every meal. Penny for penny, it is an outstanding food value.

'Way Back When

TEN YEARS AGO

Over 450 attended Alumni Day at Belmond High school last Friday. The baseball game between the high school and alumni was won by the latter, 7 to 6.

—1940—

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Murray and son of Indianapolis came on Sunday for a week's visit at the home of Mrs. Trafford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trafford.

—1940—

John Packard and Edgar Jenkins, who have been attending the State University of Iowa during the past year, returned to Belmond this week to spend the summer vacation in their homes.

—1940—

Kathryn McLaughlin, who has been teaching in the local school but plans to continue her studies at Iowa State Teachers college next fall, was pleasantly surprised last week when her pupils and their parents presented her witha purse as a farewell token.

—1940—

When Sheriff Roy Wilson entered the county jail Tuesday morning to pick up a prisoner for delivery to Anamosa, he discovered that the inmate had all but succeeded in digging his way through the wall with a broken chair leg.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

No candidate for county attorney received sufficient votes in Monday's primary to gain election and the contest will now have to be decided by the county convention. John J. Henneberry of Eagle Grove received 1,661 votes, Roy Henderson of Belmond 1,629 and Robert Blue of Eagle Grove 1,567.

—1930—

At its regular meeting Monday noon, the Lions club elected Roy Henderson as president, H. F. Luick as secretary and R. E. Courson as treasurer.

—1930—

Hanging a stolen bed quilt on the wash line brought the downfall of a Clarion man last week. The rightful owner noticed the quilt and reported to the authorites. The thief admitted taking, besides the quilt, 35 quarts of canned fruit, 10 yards of dress material, an electric iron, cobbler's tools and two other handpieced quilts.

—1930—

Mrs. Howard Wolle arrived in Belmond last week after a trip from Bombay, India, where her husbanr is employed. She is visiting at the W. H. Wolle home. She reports she was unable to stand the intense heat in Bombay and will remain in the United States for the duration of her husband's business contract.

THIRT YEARS AGO

R. Thompson and Ned Packard were released after a jury hearing at Clarion last Wednesday on a charge of fishing with their bare hands. They had been ascused of plucking a pickerel out of the Iowa river in that fashion, but they and corroborating witness quickly convinced the jury of their innocence.

—1920—

Elmer Spear, printer for the Independent who has been charged with bigamy, admits that he already had a wife and two children when he recently married a Belmond girl. He was arrested in Oklahoma, where he and his second wife had gone on their wedding trip.

—1920—

A great furore occurred at the Herman Ahlstrom farm last Wednesday evening when it was thought that the Ahlstrom's three-year-old son had been kidnapped by a passing motorist. After a hunt had been instituted for the youngster and an arrest order issued for the stranger, the boy was found peacefully sleeping under a robe in a farm wagon on the Ahlstrom premises.

—1920—

A crowd estimated at 600 gathered here Sunday to see "Pug" Obrecht pitch Belmond's baseball team to a 16-1 victory over Clarion in the season's opener.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Rowan—Many hereabouts are pleased with the outcome of the Jameson trial, as it is believed that the prosecution was mainly due to spite work, and Wright county pays the bill. To our mind the grand jury system should be abolished. It is a relic of the dark ages and the inquisition period.

—1900—

The west-siders are never happy. They have been calling for a long time for street lights and now that they have them, they complain that they can be seen only by daylight.

—1900—

Lewis Schwartz has been one of our most faithful anglers this spring. Last week while he was attempting to entice the wary bullhead with a piece of porterhouse steak, a large pickerel became entangled in the line and Lewis succeeded in landing both the pickerel and the bullhead.

—1900—

Those visiting Spirit Lake this summer should not fail to call at the original log cabin at Pillsbury Point, the only building that remains of the early settlement. Mrs. Abbie Gardener, sole survivor of the massacre of 1857, will be pleased to meet you.

—1900—

Galt — Rev. Seeley and Clarence Seveart started Monday morning on their bikes for Sioux City. They expect to be gone a week.

WRIGHT DELEGATES ATTEND STATE 4-H CONSERVATION CAMP

Each year outstanding 4-H members from all sections of Iowa are selected to attend the State 4-H Conservation Camp. This year the camp is being held near Boone at Camp Mitigwa. Monday through Thursday of this week.

Delegates have an opportunity to live with many outstanding naturalists and to become better acquainted with the many phases of conservation including forest, wildlife, soil and water. Reports from members who have attended in other years indicate that this experience has been the most interesting in their 4-H careers.

Rachel Peterson of the Dayton Dandies has had seven years 4-H experience, is county girls' 4-H vice president, and club president. Willis Muhlenbruck of the Grant Growers is completing his seventh year in 4-H, is now county 4-H president, and is also secretary-treasurer of his local club. They are the 1950 Wright county delegates.

Only 50 boys and 50 girls are selected each year to attend this camp; they must have good all-around club records plus the ability to carry inspiration and enthusiasm back to their home counties.

Council Considering New Street Surfacing to End Dust

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Yep! It's sure 'nuff clean-up and paint-up time again. More than one local "head of the house" (which is how we laughingly refer to the man of the family) has become ensnared by the subtle wooings of the little woman and found himself massaging thirsty wood with brush.

It even happened to the Independent's senior partner last week.

"I don't like to see the Hansens' name in print," says Eva, "But it does seem to me that George deserves some recognition for putting a primer coat on the garage in only FOUR hours!"

Actually, now, that's quite an accomplishment — so we went over to have a look. There was, indubitably, a primer coat on the Hansen garage. After studying George's handiwork, though, we understand easily how he did it in four hours. The thing that stumped us was what took him so long.

Yes, sir! There's no doubt about it! As a painter, George sure is FAST!

—M-S—

BUT — for quality work, you should witness the Gallagher's front porch. Now there's a job that Rembrandt could take pride in. Of course, the undertaking consumed the better part of EIGHT HOURS' labor (the wood was so dry that when the brush touched it a sound was produced like the last half inch of suds disappearing from an ice cream soda glass) . Slow but meticulous—that's Junior Partner Gallagher.

—M-S—

Paint figures big in the news of the business district this week, too. The post office window was emblazoned with a new sign. Quite an improvement over the undistinguished-looking piece of board which has hitherto identified the P. O.

Postmaster J. C. Brady says that he paid for the new sign out of his own pocket. Probably feared that the project would get so entangled in red tape, if official sanction was sought, that the sign painter would have passed to his reward before an O. K. could be obtained from the 32nd assistant postmaster general in charge of signs-on-windows.

—M-S—

Because of the suspicious nature of Advertising Manager Dick Gowdy (we're all getting in on the act this week), Independent subscribers will remain uninformed in regard to a new medicine that sounds like a lulu.

Concocted for arthritis sufferers, the goo "applied to the soles of both feet before going to bed" promised to chase arthritic pains out of the system in no time.

Dick sent the "ad" and order in to Don Reid, secretary of the Iowa Press Association. Don replied that the Washington (in which state the dope is manufactured) Press association "takes a dim view of Dr. Moore", the inventor of "Sugly-Minol." So Belmond will have to struggle along without the benefits of that particular balm, insofar as the Independent is concerned.

President of Spahn-Rose Died Monday at Dubuque

G. D. Rose, 74, president of the Spahn and Rose Lumber company, died Monday at his home in Dubuque. Founder of the company in 1906, Mr. Rose had been an officer of the firm since that time.

Funeral services were held in Dubuque on Wednesday.

"TV" BRINGS SUICIDE INTO FRONT PARLOR OF ALEXANDER FOLKS

Reception of a television program broadcast some 1,200 miles away is extremely unusual in itself—so members of the Kenneth Myers family were doubly startled last Sunday evening when a telecast from Houston, Texas, brought a suicide right into their living room.

The Myers, who farm near Alexander, had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schmalle of Thornton. All were watching a remarkably clear reproduction of a baseball game over Houston station KLEE-TV when a shot rang out and the excited announcer reported a terrible thing had just happened.

A man approached the microphone and, when directed to take a seat and be quiet, had pulled out a gun and aimed a shot at his temple. The quick-thinking TV cameraman had caught the entire tragedy in his lens with such clarity that the Houston coroner was able to declare the death suicide directly on the basis of having seen the televised incident.

League of Voters May Conduct Poll To Get Opinions

On Friday of next week at the home of Mrs. Gene Woolley, Belmond chapter of the League of Women Voters will hold its first regular meeting since the group was organized last month.

At the gathering, President Jean Shepard will propose to the chapter that it undertake as its first local project the conducting of a survey to determine how many Belmond property-owners would be interested in having the street adjoining their lots included in a proposed, city-wide street-surfacing program.

If the Women Voters agree to accept the assignment, it would be their responsibility to ascertain how many blocks could be counted on in drawing up a contract for the surfacing program.

They might also be asked to bear at least part of the burden of collecting fees involved, since city officials will be unable to give the time required for this job—and it would raise the contract price considerably if the contractor is required to handle this phase of the project.

Other items of business on the agenda for the first League meeting will be selection of a national topic for study next fall and assignment of study groups to devote attention to that topic and to local community analysis.

Annual dues will be collected at the meeting, so members are requested to come prepared to pay the $1.00 fee.

Besides election of Mrs. John Shepard as president, the following League officers were elected at the organization meeting held last month at the home of Mrs. Clark McNeal: Mrs. Harold Johnson, first vice president; Mrs. Orrin Jacobson, second vice president; Mrs. Ardell Johnson, secretary; and Mrs. Gene Woolley, treasurer.

The following committee chairwomen are also members of the board: membership—Mrs. Alfred B. McKeith; local resources and voters' service — Mrs. Arlo Pitcher; public relations—Mrs. George Hansen; national resources and action—Mrs. S. P. Leinbach. From one to four appointive board members remain to be named.

Mrs. H. A. Arthur of Ames, state president of the League of Women Voters, attended the May meeting and assisted in setting up the local chapter. By-laws for the chapter were submitted and accepted at that time.

Mrs. Shepard emphasizes that "all women of Belmond and vicinity who are interested in working for better government and in the promotion of political responsibility through informed and active participation" are cordially invited to attend the meeting on June 23.

Peewee Baseballers Pry Lid Off Season Tuesday

Baseball fans who are interested in seeing stars "in the making" are urged by Boyd Berghefer to make their appearance at the high school diamond next Tuesday at 6:45 p. m. for the opening game of the peewee ball season.

The young sprouts have been divided into four squads bearing the impressive names of Cubs, Yankees, Braves and Cardinals. The opener will bring the Cubs and Yanks together. On Thursday evening of next week, at the same hour, the Braves and Cards will have at it.

Elliott to Receive Eagle Scout Rank

Dick Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elliott, will take the spotlight at a Wright county Boy Scout Court of Honor this Sunday at the city park bandstand as the first Belmond Scout in over 20 years to reach Eagle Scout rank.

His badge will be presented by a delegation of Mason City Eagle Scouts representing Winnebago Council. The public is cordially invited to witness this and other presentations to be made during the court of honor, which will open at 2:30 p. m.

Scouts from Clarion and Rowan, as well as Belmond, will be given awards and advancements.

Six local Boy Scouts will be promoted from tenderfoot to second class. They are Charles Johnson, Bradley Hammond, Larry Larson, Arlyn Frohling, Marlan Cunningham and Terry Johnson.

Audrey Bradley's Pupils Will Give Dance Recital

Dance pupils of Mrs. Audrey Bradley will present a revue at the Dows High school auditorium tomorrow (Friday) night, featuring youngsters ranging in age from four and a half to 16 years old. An orchestra will provide musical accompaniment for 30 different numbers presented in colorful costume.

Several guest artists have been engaged by Mrs. Bradley to lend variety to the program. The revue will start at 8:15 p. m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Dr. Albert Russell, 81, Passed Away on Sunday; Funeral This Afternoon

Dr. Albert W. Russell, who for nearly 45 years was a practicing veterinarian in this community, passed away last Sunday at his home. His health had been steadily failing for about a year. He would have been 82 this fall.

Funeral services are to be held today (Thursday) at 2:00 p. m. from the Methodist church, with Rev. J. Heber Miller officiating. Burial will be in Pleasant Hill cemetery at Iowa Falls, where IOOF rites will be conducted. Boone Funeral home is in charge of the services.

Mr. Russell was born in the Meservey neighborhood on Sept. 26, 1868, and lived in that vicinity up to the time he established his practice here around 1905. Poor health made it necessary for him to give up his active practice about a year ago.

Surviving are his widow; a son, Glen, of Kanawha; a daughter, Doris, Mrs. Clair Bonte of Belmond; and a brother, Ernest, of Minneapolis.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL REQUESTS PROBLEM BE STUDIED

Members of the city council last week heard a warning from Paul Bolton, public health engineer with the state department of health, to the effect that Belmond's days of grace in regard to erecting a sewage disposal plant are growing short.

At the council's request, Mr. Bolton examined the present sewage system and the septic tank on the Iowa river bank south of town. At the evening council meeting, the engineer reported that the disposal system now in use is entirely inadequate.

He flatly stated that the department of health will be unable to approve any further sewer extensions in Belmond unless the town can provide evidence that definite plans are afoot to construct a disposal plant of sufficient size.

Mr. Bolton declared that two or three years would be the maximum time the department could allow for a plant-construction project to be undertaken. He pointed out, as an example of the inadequacy of the present septic tank, that sewage is held in it for not more than three hours to allow for settling. State health officials require that the settling process should extend over at least 18 hours.

Furthermore, the sewage is subjected to no chemical or filtering process that prevents river pollution. Such treatment is now demanded by state law and will have to be provided by the new disposal plant.

The engineer told members of the council that three methods of financing the proposed plant lie open to them:

(1) Levying of a sewer service charge — such a charge usually being based on the amount of water used by each residence and business house.

(2) Issuance of municipal bonds, which may be either general obligation or revenue bonds or a combination of the two.

(3) Contributions of industrial plants or business concerns which discharge into the sewage system materials that are particularly difficult to treat.

According to Mayor A. W. Loats, the council is already preparing to take the initial step toward acquiring a plant-construction fund. Establishment of sewer service charge is viewed by the council as a logical first move. An investigation is currently being launched to find out what other towns are doing in this regard, with a view to drafting a local ordinance providing for such a charge.

'The Tower,' Local Landmark, Gives Way to Changing Times

DOWN SHE COMES

Belmond will lose one of its truest-to-type rugged individuals when Harold Aigley closes up his garage and machine shop around August 1 and relinquishes possession to the Belmond Auto company for use as a paint shop.

This community has been his home for nearly half a century—since he was five—but Harold figures he's reached the age where he'd better be seeing the country, if he's going to. Iowa climate hasn't agreed with him too well in recent years; he's going to find a part of the country that does.

A man who values his independence, Harold erected a town landmark in the form of a giant tower back about 1940 when he disagreed with the decision of Belmond voters to grant Central States Electric company a 20-year franchise. On the tower went a three-kilowatt, 150-ampere generator from which he obtained a good share of the power needed to operate his business.

Harold took the tower down, piece by piece, last weekend. The top 80 feet he sold to a Newton man for a TV-antenna tower; the angle irons composing the other 40 foot he will later disassemble and sell to a Mason City machine shop. The generator, he's junking.

Last Thursday morning, defying a stiff wind, Harold clambered to the top of the tower and started wrecking operations. Lowering the last piece of the generator, weighing a good 150 pounds, was a he-man job as he couldn't employ the pulleys he's used to lower the other parts.

In regard to the whole wrecking procedure, he says, "I wouldn't do it again for a thousand dollars. But it had to be done—so I did it."

A customer of Harold's posed a question that must be in many minds these days, since the tower's disappearance, "How the dickens can we tell anymore at a glance which way the wind's blowing? A day never used to pass but what I'd toss a look at the propellor vanes for just that reason."

Harold has been in business for himself here in Belmond for the past 31 years. From 1919 to 1931 he had his shop in what is now the Hub Garage; for the past 19 years he's been located in the building on Second Avenue S. E.

When he gets the loose ends tied up toward summer's end, Harold and his wife will take off in their trailer-house and spend about a year just traveling about the country. They may settle in the west or southwest; but that remains to be seen.

"When we come to a stop, I'm going to open a shop for just radiator repairs. From here on out I'm going to do just about as I please," Harold says. And you can rest assured, when he says it, he means it.

WORD RECEIVED THAT DAVE ERICKSON DIED WEDNESDAY MORNING

Dave Erickson, former Belmond resident, passed away at 4:00 a. m. Wednesday morning at a Los Angeles hospital, the victim of a liver ailment from which he had been suffering for some time. He had been hospitalized about three weeks.

According to word from relatives at Kanawha, no information had been received in regard to funeral arrangements prior to the Independent's press time.

Mr. Erickson, who moved with his family to California in late spring of last year, was very highly regarded here and made many friends during his years in Belmond.

He served on the city council and was a member of the fire department while he resided here as owner of the Farmers Implement store. For a time he was county auditor, by appointment.

Besides his widow and a young son and daughter, Mr. Erickson is survived by his father, Alvin Erickson, and two brothers, Bob and Bernard, all of Kanawha.

LEASES VIKING STATION

Saturday Evening Jaunt Ends Abruptly for Three When Driver Dozes Off

A Saturday night jaunt for three young men came to an abrupt end about 2:00 a. m. Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding rolled into a ditch about two miles north of Goodell.

They were headed home when the driver and owner of the car, Bernard Bohman of Alexander, went to sleep. The 1949 Ford Tudor apparently rolled over several times and was badly damaged. Bohman is in Steele Memorial hospital with a broken collar bone and a fractured bone in one foot.

His companions, Eldon Anderson and Roger Boelman, both of Belmond, fared better. The former suffered only a cut over his left eye; Boelman's injuries were limited to minor bruises and abrasions.

Swimming Classes To Start Monday

Next Monday morning Belmond school busses will start their daily treks to Clarion, bearing boys and girls of this community who have enrolled for Red Cross swimming classes. Nearly 150 youngsters will receive instruction this summer, under the direction of Roger Groves, Clarion coach.

Boyd Berghefer, who is in charge of the local summer recreation program, has scheduled class periods according to the swimmers' abilities. Belmond classes will take over the pool each week-day morning from 10:00 to noon, with the busses loading at the city park at 9:00 a. m.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, the "Frogs"—those who can float, but not yet swim—and the "Fish", or novice swimmers, will be instructed. The advanced swimmers, taking life saving, will also make the trip on these days.

The non-swimmer members of the "Tadpole" class and the intermediate swimmers, or "Whales", will have the pool on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings.

Mr. Berghefer says that any youngsters who wish to take advantage of the swimming classes but have not yet signed up should do so at once at the A. C. Hanson insurance office.

Any who have not yet paid the $2.50 fee to cover transportation should also see that this is promptly delivered to Mr. Hanson. All other expense of the classes is footed by the Belmond Red Cross chapter.

GRIESY AT CONFERENCE

Paul Griesy this week is in attendance at the annual Iowa Pilgrim Fellowship Conference being held at Grinnell college. More than 150 Congregational young people from all over Iowa are enrolled for the meeting.

"DUFFY" PAYING A VISIT

Adolph "Duffy" Rierson, who's been a patient at the Veterans Hospital at Des Moines since last winter, returned to Belmond on Tuesday for a few days' visit. He will have to return for further treatment, but his many friends are glad that his recovery has progressed sufficiently to permit him a trip home, even though a brief one.

These Officers Will Lead County 4-H Girls

Eyes Possibility Of Covering Dirt With Oil-Asphalt

Francis Slagle of Whittemore, representative of a street-surfacing concern, on Wednesday of last week discussed with Mayor A. W. Loats and several members of the city council the possibility of having Belmond's unpaved streets surfaced with oil-asphalt composition.

According to the salesman, this type of surfacing not only satisfactorily eliminates dust from unpaved streets, but in several years' time will create a semi-permanent surface. Cost of an application, he said, runs from $40 to $60 for a 300-foot block.

Ordinarily, the surfacing material is applied for two or three consecutive years and thereafter—to a large extent—requires only periodical maintenance applications, Slagle said.

Although the street budget would be unable to provide funds for a city-wide surfacing project, Mayor Loats is hopeful that the idea will appeal sufficiently to Belmond property-holders that they may wish to sponsor the undertaking on a co-operative basis.

A survey would be necessary to ascertain how many blocks of home owners would be interested in participating in the program. As reported elsewhere in this issue, the League of Women Voters has been invited to conduct such a survey and it is quite likely that the group will agree to do so.

If further investigation proves that this type of surfacing would be feasible for Belmond's streets, and the survey of property-owners indicates that the project would be widely supported, work could possibly be started in a little over a month's time.

Mayor Loats says that enough chloride compound has been ordered for one application on all unpaved streets, so dust clouds will not plague Belmond residents while the surfacing proposition is under study.

Harm Greenlander Died Tuesday; Lived Here For More Than Half Century

Harm Greenlander, father of County Supervisor John Greenlander, passed away Tuesday at the age of 84. He had lived in the Belmond community for 54 years, coming from Germany to take up farming east of town in 1896.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the Immanuel Reformed church, with Rev. O. G. Poppen officiating. Burial will be in Immanuel Reformed cemetery. Boone Funeral home is in charge of the services.

Mr. Greenlander had lived in Belmond since retiring from farming in 1919. His wife passed away in 1928 and a daughter—Gertie, Mrs. E. Dippel—preceded him in death in 1914.

John Greenlander is the lone male survivor of the particular branch of the Greenlander family tree represented by his father. Others surviving include five grandchildren: Mrs. W. J. Wiegand of Storm Lake, Mrs. A. W. Kausler of Des Moines, Mrs. K. Kephart of Maquoketa and Lewis and Ed Dippel of Belmond.

MARILYN WILL LEAVE SATURDAY FOR PARLEY

ELLIS

Marilyn Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Ellis, leaves Saturday to attend the fifth annual Hawkeye Girls State, which will open at Grinnell college on Sunday at 9:00 a. m. She is sponsored by the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, and is to spend the entire week of June 18 to 25 learning how the state of a representative form of government functions.

The purpose of this state is to give these 240 girls an opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens and to participate in the actual functioning of their government; to teach them the duties, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Says Mrs. R. D. Jacobson of Boone, chairman of the Girls State board of directors, "Each girl is learning for herself that her government becomes just what she wishes to make it; that she has responsibilities as well as privileges while living in a commonwealth such as ours; that she IS the government."

Day

"I WANT A GIRL-JUST LIKE THE GIRL"

Yes, That Was Dad

SUNDAY, JUNE 18

Then he was singing about the gals---

Next Sunday the family will be singing about Dad--It's HIS DAY. Not that he isn't in the picture every day. You know:

"Dad, can I have a buck--'

"Dad, how about the car tonight--"

"Dad, you'd better get after the lawn--"

But next Sunday, Dads old and young will be pushed into the spotlight for special attention - - and showered with gifts.

Without going into detail, because we wouldn't know where to stop, we'll just say that ELLIOTT'S the place to shop for Dad's gift.

Say "To Dad, with love" with hunting or fishing equipment, tools for his workshop, power tools that will help his deft hands create things needed around the house, an electric fan, thermos jug or electric razor. Yes, and among the hundreds of other things are golf clubs, balls, bag, outboard motor, etc.

REMEMBER, Elliott's is DAD'S store, for Father's Day and every day.

Sale of Bonds in County Now at 23.46% of Quota

Savings bonds purchased in Iowa jumped $2,531,975 last week to reach a total for the Independence drive of $6,667,963, Roger F. Warin, state director of the savings bonds division, reported today.

Series E, F and G sales to date are 22.23 per cent of the state's 30 million dollar quota. The drive ends July 4. Wright county sales since May 15 totaled $66,942, for 23.46 per cent of its quota.

Series E bonds acounted for $4,348,876 of the state's total investments, Warin said. Marion county took a long lead in the state quota race, attaining 60.94 per cent of its goal.

ing more than four concrete walls and city officials have been warned over some period of time that it is inadequate and would have to be replaced.

Another item of business at the council meeting involved approval of additional repair work on the city water tower by the Water Tower Paint and Repair company of Clear Lake at a cost of $975.

It was discovered that repairs to the standpipe and installation of a frost jacket around the pipe —not provided for in the original repair contract—were required, which prompted the additional outlay over the original contract amount of approximately $1,950.

Two actions were taken in connection with the storm sewer project that was necessitated by the paving of Third Street N. E. A resolution was passed calling for a hearing at 8:00 p. m. on the 29th of June on assessments against propertyholders, who are paying $2,830.21 of the $11,320.85 sewer costs Any objections will be considered at that time. A second resolution was passed which provides for issuance of $8,000 in sewer bonds to cover the city's share of expense which could not be met from general funds.

Bids on these bonds will be received on June 29.. The bonds are to be issued in four $2,000 lots, maturing on the first day of December in 1951, 1952, 1953 and 1954, respectively.

At the same council meeting, consideration was given to the negotiation of a new contract with Central States Electric company for city street lighting. The present contract, which was based on a one and three-fourths mill levy on the assessed value of Belmond real estate, is out of line since reappraisal of property values. Prior to reappraisal, the annual fee ran about $1,800. If not modified, the contract would now bring Central States about $3,500 annually.

Tomahawks Beaten Sunday by Rowan

A number of breaks—all of them bad—played a big part as Rowan defeated the Belmond Tomahawks here Sunday afternoon in a North Iowa league ball game.

Leading 3 to 2 going into the eighth inning, the visitors tallied three runs in that frame to cinch the contest. Two Tomahawk errors contributed to the scoring spree.

Jones singled for Rowan and made second on an error; then Mathiesen was safe at first on another error. A single by Keeler brought both men in. Keeler stole second and proceeded to score on a one-bagger by Fitz. Pitcher Bud Nissen retired the next three batters in order, but the damage was done.

A Belmond rally in the ninth reduced Rowan's margin but sputtered out before the 'Hawks could catch up. Jake Koenen and Bud Boelman singled and Buford Kickbush was walked. The first two scored as Wes Boller made first and Kickbush went out on a fielder's choice. Russ Gaetzke flied out and Don Brockett fanned to end the game.

The victory left undefeated Rowan alone in the league lead as Kanawha thumped Sheffield, 17 to 2, and Garner nosed out Rockwell by a 2-0 count. Sheffield is still seeking its first win, while the other four teams now have each split a pair of games.

Belmond	100	010	002--4-9-3
Rowan	002	010	030--6-8-2

Batteries: Nissen and Boelman; Bayz (6), Keeler (3) and Freese.

Ninth Annual Survey on 'TB' Will Seek Undiscovered Cases

It may be like hunting for a needle in a haystack, but Alice Moore, county public health nurse, this week is renewing the search for cases of tuberculosis in Wright county.

Working on the theory that for every known case there is an unknown case, she will direct her attention to persons known to have been exposed to this infectious disease.

Miss Moore will visit these persons, taking case histories and inviting those exposed to tuberculosis to have skin tests. Chest x-rays also will be taken if their skin reacts to the test, an indication that tuberculosis germs have at one time entered the body. Family physicians will make the skin tests.

The x-rays will be taken at a general conference to be conducted by the state health department on all cases recommended by family physicians, date and place to be announced later.

The survey will be financed by the Wright County Tuberculosis association and the state health department. It also is sponsored by the County Medical Society and the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health association. Christmas Seal funds help pay the program costs.

Commenting on the ninth annual survey, Dr. L. H. Flancher, medical society president, says: "It is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of this contact program when dealing with a communicable disease which has no outward symptoms in its early stage, but can be discovered by tuberculin tests, x-rays and physical examinations before grave danger is done and thus be more easily cured."

KILLED

Just five minutes after Mrs. Irven Wirtz, of Zannetta, had helped her three-year old son get his lawn mower out of the mud, the tiny tot fell to his death in a 12-foot cistern on the Wirtz farm. The mishap was witnessed by his two-year old sister, Kathy, who told her parents, "Denny is in the water."

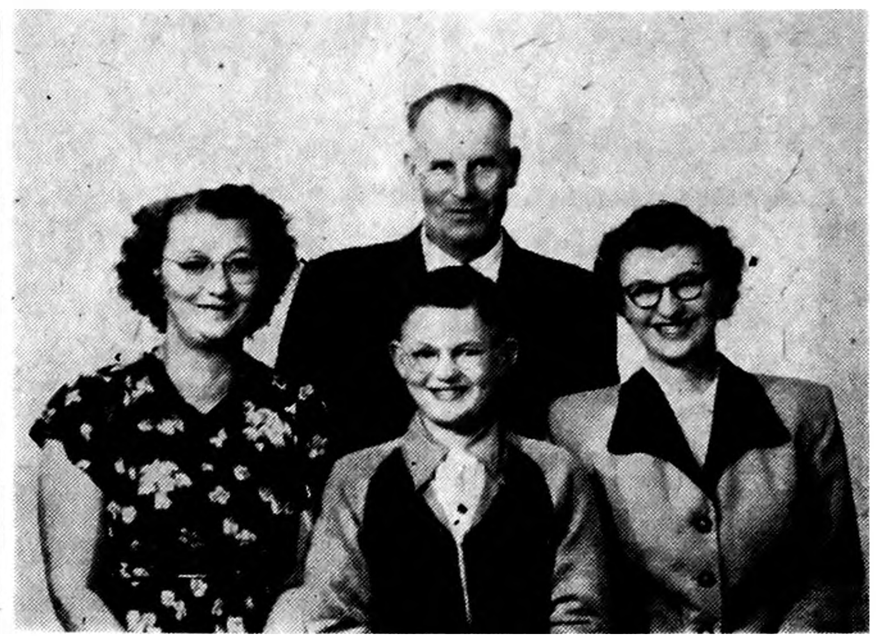
FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Prospect of Being Made A "Flying Mechanic" Made A Farmer Out of This One-Time Sailor



Mr. and Mrs. Frank Retleff, Edna and Junior

It was the prospect of becoming a "flying sailor" that made a farmer out of Frank Retleff, whose farm is located five miles south and two and a quarter east of Belmond. If that statement is a little confusing, we'll explain.

Back in 1917, Frank got into World War I early in the scrap by joining the regular Navy. He liked the life and for seven years he stuck by the bell-bottomed trousers. But as time came around to sign up for another "trick" and he learned that—as a mechanic—there was great likelihood that he would be transferred to the Navy's air wing, the love of terra firma overcame his affection for the Navy and he returned home..

"Home", for Frank, since 1913 has been the very farm he now owns and operates. It originally belonged to his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Retleff, who bought it in 1910 and moved onto it in 1913. Frank starter farming it with his father back in 1930.

Coming out of the Navy a Machinist's Mate 1st Class, Frank was deeply interested in machinery and he followed the trade of mechanic on and off until settling down to farming 20 years ago. He says he still likes to putter around with machinery and sometimes looks back with considerable longing on the "good old Navy days". He remarks, a bit ruefully, that except for the urge "always to be able to drag one toe" that inspired him to give up his uniform, today he would be drawing a mighty nice monthly retirement check.

Frank and Mrs. Retleff — the former Jennie Nolte of the Goodell neighborhood—were married in 1934. They have two youngsters. Edna, 15, will be a sophomore in Rowan High school and is an active member of the Iowa U-Go-I-Go 4-H club. The youngest is Frank, Jr., 12—whose main interest right at the moment is a clutch of 15 eggs which a setting hen is nursing along for him.

There are 160 acres on the Retleff farm. Frank has a herd of 24 Herefords and Shorthorns, but no other livestock except a team of work horses that he still uses to some extent on farm jobs. Consequently, he's one of those rather rare farmers—for these parts — who has a considerable amount of grain to market, over and above what he needs for feeding.

Frank is abiding by his corn allotment, which totaled 52 acres. He has 36 acres in oats and is going into beans quite heavily this year with 42 acres. The balance of his field acres is in pasture.

Two of his brothers are also Wright county farmers. The youngest, Lawrence, has a place south of Rowan; and the "middle" brother, William, has a farm just northeast of Frank's.

All the Retleff's are sports fans and avidly follow Rowan High's basketball and baseball teams. Besides his interest in mechanics, Frank also enjoys hunting as a hobby.

Mrs. Retleff greatly enjoys crocheting and has gained such a reputation for beautiful work that she is periodically called upon by friends to do "custom crocheting" for them. Considering the time required, the money she makes on these request jobs stacks up as much less important than the satisfaction she gets out of them.

The Retleffs all attend St. John Lutheran church in Belmond and all are members by confirmation except Junior. Frank also is a Farm Bureau member.

Long Time

Shenandoah school patrons recently honored four teachers who have a total of 137 years in the schools there. "Senior" of the group was Miss Emma Howard who has been a teacher for 51 years, 45 of them in Shenandoah.

JEAN GREENFIELD, CHARLES HAGEMAN WERE WED JUNE 4

Jean Greenfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Greenfield, became the bride of Charles Hageman, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hageman of Estherville, Sunday afternoon, June 4, at the Methodist church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Heber Miller. The bride was attended by Loretta Rubendall and the groom by his brother, Arthur Hageman.

The bride was beautifully attired in a white satin gown and wore a veil held in place by an orange blossom tiara. She carried a bouquet of rosebuds tied with satin streamers. Miss Rubendall wore a blue satin gown and carried an identical bouquet tied with pink streamers. The bridegroom and his attendant wore grey suits and white boutonnieres.

A reception was held for the immediate relatives, at the home of the bride's parents where a pink and white color scheme was carried out. The table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniture bride and groom.

The bride, who graduated from Belmond High school in 1947, has taught in the New Albin school for the past two years.

After a week's wedding trip the couple will be at home in Iowa City where the groom will resume study at the University for the summer. This fall they will move to Lansing where Mr. Hageman will be superintendent of the Lansing school.

—CORN-AND-HOG COUNTRY?—

Man, This Is Cattle Country

If you're lookin' for the cattle country, stranger, just swing out of the saddle right here. You're in it.

What's that you say? That you're not far enough west, and there's too many fences, and it sure doesn't look like the range to you?

Better look again, stranger. Because Iowa may not be the range, but it grows more cattle, and makes more money at it, than any of the range states. Or any other state, for that matter.

No, we're not just talking through our Stetson. We've been reading one of those reports, all full of figures, that the Department of Agriculture sends out every once in a while.

And believe you me, it shows that Iowa is THE cattle country.

You want some figures laid on the line? Well, try these. Last year Iowa sent two million, 342 thousand head of cattle to market. That's one-tenth of all the cattle marketed in the whole United States. Put 'em on the scales, and they weighed two billion, 386 million pounds. That's one-tenth of all the beef sold in the country, too.

Besides, they brought good money—$21.80 a hundred. Best price cattle brought anywhere, and a dollar a hundred better than the average. All told, they put 524 million dollars into the Iowa farmers' poke.

You're wonderin' about those western states, where the longhorns used to cavort? Nary a one marketed more than a million head, stranger?

Californio, did though. Montana, California and Colorado are the only three where cattle ranchers took in more than 100 million dollars, cash money, and all three together didn't any more than match Iowa. You add up Idaho and Wyoming, New Mexico and Arizona and Utah, Washington and Oregon, and ALL their cattle money is just about what these good Iowa beeves sold for.

You say we forgot about Texas? Stranger, brace yourself for a shock. Texas came pretty close, in numbers. Those big-state ranchers sold two million, 183 thousand head of cattle, and a million or so calves. But when it came to getting paid, they just came in second. They made 124 million dollars less than these Iowa feeders did—about 400 million, in round figures.

Iowans ate up more of their own beef, too. They put almost ten million dollars' worth on their tables, one way or another. Texans ate up not quite two million dollars' worth.

If you add in the difference in grocery bills, the score stands at 534 million to 401 million—which makes Iowa the winner and still champeen.

Still champeen? Sure, stranger. Iowa did the same thing the year before, only on a little smaller scale. These corn-fed cattle brought 503 million dollars in 1948, while Texas beeves sold for 454 million.

Right now, the northeast part of the state has more cattle than any other section. Folks think there's 690 thousand head on farms in 11 counties north and east of Waterloo.

Pottawattamie county, down in the other corner of the state, has the most for any one county, though—a hundred thousand and more. Sioux county comes next, with 98,700. Nine other counties have more than 75,000 head—Clayton, Fayette, Winneshiek, Crawford, Tama, Benton, Clinton, Jones and Linn.

Nobody's counted noses, of course, but they figure that if you were to start branding clear through the state, you'd have to heat up your iron five million times or more. That's almost 40 thousand head more than you'd have found last year.

Alexander Man Arrested On Drunk Driving Charge

Clyde Blau of Alexander was arrested last Friday by Patrolmen Harland Sievers and Al Sparby, a mile east and two miles south of Belmond, on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. John Ostendorf, also of Alexander and in the company of Blau, was arrested for intoxication on a public highway.

Both men were heard in the justice court of O. E. McGahey, Clarion, on Saturday morning. Blau was bound over to the grand jury and was released after he posted bond of $500. Ostendorf was fined $10 and costs on the drunkenness charge.

LEGION JUNIOR TEAM OPENS CARD SUNDAY

Opening game of the Legion junior baseball season is scheduled for this coming Sunday at the high school diamond, starting at 2:30 p. m., with Clarion as the opposition.

Coach Jack Lansing announces that three games have been placed on the schedule to date. Besides Sunday's contest, the boys will play Kanawha here at 6:00 p. m. next Thursday and at Rockwell on June 25, a week from Sunday, at 2:30 p. m.

Home-and-home games will also be carded with Legion junior teams at Mason City, Garner and Britt, but dates have not yet been arranged. Coach Lansing is also endeavoring to make game arrangements with Goldfield.

Personnel of the squad is not complete, according to Lansing, but should be ready for publication next week. Practices are being held at the high school field every Wednesday evening at 6:00 o'clock.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

There's a lot of food for thought in the statement of Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist down at Iowa State college, that Wright county farmers stand to make as high as $28-per-hour for time spent examining their corn for first-brood borer eggs.

Good though farming business has been in recent years, an hourly "wage" of that amount isn't to be sniffed at. Yet Mr. Gunderson declares that the $28 figure is a modest estimate of what farmers in this vicinity netted for themselves last year by doing a good job of watching their corn so they could treat it at the proper time.

—RFD—

The next couple of weeks will be crucial ones in the battle against the borer—and NEVER BEFORE has it been quite so important to conduct an all-out fight against this expensive pest. Just six years ago, the borer count in this area was ONE borer per 40 stalks. Last fall Wright was the third heaviest infested county in the state with a count of 1,824 borers per 100 stalks.

Mr. Gunderson bases his estimated return for field examination on figures gathered from farmers who left untreated check strips in their corn last year, while spraying the remainder. Here's how he arrived at the $28.

—RFD—

"Assume," he says, "that a farmer spends half an hour per day during a 20-day period examining for egg masses in a 40-acre field. He'll put in about 10 hours. The cost of treating the field twice — at the rate of a pound and a half of DDT per acre — will be about $5.00 per acre or $200.

"Figuring corn at only $1.00 per bushel a 12-bushel increase in yield—which was not at all uncommon in treated corn, compared to yield from the untreated check strips—results in increased income of $480. Net income for the 10 hours scouting for egg masses is $280. or $28 per hour."

Actually, that stacks up as a pretty conservative estimate, considering the relatively low value placed on the corn and the extremely heavy infestation existing in this county.

—RFD—

If you are counting on the corn borer problem "fizzling out" of its own accord, you're in for a bitter disappointment, the Iowa State expert warns. Even though the late spring has delayed development of the borer—just as it has the corn crop—Gunderson says there is nothing in the picture to justify hope that the borer problem will be less severe than last year. In fact, he looks for MUCH MORE damage in untreated fields, because of the greater number of borers that came through the winter.

Observations made in Boone county showed 5,000 live, healthy borers per acre in 23 fields—15 of which were last year cornfields plowed under and eight put in oats. That means a female moth for every five cornstalks—and each female can be expected to lay 200 to 700 eggs, depending on weather conditions.

The infestation is, of course, heaviest in last year's cornfields which were'nt plowed.

County Extension Director Aaron Bowman is at present engaged setting up a series of corn borer schools to be held as soon as eggs are on the plants, which he expects will be about the last week of this month. A school will be held in each township.

He says about half of the worms have pupated to date and the moths don't leave the cocoon till about 12 to 14 days later. Incidentally, Mr. Bowman says that FIVE TIMES as many worms survived the winter as last year, which makes the gloomy picture even worse. The moths start laying eggs three days after they hatch. When this stage of the process is reached, it behooves every farmer to have spray ready—and in ample amount—for timing is of the utmost importance.

Mr. Bowman suspects that a good many farmers have not yet obtained their DDT and warns that negligence on this score can prove very costly. The first week in July will likely mark the start of the 1950 battle against the borer, and manufacturers are going to be hard put to provide all the spray needed.

A word to the wise SHOULD be sufficient. If you don't have your spray on hand yet, better take steps NOW to make certain you have it by the time it's needed. If you don't, the oversight is apt to cost you dearly.

MRS. ALBERT DORR

Nellie Mae Fulton, daughter of Frederick and Johannah Fulton, was born at Belmond, Iowa, on April 10, 1891, and died May 25, 1950 at her home in Belmond at the age of 59.

Although she had been under medical care for five years, her sudden death was unexpected and came as a severe shock to her family.

On Oct. 6, 1909 she was married to Albert Dorr and took over responsibility for the care and upbringing of his five children by a previous marriage. Seven children were born to her and Mr. Dorr. Following their marriage, the couple lived the first few years on a farm north and west of Belmond and then moved to a home on the edge of town. Fifteen years ago they moved to the present home.

Mrs. Dorr's affection was as deep for her step-children as for her own and she was always ready in time of sickness or other emergency to lend her aid. She was a faithful worker in the St. Francis Catholic church, serving a number of years as chairlady of the Rosary society and also, for a time as its president.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Dorr is survived by all 12 children: Joseph of California, Roy of Canada, twin son and daughter Lauron of Riceville and Elsie (Mrs. Louie) Kaz of Chicago, and —living in Belmond—twin sons Donald and Duane, Clair, Frances (Mrs. Jack) Lansing, Paul, Larry and Marilyn (Mrs. Leonard) Anderson.

She also leaves 19 grandchildren and four great grandchildren; two brothers—Joe Fulton of Ft. Dodge and Fred of Belmond; and two sisters — Mrs. Genevieve Hood of Belmond and Mrs. Mamie McVey of Traer. She was preceded in death by one sister, Mrs. Annie Clark.

Services were held on May 29 from St. Francis church with Rev. R. A. Ormsby officiating and eight sons and step-sons (Joseph was not present) serving as pallbearers. Burial was in St. Francis cemetery.

HERMAN H. GRUIS

Born in Mymeer, Eastfriesland, Germany on August 26, 1871, Herman H. Gruis was 78 years old at the time of his death on April 23, 1950. He grew to manhood in his native land and marmied Anna Koop on Oct. 25, 1891 while still living in Germany. The following year the young couple emigrated to the United States, making their home in Belmond, Iowa.

Seven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Gruis. They made their home in Belmond for 10 years, then moved to a farm near Alexander which Mr. Gruis operated for six years. In 1908 Mr. Gruis bought a farm a mile east of Meservey and made his home there the remainder of his life.

He personally farmed the place for 41 years and after retirement continued to live there with his son Ben and daughter Mrs. Kate Dirks. His wife preceded him in death on April 17, 1918, his son Herman in March of 1930, and also his parents and four brothers.

Mr. Gruis maintained a lifelong and vital interest in the work of the church. Following his arrival in this country he transferred membership from the Reformed church in Germany to the Evangelical church in Belmond, where he served as Sunday school superintendent. Later he transferred to the Alexander Reformed church, where he was a member of the consistory.

He joined the Mesevey Reformed church shortly after it was organized and served as an elder from 1913 to 1931. In 1940 the church again elected him in the same capacity, but ill health limited his service to a one-year term at this time.

In 1942 it was discovered that he was a victim of Parkinson's disease and his health failed steadily from that time. On April 5 of this year he fell and broke a hip. After 11 days in Mercy hospital at Mason City he was taken back to his home and there lived out his remaining days, patient and uncomplaining.

Funeral services were conducted at the Meservey Reformed church on April 27, with burial in the Meservey cemetery. Mr. Gruis is survived by three sons—Edward of California, Carl of Des Moines and Ben, at home; three daughters—Kate Dirks at home, Mrs. Anna Goeman of Belmond and Mrs. Alma Kirk of California; also eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

"It's the Fashion Car of the Year!"
"And it costs so little to buy"
"It's so quiet"
"You can hardly hear it run"
"And you go so far for so little money!"

ONE
Look

Yes, a look will show you why it's Ford for Fashion, again for '50! Once again Ford's smart, modern styling earned it the New York Fashion Academy's coveted medal as "Fashion Car of the Year." No other car at any price has received such an honor 2 years running.

ONE
Listen

You can hardly hear the '50 Ford's powerful V-8 engine. For with all its road-mastering power it never raises its voice. Your ride is quiet, too, because "sound-conditioning" throughout Ford's roomy and sturdy "Lifeguard" Body keeps noise out!

Ride

A "Test Drive" and you will learn Ford's quality firsthand! You'll marvel at the performance of the 100-h.p. V-8, or its companion-in-quality, the 95-h.p. Six . . . the comfort of its "Mid Ship" Ride. You'll feel the safety of Ford's 35% easier-acting King-Size Brakes. And after you've come to know this car, you'll thrill to its complete economy—low first cost, great gas mileage, low upkeep and high resale value. You'll recognize that Ford's the "Big Economy Package" of the low-price field.

COMMUNITY METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. A. E. Cochell, Pastor

Next Sunday is Father's Day, June 16. We hope to have a men's choir for that service at 11 o'clock. It would be nice for the family to bring Dad to church and all the family sit with him, at the head of the clan whether it be large or small. Let's wear a flower in his honor. Give him a big hug. He's a good "guy" for sure.

Conference begins Wednesday of next week at Fort Dodge. Thursday is Laymen's Day. Something special each day. Louis Bell is our delegate.

Men, come out for choir practice this Thursday evening.

Cecil Rodemeyer of Clear Lake was a visitor at the parental F. D. Rodemeyer home Friday and took his mother back to Clear Lake for a short visit at his home in the afternoon. This was the first time Mrs. Rodemeyer has been able to leave F. D. alone for that long since a year ago last December. F. D. is now able to be out some.

Rev. and Mrs. B. T. Vander Woude, Sr. of Woolstock, Minn., visited Wednesday and Thursday at the home of their son and family, Rev. and Mrs. B. T. Vander Woude, Jr., and daughters. The elder Rev. and Mrs. Vander Woude were returning from attending the wedding of another son at Holland, Mich., and a visit with relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rathmann attended the wedding of Arnold Rodemeyer and Miss Marian Nolte of Hampton at the Methodist church in Hampton Saturday evening at 7:30 and the reception held in the church parlor following the wedding.

Tudor Cattle Win Top Show Honors

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tudor, showing jointly with their tenants, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Walton of Rowan, won a lion's share of the honors at the Parish Jersey Show held last Friday at Rowan. Eight exhibitors, showing 49 head of stock, competed for the privilege of taking their animals to the All-Iowa Fair at Cedar Rapids later in the summer.

A Tudor bull calf was judged the show's grand champion, junior champion and best in his class. Senior champion bull and second place bull calf were shown by Al Appenzeller of Stratford.

Senior champion female—and best of the aged cows—was that of Harold Massey and Son, Nashua. They also had the best four-year-old cow. Tudor entries were first and second among the heifer calves and the former was junior champion female. They also had the best junior and senior yearling heifers.

Shirley Smith of Gladstone showed the best two and three-year-old cows.

Other Tudor firsts were: best three females bred and owned by one exihibitor, junior get of sire, best-uddered cow and best dairy herd. In the 4-H class, first was won by the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Crawford of Belmond, and second by Elon Ralston of Tripoli.

You can haul more loads . . . more miles . . . for less . . . with Chevrolet Trucks

Take time out to talk to some Chevrolet truck users. You'll find it revealing. You'll discover that Chevrolet trucks pay their way by hauling more loads—more miles—for less! And you'll find that this extra measure of value is even more apparent in the new Chevrolet models. Definitely, they're America's first-choice trucks. Heavy-duty units feature a brand-new 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head engine with the power to pull heavy loads and conquer steep grades. They offer new Power-Jet carburetion for smoother, quicker operation. They bring you the fast, safe shifting of Chevrolet's 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission. But whatever your hauling requirements, Chevrolet trucks are your best bet. See them in our showroom. You'll agree.

DEAR FRIENDS:

Do you remember that old song "What's the matter with Father? He's all right!"

Well, at least one day out of 365 he is all right!

He crawls out of the dog house and sets on the throne as king of his domicile.

And as king he should be paid tribute.

Yea tribute in fine things befitting a king; even a silver or gold expansion watch band; tie clasps, watches, cufflinks, ring, key chains, Ronson lighters and if it's not silver and gold a Sheaffer fountain pen, pencil or set or a billfold.

Come in and see us. We will be happy to help you crown pop king for a day.

Love,
RUSS

P. S. We don't know (Phil and I) what our wives will get us, but we're hoping for the best.

How Many Years in a Gallon of Paint?

TIME is something you probably never thought of as being in a can of paint. Viewing the results you expect in exterior painting, you'll readily agree that enduring beauty and years of wear are certainly considerations of primary importance in buying house paint. A lot of people paint their houses simply to preserve them. Most folks, however, paint to keep their homes attractive. Everyone, regardless of their reasons for painting, wants the longest possible service . . . thus the element of time becomes an important part of a gallon of paint. Let years in a gallon of paint be one of your considerations before buying.

COOK'S

FRESHLY PAINTED IN MAY, 1940 . .

This house had just been painted with Cook's 2-Coat House Painting System . . . that is, all of it except the lower left-hand corner. This portion was painted with another well known brand for a comparison of whiteness and durability with Cook's product.

LOOK AT THE DIFFERENCE IN 1950

After 10 years' exposure, there is no need to point out the area not painted with Cook's . . . it's all too obvious. This is the way the house actually looked . . . one paint was discolored and deteriorated . . . Cook's was still white, still wearing.

HERE'S HOW THIS COMPARISON CAME ABOUT . . .

This comparison was unintentional on Cook's part . . . the owner had contracted to paint his house with Cook's Paint. The paint had been bought and partially applied, when the owner decided to make a comparison of whiteness and durability with Cook's and another well known brand. The test was made, a photograph taken, and, initially, nothing much was proved. The incident was all but forgotten when the owner called 10 years later and said he was ready to repaint . . . he also invited an inspection of the two different areas. Needless to say, the "after" series of photographs were taken . . . and the owner repainted his house entirely with Cook's.

COOK'S

. . . there are MORE YEARS IN EVERY GALLON OF COOK'S QUALITY HOUSE PAINT . . . .

$4.69
GALLON - IN 5's

You can expect long wear and enduring whiteness when you use Cook's House Paint . . . it is especially formulated for maximum wear and beauty thru the use of every advantage known to modern paint technology.

SAVE YOUR STRAW

with the A-C Power-Driven Rake

Good straw is worth real money. Rake your stubble fields promptly after the grain is harvested. That's the way to top-notch bedding — and to extra feed value where part of the straw is used as roughage. The A-C Power Rake is built for faster field travel— to save straw economically by windrowing it quickly for modern field baling.

Look at these advantages:

1. POWER TAKE-OFF OPERATED—for steady raking regardless of ground travel or field conditions. Powered with any 1-plow or larger tractor with standard power take-off
2. SEALED ANTI-FRICTION BEARINGS — at 33 points, including complete reel assembly, bars and cranks, wheels, power line, and transmission.
3. CONTROLLED STEERING — Fixed rear wheel and castered front wheel give you true trailing, even on slopes and uneven ground.
4. TANDEM WHEEL EQUIPMENT — available at reasonable cost for the man who needs it.

Annual Rally Day Attended by 300

Laurel Wilson, member of the Woolstock Willing Workers and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson, was elected president of Wright county's 4-H girls at their annual Rally Day held last Thursday at Rowan community hall.

The new president is 16 and will be a senior in Eagle Grove High school next fall. She has been active in 4-H work for seven years. Past honors accorded her include being queen of the 1948 Fun Nite at Clarion and president of the Willing Workers.

Pat Ketchum of the Iowa U-Go-I-Go club was elected vice president; Norma Jean Mishler of Eagle Red Peppers, secretary-treasurer; and Jane Tillman, Lincoln Lassies, historian.

The new electees were installed by the retiring officers—Ruth Martin, Belles of Boone, president; Rachel Peterson, Dayton Dandies, vice president; Mary Ann Marshall, Lincoln Lassies League, secretary-treasurer; and Barbara Christensen, Eagle Red Peppers, historian. Mary Lou Baker of Belmond Busy Bees, sang "Dreaming" during the installation ceremony, of which the Belmond Busy Bees were in charge. The officers take over their responsibilities on Oct. 1.

Three 4-H clubs had 100 per cent Rally Day attendance—Grant Go-Getters, Jolly Joy Makers and Eagle Red Peppers. Total attendance at Rally Day was approximtely 300, including 4-H members and guests.

Mrs. Melvin Olson, 4-H committeewoman, and Miss Odette Kastler, 4-H leader, were installed as honorary members. Mrs. Olson has been in 4-H work for seven years. She first served as a 4-H leader of the Norway Jolly Joy Makers and is now secretary of the 4-H committee. Miss Kastler has been leader of the Woolstock Willing Workers club for seven years.

Both women were presented with honorary 4-H pins. Mrs. Olson was conducted through the ceremony by her daughter, Jean Ann Olson of Jolly Joy Makers, and Miss Kastler by Jeanine Hardy of the Grant Go-Getters. The initiation ceremony was conducted by the Norway Jolly Joy Makers and Grant Go-Getters.

In the picture study contest, the four high girls in each division were awarded as a prize a picture used in the contest. Each girl competing in the contest received a 4-H pencil. The contest was so close that the winners were not placed according to rank.

The 4-H county chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Ross Mechem and with Pat Ketchum as pianist, sang. Each club has four girls in the chorus. Practice is held the last Saturday of each month and approximately 40 girls regularly attend.

Beulah Bowers, secretary to Ray Cunningham, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Iowa State college, gave a challenging talk to the 4-H girls on the topic, "Look to This Day."

Some 4-H girls become discouraged because they feel their talents are so limited, Miss Bowers remarked; but she declared this feeling is not warranted and encouraged each girl to give the best of the talent she has and to live not for herself but for others.

"The more we live for others, the more we grow as people," the girls were told. They were cautioned "not to have a tea party for just three people—me, myself, and I. Too many people live for themselves."

Miss Bowers emphasized that "the bliss of growth comes from kindness to others; in fact, civilization is the process of being kind."

Thirteen Wright County 4-H Girls To Attend State Parley Next Week

Wright county 4-H girls clubs will be represented at the annual state convention, next Tuesday through Friday at Iowa State college, by 13 delegates. Each club is permitted to send one delegate.

Convention opens with the evening meal on Tuesday and continues through to Friday afternoon. On Tuesday afternoon the girls will take a tour of the Iowa State campus.

Charlene Edwards, Little Liberty Ladies, is Wright county's nominee for state 4-H officer. From the applications sent in to the state 4-H office, eight girls are selected as state officer nominees. To date, the county extension office hasn't received notice as to whether Charlene has been, selected Applications to sing in the state 4-H chorus have been sent in by Mary Lou Baker, Belmond Busy Bees; Laurel Wilson, Woolstock Willing Workers; Charlene Edwards, Little Liberty Ladies; Mary Ann Marshall, Lincoln Lassies League; and Betty Blankenship, Blaine Blue Ribbons.

Rachel Peterson, Dayton Dandies, will write the news story on the convention. Barbara Christensen, Eagle Red Peppers, will be the voting delegate for Wright county. JoAnn Kurtz, Norway Jolly Joy Makers, will be a page for one of the sessions.

The group will be chaperoned by Mrs. Clarence Whitten, Rowan 4-H district committee woman, and Mrs. Emra Strait of Belmond, leader of Belmond Busy Bees. From the county extension office, Jean Contarek, extension youth assistant, and Lettie Zuber, county home economist, will attend the convention.

Club delegates will be: Eagle Red Peppers—Barbara Christensen; Up and Coming Vernonites—Delores Dengler; Grant Go-Getters—JoAnn Lindvall; Dayton Dandies—Rachel Peterson; Lincoln Lassies League—Mary Ann Marshall; Norway Jolly Joy Makers—JoAnn Kurtz.

At Last There's A Prospect Of Abating Dust Nuisance

Like the weather, everybody's talked plenty about the dust nuisance created by Belmond's unpaved streets, but nobody's done anything about it. Now, at last, there seems to be a better than fair prospect that action is going to supplant words. . To which we say hurray! Bravo! and Amen!

The city council's current investigation of the possibility of applying oil-asphalt surfacing, if the property-owners desire it, is a big step in the right direction. And the intimation from President Jean Shepard that the newly formed League of Women Voters will be glad to undertake a survey of the sentiments of said property-owners greatly enhances the prospect of fast and favorable action on the project.

It will be impossible for the town to finance more than a very modest portion of the undertaking; but if the city fathers make it possible for the property-owners to solve the dust problem through cooperative effort and at very reasonable expense, we'd say the homeowners should jump at the chance.

Some investigation will be necessary to confirm that the oil-asphalt would comprise a satisfactory surface for our streets, but there is every indication at this point that it would serve the purpose nicely. At any rate, it is gratifying to know that Mayor Andy Loats and the council members are interested in abating the dust nuisance.

Indifference Toward Primary Suggests Most Folks Just Don't Give a Hang

It's an old, old story. Editorial writers have been harping on it for years. Conscientious citizens have decried it. Our nation's worst enemies make capital of it . . . But the fact still remains that a majority of American voters resolutely refuse to take interest in "off year" primary and general elections.

For that matter, if Belmond can be accepted as representative of the average American community, a "hot" local election is the only thing that will get the voters out in respectable numbers. To the best of our knowledge, the biggest turn-out at the polls that Belmond has ever seen was in 1934 when the mayorality contest between C. N. Hildebrand and Harry Nordschow brought out 1,007 voters—reportedly all but 16 of the electors qualified to vote.

The latest city election found 978 voting on the hospital bond issue and one or the other of the opposing tickets. In 1940, 880 ballots were cast in the special election on the Central States franchise.

And in the June 5th primary, involving a number of significant contests and with several highly important issues at stake, only some 450 Belmond voters bothered to express their preferences. The implication is that 65 per cent of this community's voters are TOO LAZY, TOO INDIFFERENT OR INSUFFICIENTLY PATRIOTIC TO SHOULDER THE RESPONSIBILITY THAT'S ATTACHED TO THE PRIVILEGE OF VOTING.

Making this plain statement of fact will—we realize—likely have not the slightest effect in inspiring any of those voters to get to the polls "next time." That's the reason we view with great great favor a suggestion we recently saw in print, to the effect that election boards should provide each voter with a certificate indicating that he exercised his franchise.

Without such a certificate, an individual would be strictly barred from parlor and curbstone political gripe-sessions between elections. Now THERE might be a solution to the problem.

County General Election Results Very Largely Decided All Ready

Barring write-in votes in unprecedented numbers, seven primary election winners—including three who were unopposed—to all practical purposes were placed in office by last week's balloting. That all seven are Republicans offers evidence that the Democratic bandwagon is still the wrong vehicle to climb aboard for anyone seeking political success in these parts.

Treasurer Harold Sullivan, Recorder Grace Fletcher and Clerk of Court R. V. Goslin are returning to office without opposition. All have served the county faithfully and well—and over such an extended period of time that each has now apparentally acquired the status of a fixture in the courthouse. That's all well and good, and we're glad to have them back.

Attorney Harlan Larson took the only hurdle barring his path to a third term when he out-polled his young Republican adversary, Ralph Austin, in the primary. Carl Kelling of Boone township, Albert Christopher of Eagle Grove and Harland Hill of Grant are unopposed for the supervisor seats from Districts Two, Three and Five, respectively, having successfully survived spirited primary contests.

In view of the fact that Republican voters last week outnumbered Democratic electors almost eight to one, there appears to be little liklihood that any of the GOP candidates will be upset in November's general election. Bob Blecker's resounding victory in the primary (he didn't lose a single precinct). indicates that Belmond's John Bleeker has undertaken a man-sized job in endeavoring to unseat the sheriff; and it is doubtful that Josephine Mariga's local popularity can counteract the county-wide support that Auditor Roger Charlson is likely to receive.

Belmond's two Republican office-seekers, Supervisor John Greenlander and Clark McNeal, state representative candidate, may conceivably have a little more strenuous fight on their hands. However, the possibility of their winning in November by less than a comfortable margin seems extremely remote.

That's the picture, at this point. Wright county — like most of its Iowa neighbors, near and far—continues to put its faith in the elephant. . . Maybe the GOP national committeemen should come out to the sticks and try to find out how it's done.

Small Town Delegates Getting "Squeezed Out" at Boys State?

We think the American Legion's Hawkeye Boys State is a fine project and very much deserving of praise. Nevertheless, we'd like to offer one, minor criticism. A glance at this year's list of successful candidates suggests that "machine" politics may be infiltrating Boys State—and we'd hate to see that happen.

Winners of major offices in the election last week were from Sioux City, Marshalltown, Clinton, Des Moines, Davenport, Boone, Bettendorf (a suburb of and essentially a part of Davenport), Cedar Rapids, Council Bluffs, Ames and Waterloo. Moreover, one of these cities provided three officers and another, two. Guthrie Center and Albia each provided one of the lesser state officials.

The above list rather indicates that the small-town boys are given small consideration insofar as their aspirations for major Boys State offices are concerned.

Maybe we're reading something into the situation that doesn't exist—but on the face of it, it appears that vote-bartering among delegates from the cities is proving more than the village youths can cope with.

Of course, the existence of machine rule in actual politics is simply one of the hard facts of life, and maybe it's the philosophy of the Boys State directors that the young men had just as well learn to accept it. But in "real life" weight of numbers doesn't favor the city folk so heavily, and village politicos are able to do all right by themselves.

Personally, we'd like to see the Boys State elections moderately rigged—if necssary—to enable the small-town boys to figure in to a greater extent in the administration of the State's affairs.

Vacation Time

Mary was sighing last night.

"Every time school lets out," she says, "I don't know how I'm going to manage those youngsters through another summer."

Of course, Mary doesn't really mean it. She gives the kids a little leeway and things go along fine.

We've learned a lot about handling youngsters in the last 50 years. We understand them better, try to show more tolerance, more give and take with them — and they grow up into better men and women.

Isn't the same thing true of our relationship with our neighbors, too? A little understanding for the other fellow's viewpoint makes a better, happier community.

Take Joe Edzel's liking for the radio. Well, I prefer the movies — but that doesn't mean Joe has to like movies, too. Joe goes for iced coffee in summer, while I prefer a temperate glass of beer. That's O.K. all around. It's just American common sense to appreciate the other fellow's point of view — as we expect him to appreciate ours.

ACP Funds Encourage All Farmers to Employ Good Soil Conservation Practices Regularly

Fertile land, an ample water supply, and crop production to fit the needs of the country are part of the Agricultural Conservation Program and Marketing Administration Committee for 1950.

Costs to farmers for good soil conservation practices are partly defrayed by funds distributed through the ACP branch of the PMA. By making these funds available, Congress is helping to provide for Iowa farmers' security in the future, Hervey Hazen, chairman of the Iowa PMA Committee points out.

Besides the payments made for actual soil saving practices such as terracing and putting in grassed waterways, funds are available to farmers under the ACP for liming and fertility maintenance measures.

This year, ACP liming payments are likely to be larger than they have been in past years. Already applications for the payment of funds for liming have amounted to about $1½ million. Hazen says these increases are an indication that Iowa farmers are taking an increased interest in conserving and maintaining resources for future use.

Applications for payments on fertilizer also are on the increase. So far they have amounted to approximately $600,000 this year. Turning under green manure crops is another far-sighted practice that is being assisted by ACP payments. Assistance also is provided under the ACP for seeding of biennial and perennial legumes and perennial grass on cropland.

By working with the United States Department of Agriculture and other agencies in providing services that will assist farmers in maintaining their resources, PMA committeemen hope to keep farming on a secure and profitable basis, Hazen points out.

He says farm income depends on both resources and management. Not only must the soil be farmed according to its capacity, but modern farming requires a knowledge of economics. Crop rotations must be used wisely so that the farmer gets the most out of his enterprise on a long-term program. Heavy cropping and heavy marketing without regard to the needs of the soil and the needs of the market are not profitable in the long run, the state PMA chairman explains.

In the next few years he hopes to see a balance between crop production and the productivity of Iowa soil, so that the soil can be counted on for an unlimited number of years in the future. "Through soil conservation and reasonable production we are insuring not only the farmer's livlihood, but the consumer's source of supply," Hazen says.

State Committee Coordinates All Soil Activities

The Iowa Soil Conservation Committee is looking forward to the day when good land use measures will be applied to every farm in the state.

Chris H. Jensen, chairman of the committee, sees the establishment of soil conserving practices on all land as the key to better farming in the future.

He points to the 99 soil conservation districts that have been set up in the state since the enactment of the Iowa District Law in 1939.

In fact, all land in the state with the exception of one county, is now within the boudary of a soil conservation district.

One of the activities of the Iowa Soil Conservation Committee during the last few years has been to help counties organize soil conservation districts. The big job Jensen sees now is to interest every farmer within each district in taking an active part in soil conservation measures.

While the majority of the early soil districts were organized in hillier sections of the state, districts formed in northern and north central Iowa in recent years are an indication that landowners realize there are soil conservation measures that can be used to advatage even on land that is nearly level.

Every county has leaders who have learned to appreciate the value of soil conserving practices and techniques. Through these leaders, soil conservation districts hope to establish' soil maintenance practices on all lands in the state.

Jensen points out that last year is the first time the Iowa General Assembly made a direct appropriation for soil conservation districts, as such. He thinks this action is an indication that the state government is shouldering its responsibility in maintaining natural resources.

But regardless of the financial aid in this appropriation, the chairman of the Iowa Soil Conservation Committee says it's up to the farmer and his family to apply soil conservation measures to the land. He says the state and its farmers always have been noted for good farming, and, with an effective soil maintenance program, there's reason to believe Iowa always will be a leading agricultural state.

farming to the land

Livestock are an essential part of any good soil management program. Livestock provide the market for the grasses and legumes necessary to maintain soil fertility and soil structure.

For most efficient use of the grains and forages you produce, balance them with Better Feeds supplement. It'll mean more economical gains, faster gains, and more profit. Stop in during Soil Conservation Week, June 12-18 and get more details on Better Feeds feeding program that'll make a good land use program pay.

BUILD for better farming

It takes a good set of farm buildings along with productive land to make a farm pay. Well managed soils produce more grain, more meat, more milk and more eggs per acre. You need good buildings to house your livestock and machinery, and to store your grain.

Good soils and good buildings work together. That's why Spahn and Rose Lumber Company is interested in your soil management plans as well as your building plans.

Build up the productivity of your land with this soil management plan. Use a rotation that puts part of the farm in legume-grass mixtures every year. Use lime and fertilizer as the need is indicated by soil tests and hunger signs shown by your crops. Keep valuable top soil at home by using cover crops, contour strips, terraces and waterways.

See us now for plans for the buildings you need to store the larger crops and to house the additional livestock your farm will carry under a good soil management program.

SAVING SOIL SAVES MACHINERY

Gully farming is costly. Every time you slow up for a gully or turn at a gully's edge, you lose time, waste fuel, and run the chance of damaging a machine or injuring an operator.

Grassed waterways are the cure for gullies. Gullies form in natural waterways. Carpet them with grass so that water can drain off the land without taking with it valuable top soil and without cutting deep gullies. Grassed waterway farming is easy farming.

FOR TOP CROP PROFITS...

Turn gullies into grassed waterways. Use John Deere machinery. It's built to give you long and faithful service.

Corn Borer Instruction Meetings Scheduled for Monday

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Local fishing enthusiasts report that "Pat" Cusack, who was golf professional at Clarmond Country club 10 years ago, now has a small resort on Boy lake in Minnesota. Luck of the Belmond anglers who visited the place last weekend was excellent and they give the lake their unqualified recommendation—at least on the basis of one day's experience on it.

—M-S—

Republicans in West Blaine precinct should organize a posse and search out that Democrat in their midst. In the recent primary election there were 58 GOP ballots out of a total of 59 cast.

—M-S—

Belmond seems to be the Democratic hot-bed of Wright county, according to official figures just released by Auditor Roger Charlson on the June 5th voting. Ward 3 was the most heavily Democratic precinct in the county, with the "Donkey" getting over 42 per cent of the vote. Ward 1 ran a bit over 33 per cent to Democratic ballots—Ward 2 a shade under 29 per cent.

Exactly one-third of Belmond township's electors voted on Democrat candidates. Of other precincts in the county, only Wall Lake—over 36 per cent Democrat—and Norway, with 27 per cent, deserted the GOP in very large numbers.

—M-S—

In Wright county as a whole, 3,974 Republican ballots were cast, and 506 Democratic; which signifies that Democrats total about 11 per cent of the county's voters.

—M-S—

If figures don't lie (which we wouldn't vouch for too vigorously), ballot spoilage ran less than five per cent. That's assuming that the Democrats were just as careful—or careless—as the Republicans.

The heaviest total vote registered in any one contest was 3,784 cast for either County Attorney Harlan Larson or his opponent, Ralph Austin. If all of the 3,974 GOP electors scratched their ballots for one or the other of these two candidates, the indication would be that a total of 180 ballots wouldn't pass the judges—or about 4.75 per cent.

—M-S—

Preliminary plans are being drafted for holding another flower show in late summer under sponsorship of the combined women's clubs of Belmond. Flower fanciers interested in seeing this annual event continued are asked to express their sentiments to one of the women who were in charge of last year's show. (Mrs. Ella Luick, who heads the flower show committee, assured us that posy enthusiasts would know the proper parties to contact—and we took her word for it.)

—M-S—

Belmond Boy Scouts were recently invited to a Franklin County Camporee near Hampton, we hear, and practically took the affair over. Not only were there more Belmond Scouts present than "host" Scouts, but of five contests held in conjunction with the doin's, the visiting delegation walked off with four "firsts".

Winnebago Bus Service Extended As of Friday

Announcement has been made by Winnebago Lines, Inc., that bus service to the north is being extended as of Friday to provide through service to Minneapolis and shuttle service to a number of points in Iowa and Minnesota not previously reached by Winnebago.

In addition, four new 29-passenger coaches have just been delivered to augment Winnebago's fleet of buses.

Shuttle service will be available to Fort Dodge, Estherville, Swea City, Buffalo Center and Thompson — among the new points in Iowa, and to Elysian, Faribault and Mankato, Minn.

Four County Delegates Attending Girls State

Besides Belmond's delegate, Marilyn Ellis, three other Wright county representatives are attending Girls State at Grinnell college this week.

American Legion Auxiliary units at Rowan, Dows and Clarion are sponsoring Pat Ketchum, Barbara Meyers and Karna Hilgason, respectively. Altogether, 240 girls are learning how the representative form of government functions by organizing city, county and state governments of their own.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ketchum, parents of the Rowan delegate, took all the girls to Grinnell on Sunday morning. Barbara Meyers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Meyers of Dows, will bring them back next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCord and LaVonne and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolf and Debby and Dickie visited the Grotto in West Bend Sunday.

13 Delegates To 4-H Short Course

Delegates from 13 Wright county boys' 4-H clubs will attend the annual State 4-H Boys' Short Course on the Iowa State college campus next week, Art Hibray, county extension youth assistant, announced today.

Those to attend are Harlan Nassen, Goodell; Bill Stu ck, Dows; Frank Long, Goldfield; Kent Sorenson, Goldfield; Dick Peterson, Clarion; Bill McLaughlin, Belmond; LeRoy Knuths, Galt; Harlan Poolman, Galt; Donovan Baker, Kanawha; Richard Goeman, Belmond; John Schroeder, Galt; Dick Mourlam, Clarion; and Darwin Marker, Woolstock. Mr. Hibray will accompany the boys.

This year's short course program is built around the theme, "Better Living for a Better World." Sports, entertainment and educational features will all have a part in the daily sessions.

Among the featured speakers will be Dr. Ralph Lee of Detroit, Mich., member of the public relations department of General Motors; and Kai Wallen, International Farm Youth Exchange delegate from Finland.

Election of new state 4-H officers is scheduled for Tuesday morning. The short course will open Monday morning and extend through Thursday. New state officers will be installed at the final session.

CHARLSON CERTIFIES TOWNSHIP CANDIDATES

County Auditor Roger Charlson has certified the following as candidates for township offices in the Belmond area for the general election in November:

Grant—trustee 1-52, Myron Hill (R); clerk, J. E. Ketchum (D).

Norway — trustee, term commencing 11-7-50, Olaf Eliason (D); trustee 1-51, Wiert Brower (R).

Whereas both parties were remiss in offering candidates for all vacancies in most townships, Mr. Charlson stated that Troy Republicans had a complete slate including two J. P. and two constable candidates.

Legion Juniors To Play Against Rockwell Sunday

After three straight attempts had been washed out by rain, the Belmond Junior Legion baseball team was to try once more last night to get its season underway, playing Kanawha on the local diamond.

This coming Sunday the boys will travel to Rockwell for a contest scheduled at 2:00 p. m. Don Faris is slated for mound duty, with Glen Hansen of Latimer catching.

A return game at Kanawha is on the card for July 2, one with Forest City here on July 5 and another there on July 21. Two games have also been lined up with the strong Mason City junior team—here on July 11 at 5:30 p. m. and there on July 13 at 6:15. The game at Mason City will precede a contest between the M. C. Legionnaires and Albert Lea.

Communion Closes School For St. Francis Children

Last Sunday morning, marking the close of vacation school, 14 children of St. Francis church received their first Holy Communion at 8:00 o'clock Mass.

Rev. Robert J. Saunders of Garber, who was conducting the Forty Hours Devotion in the parish, sang the High Mass and gave an impressive talk to the children and parents on the meaning of Holy Communion and urged all to receive the Sacrament frequently.

Following the Mass, the class members and their fathers—in observance of Father's Day—went to the rectory where their mothers served breakfast. Places were also set for Father Saunders, Sisters Clementina, Jovita and Kavin, Theresa Lowenberg and Jane Studebaker (Flower Girls), Coleen Jones and Dona Lass (Angels).

Last Rites Held

Funeral services for David G. Erickson, above, former Belmond businessman and a native of the Kanawha community, were held Monday afternoon at the Trinity Lutheran church, with Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating. Burial was in Kanawha cemetery. Mr. Erickson passed away on Wednesday of last week at Los Angeles. He was 32 his last birthday, May 18.

Couple of Softball Events Scheduled

Two treats are in store for Belmond softball fans this weekend, through the auspices of the General Mills Men's club.

Friday night at 8:30 o'clock the GMI team will tangle with the strong John Deere outfit from Waterloo. Admission of 25 cents per car will be charged, but with no limit on the number of occupants.

On Sunday the GMI Men's club is sponsoring a softball tournament, with seven teams vying for top honors. There are three Belmond entries—General Mills, Helland and Long and Elliott's. Other aggregations are entered from Woolstock, Thornton, Klemme and Clarion.

At 1:30 action will get under way with Woolstock opposing Thornton; then at 2:45 Klemme meets Helland and Long; and at 4:00 p. m. General Mills will take on Clarion. Eliott's draws a first round bye.

The upper bracket first round winners meet in the first semi-final contest at 6:00 p. m. and at 7:45 Elliott's will tangle with the survivor of the Clarion-General Mills game. Play in the finals is scheduled to start at 9:30.

Separate admission will be charged for the afternoon and evening sessions, the fee being 50 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

SQUARE DANCE PLANNED

Something new in the way of entertainment — for Clarmond Country club, at least—will be introduced at the clubhouse this Saturday night. A regular, old-fashioned square dance will be the order of the evening, starting about 9:00 p. m.

League of Women Voters Meets Friday Afternoon

Women of Belmond are urged by President Jean Shepard to keep in mind the meeting of the newly organized League of Women Voters which is to be held this Friday at the home of Mrs. Eugene Woolley.

Study plans for the coming year will be drafted and the membership divided into groups for study purposes. The League will also consider the city council's request to conduct a survey on public sentiment on a proposed street-surfacing project.

The annual membership fee of $1.00 will be payable at tomorrow's meeting, which is to start at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. June Ewing Gets PHT Degree At U. of Indiana

June Christie Ewing on June 11 received from the University of Indiana a P. H. T. honorary degree as her proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Christie of Belmond, and grateful husband, Marlin Ewing, looked on.

Mr. and Mrs. Christie reported the event upon their return last Thursday from Bloomington, Ind., where they attended the university commencement exercises at which Mr. Ewing was awarded a bachelor of science degree.

Mrs. Ewing was one of 400 wives of graduating students to be recognized with a P. H. T. (for Pushed Husband Through). Crowned with the mortar boards which their husbands were to wear as they received their diplomas the following day, the girls assembled in a large auditorium to receive "sheepskins" of their own as tokens of appreciation from the university.

On Monday, June 12, regular commencement exercises were held in the university stadium, with 4,000 students—comprising the school's largest class in history—receiving degrees.

SUMMER RECREATION PROGRAM UNDER WAY

After a slow start Monday, activity in the summer recreation program was rapidly picking up steam by mid-week, according to Director Boyd Berghefer. The supervised recreation periods will be conducted daily through the week from 9:00 to 11:30 a. m. and 1:00 to 4:30 p. m. at the city park.

The program will extend through eight weeks and is open to all children of school age through the eighth grade.

In the opening peewee baseball game Tuesday evening, Don Faris's Cubs beat out Arlo Stoltenberg's Yanks, 7 to 6. Friday evening at 6:45 p. m. the Cards tackle the Braves. There will be a game next Tuesday at the same hour but the opponents have not yet been named.

In the peewee league, each team will play all three others three times. Mr. Berghefer also hopes to schedule five home-and-home series with out of town teams providing the oppositon for an all-star nine chosen from the four peewee clubs.

Clarion Man New Aide to Blecker

Jack A. Hansen, 49, until recently a cafe proprietor at Clarion, on Tuesday was appointed by Sheriff Bob Blecker as his deputy. The post has been vacant since Evron Braumann of Eagle Grove resigned a couple of months ago to enroll for highway patrolman training.

The new deputy is married and has one son, 12. Until selling out the first of March, Mr. and Mrs. Hansen for 16 years had operated Letha and Jack's Place at the county seat. Mr. Hansen has had no previous experience in law enforcement.

A native of Des Moines, Mr. Hansen graduated from North High school there. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and of the Methodist church at Clarion.

Sheriff Blecker's assistant took up his new duties on the day of his appointment. His selection still requires the approval of the board of supervisors, which likely will not meet again until after the first of next month.

Elliott's was idle during last Thursday's and Monday's softball league sessions and remained at the top of the standings with two wins. General Mills grabbed a pair and Mello-Maid one contest to draw into a tie for the runner-up spot.

In last Thursday's loop game, GMI took a close one from Helland and Long by a 4-3 count. Monday evening General Mills chalked up another victory, taking VFW into camp 5-0. In the other Monday game, a regular track meet developed as Mello-Maid outlasted John Deere to win the hit fest 18 to 16.

This (Thursday) evening Helland and Long will endeavor to dump Elliott's from the top rung. Monday evening Elliott's will tangle with John Deere and VFW will cross bats with Helland and Long.

Jack Fulton Completes Mortuary Science Course

John F. "Jack" Fulton was one of a class of 79 candidates who received certificates in applied mortuary science at special commencement exercises last Thursday in Coffman Memorial Union on the University of Minnesota campus.

Jack will take an examination for his state license in July and after certification as a qualified embalmer will join with his father, Fred Fulton, in the conduct of Fulton Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton and Shirley Lieuwen attended the exercises at Minneapolis last week and Jack returned home with them Thursday evening. The mortuary training which he has just completed consisted of a one-year course.

DR. MISNER TAKES UP VETERINARIAN DUTIES

Dr. Robert E. Misner, who lately formed a partnership with Dr. H. J. Classick, has moved his family to town and has taken up his veterinary duties.

The Misners have two youngsters—a son, Robert B., who is two years and 10 months old, and a three-month-old daughter, Deborah. They are living in the former Chris Wagoner home at 716 First street S. E.

Dr. Misner has known Dr. Classick since the early 'thirties when the latter was practicing in Hurley, S. D., where the Misner family lived at the time.

War service interrupted the new veterinarian's education, so he completed his course at Iowa State only this spring. He entered the air force as a cadet in 1940 and was discharged as a captain in late 1945.

Dr. Misner is a baseball enthusiast and plans to try out for a berth on the Tomahawk nine. In South Dakota two summers ago, he was a member of an amateur team that reached the semi-finals of the state tournament.

Six New Members Added To List of Soil Group

Six more names have recently been added to the list of Wright county members of the Clarion-Webster Soil Area Experimental association, bringing to 38 the number that have now signed up in this county.

Latest additions are Melvin Olson and Willis Kurtz of Norway township, Harry Allen and Son, A. E. Spangler, R. J. Strykker and M. O. Thompson of Eagle Grove.

Purpose of the association, it will be recalled, is to participate in the purchase and operation of a farm upon which drainage and allied experiments can be conducted.

At $25 apiece, the sale of memberships to date has brought in $950 of Wright's quota of $2,400.

LANSING REPRESENTING AIB

Among the variety of jobs that Jack Lansing has accepted to occupy his time during the vacation months that he is free from the responsibilities of school principal at Rowan is that of serving as field representative for the American Institute of Business at Des Moines.

Boy Scouts Take Off Saturday for Jamboree

Eighteen Wright county Boy Scouts, including six from Belmond, will depart from Mason City at midnight this Saturday on the first leg of their jaunt to the National Boy Scout Jamboree, which opens at Valley Forge, Pa., on July 29.

Members of the county contingent will make up half of a troop of 36 which will be headed by Eldred Shupe of Clarion as Scoutmaster. Glenn Martin, Belmond Scoutmaster, will serve as a troop assistant, as will R. G. Parks of Mason City.

Mr. Martin went to Camp Roosevelt at Clear Lake on Tuesday to begin a course of pre-jamboree training and the boys left yesterday at 4:30 p. m. for three days of training.

Winnebago Council will be represented at the jamboree by 108 Scouts, divided into three troops, and nine leaders.

Belmond Scouts who will make the trip are Dick Elliott, Roger Ubben and Ed Eccles—who are being sent expense-free, as a reward for their outstanding records—Bradley Hammond, Sam Leinbach and Larry Larson.

Belmond Boy Scouts who went to Mason City yesterday to undergo three days training prior to leaving late Saturday on the jaunt to the national jamboree were (left to right): Dick Elliott, Bradley Hammond, Sam Leinbach, Roger Ubben, Larry Larson and Ed Eccles.

Itinerary of the Winnebago council train calls for arrival at Chicago on Sunday, June 25, where the group will attend church services, visit the Museum of Science and Industry, the Field museum and the Shedd aquarium.

On Monday, June 26, the unit will tour the Ford Motor company plant at Detroit and visit other points of interest in the Motor city. Arrival at Niagara Falls is slated for the next day which will be spent there until early evening when the special train moves on to Buffalo, Albany and thence to Weehawken, N. J.

Wednesday, June 28 will be the date for sightseeing in New York City. The special trains will pull into Valley Forge that evening. The Jamboree will run until July 7 when the group will leave for a day's tour of Washington, D. C. On the following day at Chicago, the Railroad fair will be visited with return to Mason City slated for July 9.

Bowan Believes Threat Not Taken Seriously Enough

Wright county farmers will be "briefed" on the coming battle against the corn borer at a series of township meetings scheduled for next Monday. A corps of instructors met in Mason City yesterday with Earl S. Raun, extension entomologist from Ames, preparatory to taking the latest information to the farmers next week.

Two Belmond men are among those who will instruct township groups—Duane Sandage, high school vocational agriculture teacher, and Charles Wilmarth of the Thompson Hybrid staff.

Others who attended the training session at Mason City were: Oscar J. Hanson, Bob Locke, Carl Whipple, Aaron Bowman and Art Hibray of Clarion; Bart Nodland, R. V. Diggens and Roland Lickteig of Eagle Grove; and Fred Friedrich of Dows.

As tentatively arranged by County Extension Director Aaron Bowman, the Monday meetings in the various townships will be held either between the hours of 1:30 and 3:00 p. m. or 3:30 and 5:00 p. m. Meetings in the Belmond area were scheduled as follows:

Belmond township, 3:30 to 5:00 p. m., with Oscar J. Hanson as instructor; Norway, 1:30 to 3:00, Bob Locke; Pleasant, 1:30 to 3:00, Duane Sandage; Grant, 1:30 to 3:00, Hanson; and Iowa, 1:30 to 3:00, Charles Wilmarth.

Mr. Bowman says all farmers will be advised by mail as to the exact time and place that the meetings will be held. As this was written, none of the meeting places had been settled upon.

"Every sign points to a heavy infestation of borers in Wright county this year," Mr. Bowman stated in an interview Tuesday. He added that in his estimation many farmers in the county are regarding the threat all too lightly and are delaying too long in making their preparations to combat the costly pests.

"Five times as many borers survived the winter this year as last," the extension director continued. "Egg mass counts in early planted corn last Sunday were running from 30 to 40 per 100 stalks on corn of 36 to 40 inches extended height."

Inspection of fields shows many adult worms ready to pupate and many already pupated, but not yet emerged. Early moths are already found in large numbers in oat fields, but Thompson Hybrid officials estimated Tuesday that not more than 15 per cent of the moths had emerged up to that time.

While corn, at present, is not a great deal behind last year, the heaviest egg-laying period of the borer moths is expected to run about 12 days behind the 1949 season. This would bring the height of the egg-laying season about the latter part of June and the first week in July.

In regard to the purchase of DDT, Mr. Bowman warns that supplies are no more than 25 per cent large enough to allow for all the spraying that should be done. Therefor, he stresses, it behooves every farmer to get his spray materials on hand immediately to be assured of getting what he needs.

It will be just as important to spray at the right time as it is to spray the corn in the first place, Mr. Bowman emphasizes, so a delay in obtaining spray materials can drastically reduce the effectiveness of the treatment. Arrangements for obtaining spraying facilities in advance should receive the same attention as ordering chemicals in advance, he warns.

Recommendations call for an application of one and a half pounds of actual DDT per acre as soon as 50 egg masses can be found per 100 plants on corn 35 inches or more in extended height. Following the original application, there should be a second one seven to 10 days later if count still averages 50 masses per 100 plants.

Final Rites Conducted Last Week for Ed Foss

Funeral services were held on Monday of last week for Edward Foss, 84, who passed away on June 9 at his home in Meservey. Rev. A. E. Wilken officiated at the rites held at the Salem Evangelical United Bretheran church and burial was in Meservey cemetery.

Pallbears were John R. Schmidt, Ed Rooks Eno Ostendorf, Frank Guth, Niels Faaborg and Lewis Hulsebus.

Born in Germany on May 30, 1866, Mr. Foss had lived in this country since 1885 and in the Meservey neighborhood since 1890. A complete obituary appears elsewhere in today's paper.

In reply to a Belmond citizen's question, "Have property owners along the Iowa river the authority to fence accross the river and stop the passage of row boats and prevent citizens from fishing along the banks?" Atty. Gen. Remley replies, "If the Iowa river is a meandered stream then the property owner has neither a right to fence across the river nor prevent anyone from going along its banks. If it is not a meandered stream, then the property owner owns the bed of the river and has the right to prevent anyone from boating or going along the banks of said river." The Iowa river at this point is not a meandered stream, so a farmer has right to fence it if he wants.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Norman Gabrielson's Experience as Dairyman Causes Him To Really Like General Farming

After milking cows for 13 or 14 hours a day, week in and week out—during an 11-year stint as a dairyman in California—general farming here in Iowa seems like a relatively soft life to Norman Gabrielson.

Norman assists his brother Elmer in farming a total of 480 acres, northwest of Belmond. Elmer owns a 160 and rents 320 belonging to Helmer Hanson. It keeps both brothers busy to get all the work done—but if Norman ever feels the inclination to be dissatisfied, he just thinks of those California cows.

About 1936 he got a job in the neighborhood of Glendale, Calif., on a large-scale dairy farm which boasted a herd of some 2,000 cows and calves. For seven years during the war, Norman never had a vacation. Part of that time he had a dairy herd of his own near Torrance, Calif.—some 190 head—which he and one helper milked.

Later he sold that herd—to get a rest, as much as anything. After about three months' vacation he acquired an 80-head herd at Roscoe, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gabrielson and children

Off and on for some time he'd been trying to "sell" his wife on coming to Iowa. At last he got the job done, and they returned to his home neighborhood in the fall of 1946. Looking back on his years in California, about all he remembers with any longing is the weather.

Incidentally, he and his wife were first introduced by a California immigrant from Iowa—the former Mary Lieuwen, who is now Mrs. Andy Jasperson of Glendale. Norman was invietd to a New Year's party at the Jasperson home in 1939. It was there he met his bride-to-be. A mutually favorable impression was made by the two of them, apparently, for the following November the wedding bells chimed.

On Norman's return to Iowa, he joined forces with Elmer in operating land that had comprised part of a half-section the boys' father had farmed for about 20 years, a mile north and three west of Belmond. The additional 320 which they farm is just east of St. Olaf's church. Elmer bought half of the 320 his father had farmed after Gabriel Gabrielson was forced to retire about five years ago due to failing eyesight.

Incidentally, the family name would be Urdahl, except for a whim of the father's after his emigration to this country from Norway. He figured the name was too foreign-sounding, so he adopted "Gabrielson" as a last name. Both of the elder Gabrielsons are now living in Belmond.

Norman and his brother own quite a batch of stock in partnership. This spring they have 375 Duroc pigs, from 43 sows. That's an average of almost nine thriving pigs per litter and Norman's pretty proud of that record.

The brothers also keep a herd of 15 milking cows—maybe to keep Norman happy reminding him of the old dairy days. They have six heifer calves this spring. Norman believes in keeping a variety of breeds, so the herd includes Holsteins, Guernseys, Jerseys and Brown Swiss.

Then there are 20 feeder calves —Herefords. That about takes care of the Gabrielson livestock.

Norman and Elmer decided to abide by their corn allotment of 132 acres on the half section; but they felt the 54 allowed them on the 160 would run them short on feed for the pigs, so they planted an extra four acres. They have 119 acres in oats —40 on the quarter and 79 on the half section.

On the two farms, together, they have a total of 40 acres of soybeans. On the 320 they have 51 acres in pasture and 20 in hay; and on the quarter section they have an additional 30 acres of hay.

Norman names fishing as his favorite hobby, but admits he's never caught any big enough to stuff and hang on the wall. Big or not, though, he thoroughly enjoys "wetting a line".

Mrs. Gabrielson says she hasn't much time for hobbies—unless "riding herd" on the four children might be considered as such. She does enjoy reading after the youngsters are tucked in for the night, but books don't stand much of a show during the daytime.

The Gabrielsons have three daughters and one son: Constance is nine, Nancy seven, Norma Jean two and Ted is just one.

Norman's heart is thoroughly wrapped up in farming and he's a man who really enjoys his work. But cows? You can keep 'em, so far as Norman is concerned — unless they're few enough in number that the milking of 'em can just be lumped in with the regular daily chores.

BORERS WITH DDT BEFORE THEY . . .

Feed On Leaves

Leaf feeding mid-rib breakage and destruction of leaf surface interfere with the food manufacturing process of corn plants. They lower yields.

Tunnel Through Stalks

Borer tunnels cut across food channels. The ear starves. Plants are weakened and the way is open for stalk rots to develop.

15 To 18 Bushel More Yield

The Iowa State College test plot at Marshalltown showed 16.8 bu. and 18.4 bu. per acre more yield on corn sprayed with airplane and ground equipment respectively over the non-sprayed check strips.

Thompson research men conservatively estimate that spraying with both airplane and ground equipment on about 1500 acres under their supervision near Belmond in 1949 boosted the corn yield in those fields 15 bu. per acre.

5 POINT CORN BORER SERVICE OFFERED

1. For the $10.00 deposit per farm, we guarantee to keep equipment and chemical available to spray your corn. Should you use our spraying service or buy DDT from us you are given credit for the $10.00

2. Airplane spraying service by professional spray pilots in a type of plane suitable for low flying over corn fields.

3. Experienced and trained crews for scientific counting of egg masses in fields which are covered by the Thompson Corn Borer Spraying Contract.

4. $40,000.00 worth of DDT carried in stock at the Thompson plant to insure you a supply. Both college experts and chemical companies predict a severe shortage of DDT. "RIVERDALE DDT", the best of six brands that we used a year ago, is stocked.

5. Tractor mounted and trailer type ground spraying equipment in stock and for sale.

DORIS EASTON AND HAROLD NELSON WED IN CEREMONY SUNDAY

Pink and white peonies decorated the altar and aisle of the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon when Doris Easton, daughter of Mrs. James Easton, became the bride of Harold Nelson, son of Martin Nelson. The Rev. J. Heber Miller officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Jimmy Fetrow, a cousin of the bride, performed the duties of candle-lighter. Larry Draper, four-year-old nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer and Diane Fetrow, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Albert Fetrow, wore a white marquisette over white satin gown and an illusion net veil held in place by a seed pearl tiara. She carried a white Bible on which were two gardenias with pink rosebud streamers.

Deloris Nelson, who wore a pink formal, and is a niece of the groom, and Imogene Halfpap, who wore a green formal, were the bridesmaids. They carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

The groom's attendant was Jake Gruis. Ushers were Ed Gabrielson and George Sharp.

The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Paul Jenison and the soloist was Connie Benson.

A reception for 125 guests was held at the church parlors following the wedding.

After a short wedding trip the newly married couple will reside at the farm home of the bride's mother.

Overisel Reformed church of Holland, Mich. was the scene of a beautiful wedding on the evening of June 8, when Miss Ruth Ann Poppen and the Rev. George C. Poppen were united in marriage. The Rev. O. G. Poppen, father of the groom, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Poppen of Overisel and the groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. O. G. Poppen of Belmond.

Bridal attendants were Ann Van Ingen, friend of the bride, as maid of honor; Mrs. Raymond Slotman, niece of the bride, and Anna Poppen, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids.

The bride wore a traditional ivory satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline edged with Venice lace, fitted bodice and long tapering sleeves. The full gored skirt terminated into a full train. Her fingertip veil of English illusion was held in place by a Venice lace poke bonnet. She carried a white Bible topped with pink and white roses.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore identically styled marquisette gowns. The bride chose as colors, blue for her maid of honor and pink and yellow for her bridesmaids.

The bride is a graduate of Holland High school and Hope college. She has been a music teacher in the Holland schools. The groom is a graduate of Belmond High school, a Hope college graduate, and was graduated from Western Theological seminary in 1948. He is pastor of the Ottawa Reformed church, West Olive, Mich.

Rev. and Mrs. Poppen left after the ceremony on a western wedding trip.

OBITUARY

LEWIS HAUGE

This community was greatly hocked and saddened by the udden death of Lewis Hauge, ho passed away Saturday, June 1950, at the Steele Memorial Iospital in Belmond, Iowa. He uffered a cerebral hemorrhage aturday morning and sucumbed at 6:30 that same evenig.

Lewis Hauge was born on ugusth 4, 1874, near Huxley, owa, and was the son of Holvar nd Kari Hauge, who have preeded him in death. Also, one ister, Stena, and five brothers, Iolvar, Henry, Amos, Tom and arl preceded him in death.

On March 14, 1900, he was nited in marriage to Mary Nory of Belmond. To this union vere born eight children; living re Mrs. Preston Tyrrell of Belnond, Mrs. F. A. Muyres, Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. Luella Dixon, Los Angeles, Calif., Alvin of Belmond, Galen of Britt, Wilmer of Goodell and Dale of Belmond. One daughter, Alma Clarette, preceded him in death at the age of 15 months.

Also surviving him are three brothers—Thor of Minneapolis, Edwin and Martin of Des Moines; and one sister, Mrs. Anna Martinson of Hong Kong, China.

Mr. Hauge spent the greater part of his life as a farmer in and around this community. He was a prominent auctioneer during those years. For the past 14 years he had been a sales representative of the Moorman Manufacturing company, Quincy, Ill.

Mr. Hauge was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith and has been a member of the Lutheran church all his life, having held his membership largely in the St. Olaf and Trinity Lutheran churches of Belmond.

Mr. Hauge had spent practically all of his life in this community and needless to say, will be greatly missed, not only by his family, but also by a host of friends and acquaintances.

Funeral services were conducted at the Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon, June 6, at 2:00 o'clock, with Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. A. C. Hanson, Mrs. L. B. Kallestad, Harlan Nassen and Jerry Hanson, with Matilda Skovlin at the organ and Karen Hanson at the piano.

Interment was in the family lot at the St. Olaf cemetery with the Boone Funeral home in charge.

EDWARD FOSS

Edward Foss was born in Lutzenberg, Germany in the Schleswig-Holstein province on May 30, 1866 and passed away at his home in Meservey, Iowa, on June 9, 1950, just eight days past his eighty-fourth birthday.

With his parents, Hans L. and Catherine Foss, three brothers and three sisters, Edward came to America in 1885. The family settled near Ackley, where Ed worked on a farm. After three years he entered the well-digging business in the Belmond community.

On Dec. 8, 1890, Mr. Foss was married to Hilka Smidt and the following spring moved with his bride to a farm a mile south of Meservey. They became the parents of five children. While the youngsters were still small, the family moved northwest of Meservey on a farm which was Ed's home until his retirement in 1920. The remainder of his life he lived in Meservey, where he bought a home after retiring.

Mr. Foss and his wife joined the Salem Evangelical U. B. church of Meservey. His religion gave him much comfort in the of three of his daughters—one as an infant; Jennie, who died suddenly at the age of 11; an Kathryn, whose untimely death came in 1924. Mrs. Foss passed away in 1937.

He gave to the church freely in time and talents, serving for 23 years as a trustee, 24 years as custodian, as a steward and twice on the building committee. Ed was also interested in community activities and was a member of the school board for a number of years.

Of the original family that emigrated from Europe, only three members are still living -- two of Ed's brothers, Charley of Clear Lake and Henry of Goodell; and a sister, Ella (Mrs. A. E. Bohning) of Miller, S. D. Mr. Foss is also survived by his son Lewis of Hampton and daughter Minnie, Mrs. James Hemming of Thornton; also four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mention should also be made of Mrs. Mary Raecker, who took the place of the deceased daughter, Kathryn, in the Garfield Raecker home and who offered Mr. Foss the affection and companionship of a true daughter.

KATHRYN SHEPHERD NORRIS

Kathryn Shepherd was born in Dovington, Berkshire, England to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Shepard on Feb. 8, 1863. She departed this life June 5, 1950 in a nursing home in Britt, Iowa.

Kate Shepherd was married to George Owen Norris June 17, 1883, in England. Two children were born there to them, Harry and George. The family came to the United States and to Illinois in 1886. Here five more children, Edgar, Allen, Raymond, Charles and Naomi, were born unto the home.

Another move brought the family to Clarion, Iowa, in 1902, where arthur was born.

In 1915 Mrs. Norris, with her family, moved to a farm west of Belmond and spent the rest of her later life there. George Norris, the father and three children—Harry, Edgar and Arthur—preceded the wife and mother in death.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. John Chapman, near Goodell; four sons - George of Mason City, Allen of Belmond, Raymond of Rowan and Charles of Belmond; one sister-in-law, Mrs. Harriet Stevens of Clarion; 16 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren.

HARM GREENLANDER

Harm Greenlander, oldest son of Henry and Gertie Greenlander, was born on the 25th day of August, 1865 at Boen, East-friesland, Germany. In this vicinity he grew up to manhood. Here he was wed to Miss Harmke Meinders in the fall of 1885. Three children were born to them.

While still in his native country, he heard much from friends and relatives of America and the opportunities it offered a young man. Early in the spring of 1894, he and his family set out for American and came directly to Belmond.

Here he was first engaged as a farm laborer and then began farming for himself. He lived on different farms northeast of Belmond until he retired in 1920 and settled in Belmond.

On the 11th of June, 1909, Mr. Greenlander joined the Immanuel Reformed church on confession of faith. This church he has served faithfully 10 years as a deacon and 16 years as an elder.

After a brief illness, Mr. Greenlander passed away on June 13 at 6:00 a. m. at the age of 84 years, nine months and 18 days. He was preceded in death by an infant son in Germany; a daughter, Mrs. Gertie Dippel, in 1914; and his wife on January 24, 1928.

Mr. Greenlander had many talents and gifts which he gladly used in the interest of others. Among these were the love and care he showed to the aged around, and the work he performed at the church and parsonage when skill in carpentry was needed.

He leaves one son, John Greenlander of Belmond, five grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

County 4-H Delegate Reports On Experiences at Conservation Camp

By Rachel Peterson
County 4-H Girls Vice President

Willis Muhlenbruck and I, Rachel Peterson, would like to thank those who made our trip to Conservation Camp possible. It was a new and different experience. This camp was held June 5-8 at Camp Mitigwa, a boy scout camp, about nine miles south of Boone.

Representatives from each county of the state, totaling 120 delegates, attended this camp. Also present were two "Camp Spirits" from the 1949 Conservation Camp; Badger Clark, a naturalist and Black Hills poet; Esther Whetstone, state girls' 4-H club leader; George Boehnke, assistant state boys' 4-H club leader; youth assistants from six counties and chaperones; and Richard Campbell, Lester Clapp, George McCullough, Robert Moorman and Dr. Leo Thomas, who were the instructors in our various courses of study.

At our first gathering Monday afternoon, we were welcomed to the camp by Mildred Mott, the "Spirit of Camp" from 1949. We sang some songs and began to get acquainted. We were told some of the traditions of Mitigwa, camping opportunities, and some things to look out for such as wood ticks and poison ivy.

Immediately after we were introduced to the camp, we began with our scheduled program. We had five subjects from which we could pick three, and these were the courses we attended. They consisted of fins, feathers, foliage, furrows and flints — otherwise known as fish, birds, trees, soils and rocks.

In the afternoon, we would go to one hour of class and then on the following morning, we would have a two-hour field trip. After our study course in the afternoon, we could do what we wished in order to relax—sleep, play games or take part in the arts and crafts. This year the boys and girls worked with leather and silver.

In the evenings we had vespers and then a social program. Monday, we gathered for a camp fire; Tuesday we had a "South of the Border" party; and Wednesday evening we had another campfire.

The latter is a traditional event. At this time, the "Spirits of the Camp" for next year were announced. We also had a little ceremony in which a bundle of fagots were carried to the fire by a representative of a cottage and a wish was made. After this we sang songs, and this concluded our evening campfire.

Living close to nature these days made us realize what conservation really stands for and also what has to be done to save our land as a heritage for future generations. We learned that conservation is more than just saving the soil. There is human, wildlife and many other types of conservation.

We enjoyed this camp and only wish that more boys and girls could attend Conservation Camp.

VOL. 30. NO. 37 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, June 29, 1950. OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Mrs. Linnie Dahm was pleased beyond words to see in the Independent's classified department last week a "Found" ad reporting that a rosary had been turned in at the newspaper office. She had lost the beads around the middle of the month.

Money for purchase of the sterling silver and crystal rosary had been given to her by her step-father and the keepsake had been a prized possession for some 25 years. Mrs. Dahm was prompt to press a reward on the finder, Mrs. Hugh McMannus, in expression of her gratitude.

It was the second time Mrs. Dahm had recovered a lost article that she valued highly. Some years ago she lost a ring—set with three diamonds — in Grand Forks, N. D. Eighteen months after the loss, and when she had moved to another community, the ring was returned to her.

Linnie says she's going to be more careful, hereafter. She figures she's more than had her share of luck in getting back lost possessions.

—M-S—

In the Greentop (Mo.) Reporter, from which we received the facts concerning the Miller-Erdman wedding reported in this issue, we found an abbreviation that was new to us. Editor Leota Ledford condenses "Mr. and Mrs. into "Mrms".

When you consider the number of times "Mr. and Mrs." appears in the average issue of a weekly paper, it's obvious that the unique abbreviation must save a lot of space. For us though, it wasn't much of a timesaver as we perused the paper, because we came to a dead stop every time we ran into it.

—M-S—

You might think old-fashioned Edison phonographs — the kind that played the thick records—would be quite difficult to track down nowadays. Nevertheless, a classified ad in the Independent succeeded in bringing two to light.

The elderly lady who was seeking an ancient Edison for entertainment was offered one as a gift, along with quite a number of records, by Mrs. Gunnar Kling. After Mrs. Kling had called in with her offer, Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen dropped in to the paper office to report that she, too, has one she would willingly dispose of . . .

As we've stated before, the results a single want ad can bring are often amazing.

—M-S—

After a hot day on the links, most of the competitors were beginning to fold when those last nine holes came 'round. You'll notice that, after getting that not-so-hot 40 out of his system, Fred really finished up like a ball of fire.

First prize for the amateurs was a very fine set of leather luggage, but the runner-up prize —a coffee-making set—was what caught Mary Gordon's eye. Except for the matter of getting beat, she wasn't too sorry to see Husband Fred lose the play-off and win that coffee-maker.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

Mrs. Chester Hill, secretary of the Ladies Aid at St. Olaf's Lutheran church, announces that the women's organization will sponsor a combined bazaar and ice cream social at the church tomorrow (Friday) evening.

ATTEND SALES MEETING

Keith Dunton and Douglas Walrod, employees of Elliott's Hardware, were in Sioux City last Tuesday attending a tristate Frigidaire sales meeting.

PUT SOME MONEY IN THE POT, BOY!

Teams in the city softball league have a plea to submit to the fans who have been turning out for the games in generous numbers. It's this:

"Put some money in the pot, boy!"

The average "take" from hat-passing so far this season has been just about sufficient to pay for lights and balls. This would be fine if it weren't for the fact that the league started off the season close to $150 in the red.

Several light poles had to be installed and quite a number of bulbs purchased to provide adequate illumination for the diamond—and the nightly contributions are making little or no inroads on this debt.

Consequently, the softballers would look upon it very kindly if the average "ante" by the onlookers was sufficiently increased to justify the purchase of a bottle of BLACK ink.

Predict Spraying Borers Will Return $4 for Each $1 Spent

According to the men who know corn borers best, spraying to reduce damage by these expensive pests should bring a farmer at least four additional dollars next fall for every $1.00 he spends for spray and application in the next few days.

Growing interest among the farmers was evidenced in many townships as instruction meetings were held Monday morning and afternoon, but in some the turnouts were very disappointing. In Iowa township, only three farmers showed up to get "the latest dope" from Duane Sandage.

Counts made during the meeting at the R. E. Lee Aldrich farm revealed some 700 egg masses per 100 plants. At the Archie Stockseth farm, where the Belmond township meeting was conducted by Oscar Hanson, counts ran from 1,000 to as high as 1,800 per 100 plants.

Nyscoe Boelman's farm was the site of the Pleasant township get-together, led by Charles Wilmarth, and here the count hit 424. The Belmond and Pleasant meetings attracted about 25 farmers each.

Mr. Wilmarth, who is research director for Thompson's Hybrid Corn company, reports counting over 50 fields between Monday and Tuesday evening. Egg masses ran from a low of 64 per 100 plants to a high of 796.

Counts made in the same fields on Friday, Saturday and Monday provided some impressive figures on the rate of increase in egg masses over the four-day period. In one field the count on Friday was 68, on Saturday 220, and on Monday 424. In the second field the comparable figures were 28-164-424; and in the third 340-380-796.

The Thompson researcher stated Tuesday afternoon that many hatched borers were already in evidence and many blackhead egg masses were ready to hatch in a day or two. At the time, Wilmarth predicted the peak of the egg laying season was still nearly a week away.

Extension specialists and Iowa State college entomologists recommend spraying when corn reaches 30 to 35-inch height extended, and suggest a second spray about 10 days later.

As bad as the borer infestation is this year, they see no way a farmer can possibly lose money by spraying.

In fact, they predict that in severely hit counties like Wright, the yield increases due to spraying that ran 12 to 18 bushels last year will likely be surpassed by proper spraying this year.

GMI Tourney Won By Klemme Team

General Mills made a noble effort to take top honors in its own softball tournament last Sunday, but heavy hitting by Klemme in the finals saw the GMI crew bowing by a 15-11 count.

Sloppy fielding by the winners, who racked up a total of six errors in the championship game, was not sufficient to make up for the weaker hitting of General Mills.

The losers were outhit by 10 to six. Their fielding, too, was by no means faultless; they made bobbles on four occasions.

Tightest game of the tourney was the opening round contest between Woolstock and Thorton, which the former finally won in eight innings (standard was seven for the tournament tilts) by a 2-1 margin. Klemme took its opening encounter in a 13-8 scoring duel with Helland and Long. General Mills ousted Clarion, 9 to 5.

In the semi-finals, Klemme nosed out Woolstock in a well played game, 3 to 2; and General Mills sent Elliott's to the sidelines, 9 to 3.

Klemme jumped into a quick lead in the finals with a four run splurge in the opening frame. In the second inning, GMI went in front by adding four scores to the one they made in their first time up, but their 5-4 advantage was promptly wiped out when the visitors scored three more times in the third.

Trailing 15 to 6 as they went to bat for the last time, General Mills crossed home plate five times in the final frame; but the horse definitely had been stolen by that time and Klemme had it safely locked up in their own barn.

ALGONA TEAM COMING

Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock the VFW softball team will play the Sargent's Feed team of Algona at the high school diamond. The visitors reportedly have a fine team and a first class contest is anticipated. As a curtain-raiser, two of the local peewee ball teams will meet in a regular league game.

PAPER ONE DAY LATE

Next week a national holiday will once more delay delivery of the Independent by one day. Since the newspaper force will be joining in Tuesday's celebration of the Fourth of July, the July 6th issue will not reach subscribers until Friday.

Funeral Rites Conducted For Simon A. Bohning, 85

Simon A. Bohning, 85, passed away early Sunday morning at his home here after a short illness. He would have reached his eighty-sixth birthday on October 9 of this year.

Mr. Bohning lived in this vicinity for most of his life, farming in the Belmond neighborhood for many years.

Funeral services, in the charge of Fulton Funeral home, were held Tuesday afternoon at Immanuel Reformed church with Rev. O. G. Poppen officiating. Burial was in Immanuel Reformed cemetery.

A complete obituary will appear later.

ENDS INTERNSHIP

Dr. George Hogenson will complete his internship at Broadlawns hospital at Des Moines this week. He will start practicing in Eagle Grove as an associate of Dr. Smith after the middle of July. Dr. Hogenson is the son of Mrs. Henrietta Hogenson.

On-Farm Training For Vets All Set

On-the-job farm training classes under Instructor Jim Kleen will be inaugurated on Wednesday of next week, according to an announcement by Supt. Don Faris.

More than enough applicants have signed up to provide a class of 25 trainees, the maximum number permitted, but only 20 have so far been definitely approved. The other five will be selected before the end of this week.

Fifteen self-employed veterans have been approved for membership in the course. They are: from Belmond—LeRoy Christie, Johann Diekhuis, Richard Eekhoff, Harry Pals, Lorin Fjetland, Robert McNutt, Clement Diesburg, Harold Svendsen, George Mikesh, Alvin Lass and Donald Goeman.

Lloyd Christensen and Frank Kloberdanz of Kanawha; Junior Barkema, Meservey and John Peterson, Goodell.

Farm laborers who have qualified for class membership include Dick Barkema, Ernest M. Carr and Eugene Smedley of Belmond, Donald Sheriff of Goodell and Harry L. Green of Clarion.

These veterans will be eligible for two years of farm training at monthly benefits ranging from $65 to $97.50, depending upon monthly earnings.

Window Service at P. O. To Close Saturday Noon

Postmaster J. C. Brady announces that the post office windows will be closed Saturday afternoons, until further notice, starting July 1. This move is made in conjunction with the department cut-back that recently reduced mail deliveries to one a day.

Many post offices have already adopted Saturday afternoon closings, Mr. Brady says. Those at Clarion, Eagle Grove, Garner and Hampton have been closed after noon on Saturdays for the past month to six weeks.

Only window service will be effected locally. The post office lobby will remain open until 6:00 p. m. and regular afternoon mail will be placed in the boxes.

Berlin Orphanage Expresses Thanks For "T-O-T" Gift

Karen Deloris Swenson, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Swenson, Clarion Route 1, was thrilled last weekend to receive a letter in German expressing appreciation for a doll she had given to last winter's "Tide of Toys" campaign.

Her gift was delivered to an orphanage or "kinderheim" in Berlin, where the doll is apparently community property of the little inmates.

Said the letter, written by an official of the home and addressed to "My Dear Young Friend":

"We want to express our heartiest thanks for your recent gift of the beautiful doll in the name of our little girls. The children rejoiced very much over the beautiful doll and we want to hope and express the wish that this doll will live with us a long time and remind us of the love and thankfulness of the dear children in America."

Political Parleys Scheduled Friday For Both Parties

County delegates of both major political parties will assemble at Clarion this Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock for their regular conventions.

George Kyseth of Clarion will head the Republican delegation. Democratic chairman is Francis McNulty of Belmond, who was appointed this spring by State Chairman Jake More to succeed J. C. Brady, who's been inactive since his appointment as Belmond postmaster.

Drafting of resolutions and election of delegates to state and judicial conventions will comprise the business of both groups, since no election contests were carried to either convention.

Republicans will be allowed 27 delegates to each convention. By Wednesday McNulty had not yet been notified the number of delegates the Democrats would be allowed.

Delegates from Belmond and vicinity who will attend the Republican convention, to be held in the courtroom, are: Belmond Ward 1—Ethel Brunes, Claude Benson, Mary Gunderson, Eva Hansen; Ward 2—C. C. Christie, Mrs. A. W. Loats, A. C. Hanson, Mrs. J. R. Shepard, George Infelt; Ward 3 — Roy Henderson, Don Faris, Clark McNeal, Clarence Kirkendall, Miriam Gowdy.

Meservey Girl Appointed To Estes "Y" Camp Staff

Wanda Ostendorf of Meservey is one of 130 student YMCA-YWCA leaders from across the United States, selected for the staff of the YMCA of the Rockies, Estes Park, Colo., and a member of the leadership training seminar. She has been working at the YWCA in Des Moines during the past year.

Council Requested to Call Election Soon To Establish Hospital Trustee Board

In a letter addressed Monday by Gene Woolley', chairman of the hospital planning board, to Mayor A. W. Loats, work of the hospital sub-committees to date was summarized. Also, a recommendation was submitted that steps be taken immediately to provide for election of the three-man board of hospital trustees that will be responsible for actual construction of the hospital and its management.

City Attorney Roy Henderson has received from a Des Moines authority on municipal law, E. B. Carpenter, an outline of steps that must now be taken to set up a board election to provide the required trustees. As soon as possible the city council will declare a date for the election and invite nominations, according to Mayor Loats.

One trustee will serve for two years, one for four and one for six. The three board members will not be elected for specific terms; the term of each will be determined by lot after the election.

Several significant recommendations were made by the planning committee. Its members suggested that Beutler of Sioux City be engaged as architects for the project. They also broke down the $200,000 budget in general fashion, specifying $160,000 for general contract, including building, electrical, plumbing and heating; $30,000 for equipment; and $10,000 for contingencies.

The letter stated that A. C. Hanson, who volunteered to serve as treasurer for contributed funds, reports $30,000 in pledges so far paid.

A tentative time schedule was also suggested by the planning board, as follows:

July 1950—Retain architect and obtain preliminary plans.

August 1950—Approve preliminary plans and authorize architect to proceed with detailed construction plans.

October 1950—Obtain construction detail plans and authorize artchitect to advertise for bids.

December 1950—Let contract to successful bidders for construction in spring of 1951 as soon as weather permits.

September 1951 — Complete construction and installation of equipment.

October 1951—Staff and operate.

Mr. Woolley's letter added, "Through the construction period, the entire hospital committee, and especially the members of the building sub-committee, will stand to render all assistance possible to the board of trustees."

The letter further stated, "It is recommended that the architect be retained and authorized to prepare preliminary plans prior to the election of the trustees so that construction can proceed according to the above schedule."

TWO CLARION YOUTHS SUFFER MINOR HURTS AS AUTO ROLLS OVER

Two Clarion youths escaped with minor injuries as the car in which they were riding went out of control Monday afternoon near the General Mills plant and rolled over twice. The car, a 1946 Ford, was a total loss.

John Ofstethun, 16, was driver of the car, which was owned by his father, Anfin Ofstethun. Other occupant of the car was Keith Dean, 17.

The car was traveling north on Highway 69 when Ofstethun apparently lost control of the wheel and the vehicle took to the ditch. The second time it rolled over it bounded so high that it caught telephone wires 15 feet above the ground.

Both boys were brought to Steele Memorial hospital for first aid attention to their cuts and bruises but were released after they had received treatment.

Study of Street Project Temporarily Postponed

According to Mayor A. W. Loats, no decision will be made during the current summer in regard to trying any new type of dust-abatement or surfacing compound on Belmond's unpaved streets.

Sodium chloride was applied to the streets last week to reduce the dust nuisance because of general complaints made to the council. Tentative plans to investigate the feasibility of applying an asphalt solution instead were abandoned, at least for the time being, because of the delay that would have been involved.

Further study of the street problem is planned, however, and the public may be sounded out at a later date to ascertain whether a permanent or temporary solution to the matter of street improvemen is most widely desired.

County's Finances Continue Upswing

County Treasurer Harold E. Sullivan's semi-annual financial report for the five months ending May 31, 1950 shows county receipts and disbursements continuing at a high level, with increased receipts in a majority of county funds.

Total receipts and disbursements balanced at $1,652,593 the end of last month, compared to $1,402,258 for the first half in 1949. Receipts by the various funds showed a total increase from $1,128-953 to 1,274,851.

Receipts from current taxes were $913,575 compared to $889,894 a year ago. There were general increases in drainage assessments, city special assessments, corporation funds and school district funds over those in the first half of 1949.

Several receipt increases were easily explainable. New income under the general heading "gas tax" jumped from $30,595 to $88,561 due to expanded tax sources under a new law that went into effect in July of last year.

An increase in auto licenses fees the first of the year helped to swell the income from numbers and licenses from $73,713 to $109,625. While receipts for secondary road maintenance only advanced to $137,823 from $125,894, road improvement projects brought an increase in secondary road construction funds from $53,669 to $108,571, with federal farm-to-market funds contributing materially.

One item appears on the balance sheet for the first time; the county had receipts of $38,169 in Land Tax Credits from the state. This will be a regular item hereafter, but no refunds had been made under the Land Tax Credit Act prior to this year because investigation of its constitutionality had delayed payments due previously.

The complete semi-annual financial statement will appear in a later issue.

Class of 36 Confirmed At St. Francis Sunday; Archbishop Binz Here

A class of 23 children and 13 adults were confirmed after the eight o'clock Mass at St. Francis church Tuesday morning and five children after the 10:00 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's, Goodell.

Archbishop Binz of Dubuque spoke to the candidates and the congregations on the sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation.

The choir sang hymns at both Masses and the visiting priests assisted in the conferring of the sacrament of Confirmation.

Priests in attendance were Rev. Justin Driscoll of Catholic university, Washington D. C., accompanying the Archbishop; Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. C. Hradecky of Duncan, Rev. M. J. Manternach of Garner, Rev. D. M. Gorman of Webster City, Very Rev. James Slowey of Eagle Grove, Rev. Joseph Murphy of St. Anthony, Rev. Gerald Stiert of Iowa Falls, Rev. Karl Kurt of Clarion, Rev. LaVerne Gerleman of Garner and the pastor, Rev. R. A. Ormsby. After the dinner at 12:00 o'clock the Archbishop left for Winona to attend the funeral of Bishop Kelly on Wednesday morning.

RUSHING THE SEASON

Mrs. Tom Bayliss believes her garden must be one of the first in town to come through with a dinner of new potatoes and peas as a reward for early planting. These early summer delectables comprised the Bayliss' lunch Tuesday noon.

Captain Banning Visiting With Parents Here; Has Just Finished Duty as 'Hurricane Hunter'

Captain Banning has been stationed on the island of Bermuda since August 1947, with the 37th Reconnaissance Squadron, popularly known as the "Hurricane Hunters."

His family joined him in October, 1947.

Captain Banning's duties at Kindley Air Force Base in Bermuda were as a pilot of a B 29 Superfortress used as a weather reconnaissance aircraft.

Captain Banning's flights from Bermuda were routine weather missions over in the North Atlantic and flights in th Carribean and Gulf of Mexico to locate the dreaded tropical hurricanes.

Captain Banning is a member of "The Loyal Legion of Hurricane Hunters" by virtue of having flown into hurricanes in the course of gathering weather data.

An interesting highlight of the Banning family tour overseas was the addition of the youngest daughter, Linda, to the family in December, 1948. Their eldest daughter, Mary Ann, is seven; and Edith Mae is five.

During Captain Banning's oversea tours he had occasion to fly on official missions to locations as widely scattered as the Azores, Guam, Hawaii and the Philippines.

Captain Banning will soon be completing his tenth year in the air force. After graduating from Belmond High school in 1938 and completing two years of junior college at Britt, he enlisted in the air corps as a cadet in the summer of 1940. During the war he was a bomber pilot and saw eight months of overseas service in the African theatre.

At present Captain Banning is on leave while awaiting assignment from headquarters, United States Air Force, Washington, D. C.

H. S. Classmate of '00 Makes Telephone Call To Mrs. Studebaker

Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Sr., was surprised and pleased on Wednesday of last week to receive a long distance telephone call from an old high school classmate on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of their graduation.

Mrs. Kate Sheehy of Los Angeles, Calif., whom Mrs. Studebaker best remembers by the maiden name of Kate Madden, made the call. The two women have remained close friends, despite geographical separation, and had last seen each other three years ago.

They are graduates of St. Mary's academy of Utica, Ill., and had a visit together when Mrs. Sheehy returned to Utica on a trip in 1947. The class of 1900 was made up of four girls, all of whom are still living.

Folks from Belmond Fete Scouts on Departure Day

Mr. and Mrs. John Ubben, Louis Tokman, Mrs. Lois Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Elliott, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eccles, Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Leinbach and Dr. Leinbach's sister, Beth Leinbach of St. Paul, Minn., last Saturday took a picnic supper to Camp Roosevelt at Ventura and enjoyed it with the boys who were leaving for Valley Forge for the national Scout Jamboree.

The group also accompanied a large caravan of cars which was given patrol escort to Mason City, where the 109 Scouts from Winnebago Council entrained for Chicago at 10:20 p. m. on the first leg of their journey.

Fred Gordon Ties For Top Amateur

Fred Gordon demonstrated in the Fort Dodge open last Sunday that he has lost none of the cunning on the golf links that brought him the state amateur title two years ago. In spite of one bad nine, Fred tied with Jack Webb of Spirit Lake—the 1949 state champ—for first place among the amateur entries with a 36-hole total of 149.

The play-for-fun winners were a stroke behind a pair of professionals who tied for top honors in the meet with 148 apiece.

In a sudden-death play-off, Fred had a shot wander out of bounds for the first time in 55 holes and lost first-place prize to his young opponent. Nevertheless, he came home with an attractive, automatic coffee-maker set as a reward for his efforts.

Not a single tournament entry beat the 34 Gordon produced on his final nine holes of regular play. This total was two under par. Two putts in that nine barely missed their target, or Fred's score might have been even better.

On the other hand, a 15-foot putt that Webb had for a win on the 36th hole stopped only a fraction of an inch from the cup to give him a total score that matched Gordon's.

Gordon, playing with Joe Brown of Des Moines, and Pat Gallagher, teamed with Jim Brown of Des Moines, competed in the pro-amateur best ball foursome play on Saturday but neither duo finished near the top. On Sunday, Gallagher tied for low qualifying score in the first flight with an 81 but fell by the wayside during the second 18.

FIRE RAZES HOGHOUSE AT D. JENISON FARM

Duane Jenison, who farms about two and a half mile northeast of Belmond, lost a hoghouse by fire early Wednesday morning. The flames were not discovered until the building was practically destroyed, so he did not summon the Belmond fire department until about 8:30 a. m.

Apparently caused by defective wiring, Mr. Jenison believes the fire must have started about 3:00 a. m. He had planned to wean some sows in the structure in the next few days, but it was unoccupied when it burned down.

All that remained for the fire department to do, when it was called, was to dampen down still smoldering straw so other buildings would not be threatened.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Heber Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Boone attended the North Iowa Methodist conference held in Fort Dodge last week. Mr. Boone was the official lay delegate to the conference from the local church.

MINISTER AND WIFE HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip DeVries report that Rev. and Mrs. Johann Schmidt of Chapin, who are well known in Alexander through the Rev. Mr. Schmidt's frequent appearances at the local church, narrowly escaped serious injuries last Friday in a brush with a hit-and-run driver.

The DeVries heard of the mishap when they were visitors in the Schmidt home Sunday afternoon.

Returning from Chicago last Friday, where they had had attended the wedding of their son, the Schmidts said they were forced to the highway shoulder by a driver over on the wrong side of the road.

Efforts to escape a collision were unsuccessful, however, and the approaching vehicle struck the front of Schmidt's car and spun it completely around on the road. The minister's car, a new Ford, was badly damaged but the occupants were only shaken up.

ARTHUR H. STOCKSETH WEDS VIOLA UMSTEAD IN CEREMONY JUNE 17

On Saturday evening June 17th at 7:30 o'clock The Church of the Open Bible at Eagle Grove was the scene of a double-ring wedding, when Miss Viola Jane Umstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Umstead of Eagle Grove, became the bride of Arthur Henry Stockseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stockseth of Belmond.

Rev. Lloyd Meyer officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, princess style, with finger tip sleeves and Chantilly lace trim, which offset the illusion net neckline. The skirt of her gown was trimmed with Chantilly lace which also encircled the Cathedral train.

Her illusion scalloped finger veil was set off by a coronet of simulated pearls and orange blossoms. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. White ribbon streamers and showers of pink larkspur fell from the white bible she carried, a gift from her mother.

The bride was attended by Miss Lois Larson, as maid of honor, who wore a gown of white net, with a shoulder veil, held in place with white roses. She carried a Colonial bouquet.

Flower girl was Marie Klingsheim, a cousin of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Stockseth, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Elvira Fischer of Woolstock. They wore gowns of pink net with shoulder veils, held in place with pink roses. They carried Colonial bouquets.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Richard Stockseth.

The ushers were Irwin Rosheim, cousin of the bridegroom and Melvin Umstead, brother of the bride.

The ring bearer was Donnie Meyer, son of Rev. and Mrs, Meyer and the candlelighters were Dick Umstead, cousin of the bride, and Merlin Stockseth, brother of the bridegroom.

Leonard Madison of Goldfield and Miss Elizabeth Porter of Eagle Grove were soloists.

The church was decorated in orange blossoms, pink and white peonies and ferns.

A reception was held later in the evening in the dining room of the Samuel Lutheran church, with 185 guests attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Stockseth left Sunday evening for a trip to Missouri. The bride's going away costume was a pink nylon dress, with a white topper and white accessories.

They will live on a farm near Belmond.

CHARLINE MILLER AND HAROLD ERDMAN WED IN MISSOURI, JUNE 11

Charline Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. C. Miller of Greentop, Mo., and Harold Erdman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Erdman of Belmond, were wed on the afternoon of Sunday, June 11, in a double-ring ceremony performed at the Greentop Christian church. The marriage rites were read by the church pastor, Rev. Perley M. Lind.

Nuptial music was provided by friends of the bride—Marilyn McNutt of Goodell at the piano and Marilyn Ellis and Paul Griesy of Belmond as soloists. Other Iowa friends of the couple who participated in the ceremony were: Mrs. Minnie Koplin, sister of the bridegroom and maid-of-honor; Harvey Ausborn of Klemme, cousin of the groom and best man; Mildred Henry of Cedar Falls, bridesmaid (with Martha Ayres of St. Louis); Larry Schimp, candle-lighter; Dickie Koplin, ring-bearer; and Karen Pringnitz, flower girl.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of white slipper satin with a row of Chantilly lace around a drop-shoulder neck, long sleeves which came to points over the hands, and a Peter Pan collar. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and she wore a rhinestone choker and bracelet. The bridal bouquet was of red roses arranged in shower effect.

The matron-of-honor and bridesmaids wore dresses of frosted organdy, the former's over acqua silk and the latters' over yellow. All carried bouquets of white gladioi. Mothers of the bride and groom each wore navy blue with white accesories and wore corsages of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with a three-tiered wedding cake a main feature of the refreshments.

Immediately after the reception the couple departed on a trip to New York. They will be at home in Belmond after July 1.

June Brides Should See Social Security Records Bear Their Wedded Name

June brides who have social security cards should report their change of name to the social security office in Fort Dodge, George R. Replogle, field representative, said today.

He explained that wage items reported by employers must agree both as to name and number with the records of the Social Security Administration before the wages can be credited to the proper accounts.

A form to report the change of name is available at the Fort Dodge office. The bride should return the form with her social security card. She will then receive a new card bearing the same number but showing her married name.

Replogle will be in the basement of the court house in Clarion on Thursday morning, July 6, from 10 until noon, to answer questions about social security and assist those wishing to apply for benefits.

Tomahawks Down Sheffield, 3 to 0

Taking the measure of Sheffield by a 3-0 count on the latter's diamond last Sunday enabled the Belmond Tomahawks to advance into a first-place tie in the North Iowa league baseball standings.

Belmond's record of two won and one lost is matched by Kanawha, Garner and Rowan. Rockwell has taken one out of three starts, while Sheffield is still seeking its first victory after three consecutive reversals.

Bud Nissen turned in one of his best pitching performances Sunday, allowing only two hits and walking but one man as he set down 14 on strikeouts. He also lashed out a double for the only extra-base hit of the day.

Wes Boller topped the Tomahawk batters for the day, hitting twice in three attempts. The only other Belmond safeties were singles by Walt Larson and Russ Gaetzke.

Alec Just hurled good ball for the losers, striking out the same number as Nissen, but he walked five men and got spotty support by his team mates. Sheffield was guilty of four errors.

In other league games Sunday, Kanawha swamped Rockwell 7 to 1 and Garner nipped Rowan 6 to 4.

All the league teams will make use of next Sunday's vacant date on the schedule to make-up games that were rained out on June 18. The Tomahawks will travel to Rockwell, Kanawha plays at Garner and Sheffield will play host to Rowan.

Summary of the Tomahawk's Sunday game:

Sheffield	000	000	000--0-2-4

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Gabriel Gabrielson entered June 22 for surgery.

Mrs. C. W. Henke of Clarion entered June 28 as a medical patient.

League of Women Voters Sets Up Study Program For Coming Fall Season

Members of the League of Women Voters met last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gene Woolley and laid plans for a program of study to begin in the fall.

The group chose as its national study topic, "Expansion of World Trade and Economic Development Through the United Nations Agencies." For its local study project the league will carry on a survey of the city of Belmond.

Two study groups were formed, one to assemble in the afternoon of meeting days and the other in the evening. The year's program for the two groups will be planned by a committee still to be appointed, and will start in the fall after another general meeting of the league.

Mrs. Jack Shepard, league president, reports that a number of new members paid dues at the meeting last week, adding considerably to membership list compiled from two previous meetings.

ROCKWELL EDGES OUT LEGION JUNIORS, 8-7

Rockwell's junior Legion nine came from behind in the seventh inning to snatch an 8-7 decision from Belmond's junior team Sunday at Rockwell.

The losers, playing their initial game of the season, banged out 11 hits and were leading 7 to 6 before Rockwell's two runs in the final half frame did the dirty work. The winners got eight hits off Don Faris, who tried hard to win his own ball game with a double and a triple at the plate.

Dennis Olson of Rowan, playing for Belmond, led the hitters with three for four times at bat. Ken Norem of Alexander was catcher for Belmond.

This Sunday Belmond plays at Kanawha at 2:30 p. m. and next Wednesday at 6:00 p. m. meets Forest City here.

COMING EVENTS

FRIDAY, JULY 7—

JUNE A MARRY MONTH

Figures from the records of Clerk of Court R. V. Goslin show that June is living up to its reputation as "wedding month" — in Wright county, anyway. Up to the middle of this week, June had accounted for almost half as many marriage licenses as all the preceding five months together. Up to May 31, licenses had been issued to 88 matrimonialy inclined couples. In the first 27 days of June, licenses were made out for 41 altar-bound pairs.

In Peewee Baseball Game Cubs Doyned Yanks, 7-6

Weather allowed completion of only one peewee baseball game last week, the Cubs nosing out the Yanks on Tuesday evening by a 7-6 score. In the second scheduled contest, Friday evening, the Cardinals and Braves had fought to a 2-all tie after two and a half innings of play when rain broke up the proceedings. This game will be replayed later.

This coming Friday night the Cards and Cubs will meet on the high school diamond at 6:45 o'clock as a curtain-raiser preceding a softball tilt between Belmond VFW and Sargent Feeds of Algona.

UNTREATED: Demon Crabgrass smothering the desirable grasses.

New Chemical Compound Will Kill Off Crabgrass

Availability of a new and revolutionary dry-applied powder which kills crabgrass but does not harm desirable lawn grasses was announced today by Elliott Hardware, dealers for O. M. Scott and Sons, lawn specialists.

Developed by Scott's lawn research, the herbicide eliminates spraying, hand-pulling and other bothersome methods used in the past to combat this hard-to-eradicate lawn eyesore. The new material is simply scattered over the infested area by hand or with a two-wheeled spreader and makes the crabgrass plants wither and die.

The chemical is best applied when crabgrass is flourishing, usually in July and August The treatments should be made before the crabgrass has an opportunity to drop the seeds.

BERGHEFER ANNOUNCES PLAYGROUND SCHEDULE

Boyd Berghefer, summer recreation director, has set up a schedule of games and events to be regularly observed for the balance of the playground season.

It will not interfere with the regular supervised play at the city park, but will offer directed activity for certain days during the regular hours of 9:00 to 11:30 a. m. and 1:00 to 4:30 p. m.

On the schedule are: Monday morning—tumbling for boys and girls; Monday afternoon—wrestling for boys.

Tuesday morning — games and races for children under fourth grade; Tuesday afternoon—volley ball for boys.

Wednesday morning—volley ball for girls; Thursday, 2:00 to 4:30 p. m.—tennis and tennis instruction; Friday afternoon—mixed volley ball for boys and girls.

Mr. Berghefer says that teams will be organized for tournament play if enough interest is shown in volley ball.

When Iowa Farmers Start In

COUNTING SHEEP

They End Up With Hard Cash

Last year, Iowa farmers counted up $24,522,000 from sale of sheep as meat animals, putting Iowa in third place in the nation.

Only California and Colorado found the sheep business more lucrative, earning $30,313,000 and $26,784,000. Hawkeye farmers nosed Texas out of third place, which it had held the year before. Texans sold their sheep for $368,000 less than the Iowa total.

Texas sheep raisers produced and marketed more pounds of meat than sheepmen in any other state, but they sold more than half as mutton, which brings from $8.00 to $11.70 per 100 pounds. Texans marketed more than a million head of sheep, and 900,000 head of lambs.

Iowa growers sold more than a million head of lambs, which averaged $23.00 per hundred pounds, and only 129,000 head of sheep. The lamb price was 60 cents above the national average.

California and Colorado also marketed more than a million head of lambs, and relatively few sheep.

Iowa ranked sixth in production, and fifth in marketing, of lamb and mutton. Montana and Idaho produced more than the Tall Corn state, and Montana marketed more pounds of meat than Iowa.

Market prices below the U. S. average put the two western states in fifth and sixth place in both cash receipts and gross income, which includes the value of meat eaten by the producers.

Production of sheep and lambs has been steadily declining, and the 1949 production was the smallest since 1923.

Total national income from sheep slaughtered was $360 million. Iowa's share represented seven percent.

Iowans also realized $2,156,000 from sale of wool in 1949.

WRIGHT'S BOND SALES UNDER 36% OF QUOTA

Clark H. McNeal, Belmond, Wright county chairman of the savings bond division, announced today that total sales of series E, F and G savings bonds during the Independence drive amount to $102,275, or 35.84 per cent of the county quota.

Last week's report showed that Iowa was in forty-ninth position among the states and territories reporting, but standings for this week's report are not yet available.

Total sales fo Iowa, at the end of the fifth week of the drive, crept up to $12,107,759 for 40.36 per cent of the state's 30 million dollar quota. At this period of the drive, the sales percentages for both the county and the state should be at least 55 per cent of the quotas, the chairman said.

Boone county moved into first place with 69.15 per cent of its quota, moving ahead of Marion county's 66.70 per cent. Polk county is in third place with 60.34 per cent of the total quota.

But how Good are you in a Cold War?

This glorious Fourth reminds us that you and millions like you served our country magnificently in war time. No sacrifice was too great—even the final one.

But—what about this cold war? It's something new. The hardest kind of a war to fight the world has ever seen. No bands. No flags. No uniforms. No service stripes.

The way to help win the cold war seems so, well—so ordinary. It consists of being good citizens, full-time citizens, on the Fourth of July and every other day of the year.

Do you vote in every election in which you have a right to vote? Over 45 million Americans didn't take the trouble to go to the polls in the last presidential election.

Do you serve on juries when called? Some people brag of dodging this interesting and important duty.

Do you support good education through your Parent-Teachers' Association? Help make the decisions in your union?—or just go along paying your dues? Ever let those who represent you at the state Capitol or at Washington hear your views on what's good for the country?

Ordinary? No—this is the wonderful way and the only way to keep freedom bright. It is the way to checkmate "cold war" tactics by showing the world an inspiring example of democracy in action.

Our country is calling for 150 million men and women who will be full-time citizens 365 days in the year.

Beginning with you.

EVERY HOME should have this guide to the Rights and Duties of an American.

Do you know your rights? Do you know the nine keys to good citizenship . . . the how and why of each? You'll find all this useful information and many other interesting facts about your country in this handy little booklet. Send 25¢ to the American Heritage Foundation, 17 East 45th Street, New York City.

Are you a full-time citizen? Check here!

☐ Do you find out election issues?

☐ Do you vote intelligently in all elections?

☐ Do you serve gladly on juries?

☐ Do you join local civic groups?

☐ Do you vote in union elections and stockholders' meetings?

Help make decisions that affect your life. Don't let others do it!

Speed of a plane
can save your crop

Stopping first brood corn borer damage requires fast work in June. When you count 50 white egg masses per 100 plants in corn 35 inches tall, you have a leeway of 3 days to treat for maximum kill. If you have 50 blackhead masses, you have practically no leeway. Blackhead egg masses will hatch the same day you see them. You've got to apply DDT before too many eggs have hatched, yet not too far in advance, to get good control.

Young, newly hatched borers move quickly into the plants where they are safe against practical measures of control. The difference of a day might mean good control instead of poor control. That's why the speed of Thompson's planes can save your corn. One of Thompson's planes can cover 500 acres in 1 day.

Experiments show that 2 applications of 1½ pounds of actual DDT per acre give best results on first. Apply the first when you can find 50 or more egg masses per 100 plants on corn 35 inches or more in height. Apply the second spray 7 to 10 days later if you still can find 50 masses per 100 plants.

Measure corn. Count egg masses, both on the underside and top side of leaves. When it's time to treat your fields, call Thompsons. One of Thompson's planes will be on the job in time to save your corn.

5 POINT CORN BORER SERVICE OFFERED

1. For the $10.00 deposit per farm, we guarantee to keep equipment and chemical available to spray your corn. Should you use our spraying service or buy DDT from us you are given credit for the $10.00
2. Airplane spraying service by professional spray pilots in a type of plane suitable for low flying over corn fields.
3. Experienced and trained crews for scientific counting of egg masses in fields which are covered by the Thompson Corn Borer Spraying Contract.
4. $40,000.00 worth of DDT carried in stock at the Thompson plant to insure you a supply. Both college experts and chemical companies predict a severe shortage of DDT. "RIVERDALE DDT", the best of six brands that we used a year ago, is stocked.
5. Tractor mounted and trailer type ground spraying equipment in stock and for sale.

EXPENSE OF SPRAYING PART OF CORN BORER PROBLEM FOR RENTER

With the corn borer threat just ahead, County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman suggests that Wright county farmers who are renting land should figure out with their landlords how to divide the cost of spraying.

Arrangements for footing the spraying bill for corn borer control vary with the type of lease and the general farming situation, and therefor the spraying agreement worked out on one place may not fit the next farm, Bowman observes.

He says results of a survey made at northern Iowa pest control meetings last winter by I. W. Arthur, Iowa State college extension farm economist, show that various kinds of agreements are used both for custom spraying and where the labor is furnished by the tenant or landlord.

Where custom spraying is hired, 95 percent of the landlords in the survey paid one-half of the bill. On the other hand, where the tenant does the spraying work, 65 percent of the landlords on the farms surveyed furnished half of the spraying material and 33 percent of the landlords furnished half of the equipment.

Half of the landlords furnished no equipment for corn borer spraying where the tenant did the work. A few of the landlords on the farms surveyed furnished all of the equipment and 25 percent furnished all the spray material.

These surveys covered farms that were largely under cropshare or livestock share leases, although some of the reports are from tenants farming on a cash lease basis.

While Arthur's survey doesn't offer the final answer for figuring out the spraying bill on any one farm, it does furnish information on the way it's being done by a good many Iowa tenants and landlords.

Farm Magazine Article Tells of Wright Farmer

Bernard Collins of Clarion is among a group of midwest hog raisers cited in an article in the July issue of Capper's Farmer entitled "Hogs Pay Well for Pasture".

"Watering hogs on distant pasture is a serious problem," says a story in the nationally-circulated farm magazine. "Few farmers are so fortunate as Collins, who has five drain-tile wells so located that he can use a fresh alfalfa field close to a well each year."

"He usually has five pastures which come to a central area, like a hub of a wheel. Water is forced to the area and all five lots are serviced."

When Clarence Blomgren sold his auto and implement business at Gowrie recently, he had completed 34 years in business there.

COON

When bricklayers arrived on the job at a new home under construction in Guttenberg one recent Monday morning, they found that a full grown racoon had taken over the fire-place during the week-end. They were unable to drive him out without killing it, until finally Frank Meyer scooped it up in a fishermen's net and tossed it into the Mississippi. After one unsuccessful attempt to make a landing it swam away.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Archie Lee Believes in Farmer Working Out Problems Instead of Leaning on Government

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lee and three daughters

If there are enough farmers 'round about who share the sentiments of Archie Lee, a gent by the name of Charles F. Brannan had better forget the unique agricultural plan that bears his name and head in a different direction.

For that matter, Archie has yet to see a farm plan that makes sense to him. The only time he's ever bothered to comply with federal farm regulations was during the war, when he says, a bit of gasoline was the "come-on". Except for that relatively brief time, he's been satisfied to depend upon himself and take his chances.

Mr. Lee thoroughly disapproves of the prevailing philosophy that the American farmer needs to be subsidized by the government to maintain equality with other economic groups. Not only that, but after a chat with him last week your reporter sincerely questions if anything will ever change Archie's mind on this particular mater.

The Lees just east of Olaf, about seven miles northwest of Belmond. They have occupied the farm for the past 15 years, having moved onto it shortly after their marriage. Archie bought the 120 acres after renting it for about two years. Mrs. Lee admits she "raised cain" with her husband, at the time, for buying it; now she is very thankful that he did.

A blessing in disguise came to the Lees a year after they had purchased the farm. Archie was attending a sale when Mrs. Lee, ironing in the kitchen, noticed smoke rolling into the room. A chimney defect was responsible for the ensuing fire, which damaged the house so badly that the insurance company recommended against any attempt to rebuild it.

After recovering from the shock of losing their home, Archie and his wife set about planning the attractive house they now live in. He recalls, with some awe, that the construction of the home—plus finishing off the upstairs a bit later—cost only $3,200. He suspects expense of the same undertaking would likely run close to $12,000 today.

Of the buildings on the original farmstead, only an old hog house and corn crib remain. Besides the house, Archie has added two fine barns, a modern chicken house, machine shed and two-car garage. All-in-all, it's an decidedly up-to-date farm and the Lee family is rightfully proud of it.

Archie is currently engaged in building a purebred of Herefords, which are his particular pride and joy. He hasn't had much luck in getting heifer calves, so it hasn't grown as rapidly as he might have anticipated when he bought his first blooded animals in 1944.

At that time he acquired a bull and two heifers, all registered. A month later one of the heifers died from a stomach ailment. At present the herd consists of 15 head of breeding stock, including four registered females.

From 15 sows Archie has a crop of 110 spring pigs. They're Poland China - Chester White crosses — with Chester White predominating in their background. He likes the combination.

Poultry is present on the Lee farm in great variety. Mrs. Lee keeps a laying flock of 150 White Rocks and at present has on hand 450 chicks. She also has mallard ducks, some geese, enough turkeys for the family's own use—and a lone bantam rooster. Two "banty" hens have gone to a better world, without leaving behind any offspring.

Mrs. Lee, who before her marriage was Hilda Erdman, shares her husband's enthusiasm for fishing as a hobby. In fact, the whole Lee family gets a lot of fun out of fishing. Mr. Lee's prize catch to date was an 18-pound Northern. Mrs. Lee's best effort was nearly as impressive; she has a 16-pounder to her credit.

Donna Mae, eldest of the Lee's three daughters, has an eight pound walleye to her credit and, according to her dad, is already a really first-class fisherman. She is 14. Phyllis Rose, 11, and Leone, nine, can't report any major game fish conquests so far, but they accompany Archie on outings at Morse Lake and contribute to the string of bullheads.

As to the field crops, Mr. Lee has 60 acres in corn this year—planted in three different hybrid varieties. He hasn't decided whether to spray for corn borers. He is fearful that if all farmers spray to the extent recommended, the reduction in damage may be paid for in heavy losses in the bee population; and he feels that is a risk that should shrugged off lightly.

To sum up Archie Lee's opinion as to the risks involved in farming, he considers that the farmer can protect himself from insect infestations and other occupational hazards; but he's convinced that if the government doesn't stop its increasing regimentation of farm economics, the farmer's REALLY going to have something to worry about.

The Iowa U-Go-I-Go 4-H club met at the home of Edna Retleff on the afternoon of June 20. Twenty-five members, two leaders and two visitors, Mrs. Harry Draves and Mrs. Eddie Martion, were present.

Vice President Joyce Lyons presided at the meeting. Lois Aldrich reported that we would have a cottage at Clear Lake from July 25 to 27.

At the close of the afternoon, Edna Retleff and her mother, assisted by Mrs. Mossman and her daughter, Gladys, served an enjoyable lunch.

Iowa Girls Range Afar To Halter Breadwinners

Brides and grooms in Iowa during the years 1948 and 1949 married at the average age of 24.3 years and 21.4, according to the Iowa State Department of Health.

Where an Iowa bride is apt to find her mate, on the basis of the basis of the two years statistics, was not so easy to determine. Most of the grooms, of course, came from this state.

Thereafter, in order, Iowa gals drew most heavily on Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri and Wisconsin for their breadwinners.

That girls of the Hawkeye state range far and wide in search for the man of their choice was evidenced, however, in the fact that men from every state in the union except Delaware and Rhode Island were led to the alter by our corn-fed husband-hunters.

Members of Farm Bureau Again Asked to Suggest Resolution Propositions

Wright county Farm Bureau members will again formulate resolutions at the grass-roots level. County President Lynn Thompson urges all members to contact the county Farm Bureau resolution committee, township directors or the Farm Bureau office to submit suggested resolutions.

If Farm Bureau is to continue to represent farm people effectively, its policies must be formulated by the largest number of members possible, Mr Thompson believes.

"The Farm Bureau resolutions process is our opportunity to express ourselves. It's important that every member participate," says the county president.

The county Farm Bureau resolution committee includes Raynard Richardson, Clarion; Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Thompson and Rammer Goeman, Belmond; Willis Kurtz, Kanawha; Oscar Holmes, Dows; Hubert Tudor, Rowan; and Mrs. Albert Moellering, Woolstock.

Mrs. Woodley Attending Health Workshop at SUI

Mrs. Leo Woodley of Clarion, health chairman of the Family Living program of Lincoln township, left Sunday to attend the Iowa Health Workshop at the University of Iowa, Iowa City. The meeting extends through Thursday.

Her trip is sponsored by the Wright County Cancer association, Tuberculosis association, Wright County Public Health Council and county extension department. The health workshop is limited to 100 delegates. It is regarded as one of the outstanding health meetings in the state.

IOWA TWP. HOMEMAKERS

The Iowa Township Homemaker's club met June 13 at the home of Mrs. Leo Veeder, with 29 members and seven visitors present. A one o'clock luncheon was served. Roll call was answered by telling something about one of the Iowa state parks.

Mrs. Luther Proeger, as lesson leader, had prepared the following program: group singing; review of the book "I Remember, I Remember" by Mrs. Jessie Aztine; talk by Mrs. Lovell, state nutritionist, on health.

ANOTHER STRIKE

AGAINST THE PUBLIC AND INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE SERVED BY FIVE WESTERN RAILROADS

President Truman's EMERGENCY BOARD recommends a 40-hour week and a pay increase of 18 cents an hour, or $1.44 a day for switchmen represented by the Switchmen's Union of North America.

• Notwithstanding the tremendous increase in their expenses involved, the Railroads' answer to Board is... YES!

Union leaders' answer to Board is.. NO!

In face of Board findings to the contrary, union leaders insist on 48 hours pay for 40 hours work. This would be an average increase of 31 cents an hour, or $2.48 a day. So Union leaders have called a completely unjustified strike on 5 Western railroads, effective June 25.

On June 15, an Emergency Board appointed by President Truman under the terms of the Railway Labor Act recommended the railroads grant switchmen a 40-hour week and a wage increase of 18 cents an hour, or $1.44 for an 8-hour day.

Despite the added financial burden involved, the railroads are ready to accept these recommendations, as they have always accepted Emergency Board recommendations on national issues.

But the leaders of the Switchmen's Union refuse to accept! They demand an average increase of 31 CENTS AN HOUR OR $2.48 A DAY—although their present earnings are substantially higher than those of workers in other industries!

Board Says Demands Unjustified

In its report, the Board declared this demand unjustified by all the evidence presented. It also pointed out that it would give the switchmen an unfair pay advantage over other groups of railroad employes, and would add too great a burden to railroad costs.

Here is another case of a railroad union flouting the findings of an Emergency Board—another case of calling a crippling strike in an outrageous and reckless attempt to force demands which the Board clearly labels as unjustified!

Leaders of the Switchmen's Union are calling this strike in defiance of the Board —in defiance of the facts—and at the expense of the public!

In its report on this case, the Board made this statement:

"The railroad industry, the Board believes, needs above all else a period of relative stability to adjust and adapt itself to present competitive post-war conditions."

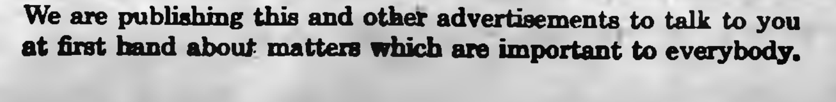
Despite this warning, the leaders of the Switchmen's Union are upsetting the apple-cart—forcing a completely unjustified strike against everybody who uses the railroads.

FIVE WESTERN RAILROADS
AFFECTED BY THE JUNE 25 STRIKE
The five railroads affected by this strike, which goes into effect at 6:00 A.M. local time, Sunday, June 25, 1950, are:
Chicago Great Western Railway Company
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Company
The Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad Company
Great Northern Railway Company
The Western Pacific Railroad Company

It is time to put an end to such un-American tactics!

The Answer to a Raw Attempt At Dictatorship is "No!"

In the interest of the public who depend on the railroads every day, there can be only one answer to this outrageous and dictatorial action by the leaders of the Switchmen's Union. And that answer is—"NO!"



We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk to you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

Corn Borer's One Farm Problem Only Farmer Himself Can Solve

Why, oh why, do a majority of farmers view the corn borer infestation so indifferently? On most matters that generally concern them all, cornbelt farmers are pretty well united; but in combatting the corn borer, only a conscientious minority is engaging in an all-out fight—and the rest act as if just wasn't THEIR problem.

Less than no progress has been made toward whipping the pest. Only six years ago the borer count in this area averaged ONE per 400 stalks. Last year in Wright county the average count was 1,824 per 100 stalks. That means borer population has increased almost 7,300 times in six years. And THIS YEAR five times as many borers wintered through as in 1949!

The U. S. department of agriculture, the Iowa State college extension department, the Farm Bureau and a host of other agencies have done all they can to emphasize the seriousness of the situation. Yet a majority of our corn-raisers apparently remain unconcerned.

It's a situation that's going to get worse before it gets better. And it strikes us that the time has come for total warfare on the part of the farmers, with a resort to every known means of fighting the nefarious borer.

Of course, spraying with DDT is the first and foremost weapon known at present that's capable of doing major damage to the pest. Therefore we earnestly recommend to all corn producers that they adopt a universal slogan . . . LET US SPRAY! . . . And make their actions match their words.

Proposed Social Security Changes Would Give Self-Employed A Break

If a provision included in the recently approved U. S. Senate social security bill finds its way into the new law, owners of small businesses will for the first time have open to them the same benefits they have been helping to provide their employees since passage of the original social security act.

This step has been long overdue, to our notion. Social security survivor benefits have enabled many an employee in the $50 to $60-per-week salary bracket to set up—with the help of personal insurance—survivor benefits for his family that have been beyond the financial reach of a large number of self-employed breadwinners. Equally important, these same employees have been piling up retirement benefits for themselves that the ordinary small business man would find difficult if not possible to match.

The practical, if not intended, effect of the original act was to penalize the man with the initiative to set himself up in business. Whether or not the self-employed approved of their exclusion back in 1937 should have no bearing now. Most of those who were doubtful of the benefits of social security at its inception have been sold on them by seeing social security in action.

We feel that all middle-class economic groups that can feasibly be fitted into the social security program should be included. Certainly the operators of small businesses, who to date have been footing half the bill for their employees, should at least have the option of providing themselves and their families with the added security that the Federal Insurance Contributions Act offers.

Reflections Of An Editor On A Too-Hot Afternoon

When June comes 'round and the sun grows hot,
You sorta quit frettin' 'bout the world goin' to pot.
Your mind meanders and you end up, like as not.
Wishin' you was fishin'.
No matter what you write, and no matter how often,
The Elephant and Donkey will go on with their scoffin'
Politics in gen'ral, let's consign to a coffin . . .
Knock off and go golfin'.
At 10 cents a hole, tho, you'd likely get a rimmin'.
Can't go home, 'cause the gosh durn women
Won't leave a man be when the lawn needs trimmin',
So let's go swimmin'.
Of course, when the sweat drops start to fall
From the tip of your chin, and the traces gall;
The best thing to do, if you're not on the ball . . .
Is nothin' at all.
Things that would rile you on a crisp, fall day
Seem unimportant as the sun's warm ray
Lulls you with the knowledge that no matter what you say,
They happen. It's more fun nappin'.

There's probably more significance than meets the eye in last week's announcement that the Philadelphia mint has closed down its coin-making operations for approximately two months due to lack of demand for chicken feed. What with prices going up and slot machines closing down, nickels, dimes and quarters have lost a great deal of their usefulness.

As the season of fresh garden vegetables descends upon us, we are once more impressed by the fact that while some other varieties may offer more nourishment, radishes stick with you longer.

"They" say the fellow who invented the eraser on the lead pencil died a millionaire. On that basis, society can never properly reward that genius lately reported to have concocted a chemical that simultaneously kills crab grass and harmlessly stunts the growth of lawn grass. Such a boon to mankind would be a blessing beyond price.

4-H District Camp Delegate Tells Of Good Times at Annual Gathering

By Norma Jean Mishler

This year's 4-H District Camp was held at the Methodist camp at Clear Lake, June 14, 15 and 16. Total attendance was 484, including 414 4-H boys and girls and 40 leaders and 20 extension personell from 11 counties.

Each local club is allowed to have two members attend District Camp each year. The delegates from Humboldt and Wright counties went together in two buses.

After arrival and registration on Wednesday, there was just enough time to get situated in our respective cabins and dorms before lunch. After lunch our camp life really began by first having an assembly to get introduced to the camp leaders and the camp organization.

Every afternoon we had free time to do as we liked. The first day there was a very good demonstration near the dock on what to do if you are in a boat when it upsets. It showed that there was no danger if you keep your head, can swim, and remember certain rules. Another special feature was an exhibit of Iowa wildlife. Softball, table tennis, volley ball, archery, swimming, and other sports were also available in the afternoons.

Each morning at 6:15 the camp was awakened by reveille and the signal for lights out and quiet at 11:00 was taps. Each day we all gathered together for the flag raising and lowering ceremonies. Usually after each meal we would have a general assembly in the auditorium.

The programs were always very educational as well as entertaining. They included talks on camp citizenship, farm safety and 'teen-age driving. We were also introduced to Kristien Frus Jensen from Borup, Denmark, who was a 4-H boy there and who is here learning American methods of farming. He stated that all the 4-H meetings in Denmark are held on farms at which both the boys and girls attend.

Each morning we had two classes. The campers were divided into four groups, according to the color of the string which was attached to their dog tags. Incidentally the dogtags were wooden tags with the persons name and county written on it and tied around the neck. These were worn all the time.

In the leather lacing class the project was making a very nice billfold. This class was headed by Mrs. Lettie Zuber, Wright county's home economist.

In metal work we made copper plaques, which will look very nice framed. We each received a water glass in the glass painting class on which we painted any design that we wanted to. The fourth class was an elective activity. There was a choice of swimming (for beginners), social games, photography, and boating (for experienced swimmers only). All the classes were enjoyed by everyone.

Wednesday night we were supposed to have a vesper service outside, but because of rain it was held in the auditorium. The evening service was supplemented by playing social games and watching movies. Thursday night a wonderful time was spent at Bayside.

Two people from each county sported bright green caps because they were reporters. Each county had two. They edited two papers, in three days; I think that was pretty good.

Then there were bright red caps floating around. These belonged to the counsellors. Those caps gave them priority to go to the front of the dining-hall line. Of course, they had some extra work to do, too. One counsellor was elected from each cabin and two from the dormitory.

The meals at camp were wonderful. Just think of having to plan and prepare for over 400 people! What a job! The only drawback was standing in line. There were two of them, but still it's not very pleasant to have about 200 people in front of you.

In spite of some of the poor weather and mosquitos that we had, I'm certain that everybody had a good time and all wish to thank their clubs for sending them as their delegates to 1950 4-H District Camp. Also a thank you to all the people who have been working and planning since last year's camp to make this one the best yet.

BELMOND BOOSTERS

A fine display of livestock was observed last Thursday as 4-H members of the Belmond Boosters 4-H club, leaders and friends enjoyed an all-day tour. The tour got under way at Merlin Holverson's place at 9:00 a. m.

Projects were as folows: Merlin Halverson, two baby beeves; Harlan Nassen, two market litters; Paul Nassen, two market lambs; Betty and Carolyn Schleiffarth, two baby beeves; Beverly and Bud Lerdal, three baby beeves.

Allen Handt, two market pigs; George and David Crawford, two dairy heifers and one market lamb; Vernon McLaughlin, one baby beef; Gilman Soma, one market litter; Mary Ellen, Max, Donavan and Bob McClure, four baby beeves. The projects were not as great in number as in previous years, but were high in quality. Each member told of the feeding ration he used and how he managed his project. Questions were asked by Art Hibray and the club leaders.

At noon we had a picnic lunch at the park. After dinner we chose up sides and had an exciting ball game. After the ball game we finished the tour by seeing the rest of the projects.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Summer Fun

It's good to live in Iowa at this time of year.

Where is there a better place to really enjoy life?

"Let's go for a picnic tonight," says Mary. And there are always plenty of grand picnic spots nearby.

"Let's go fishing," says Joe. And here in Iowa there aren't many folks far from good fishing.

Whatever we like, Iowa has it for us — fishing, boating, baseball, golf, fine lakes, and dozens of other diversions as varied as our tastes.

And, after the ball game, or horseshoes, or whatever it is . . . we have the same freedom of choice in our refreshments, too. Some folks call for a temperate glass of beer . . . some for ice tea, pop, or lemonade. No two people's likes are exactly the same, whether in recreation or refreshments.

That's another good thing about Iowa, where the right of the people to have different interests and tastes is always respected.

McNulty Democrats' Chairman; Crabbe Elected by GOP

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Duan Thompson reports seeing a tiny faun cross Highway 69 in the vicinity of the Tyrrell woods last week. Seems reasonable that there must have been an adult deer or two in the general neighborhood, also; but to date we've not heard of any being seen.

—M-S—

Louise Johnson, the Independent's society editor, bookkeeper, stenographer and general major domo, is much too kindhearted to dispose of kittens by the conventional gunny sack method. Consequently, she breathed a sigh of relief last week when she succeeded in placing a litter of three kittens with a family up at Klemme.

But it seems that Louise has another female cat besides the mother of the litter mentioned. And promptly after the first set of triplets had been placed, along came Mama No. 2 with a three-cornered litter of her own. Once more the Johnson Cat Placement Bureau had to go into action. A kindly neighbor of Louise's agreed to take charge of the newcomers.

That the third Johnson cat is a tom seems to eliminate the necessity for any further placements for the time being, but gives no assurance against future complications.

Any boys in the Independent's circulation area who believe they are big league baseball prospects are hereby notified that their chance to demonstrate will be available July 31-Aug. 6, when the third annual statewide Iowa Baseball Tryout Camp and Talent Hunt will be held.

Sponsored jointly by the Chicago Cubs and radio station KRNT, Des Moines, the affair will be held at Des-Moines' Pioneer Memorial stadium. Enrollees must pay their own transportation and expenses while in Des Moines, but the camp training is free. Last year 1,200 boys from nine to 21 years of age availed themselves of the opportunity.

Ray Hayworth, former big-league star catcher, heads the coaches. Registration forms and instructions can be obtained by writing Al Couppee, KRNT, Des Moines 4, Iowa. A number of boys won Cub contracts through their performances last year and others won a place on the club's prospect roster . . . Do we have any potential big-leaguers around here?

Just how much has the war scare disturbed YOU? If it's got you frightened enough that you want to study up on what to expect when the first A-bomb lands in this vicinity, the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C., shortly will have just what you're looking for.

About Aug. 1, the government printing office will have ready for release (at a buck and a quarter per copy) a little light, bed-time reading entitled, "The Effects of Atomic Weapons". Says the printing office, "The book contains previously unpublished details on atomic explosions" with information regarding "the types of buildings which best withstand the shock and the hazards of various radiations".

Not contemplating the erection of any bomb-proof structures, and being of a mind that if an A-bomb gets us we'll likely remain got, we're not ordering a copy. From a practical standpoint, though, we're glad to see the government charging a price for the tome at which it should be able to break even on printing cost.

—M.S.—

Mrs Jim McLaughlin gave us a call Wednesday to request, "For goodness sakes, take my classified ad on spring fries out of the paper this week."

She explained that she had ordered the ad run twice, but a single insertion resulted in sale of the entire 100 fries she had to spare.

Honest, folks! Those little ol' classifieds in the Independent do a phenominal job in getting seller and buyer together—or vice versa. If you have money tied up in an article and would like to convert it into spending form, a classified will do the trick.

—M.S.—

A note from Dick Elliott, Belmond's Eagle Scout now at the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, reports that a wonderful time is being enjoyed by the 50,000 Scouts assembled at the historic site.

"We're told that if every boy in camp ate two pancakes for breakfast, they would make a stack twice as high as the Empire State building," Dick reports.

That means something to the Iowa boys, now; for they have already done New York as sightseers—along with Chicago, Detroit, and Niagara Falls.

MRS. SHEFFIELD RESIGNS

Mrs. Marie A. Sheffield of Clarion resigned as of last Saturday from her position as deputy county recorder and the resignation was formally accepted by the board of supervisors at its meeting on Monday. Recorder Grace Fletcher says she does not know as yet whom she will select to fill the post.

Local Delegates Take Major Roles In Parley Friday

Belmond Democrats played a big part in conduct of the county convention held last Friday at Clarion. Francis McNulty, county chairman by appointment, was reelected to that post and Neil Flanagan was named secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Arloiene Wilcox of Eagle Grove was chosen as vice chairman.

Rodney Urdahl of Belmond, Democratic candidate for state senator from the 37th District, gave a brief talk on "Potentialities of the Democratic Party in Iowa." He referred to the many accomplishments of the federal Democratie administration since 1932 and emphasized the "vigor and progressiveness" the party has lately shown in Iowa.

"The Democratic party has never been at a standstill in Iowa," Mr. Urdahl declared, "but is always on the move for better state and national government, offering younger and more capable candidates."

W. A. Cressey of Clarion presided over th econvention. The entire convention served as nominating committee to select delegates for the state and judicial conventions, nominating 17 for each meeting.

Mr. Urdahl, Mr. Flanagan and Hjalmar Janson of Norway township composed the resolutions committee.

Francis Arendorfer of Clarion was elected delegate to the district judicial convention. Lillian Greappler of Dows was named district judicial committeewoman and Mr. Janson district congressional commiteeman. Harold Simerson of Belmond was chosen as district senatorial committeeman.

Delegates named to the state Democratic convention were: C. N. Hildebrand, Mrs. A. W. Hill, Mrs. Jane Svendsen, Rodney Urdahl, Francis McNulty and Mrs. J. C. Brady of Belmond; Mrs. Lillian Graeppler and Mrs. Zoe Rummel of Dows; Norris Ulstad of Holmes.

Mrs. Martin Hill, Martin Morrisey and Genevieve Porter, all of Clarion; Hjalmar Janson of Norway township; Margaret Thorn, Mrs. C. D. McVickers and Mrs. Arloiene Wilcox of Eagle Grove. Alternates, all from Eagle Grove, are Tom Kenefick, Mrs. Anita Benedict, J. C. Nelson, Mrs. Jean James and Jelske Cramer.

Judicial convention delegates are: Fred Keraft of Renwick, Josephine Meyer of Dows, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Eliason of Kanawha, W. V. Jones and Mrs. Glenn Broden of Goldfield; Vern Lewellyn, W. A. Cressey and Harry Stanberry of Clarion.

Clarmond Golfers Take Two Prizes

Fred Gordon led a 10-man contingent from Clarmond Country club in tournament play at Webster City last Sunday. The former state champ turned in a three under par 105 for 27 holes —34-37-34—but this was good for only a fifth-place tie and left him out of the prize list.

George Infelt was the only other Belmond entry in the championship flight. Qualifying with a one-over-par 37, he slipped on the final 18 to a 39-40--79.

Pat Gallagher's 40-36--76 figured in a threeway tie for first in the third flight. Ben Birdsall of Dows had a 43-38--81 to share first in the fifth flight with three others.

On draws, Gallagher won a golf bag as second prize and Birdsall a set of woods as first.

Toby Whitman and Manly Baird, Gordon's father-in-law, were in the fourth flight and turned in 42-44--86 and and 41-45--86, respectively. In the sixth flight, Dale Kessler had a 46-42--88 and Dr. A. M. Larson a 45-43--88.

Les Bergman and Mac Jensen made the seventh flight. Bergman scored 46-50--96, and Jensen 50-52--102.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Sprenzel of Elgin, Ill. visited his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Eko Bekker, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertus Stadtlander of Meservey visited his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eko Bekker, Monday night.

Immense Pipe Sections For Natural Gas Line's Extension Shipped Here

Twenty-six inch pipe for use in extension of Northern Natural Gas company's pipeline through this county last week was assembled on the spur tracks at the General Mills plant and is now being hauled out to the site of the project as needed.

This summer's work will extend the line through the rest of Wright county and on up to the Minnesota line, beginning about two miles northwest of Cornelia and slanting off to the northeast.

R. B. Potashnick of Cape Girardeau, Mo., is contractor for the portion of the line through this area. A large ditch excavator, an apparatus for lowering the pipe and another for filling the ditch are now in operation.

Pipe sections are so big that a large semi-trailer is able to haul only six at a time. They are supported above the ditch on timbers while being welded together and are coated with tar and special insulating paper as a rust-prevention measure before being lowered into the ground.

Two Peewee Ball Games Slated for Coming Week

After being idle this week, teams in the peewee baseball league will return to action next week. On Tuesday evening the Cubs and Braves will clash, and on Friday night the Yankees will meet the Cards.

Last Friday, the Cards nosed out the Cubs in a tight contest, 7 to 6. The Tuesday game was rained out after two and a half innings and the Yanks and Braves wil make it up on July 28.

Peewee card for the rest of the season follows: July 18—Braves vs. Cards; July 21—Yankees vs. Cubs; July 25—Cards vs. Braves; Aug. 1—Cards vs. Cubs; Aug. 4—Braves vs. Cubs; Aug. 8—Cards vs. Yanks. August 11 has been reserved for make-up games.

Assessments Now Ready on 3rd St. Storm Sewer Cost

Plat and schedule for storm sewer assessments against owners of property on Third Street N. E. were approved at a meeting of the city council held Monday evening and these assessments are now due and payable on or before Aug. 2.

Payment can either be made in entirety or in 10 annual installments, with the first installment due before the above deadline. The legal rate of interest will be charged against unpaid balances in such cases as the installment payment plan is adopted.

City Clerk Carrie Courtney says that letters will be mailed out to all effected property owners within a week's time, advising each of his particular assessment. City Attorney Roy Henderson reminds these persons that the assessments represent liens against their real property until such time as they are paid.

These assessments are entirely separate from those that will be levied to cover the cost of street widening. Approval of the completed street widening job has not yet been given and Mr. Henderson predicts it will likely be about two months before plat and schedule of the second assessments can be drawn up.

Also at Monday's council meeting the clerk was instructed to prepare an estimate of levy to obtain through taxation sufficient funds to pay proposed sewer bonds in the principal of $8-000. The levy would provide for payment of $2,150 in principal and interest in 1951, $2,075 in 1952, $2,050 in 1943 and $2,025 in 1954.

As an additional matter of business, the council accepted a bid by Belmond Auto company of $2,065.18 for delivery to the city of a Ford V8 truck with seven-inch hydraulic hoist.

ELECTION DATE SET

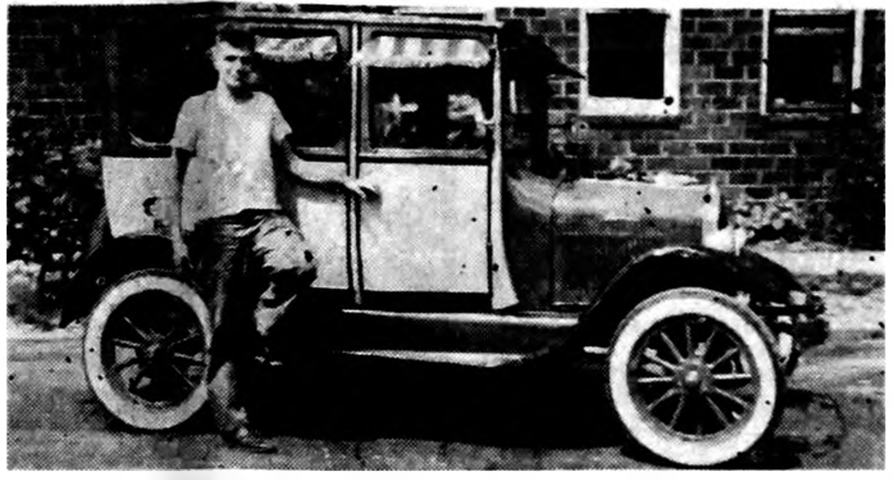
At Monday night's council meeting, August 21, 1950, was set as the date for a special city election to name a board of three hospital trustees to "manage, control and govern the municipal hospital." Nominations can be made by petitions bearing a minimum of 25 signatures of qualified electors.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Koppernagel and family and Mrs. Marie Gabel returned home last Wednesday, from Pontiac, Mich., where they spent a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shepherd and family.

IN 1924 MODEL T FORD

1950 Lochinvar Heads South

TO CLAIM TEXAS BRIDE



RICHARD THOMPSON AND CHARIOT

On Monday of last week a modern Lochinvar passed through en route to Houston, Texas—in a 1924 Model T, no less. His plan, after driving from Minneapolis to Belmond in a day, was to reach his destination in three more days of steady driving; whereupon he intended to take a Houston miss as his bride and continue on to nearby Galveston for his honeymoon.

That, we repeat, was the plan of Richard Thompson, 20, of Minneapolis as he stopped here briefly for some minor adjustments to his chartreuse and scarlet chariot at the Belmond Auto company. His confidence impressed us deeply; but we personally viewed his chances of sticking to schedule as a bit dubious.

Young Thompson got out of the Air Corps last January. He met Mary Gibson, his bride-to-be, while stationed at Houston. He reported that he found it much easier to win the maiden's hand than to obtain possession of his prized jaloppy.

The Model T belonged to an elderly Minneapolis woman who had kept it stored in a garage over a period of 22 years as a sort of memorial to her departed husband. Periodically for four years Dick had been begging the owner to part with her Model T. Early last month her resistance crumbled and for a consideration of $125 the aspiring groom won the car.

It boasted, among its trappings, six tires (which Dick converted to whitewalls with a paint brush), a hand-operated windshield wiper and awnings for the windows. Dick's dad, a bit less optimistic than his son over the dependability of the tires—mounted on stationary rims—bought two more for the collection.

Having averaged approximately 40 mph on the first leg of his journey, from Minneapolis to Belmond, during his stop-over here Dick was viewing the remaining 1,200 miles with a remarkable lack of foreboding.

Regarding those USAF fly-boys, we've heard many a tale of derring-do. For our money, though, Dick's proposed 1,350-mile "flight" in a Model T, topped off by a wedding on arrival, needn't take a back seat to any of 'em for pure audacity.

School Tax Needs Up Small Amount

According to the annual budget of Belmond Independent School district, which appears elsewhere in this issue, total proposed expense for the year 1950-51 will require that $6,217 more be raised by taxes than for the past year. This represents an increase in t.he amount of tax needs from $66,359 to $72,776.

Supt. Don Faris explains that $4,000 of this amount will go into a fund for a new furnace, to be installed in the summer of 1951. A similar amount will be required in each of the next two years to pay for the furnace. Another $600 this year will pay for re-wiring of the furnace room.

In effect, this means that the addition of a new teacher to the junior high faculty and regular salary increases of $100 for faculty members who have been here less than three years and $50 for all other veteran teachers has added only $1,617 to the school's tax needs. Replacement of several teachers by newcomers who will draw lower salaries helped keep the salary increase down to this low figure.

Supplemental state aid, which amounted to $6,684.90 for this year, will be lost in 1950-51 because of the increase in property valuations from $1,323,508 to $2,149,973, according to Mr. Faris.

For accounting reasons too complicated to explain here, this loss of aid will not require added taxes for the current year. However, part of this loss will have to be replaced in 1951 by the addition of two mills to the school levy.

This increase will not entirely compensate for the loss of supplementary aid; the balance will be met by slight increases in revenue from some other sources and through operational economies.

Belmond's Junior Legion team won its second baseball verdict of the season Wednesday evening, downing Forest City 8 to 0 with the help of three-hit pitching by Don Faris.

Led by Don Borcherding, who connected for two hits in two tries, the winners gathered seven safeties. Their scoring efforts were further aided by a pair of Forest City errors. The Belmond nine played errorless ball, a considerable improvement over their game last week with Kanawha.

Meeting Monday Evening At Mack Farm on Grass, Legume Seed Production

A twilight meeting on legume and grass seed production will be held on the farm of John Mack and Sons of Clarion at 6:45 p. m. next Monday.

Ed Dyas, extension agronomist of Iowa State college, will give recommendations on legume and grass seed management. The John Mack and Sons farm is located two miles west and two miles north of Clarion in section 26, Lake township.

The meeting will be in the charge of County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman and will cover spraying of legume fields to increase seed production, pollination by insects, time and method of harvesting and also the drying and cleaning of the seed.

Mr. Bowman believes farmers are interested in grass and legume seed production as another source of income from forage crops and because of the continued shortage and high price of seed.

All farmers are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Bell Arrested On Two Counts After Raid Last Monday

An eight-man party of law enforcement officials raided Hunters Lodge on Elm lake at 10:22 p. m. Monday and obtained evidence that led to the arrest of Manager Sam Bell on charges of bootlegging and possession of gambling devices.

Two state agents, whose names could not be provided by Sheriff Bob Blecker, headed the raiding group. Also included were the Wright county sheriff and deputy, Jack Hanson, Patrolmen Harland Sievers and Al Sparby, Hamilton County Sheriff E. R. Lear and Deputy "Bud" Brandt.

Twenty-nine bottles of liquor were confiscated by the offficers and the following gambling equipment: one roulette wheel, one poker table, one dice rake and 22 decks of playing cards, according to Sheriff Blecker

Bell was heard in the justice court of O. E. McGahey at Clarion at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, after spending the night in the county jail. The lodge manager was bound over to the grand jury on both charges and bond fixed at $1,000 in each instance. Bell was released after the hearing, upon posting the required bond.

Wright Board of Supervisors Continues Among Most Expensive in State on Per Person Basis

Wright county's board of supervisors in 1947 led the boards of all Iowa counties with populations ranging from 15,000 to 25,000 in cost of operation per person in the county.

In 1948, the Wright board lost the dubious distinction of being the most expensive in its population category, in spite of an increase in cost of more than 10 per cent over the previous year. Palo Alto's board cost 68 cents per person; Wright's only 67 cents.

The above figures were supplied by the Iowa Taxpayers association. Computations for 1949 have not yet been prepared by the group—but Wright should be back in there contending for top honors (?) again. Last year the per person cost of the board (based on that 20,038 census) jumped again, to 71.8 cents per person.

In 1948, per person costs of boards over the state ranged from 74 cents for Worth county's three-man board to 14 cents for Linn's three supervisors, with a statewide average of 33 cents. It will be noted that Wright supervisor's per person cost ran more than twice the average.

There are 50 counties in the 15,000-25,00 population range. The board's average per person cost for this entire group was 39 cents. This, perhaps, provides a fairer comparison with Wright's, as the range of costs in the larger counties is low and brings down the over-all average for the state.

Per person board costs for the five counties most closely approximating Wright's 1940 census figure were, in 1948: Floyd 52 cents, Washington 40, Jones 56, Hamilton 40 and Buena Vista 19 cents.

Lowest per person cost in Wright's population range was reported by Cherokee, at 19 cents. Both Cherokee and Buena Vista, like Wright, have five-man boards.

As a general run, expenses were lower in counties with three-man boards than in those with five. The per person cost average for the former—among counties in Wright's population group—was 37 cents, and where five men serve on the board it was 49 cents.

Supervisors draw $8.00 per diem pay for attendance at either board or drainage sessions and the same for committee work. They are paid mileage of seven cents per mile.

It is obvious from average figures for the state that board members in most counties do not find it necessary to put in a five-day week to perform their supervisory duties. This would entail 260 days' work.

In Wright county in 1948, per diem was paid to William Fisher for 270 days, T. J. Henry for 269, the late Alex Smith for 268, George S. Trowbridge for 260 and H. C. Pinkham for 257.

Mileage was paid to the Wright supervisors on the following basis as a per-week average the year through: Henry 186 miles, Smith 165, Trowbridge 150, Pinkham 146 and Fisher 103.

Costs of the Wright county board have increased by more than a thousand dollars in each of the last two years. From $12,022 in 1947 it jumped to $13,349 in 1948. Last year's payments to the supervisors totaled $14,388.

Eagle Grove Man Replaces Kyseth As County Leader

With George Kyseth not a candidate for reelection after serving for 14 years as chairman of the Wright county Republican committee, Maurice B. Crabbe of Eagle Grove was handed the party reins at the GOP convention held last Friday in the district courtroom at Clarion.

The parley attracted 75 party representatives from over the county, which the new chairman looked upon as a fine turn-out for an "off year".

Besides electing the Eagle Grove newspaper publisher as their leader, the delegates named Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser of Belmond as vice chairman. R. Ralph Austin of Clarion will serve as secretary-treasurer and C. C. Christie of Belmond as finance chairman.

Speaker of the occasion was Clark McNeal of Belmond, Republican candidate for state representative from this county. Mr. McNeal gave his viewpoint on the responsibilities of such an officeholder and assured the delegates that if he is elected he will be, in the most thorough sense of the word, a "representative" of Wright county.

On the basis of votes cast at the last general election, Wright county is permitted 29 Republican delegates at both the state general convention and state judicial convention.

Belmond will have six delegates at the state convention on July 21—C. C. Christie, Clark McNeal, Larry Gunderson, George Hansen, Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser and Friend C. Bras. Other delegates are: B. A. Sampson, C. H. Payne, George Kyseth, John A. Tallman, Nels Lindvall, Ruby McBride, Coral Taylor and Elsie Meyer of Clarion.

M. B. Crabbe, Mary L. Smith, Metta Foster, Robert D. Blue, Joe Gunderson, L. E. Wilson, Severt Nervig and Aeline McNaughton of Eagle Grove; Albert Hansen and Howard Stevenson, Goldfield; H. O. Evans and Tony Fisher, Woolstock; J. E. Charison, Dows; Mary McPeak, Renwick; Lewis Tesdahl, Kanawha.

Belmond delegates to the state judicial convention will be C. C. Benson, Jack Shepard, Clarence Kirkendall, Mary Nagel and Bessie Lieuwen. Other delegates to the meeting July 28 will be: Ralph Austin, Robert Kay, Grace Buchan, Leo Littlefield, M. F. Birdsall, Myron Hill, Lucille Mechem, Ruth Thompson, Elva Sullivan and W. L. Meyer of Clarion.

NOTICE

The North Iowa Agricultural Experiment association of Kanawha will hold its annual Field Day meeting on Thursday, July 13, 1950.

The program has not been fully arranged as yet. There will be talks on weed control, corn borers and small grain, also inspection of experimental plots in the field.

Free lunch will be served.

Schrage, Duroc Breeder, Has Entry in Big Show

S. C. Schrage, prominent Duroc breeder of Eagle Grove, has entered a bred gilt in the exceedingly stiff competition of the National Duroc Congress show and sale at Hawkeye Downs, Cedar Rapids, July 28 and 29.

This is reportedly the only truly national event of the Duroc breed and the most outstanding Durocs from the leading herds of every hog producing state of the entire nation will compete for national honors and $4,290 in prize money.

CAPTAIN BANNING DECLARES—

Threading Hurricane's Eye 'Just Another Job'

—TELLS OF WEATHER FLIGHTS

Flying hurricane missions is just another job, if you take the word of Capt. Richard Banning for it. As reported last week, the Belmond aviator is presently visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Banning, while awaiting a new assignment from air force headquarters.

Off and on during a two-year duty assignment in Bermuda, Captain Banning was piloting B-29s into, around and through hurricanes as a member of the 373rd Reconnaissance Squadron.

Looking back on his experiences, his biggest complaint was concerned with the fact that the air in the pressure-sealed cabins was so dry that his skin sometimes would scale off at the conclusion of a lenghthy flight.

Captain Banning says that a plane never has been lost in the seemingly precarious work of probing hurricanes. Sometimes the personnel gets somewhat of a bouncing around as a plane plummets into an air pocket, but other than that the "Hurricane Hunters" missions are routine affairs.

One of the biggest storms Captain Banning ever flew into was the costly one that wreaked havoc ia, and caused damage along much of the Atlantic coast in 1947. That flight was made from Florida.

Also, it was that storm that was seeded with dry ice for experimental purposes. Richard says that the effect of the dry ice—if any—never was determined.

He and his crew flew into the "eye" of hurricane; later they learned that three other air force planes and a navy plane were investigating the big wind's innards all at the same time, at various altitudes. Although the crew of his plane spotted one of the others, they never dreamed that the center was so "crowded" with aircraft.

Actually, there's quite a bit of room in the center of a major hurricane. The "eye" may be 10 to 15 miles or even more in diameter. A really big storm may have an over-all diameter of 300 to 500 miles.

Captain Banning corrected a prevalent impression that all is peace and quiet in the "eye" of a hurricane. It is true, he said, that the sky overhead is clear; but the air is turbulent and the water below is whipped into a froth by contending currents from all directions.

The south Atlantic and Caribbean hurricane season extends over the last six months of the year, with July and November the most treacherous periods. Routine synoptic flights are made out of Bermuda during this time of year; but a large share of the "hurricane hunting" involves investigation of specific disturbances reported to weather headquarters.

When a bad storm has been located, a plane is dispatched to give it a going over. Ordinarily the plane will "box" the storm, flying a square course in the wind area to determine wind speeds, take pressure readings and ascertain location of the center.

Only by daily determination of the center's location can the general course of the storm be charted. The charting makes advance warning possible along shipping lanes and at land points where the hurricane is liable to strike.

Captain Banning says the hurricanes are quite capricious, however, and frequently double-cross the forecasters by varying from the directions and speeds anticipated.

One thing can be depended upon. Hurricane winds above the equator always blow counter-clockwise. But the storm as a whole is steered by the prevailing wind at 10,000 to 20,000 feet and follows no set pattern. At some point, though, they all veer to the west and at this juncture usually reach their greatest violence.

Planes on hurricane missions are expected to keep visual contact with the ocean surface a large share of the time, which entails flying at low altitudes of 1,500 feet or less.

Naturally, the time required to "box" a hurricane depends upon the storm's size. Captain Banning says he's accomplished such a mission in a minimum of three hours. On the other hand, "boxing" a major hurricane may require eight to 11 hours of rather tumultuous flying. Richard added that an average 12-hour flight for a B-29 costs in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Captain Banning is looking forward to his next assignment being for study at some college, if the Korean ruckus doesn't develop into one of major proportions. Enlistment in 1940, after two years of junior college, interrupted his education and he would still very much like to get a college degree.

Legion Juniors Outlast Kanawha Flurry to Win First Victory of Season

Five unearned runs in the final inning left the Belmond Junior Legion baseball team with only a one-run victory margin as the boys defeated Kanawha's junior team Sunday, 8 to 7, for their victory.

Don Faris pitched three-hit ball for the winners and Belmond entered the last frame with an 8-2 lead. At that point things really went to pot for the locals and the host team just fell short of tying the score on four errors and three walks. The bases were loaded when the side was at last retired.

Schultz was the heavy hitter for Belmond getting three of the locals' 10 hits in four times at bat. D. Koenen and D. Boelman each rapped out a pair for the victors. Ziegler, D. Thompson and Baker got the losers' hits, all singles.

Mason City's junior team, winner of 15 out of 19 games to date, will play here next Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. A return game will be played at Mason City on Thursday at 6:15.

Son of Former Residents Loses Life by Drowning

Larry Lobdell, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lobdell of Ottumwa, was drowned last Friday while wading a large pond east of Ottumwa. The Lobdells formerly lived in Belmond and Mr. Lobdell was employed at the Tyrrell stock farms.

As near as officials could determine, Larry had simply gotten in over his depth while wading with his twin brother, Garry. The latter tried unsuccessfully to reach Larry with a pole. Firemen and sheriff's deputies recovered the body from about eight feet of water.

The youngster was a nephew of Jack Lobdell and Sarah Probst of this community.

Tomahawks Stay In Tie for Lead

NORTH IOWA STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Belmond	3	1	.750
Garner	3	1	.750
Rowan	3	1	.750
Kanawha	2	2	.500
Rockwell	1	3	.250
Sheffield	0	4	.000

By trimming Rockwell last Sunday 4 to 2, Belmond's Tomahawks remained in a first place tie in the North Iowa League baseball standings. They share the top spot with Garner, which dropped Kanawha to fourth with a 5-0 verdict, and Rowan, which added another defeat to Sheffield's unbroken string.

Both pitchers, Bud Nissen for the winners and Clark for the losers, were hit quite freely; Nissen issued eight safeties and Clark 10. But nine men for each side were left stranded on the bases to keep it a tight scoring contest all the way.

The Tomahawks played errorless ball, compared to three bobbles by the host team. Both pitchers showed pretty fair control, Nissen walking only two while fanning 11 and Clark striking out 10 and issuing nary a pass.

Bud Boelman, Wes Boller, Nissen and Russ Gaeztke were all good for a pair of hits to lead the Belmond batters.

Bahnser and Fitzgerald each cracked a couple for Rockwell, the latter lashing one triple for the heftiest hit of the day.

This coming Sunday Belmond will play host to Kanawha; Rowan will go to Rockwell; and Sheffield will travel to Garner.

A. L. Auxiliary, Bradley Cooperate in Campaign To Aid Cerebral Palsied

Belmond's American Legion Auxiliary and Gene Bradley, New Belmond theatre manager, are cooperating with the campaign of the Iowa Cerebral Palsy Fund by helping to raise money locally for the cause. Bob Hope is chairman of the national campaign.

Medical authorities state that over three-fourths of the nation's 200,000 child victims of cerebral palsy, commonly mis-labeled "spastics", could be aided by proper treatment and education to lead self - sufficient, productive lives. At present, such opportunity is open to only one out of 100.

A $5,000,000 national goal has been set to give aid to cerebral palsied youngsters Contributions in Belmond can be made to Auxiliary members or left at the theatre, which during the campaign will show a trailer featuring Alan Ladd. The movie short explains that the ailment is most often caused by brain damage at or before birth which makes normal control of the muscles impossible.

Collections will be made at the theatre from this Thursday evening through Saturday.

There is still time to stop severe damage by corn borers on most corn. Best control may be had by spraying twice for first brood borers. However, a certain amount of control may be had by one spraying if done at once. Every day is important now—especially if your fields have not been sprayed once. The difference of one day may mean the difference between good and poor control.

Three Thompson planes are based at the Belmond Airport for quick spraying service. About fifteen hundred acres have been sprayed by these planes in the past week. Ask the farmers about the service these planes gave them.

Check strips left in corn fields sprayed by Thompson planes show eight to ten times as many live borers in unsprayed check strips as in the sprayed corn. One and one-half pounds of actual DDT is used per acre on these sprayings.

Measure corn. Count egg masses, both on the underside and top side of leaves. When it's time to treat your fields, call Thompsons. One of Thompson's planes will be on the job in time to save your corn.

5 POINT CORN BORER SERVICE OFFERED

1. Airplane spraying service by professional spray pilots in a type of plane suitable for low flying over corn fields.

2. Experienced and trained crews for scientific counting of egg masses in fields which are covered by the Thompson Corn Borer Spraying Contract.

3. $40,000.00 worth DDT carried in stock at the Thompson plant to insure you a supply. Both college experts and chemical companies predict a severe shortage of DDT. "RIVERDALE DDT", the best of six brands that we used a year ago, is stocked.

Worker Painfully Hurt in Accident

He was working with a Hancock county road crew which included George Stille, Ben Abbas, and Marvin Bredlow, engaged in grading and tree removal on the road a half mile east of Goodell, when the mishap occurred.

The accident victim got his hand caught under a moving cable. Only by painful pulling against the action of the cable and prompt response of the other men to Paul's shout to stop the machinery was even more serious injury prevented.

Remaining conscious in spite of the extreme pain, Paul instructed his companions to unbolt the machinery to release his hand and the men then rushed him to Steele Memorial hospital at Belmond

All the fingers were severed, the thumb injured and Paul's arm severely strained by his efforts to keep his hand from being drawn still further under the cable. Mrs. Halfpap joined her husband to be with him at the hospital until his recovery was well under way.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Duane Jenison Says Spraying to Kill Borers In His Corn Paid Good Dividends Last Season

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Jenison and sons

Last year Duane Jenison had 40 of his 50 acres of corn sprayed for borers. Because of the "big blow" that left practicallly everybody's corn on the ground instead of the stalk, he was unable to measure how much better the yield was on the sprayed acres—but there is no question in his mind but what the spraying paid.

"The unsprayed corn was a good deal chaffier," Duane says. "It couldn't possibly have produced as much per acre as the portion that was treated."

When we talked to Duane last weekend, egg masses on his corn had not yet reached the spraying stage; and he had not yet made arrangements for spraying this year. Unless we miss our guess, though, he'll end up spraying again this season.

Duane can't put his finger on what he likes about farming. He simply says, "There's nothing about it I DON'T like. Of course, haying in extremely hot weather is something less than fun, sometimes. But generally speaking, I enjoy every phase of farm work; and I certainly wouldn't trade for any other occupation."

The Jenisons have 159 acres three miles to the northeast of Belmond, which they rent from Duane's mother, Anna B. Jenison. The farm has been in the family many years. It was bought well before the turn of the century by Mrs. Jenison's father and for some years was operated by her brother, Henry Borneman.

Duane's father, the late O. D. Jenison, and mother moved onto the farm in 1901. After graduating from Belmond High school in 1929, Duane helped his father farm the place until the spring of 1944. Since then Duane has farmed it himself. It has been home to him for all except eight months of his life, when he briefly lived "up the road a piece." Shortly afterward his parents moved to town, and the young couple returned to the home place.

Although he was allowed only 43 acres of corn for this year, Duane is staying within his allotment. He also has in 35 acres of oats, 25 of beans, 15 in clover and between seven and eight in alfalfa. The rest is pasture.

Stock on the farm includes a dairy herd of seven milking cows—largely Shorthorn, but with some mixture of Holstein. Duane also has 120 spring pigs, which are Duroc-Black Poland crosses from 18 sows.

Duane thinks he has arrived at a good combination in his hogs. For two years in a row he buys a registered Duroc boar, and then for the next two years he has Black Poland boars. He's convinced that these crosses finish faster than average. He never has trouble getting them up to about 250 pounds in six months.

Last year his pigs finished off faster than he had figured them to, and the result was that they weighed a bit more at marketing time than was advisable. This year he's determined to keep a closer watch on them and see that they don't get past the 240 mark, at the most. He simply keeps ground oats and corn in front of them, supplemented by a good, balanced mineral meal, and the pigs take care of the rest.

Duane also has about 20 head of Shropshire sheep. Like many another farmer who's gotten a start in sheep recently, he thinks they're a wise addition to any farm that has a bit of spare pasture. They're no trouble, he says, and the way wool and lamb prices have been he declares there's no livestock that turns a better profit. He intends to keep back enough lambs to increase his flock to about 30 head.

Mrs. Jenison, like her husband, is highly satisfied with farm life. She really works at it, too. Besides "dropping things when Duane needs occasional field help", she put up between 300 and 400 quarts of fruit and vegetables last year, raising all the vegetables herself.

She has in her large garden about all the vegetables the family needs other than potatoes. Both she and Duane agree that there's not such sense in raising potatoes, the way prices have been.

An enthusiastic and skilled seamstress, Mrs. Jenison also makes a good share of her own clothes and does a lot of sewing for the three boys—Roland, who is 11; Lynn, eight; and Jerry, six. When we called on the Jenison's, Mrs. was wearing a dress and apron she'd produced from feed sacks — and attractive pieces of workmanship they were, too.

The Jenison's were married on March 12, 1938, seven months to the day after they'd first met. Mrs. Jenison — then Henrietta Sturgeon—had moved just two farms away from the Jenisons in the spring of 1937.

Although near neighbors, she and Duane never met until introduced by a mutual friends at the Belmond Legion celebration some months later. That whirlwind courtship indicates that the introduction really "took", however.

Belmond Girl Scouts Attending Camp on Island in Clear Lake

Last week the first four of 27 Belmond Girl Scouts scheduled to attend Island Camp off Bayside in Clear Lake enjoyed a week's outing, and this week three more attended the camp, returning home Wednesday.

Margo Gowdy, Carol Ann Leinbach, Sandra Simerson and Patsy Tracy made up the first group; in the second were Carol Chinberg, Mary Alice Studebaker and Betty Eccles.

Vicki Pals, Sharon Dickenson, Anita Downs, Margaret Eccles, Karen Hanson, Janice Hanson, Marjorie Sue Johnson, Joan Kriens, Mary Luick, Karen Meints, Marilyn Nelson, Susan Schmidt, Carol Waddington, JoAnne Shekleton of Greene is camp director. The staff also includes a dietician, Joan Koslosky of Little Falls, Minn.; senior Red Cross swimming instructor, June Stille of Garner; and two senior Scouts serving as camp aides.

Each week the camp publishes a newspaper, "The Island Mirror," which is entirely written by the girls and reviews highlights of the week's session.

All of the girls take part in handicraft classes, get instruction in first aid and swimming, and participate in projects for camp improvement, among other activities. The girls painted the porch of the cabin and made washstands for the rooms as improvement projects during the first session.

The Belmond girls in the first week all contributed to the newspaper, and made such handicraft articles as bracelets, key chains and lanyards.

Wright Soldiers' Relief Fund Expenditures Were $13,729 During Year '48

According to figures released by the Iowa Taxpayers association, expenditure of Soldiers' Relief funds in Wright county during the year 1948 amounted to $13,729.

This represented an increase of 49 per cent over 1947, when $9,202 was expended on Soldiers' Relief—which goes to assist needy veterans and their families. There was a general increase in such relief expenditures throughout the state, but the statewide average increase was only 16.27 per cent.

Of the amount spent from this county's Soldiers' Relief funds in 1948, $2,326 went for administrative expense, or approximately 17 per cent. Over the state, administrative expense averaged 10.88 per cent of the relief funds paid out.

On a statewide average, county expenditures for Soldiers' Relief averaged 20.66 per cent of the amount spent for "cost of poor outside county homes". In Wright county, Soldiers' Relief was equal to 56 per cent of the $24,313 expended through the poor fund.

Survey on Street Improvement Might Start Some Wheels Turning

Although the need for immediate action made it necessary for the street department to apply sodium chloride to reduce street dust, without investigating other alternatives, we hope that a study of the street-improvement problem will not be indefinitely abandoned by the council.

We're quite confident that it will not be. Under Mayor "Andy" Loats, the council has shown every indication that it intends to perform its administrative duties in a constructive and progressive manner.

It has been suggested that the time might be ripe to look into current methods and costs of street-surfacing, not only with a view to finding the best answer to dust elimination but with the possibility of undertaking a program of permanent street building.

For 30 years no street surfacing of a permanent nature has been done in Belmond. It seems entirely possible that quite a number of home-owners might be interested in participating in a surfacing project if the cost should prove reasonable.

Clarion, Humboldt and Garner are among the towns in this general area that have undertaken or are undertaking street inprovement projects on a rather ambitious scale. Their residents apparently felt that the improvements justify the cost.

Certainly there would be no harm in investigating the surfacing methods being currently employed, acquainting the public with the various alternatives and their respective costs, and then conducting a survey to ascertain the degree of interest that might exist in launching a street project here.

It's our guess that a surprising number of home-owners might willingly participate in such a project if it were demonstrated that the cost would fall within reasonable limits.

Fireworks Are BANNED! Remember?

In the years before the public sale and use of fireworks were banned in Iowa, fatalities and injuries resulting from the shooting of fireworks always ranked high among the causes of Fourth of July accidents.

How many lives, eyes and fingers of Iowa children the law has saved is conjectural; but there can be no doubt that many a tragedy has been avoided in the passing years by virtue of the ban.

For that reason it's difficult to understand why a handful of parents still tolerate (if not encourage) illegal use of fireworks by their youngsters. It's no kindness to the kids, in our opinion.

Even Good-Neighborliness Has Its Limits, Says Coffee Committee

Anyone who has followed the U. S. senate subcommittee's investigation into the inflation of coffee prices must by now be convinced that there's a nigger in the woodpile somewhere.

Ambassadors from 14 Latin American countries broadly inferred that Uncle Sam was threatening their coffee farmers with utter destitution. On the other hand, Senator Gillette's committee maintains that the price boost that is costing the American consumer at the rate of $740 million per year is bringing the producers themselves little or none of the benefits from higher prices.

It is the committee's contention that speculative interests are reaping the harvest, and Senator Gillette declares, "We have the facts to substantiate our report and recommendations."

The committee, in respect to the spirit of the "Good Neighbor Policy", plans to reword one or two of its recommendations to salve the wounded feelings of the countries accused of collusive action.

A concession of this nature may be perfectly fitting, but we're inclined to string along with the Iowa senator on the basic issue that neighborliness should work both ways. Even a good neighbor is justified in objecting if the folks on the other side of the shrubbery are taking advantage of him.

Korean Incident Promises No Repeat Of Nazis' 1939-40 High-Handedness

After watching the dismal process of compromise and attrition that in 1939 and 1940 permitted the Nazis to gobble up most of Europe while the United States carefully maintained its neutrality, it is encouraging to see Uncle Sam take a hand in Korea before communistic military aggression picks up any more momentum.

The Russian-inspired attack on south Korea is undoubtedly intended both as a test of the United States' determination to oppose armed aggression by the Reds, and as a test of the United Nations' ability to police the world. The prompt employment of American armed support against the invaders should leave little doubt in Joe Stalin's mind on either score.

It is extremely unfortunate that the gesture must be paid for in American lives—even a handful; but despite this sacrifice, surely few United States citizens will criticize the forthright decision to call Russia's bluff.

Wright County Supervisor Costs Would Seemingly Allow for Economies

In this issue appears a story based on figures released by the Iowa Taxpayers association on the per person cost of county boards of supervisors in this state for the year 1948. It provides some rather startling comparisons, where Wright county is concerned.

For one thing, it reveals that per person supervisor cost in the county was second highest among 50 counties in the group having populations between 15,000 and 25,000

Wright's supervisors cost each person (of the 20,038 accredited under the 1940 census) 67 cents in 1948. Only Palo Alto, with a per capita cost of 68 cents, was higher. Thirty-two counties in the population group have three-man boards and had an average per person cost of 37 cents; the other 18, with five-man boards, averaged 49 cents.

This might seem to indicate that Wright's higher cost could be explained, at least in part, by the fact that it has five supervisors. However, Cherokee and Buena Vista counties, each with five-man boards, were the two low counties in the 15,000-25,000 group with per person averages of 18 and 19 cents, respectively.

Nevertheless, on the average the three-man boards ARE noticeably more economical than those composed of five men.

There is one other point that the report emphasizes, in regard to the Wright county board's cost of operation. For the state as a whole, the average supervisor's pay for committee work ran almost exactly three times what he received for attendance at board sessions. In Wright county, the supervisors averaged more than SIX times more pay for committee work than for attendance at sessions.

Had the per person cost for Wright county's board in 1948 been the same as the AVERAGE for the 31 other five-man boards, supervisor cost would have been $3,600 less; had it equalled the average of the 18 three-man boards, the savings would have approximated $6,000; or had the state ratio of pay for committee work compared to that for session attendance been maintained, our board's expense would have been reduced by nearly $4,500.

None of these amounts are large, it must be granted. In fact, in these days of federal deficit spending, it seems almost ridiculous to make a point of such small potential savings. But with our county board destined after the fall election to possess four new members (counting John Greenlander, who joined the board only this spring, it seems like an appropriate time to endeavor a little economy at the grass roots.

DAVID G. ERICKSON

David Gerald Erickson, son of Alvin Erickson and the late Pearl Erickson, passed away on Wednesday morning, June 14, 1950 at 2:30 a. m. at the Los Angeles General hospital, Los Angeles, Calif., at the age of 32 years and 27 days.

David was born May 16, 1918 in Wright county, Iowa. He was baptized and confirmed in the St. Olaf Lutheran church. He grew to manhood in Kanawha neighborhood, graduating from the Kanawha High school in 1936. He also attended Iowa State college at Ames for a short time.

In the year 1938 he entered the John Deere business as bookkeeper and parts man for Cooper and Willemssen.

On May 29, 1939 he was united in marriage to Enid Foster of Algona. To them two children were born, Kea Rae and Van.

In the year 1943 he formed a partnership with Albert Cooper consisting of two stores, David operating the one at Belmond, where the Erickson family made their home.

In 1947 the John Deere business was sold and on January 2, 1948, he was appointed Wright county auditor, holding this office until April 1, 1949.

In May of this same year he moved with his family to Los Angeles, where he was employed by the Shephard Tractor and Equipment company until his death.

He is survived by his wife, Enid, and two children — Kea Rae, who is eight and Van, five; his father, Alvin B. Erickson, and two brothers, Bernard and Robert, all of Kanawha.

David was preceded in death by a sister, Virgil Ruth, and his mother.

Funeral services were conducted at the Trinity Lutheran church on Monday afternoon, June 19, the Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating. Interment took place at the Kanawha cemetery, with the Boone Funeral home in charge.

City Proceedings

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Belmond, Iowa, June 29, 1950

City Council met in special session in City Hall pursuant to notices published June 8th and June 15, 1950, relative to hearing on assessments proposed to be made on account of storm sewer construction on 3rd St. N. E.; of the sale of bonds for same and of hearing on the issuance of said bonds, Mayor Loats presiding. Members present: Mennenga, Meints, Kennedy, Jacobson; absent, Martin.

Mr. Charles McDowell of Shaw-McDermott Company, Des Moines, Iowa, was present at the meeting and presented a plan for financing erection of a sewer disposal plant; also in the interest of Shaw-McDermott Co. in offering a bid on proposed sewer bond issue.

The Mayor announced that this is the time set for hearing on the issuance of $8,000.000 of sewer bonds and publicly asked if anyone wanted to be heard or object to the issuance of said bonds. There were no objections and no one wanted to be heard. This being the time and place set for the opening of bids for the sale of sewer bonds in the amount of $8,000.00, the meeting was thrown open for the receipt of bids for said bonds. No sealed bids were received. Open bids were called for and the best open bid was as follows: First State Bank of Belmond, Iowa, Par @ 1¼%.

Councilman Kennedy introduced the following Resolution and moved its adoption. Councilman Mennenga seconded the motion to adopt. The roll was called and the vote was as follows:

Ayes: Mennenga, Meints, Kennedy, Jacobson. Nays: None.

RESOLUTION NO. 235

WHEREAS, pursuant to notice as required by law, bids have been received at public sale for Sewer Bonds in the principal amount of $8,000.00, and the best bid received is the following: First State Bank, Belmond, Iowa, Par @ 1¼%,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA:

Section 1. That the said bid of First State Bank, Belmond, Iowa, of Par @ 1¼% is hereby accepted

Section 2. That the form of contract for the sale of said bonds is hereby approved and the Mayor and the Clerk are hereby authorized to execute the same on behalf of the City.

PASSED AND APPROVED this 29th day of June, 1950.

A. W. Loats, Mayor

ATTEST:

Carrie L. Courtney, City Clerk.

Councilman Meints introduced the following Resolution and moved its adoption. Councilman Jacobson seconded the motion to adopt. The roll was called and the vote was as follows:

Ayes: Mennenga, Meints, Kennedy, Jacobson. Nays: None.

RESOLUTION NO. 236

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Belmond, Iowa, that the Hearing on the final Plat and Schedule on Storm Sewer Assessments as proposed and filed by Rowat and Murray, Engineers, be and the same is hereby adjourned until Monday evening, July 3, 1950, at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

Moved by Mennenga, seconded by Meints, that the work of the Watertower Paint & Repair Co. of Clear Lake, Iowa, on the local water tower be and the same is hereby approved and the Clerk is hereby instructed to issue proper warrants in payment of the improvements, in accordance with the Contracts heretofore signed.

MORE THAN A MILLION SPENT IN COUNTY FOR NEW CARS IN 5 MONTHS

Two per cent use tax paid on motor vehicles purchased in Wright county in the first five months of 1950 indicate that more than a million dollars was spent in this period on new cars and trucks.

According to County Treasurer Harold Sullivan, first half use taxes (figured up to June 1) totaled $20,742.45, compared to $18,862.99 in the same months of 1949. The former represents an aggregate purchase price of $1,037,122.50, compared to 1949's total price paid of $943,149.50.

Car registrations at the treasurer's office up to Tuesday of last week substantiated the fact that there are more vehicles in Wright county now than a year ago. The auto registration was 6,594 compared to 6,182 in '49, and truck registration 1,204 compared to 1,184.

This year, Mr. Sullivan says, 265 trucks registered for a half year and in '49 there were 190 registered on this basis. Since few second half fees are paid before July 1, though, they would have little effect on the accuracy of the above registration totals.

GRANT GO-GETTERS

The meeting was called to order by the president Judith Woodin at the home of Jeanine Hardy.

Roll call was answered by eight members, three leaders and one guest, Maureen Nigg. It was decided to invite the Grant Growers and their families to a family picnic at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, July 13, and a skating party afterwards.

Rosann Nigg gave a demonstration on "How to treat a hard-edge chair." Judith Woodin gave a demonstration on "How to make vases out of discarded bottles". Judith Woodin had charge of recreation and Margery Murphy acted as assistant hostess.

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Our note last week regarding the fawn seen on Highway 69 south of town by Duan Thompson brought us several phone calls in regard to its possible parentage. Mrs. W. E. Linaweaver reported that her husband has frequently seen a pair of deer on their farm, five miles south and two east of Belmond.

Mr. Linaweaver couldn't say whether the pair consisted of a buck and a doe, but he was reasonably sure that they had taken a fancy to what he's been putting out as cattle feed.

Mrs. Luther Proeger, Sr., added the information that a doe had been seen sharing chicken feed with her flock. Ralph Wendel also as seen a pair of deer southeast of town. He is quite certain they were a male and female.

Elaine Schmidt, clerk for the Local Selective Service Board at Clarion, reports that a 20-year-old Belmond youth came to the office last Saturday to register for the draft.

A little over two years late in doing so, he explained that he had inquired in several Belmond business places as to whether it was still necessary to register and had been assured that the draft was "over".

One of the places he DIDN'T call was on the Independent office—or we could have given him a better steer. We suspect that Uncle Sam is going to be taking rather a severe attitude toward failure to register since the recent turn of events and urgently suggest that other young men coming up to 18 make sure that they get the job done before five days have passed following the crucial birthday.

Bob Agee, columnist for the Denison Bulletin, reports overhearing a remark that will undoubtedly bring forth a responsive "amen" from many a Belmond sales clerk who has been tried to the breaking point by exasperating customers on a hot Saturday evening.

"A tired clerk in a local store',, tells Mr. Agee, "said late Saturday that he wants to quit and join the police force. 'I'd like to work at some job where the customer is always wrong,' he said wearily."

We've rarely gotten involved in any situation more complicated than that of keeping up to date on who is president of the county American Legion Auxiliary.

You may recall that we once reported Mrs. Veronica Barry of the local unit was scheduled for election to the post this spring. We were victims of a foul when the Woolstock unit unexpectedly agreed to provide the president, after previously rejecting the responsibility.

So . . . a Woolstock member took over the job. Then, as we hear it, she got "cold feet" over the prospect of shouldering the burdens of the office and resigned. Briefly, it looked once more as if Mrs. Barry was going to be "it". Then the electee was was talked into withdrawing her resignation and once more assumed the presidency.

That was several days ago, and what has transpired in the meantime we have no idea. Fact of the matter is, we're rapidly losing interest. We've decided to let the matter rest until the end of the year—then maybe we'll be able to advise you who WAS president for the term. The whole thing has us a little nervous.

—M-S—

Tuesday evening 15 bankers and newspaper men from over the county were guests of the Wright County Soil Conservation Commissioners at a sumptuous steak dinner at the Clarion Grill. The admitted purpose of the occasion was to make missionaries out of the guests to help further the cause of soil conservation in this county.

By the time your editor had worked his way through the delicious repast, he found himself an easy mark for the arguments of the speakers who followed. We've decided that the conservationists could teach the communists a thing or two in regards to effective propagandizing.

All foolin aside, though, the brief for sound soil conservation practices is most convincing. Bob Locke, farm planter for the commission, has promised to take your editor on a "guided tour" of this area Friday afternoon to point out important do's and dont's of soil conservation. We'll give you the inside dope next week.

A total of $43.59 was contributed by patrons of the New Belmond theatre last Thursday through Saturday to the Iowa Cerebral Palsy fund. The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored the campaign locally and members of the Junior Auxiliary made the collections at the theatre.

SALE SLATED FRIDAY

W. C. Westaby of Alexander advertises in today's issue a public auction of household goods to be held at his residence—which he recently sold—on this Friday afternoon, starting at 1:30 p. m.

Three Young Men Picked Up Friday For Car Pilfering

Solution to a number of auto pilfering cases was reached last Friday with the arrest of three 17-year-old Belmond youths by Dale Walrod, day marshal.

Raymond Sassman and a companion, presently in the air force but home on furlough, were picked up when loot was found in the latter's car shortly after Jerry Jordon had reported missing some items from his auto.

In the course of questioning, George Eekhoff was implicated in other thefts Sassman had been involved in. Another youth, now in the army, was likewise implicated but the authorities are placing no charges against him.

Since the mayor's court has no jurisdiction over juvenile cases of the kind involved, Mayor A. W. Loats and City Attorney Roy Henderson requested Sheriff Bob Blecker to come over from Clarion and take charge of the boys.

Sheriff Blecker questioned the three in custody and recovered — mainly from the Eekhoff farm premises — a number of articles stolen from cars over a period of weeks by Eekhoff and Sassman. Included was a variety of accessories, two batteries and a generator.

The airman had been involved in none of the other dealings and was released. On Saturday the sheriff took the other pair to Clarion and Eagle Grove to be questioned by the police of those communities. The youths had admitted thefts in those communities and also in Klemme.

Sassman, who was on parole from Eldora State Training school, was returned for parole violation.

He had been committed as a juvenile delinquent in November of 1948, following a chicken-stealing episode. He had also been heard earlier in that year on a theft charge, but had been released at that time.

Eekhoff has been placed in custody of his parents, pending hearing before Judge G. R. Hill in juvenile court the first week in September. He had been on the carpet earlier this year as one of a gang accused of vandalism, after a number of school houses in this vicinity had been entered and outdoor toilets upset and damaged.

Safety Congress Organization Set For 21st of July

Between 150 and 200 civic leaders from communities in Wright county have been invited to assemble at the courtroom in Clarion on July 21 for the purpose of organizing a county chapter of the Iowa Safety Congress.

The congress, described in some detail in a story on the front page of the second section, has been founded for the purpose of reducing accidental injuries and deaths throughout the state.

Rev. William B. Gamble of Clarion is chairman of the county committee, Sheriff Bob Blecker is vice chairman and Attorney Robert Kay of Clarion is secretary.

At the meeting a week from Friday, starting at 7:30 p. m., vice chairmen will be appointed to supervise activities in nine different fields of safety. The general public is cordially invited to attend, as well as those to whom specific invitations have been issued.

Sheriff Blecker expresses the belief that the Safety Congress can perform an extremely useful function in Wright county, in pointing out and eliminating accident hazards and encouraging avoidance of risks that could lead to mishaps.

All of the organization officers urgently request a big turn-out at the meeting so the safety campaign in this county can be effectively launched in the very near future.

THREE FROM BELMOND ENLISTED ON TUESDAY

Three Belmond youths, believing they could see handwriting on the wall, joined with 48 other Iowa young men in enlisting for military duty Tuesday as recruiting offices at Des Moines had one of their biggest days in some time.

Verdell R. Wagner, 18, enlisted in the army; Robert O. Benson, 22, and Roy Hardwick, 19, joined the air force.

Benson, who has been working on a farm, expressed the general opinion of most of the enlistees when he told interviewers he felt he would "certainly be drafted this fall. There was no reason to stay out of it."

Brewers Sell Restaurant On West Main To H. Halls

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall, former Belmond cafe proprietors in partnership with Mr. Hall's father, Lyle Hall, have purchased the restaurant on west Main street lately known as Brewer's Cafe and are now operating it as Hall's Cafe.

The eating place re-opened for business on Tuesday after the interior had been completely redecorated and repainted.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brewer, previous proprietors of the cafe, sold out to the Halls recently because of Mr. Brewer's ill health. The Brewers had been in the cafe business here for more than 20 years.

Belmond's Scouts Win Camp Honors

Twenty-three Belmond Boy Scouts and their leader, Glenn Eccles, did themselves proud during last week's session at Camp Roosevelt, Winebago Council camp at Clear Lake. As a group they earned a "Good Camping" citation, and individually the boys could boast of a variety of accomplishments.

At the Court of Honor on Saturday night, Paul Oberhauser and Jerry McMurray advanced to First Class rank and six boys were promoted from Tenderfoot to Second Class—Jerry Dorr, Bob Barry, LeRoy Smith, George Hardwick, Jim Gealow and Pat Smith.

Kenneth Eccles and Paul Oberhauser completed the first portion of their initiation into the camp's "New Guard", which recognizes outstanding camping ability. They must return for a weekend in September to complete the initiation.

Steenblock qualified for a First Class Marksman certificate from the National Rifle association, and Oberhauser and Kenneth Eccles for the title of "Marksman". "Pro Marksman" certificates went to Charles Johnson, Stadtlander, Gealow, Smith, Jacobson and Verlyn Frohling.

Larry Flanagan and Arlyn Frohling, although not among the award winners, were members of the Belmond delegation and made their contributions to the week's activities.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

The St. John Lutheran Ladies Aid is sponsoring an ice cream, cake and pie social Saturday evening. It will be on the church lawn from 8:00 until 10:30.

Thompson's Calls For Detasselers

That midsummer is once more upon us is vouched for by the fact that the annual call for detasselers was issued this week by Thompson Hybrid Corn company. Detasseling work is expected to get underway about a week from Monday, July 24, according to R. B. Thompson.

Some 500 workers will be required this year, the company president says.

Since nearly one half of this number has already been signed up, it behooves would-be detasselers to declare their interest promptly to be assured of crew work.

Wages of 60 cents an hour will be paid, with a 10-cent an hour bonus going to those who are on the job till the end of the detasseling season. Mr. Thompson expects the work will extend over two and a half weeks.

Workers can sign up at the Independent office or the office of the corn company, on Highway 69. Applicants in the Goodell neighborhood can sign for work at Dempsey's cafe.

Mr. Thompson reports that all of the hybrid corn has been sprayed for corn borers once, and that this week second spraying for the first crop of borers was well near completion.

Former McAlpine Home Bought by L. W. Murray

Laurence Murray of Rowat and Murray Engineers has purchased the residence of the late Josephine McAlpine at the west end of Main street, adjacent to the river, with a view to construction of office headquarters for the firm on the property at some future time.

It is his immediate plan to have a three-car garage constructed on the lot for the trucks of the engineering concern, and the house will be remodeled to provide space for the firm's design and drafting section.

Design and drafting offices at present are located in quarters over the Mello Maid ice cream shop; but Dana Howell, owner of the building, has plans for the present office space and has requested that it be made available as soon as convenient.

Drive-In Stand to Serve Free Root Beer Saturday

Free, frosty root beers are promised to all customers by Reynold Kinseth, Jr., from noon to closing time this Saturday, as he officially opens his Drive-In refreshment stand on Highway 69, across from the General Mills office.

Car service will be offered by the stand, which will carry sandwiches, malts, sundaes, french fries, and a variety of cold drinks, including root beer and root beer floats.

Sensational New Soil Builder Undergoing Field Tests Here

Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn company is one of the two Iowa hybrid corn producers currently pioneering in the use of an entirely new type of fertilizer, impressively named "anhydrous ammonia".

A carload of the new chemical, which is 81 per cent pure nitrogen, was purchased on shares by Thompson's and the Carlson Hybrid Seed Corn company of Audubon.

In this vicinity this week 100 acres of corn, including Thompson inbred seed stocks, some of the company's seed fields and patches in individual farmers' fields, was treated with anhydrous ammonia.

Other than what similar fertilizing has been done on Carlson fields, previous application of the chemical had been limited to experimental work.

Emerging from a tank on a cultivator attachment as a gas, the ammonia is applied under pressure and shoots from troughs into the soil about four to five inches under the surface.

Thompson's applied 100 pounds of anhydrous ammonia per acre. Experimental tests indicate that two pounds can increase corn yield by as much as one bushel.

At the rate of application employed, the yield in the treated fields would be 50-bushels per acre greater than otherwise could have been expected.

Under this method of fertilizing, an additional bushel of corn could be produced for 26 cents—including cost of buying and applying the chemical—if it lives up to its reputation.

However, tests on the fertilizer were reportedly conducted on nitrogen-starved southern soil, so its performance on the richer land of Iowa may fall considerably short of the test results.

Needless to say, check rows have been left so accurate measurement can be made of the actual performance of the new fertilizer on the fields which Thompson's has treated.

R. B. Thompson, company president, will be watching the results with great interest. He admits that if the anhydrous ammonia is as effective a fertilizer as it's reputed to be, it could lead to future bumper crops that would make those of the past fade to insignificance.

Head of Local County Draft Board Outlines Selective Service Provisions Under New Law

"Provisions of the extended Selective Service Act concerning registration and other obligations of men after they become 18 years old are identical with provisions of the Act before extension."

H. V. Schoonover of Eagle Grove, chairman of the Wright County Selective Service Board, made that statement today as many inquiries were received since presidential approval of the act.

The principal difference between the old act and the extended act, Mr. Schoonover pointed out, is contained in the new provision giving the president authority to order any or all units of the National Guard and reserve components into active duty for 21 months within the personnel strengths provided for in the act.

"The extended Selective Service Law, like the 1948 Act, requires registration of all young men within five days after their eigteenth birthday," Mr. Schoonover said.

"All the young man has to do is present himself to the local board or registration place designated in that particular area most convenient to the place he happens to be when he becomes 18. Also, if he should have registered, but failed to do so, he should immediately comply with the law."

The place of registration normally is the local board office, which for Wright county is located at Room 10, in the Post Office building at Clarion, and is open from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. on Saturday of each week and 8:00 to 12:00 Wednesday morning.

Mr. Schoonover pointed out that a youth cannnot be inducted under the act until the age of 19 is reached, but he emphasized the obligation to register at 18. All men between that age and 26 must be registered.

The permanent home address should be given to registration officials, Mr. Schoonover said. For this purpose "home" is the place with which the registrant normally identifies himself and at which he would wish to be classified.

Mr. Schoonover added that the law is also specific in its requirements concerning obligation of a registrant to keep his local board informed as to any change in his address — where he may be reached by mail, that is—or change in his status or employment under the Act.

"That applies after the registrant becomes 26 as well as before," Mr. Schoonover said.

After the registrant is classified, he is mailed a notice of classification. If he believes his classification unfair, he has 10 days in which to appeal, from the date of mailing of the notice.

IRENE McMANUS PAYS 100 DOLLARS FINE FOR BEER SALE TO MINOR

Irene McManus, proprietor of Irene's Place, on Monday morning before Mayor A. W. Loats was fined $100 and costs on a charge of selling beer to a minor.

Mrs. McManus was arrested on Wednesday of last week by Day Marshal Dale Walrod when he discovered a 17-year-old being served beer in the tavern. A preliminary hearing was held in mayor's court on Friday, at which the defendant pleaded not guilty.

In the second hearing on Monday, Mrs. McManus appeared with Martin H. Morrissey, Clarion attorney, as counsel. After several witnesses had been heard, Mayor Loats declared the defendant guilty and levied the $100 fine.

Other cases heard lately in mayor's court and not previously reported involved payment of a $2.50 fine and costs by Lyle Fish, paving gang laborer, on a charge of speeding; and a similar fine by Albert Hood of Belmond on a charge of driving with defective brakes.

GMI Tied for 1st After Win Monday

SOFTBALL STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Elliott's	5	1	.833
GMI	5	1	.833
Mello Maid	3	2	.600
Helland-Long	3	3	.500
VFW	1	4	.200
John Deere	0	6	.000

General Mills softballers, who had pursued Elliott's throughout the first half of the city league season which concluded last week, made an occasion of the start of the last half by trimming the hardware team Monday night to pull into a first-place tie.

Not only did the GMI boys win; they did it in decisive fashion, by an 8-to-4 margin. The spectators, in the majority, were very audibly pulling for Elliott's. But the millers' bats held the answer to that, too.

In the Monday evening opener, Helland and Long kept fourth place and shoved John Deere further into the cellar by trimming Farmers Implement, 15-4. On Thursday of last week Mello Maid jumped into third place by whipping Helland and Long by an 8-4 count.

On this Thursday evening, Mello Maid tangles with VFW and Helland and Long is tentatively scheduled to clash with Kanawha in a non-league game. Monday night's games will see Mello Maid opposing Elliott's in a crucial contest and John Deere will seek its first win against VFW.

Clarmond Club Will Hold Family Dinner on Sunday

Second all-family social event of the Clarmond Country club season is scheduled for next Sunday evening, when a pot-luck supper will be held starting at 5:30 o'clock.

Each family is resquested to bring a covered dish, table service sufficient for its members and sandwiches.

There will be movies to entertain the youngsters, and, if weather permits, putting contests for both men and women.

Gordon Defeated In Second Round

Fred Gordon failed in his attempt to recapture the Iowa amateur golf title, which he won in 1947, losing a second round tournament match at Mason City Tuesday by a one-down margin. He had qualified for the championship bracket with a 77.

In his first round match in the morning, Fred nosed out Willis Patton of Mason City, one-up, shooting a one-under-par 71 to do it. It was another Mason City golfer, Lyle Humphrey, who upset the ex-champ in the afternoon.

Gordon and Humphrey halved nine consecutive holes at the outset. The victor pulled ahead two holes by taking No. 10 and 13; but Gordon evened things up by grabbing No. 14 and 16. Humphrey won 17 with a birdie and the issue was settled when both the men paired 18. Fred had a 75 for the round.

Three other Belmond golfers played in the tournament. Jack Lansing made the first flight with an 83 qualifying round but lost his initial match. George Infelt qualified with an 86 and also lost his opening match, in the second flight. Dale Kessler, an 89 qualifier, won his second flight match Tuesday to be the only Belmond survivor.

SID SWENSON SELLS AUTO-ELECTRIC FIRM

Sid Swenson announced today the sale of the Swenson Auto Electric service to Daryl Leeth, formerly of Waverly. Mr. Leeth is an experienced electrician, having grown up in the garage and auto electric service business operated by his father.

Swenson has been in business here during the past 30 years, the last 17 for himself in his present location. His plans for the future are yet indefinite.

Leeth will assume possession sometime between the middle of August and the first of September. He is married and has a son, age 18 months.

The Leeths will move to Belmond from Forest City, where they are now residing following sale of his business at Waverly, as soon as living quarters can be found.

EAGLE GROVE LEGAL FIRM ENTERS APPEAL ON TAX ASSESSMENT

On Monday of this week the Eagle Grove law firm of Blue and Blue filed an appeal in district court, protesting partial rejection of a petition the firm had submitted to the county board of review. The court appeal was dated June 27, but was filed July 10.

Robert D. Blue and Russell C. Blue, partners in the firm, had asked the board for reduction of the assessed value of the partnership's law library and office equipment.

Original taxable value placed on the law library was $600 and on office equipment and fixtures, $945. The board reduced the taxable value of equipment and fixtures to $600, but left the library evaluation at the original amount.

The case will be heard in district court during the September term.

"Have A Heart" Tag Drive Sales Will Help Needy

Annual "Have a Heart" tag day of the Volunteers of America will be held in Belmond this Saturday, with school children of the upper four or five grades acting as solicitors.

Florence Baxter, chairman of the fund campaign, announces that the event has the official sanction of Mayor A. W. Loats and its local sponsors are, besides the mayor, Supt. Don Faris, Rev. and Mrs. J. Heber Miller, Rev. and Mrs. A. B. McKeith and Mrs. Doris Nelson, school board secretary.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the leading tag salesmen and the solicitors will be presented with free passes to a show at the New Belmond theatre through the generosity of Manager Gene Bradley. The youngsters will be permitted to make solicitations only on the streets.

A number of school children have been invited by postcard to participate in the tag day. Any not contacted, but who would like to sell tags, are cordially invited to report at the city hall headquarters and get supplies.

Proceeds from tag day sales help support the welfare department of Volunteers of America which, according to Miss Baxter, every year comes to the aid of families victimized by a wide variety of domestic misfortunes.

Tonsilectomies for needy children, financial assistance for poor families tragically stricken by sickness or deaths, charitable help for impoverished invalids — all such worthy needs and a multitude of others are met through the Volunteers' welfare fund, says the local campaign director.

Because proceeds from the tags each year eases so many burdened with distress, Miss Baxter urges all in the community to support the Volunteers' local drive—"Have a heart; and wear it proudly."

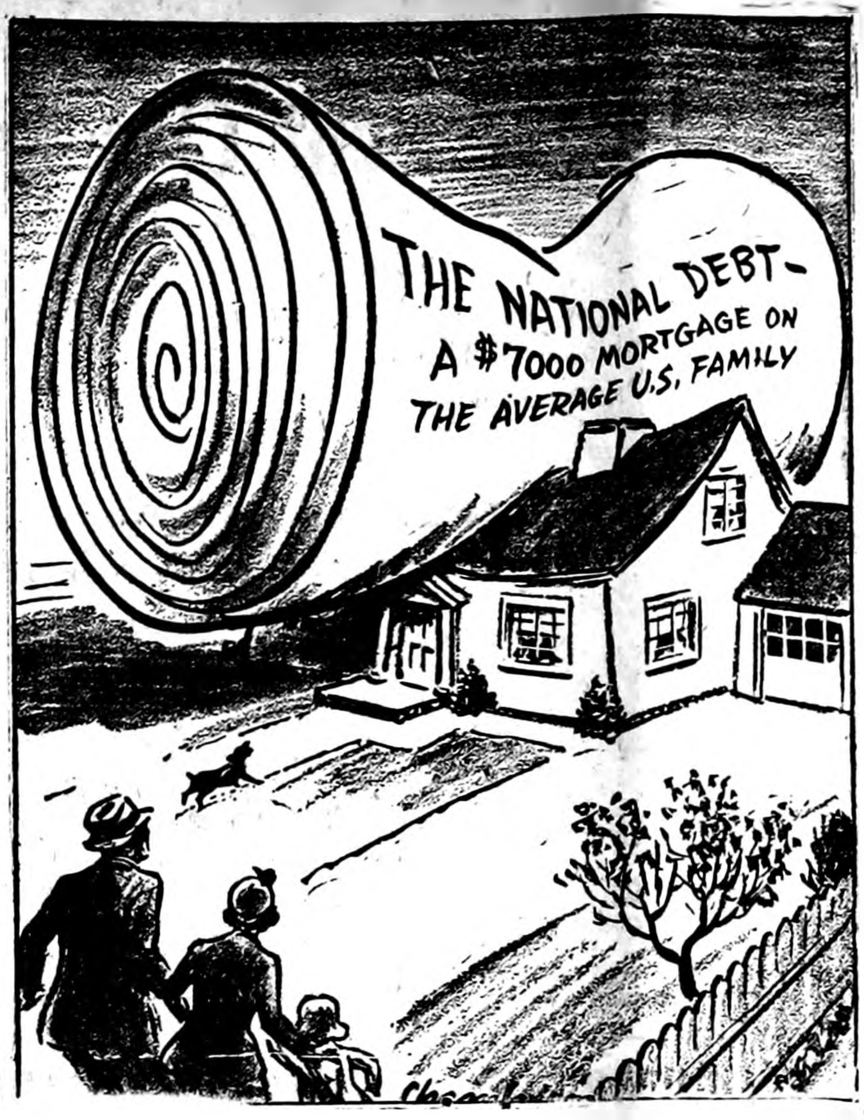
"Best Fed Nation"

"It is time to dispel the notion that America is the best fed nation," says Dr. Glen King, scientific director of the Nutritional Foundation. "It is because the food habits of many Americans are so poor that we don't make use of what we have." Dr. King points out that some of the results of poor food habits are lesions of the tongue, lips, gums, eyes, and skin, subnormal blood formation and goiter in 20 per cent to 40 per cent of high school children in many communities.

IF IT COULD BE SEEN!



Maternal Mortality Rate

In 1947 the United States had a maternal mortality rate of 1.3 per 1000 live births, the lowest on the list. Sweden ranks second with a rate of 1.5 in 1943; France had a rate of 1.6 in 1942; England and Wales had a rate of 1.6 in 1944, and Denmark had a rate of 1.8 in 1944.

Tea Drinking Habits

The Chinese and Japanese usually take their tea in small cups, the Russians in big glasses, and the Bedouins of the desert in small glasses, but brewed strong, hot, and bitter-sweet. The Americans are credited with inventing iced tea, one of summer's pleasantest refreshments.

Bad Ninth Frame Beats Tomahawks

One bad inning cost the Tomahawks a win over Kanawha on the local diamond Sunday and cost the Belmond team its share of first place in the North Iowa league standings. The locals led 2-1 going into the ninth and had two men out when a hour-hit uprising by the visitors settled the issue by a 4-to-2 score.

Bud Nissen had pitched five-hit ball up to the fatal last frame, while the Tomahawks had collected eight hits.

Belmond missed a chance to score in the sixth when Max Spain tried to stretch a double and was tossed out at third. Bud Boelman immediately followed with a double of his own, but never got home.

In their half of the sixth, Kanawha tallied the first run when a single by L. Knoll was followed by a walk and another single by J. Larson.

The Tomahawks came back in the eighth on hits by L. Gaetzke, Spain and Boelman, which produced two runs and a 2-1 lead. That looked good when Friedow fanned and Larson was out at first to open Kanawha's final time at bat.

But Goodnow hit safely, Maynard was hit by the pitcher, Hill smacked a pinch single and Thompson and Johnson followed with one-baggers to smash the Tomahawks' hopes of retaining a first-place tie in the loop.

Garner and Rowan now are deadlocked at the top of the league standings. The former walloped Sheffield last Sunday, 11-2, while Rowan nipped Rockwell, 5-4.

This coming Sunday all the teams will meet the same opponents as last Sunday. Belmond will seek revenge at Kanawha, Rockwell goes to Rowan and Sheffield plays host to Garner.

Sunday's summary:

Belmond 000 000 020—2-8-0
Kanawha 000 001 003—4-9-1

Miss Moore Success in TB Campaign

Good progress in the current search for unknown tuberculosis cases in Wright county is reported by Alice Moore, R. N., of Clarion, public health nurse.

"The most gratifying part of this search," declared the nurse, "is the splendid response of residents of this county to our suggestion that they have tuberculosis skin tests and, if necessary, chest x-rays."

At the request of family physicians, Miss Moore has been visiting persons who, according to State Health Department records, have had close contact with cases of tuberculosis; and other persons they wish to have checked.

Commented Miss Moore, R. N., "We are trying to find unsuspected cases of tuberculosis at an early stage when there is the greatest opportunity for cure."

DDT Will Help Control Earworms in Sweetcorn

Earworms in sweetcorn can be controlled by applying a 10 per cent DDT dust to corn silks just as they are beginning to wilt, says Wright County Extension Director Aaron A. Bowman.

Since sweetcorn in a patch will be at various stages of silk development, it is necessary to dust every two or three days until all silks are brown and dry, he says.

Adult moths lay eggs on fresh corn silks but some chemicals are injurious to new silks. That's why Iowa State College Extension Entomogolist Harold Gunderson recommends dusting only those silks that are wilting. Young worms crawl through the silk and eat the DDT.

Wright county gardeners will need to use 15 pounds of 10 per cent DDT dust per acre of sweetcorn.

IOWA U-GO-I-GO

A flower show and a mothers tea was held in the community room at Rowan by the Iowa U-Go-I-Go 4-H club, uly 1. Twenty-one guests were present. Vice President Joyce Lyons was in charge of the meeting. Roll call was answered by 24 members. The 14th of Augusth was set for Achievement Day.

Kay Whitten and Barbara Martin, assisted by Joyce Mrtin and Colleen Sellers, arranged the flowers for the flower show. Mary Ann Logar was in charge of the guest book.

After the short business meeting, Mrs. Lloyd Drury of Clarion and Mrs. Hugh Whitten of Rowan judged the flower arrangements. They gave suggestions and pointers that will help in arrangements for Achievement Day.

Saves Time, Saves Crop Waste in Power Take-off Harvesting

Here's harvesting power that makes the tough jobs easy . . . and safe.

1. Transmission Clutch — stops the forward motion, independent of power line operation. Tractor stops, yet full power stays on power take-off. It saves time and crop waste.

2. Master Clutch—disconnects engine from all power outlets — rear wheels, power take-off, hydraulic system and belt pulley. Gives instant control in emergencies.

Complete Hydraulic System — operates trailed machines as well as mounted units. Also operates as traction booster for rear-mounted implements.

Hurt

An exploding emery wheel injured Carl Werner at Williamsburg recently. He had just turned on the power which operates the 14-inch wheel when it came apart while spinning at 1700 revolutions per minute. One heavy fragment struck him in the forehead.

DROWNED

Floyd Harger, 42, of Grand piling of the bridge, then left the road, plunging into the water filled bayou. The water was about waist-high and the overturned car was filled.

Fatality

Apparently as a result of an overheated heating appliance, the bed in which Miss Stella Farley lay sleeping caught fire in her home near Lorimor. Her body was found by Lorimor firemen.

BIRD

Whitten residents were puzzled when the noon fire siren failed ular noon call. Residents removed a bird and its nest from the brushes of the siren, solving the trouble.

BINS

About 300 bushels of corn were stolen recently from government storage bins at Exira. The theft was discovered when some cows, turned out by the thieves, were found wandering along the highway right of way shortly after the robbery.

SKUNK

A rabid skunk chased Mrs. John Umbehocer back into her house, on a farm near Chariton last week. The family dog then got into the fight and killed the skunk, which was definitely "mad."

ESCAPED

Two Iowans were among those who escaped from a $100,000 hotel fire in Mitchell, S. D., recently. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Girard of Emmetsburg, were the last guests to leave the burning building, escaping via a ladder raised by the firemen to their third-story window.

DIED

The speaker at the Harlan high school commencement exercises stressed highway safety. Within a few hours after they had received their diplomas, three seniors were among the five young folks killed when their auto collided with a truck on highway 50.

BARN

A big milk truck started rolling at Reinbeck recently, and went all the way through a brick barn, going in one side and coming out the other. It knocked down three cows and gave Rudolph Delfa and his hired man, who were milking, the surprise of their lives. The mishap occurred when driver Glenn Dirks forgot to set the hand brake.

● AROUND IOWA

KILLED

LIGHTNING

Lightning struck a valuable cow on the Norbert Wessling farm near Danbury recently. It won't hit the same place twice; the cow isn't there any more. Mr. Wessling had no insurance on the animal.

BASEBALLS

Guttenberg folks say that hailstones which fell near there recently were as large as baseballs. The stones were ice-clear and measured up to three inches in diameter. A "20-year roof" on the Ben Meyer farm, installed last year, fell short of its expectancy by 19 years when the big stones got through with it.

● AROUND IOWA

HEIFER

While driving his truck home from a farm sale, Harold Eiler hit a soft shoulder and overturned. The crash resulted fatally for a $1500 prize heifer which he had just purchased.

LONG TRIP

Recently Mrs. Ed Benson wrote her name on an egg, which she was packing at a Cresco poultry house. Recently she received a letter from Sonja Dudek, of Weisbaden, Germany, who had received the egg after its 4500 mile journey.

HOLE-IN-ONE

Carol Rasmussen of Ida Grove became one of the earlier "hole-in-one" golfers this season. Playing at the Ida Grove golf club, Rasmussen hit an iron shot straight down the middle of the fairway on the 180-yard third hole. The ball lit on the edge of the green and bounced into the cup.

WATER TOWER

While painting the water tower at Osceola recently, Donald Jones of Clear Lake fell some 20 feet into the tower. To get him out, a hole was cut in the bottom of the tang, through which the injured man was removed on a sling. To keep Jones company during the cutting operation, William Sutton descended into the tank. Sutton is an employee of an Osceola funeral home.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Caldwells, Back on Farm After Long Absence, Find The Life Strenuous - - But Satisfying

MR. AND MRS. FRANK CALDWELL

Few couples have the gumption to forsake a way of living they've followed for over a quarter of a century to do what they really WANT to do; but this is a boast the Frank Caldwells can make. This spring they became tenants on a property of George Hake's, which includes 80 acres about two miles east and four miles south of town, and another 80 located three miles south and one west of Belmond. The move climaxed a dream both had nurtured for many years — that of returning to farm life.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell were born and raised on farms near Runnells, Iowa, south of Des Moines. It was there that Frank courted his bride-to-be.

Early in their acquaintance Frank picked a severely cold winter night, when snowdrifts were piled high, to call on his "girl", on horseback. The night was so bad that the girl's mother refused to let Frank start home in the dark for fear he'd never make it.

His girl friend, who'd already retired by the time he arrived, was permitted only to tell him "goodnight," and was packed off to bed.

It would have been a wholly unsuccessful adventure if Frank hadn't been so deeply impressed by the delicious breakfast he was served before taking his leave in the morning. In the hope that the girl would prove as good a cook as her mother, he continued his pursuit of her affections until marriage climaxed the courtship about a year later.

After they were wed, Frank was employed by the Iowa Power and Light company in Des Moines and later in Oskaloosa for a period of 23 years—periodically wishing he were back on the farm. About five years ago he yielded to the impulse to the extend of working for a year as a farm laborer near Story City.

Following that one season on the farm, the Caldwell's moved to Belmond, where Frank took a job with Thompson Hybrid Corn company as manager of the south plant. He held this position for two and a half years and then became manager of the implement department of the L. and G. Implement company here. This past March he moved onto the Hake farm and is now operating in partnership with its owner.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell readily admit neither of them have ever worked so hard in all their lives; but both declare they've never been happier or more content.

Frank and Mr. Hake are going into dairying quite heavily and are in the process of building up a sizeable herd of milk cows. At present the Caldwells are milking eight cows — two Ayrshires, a Brown Swiss and five Holsteins. Another seven Holsteins will freshen before the season is out.

The partners have bought four additional heifer calves and have four from the herd. Frank also has two steer calves from the original cows and another bull calf he's keeping for breeding purposes.

Both Frank and his wife put in about two hours twice a day doing the chores involved in milking and feeding the dairy stock and pigs. They have a double milking machine — which Frank says is as much as he can tend at once.

When asked if they'd add another milker when their herd grows to 15 or 20 cows, both the Caldwells said they doubted it; they'd just have to take longer on the chores.

At present they start the day's work about 4:00 a. m. It sounded to your reporter as if the pair are soon going to need more than 24 hours in the day.

Besides the cows, Frank is particularly proud of his spring pigs. He has 67 from eight Spotted Poland China sows bred to a Hampshire boar. His mortality losses have been practically nil. Other than one or two that were laid on, Frank has lost only one pig out of the entire crop; and he takes considerable satisfaction in that average of more than eight healthy pigs per litter.

This year the farm will have 55 acres of corn—22 of which is planted under a contract with Thompson's. The corn is being kept within the allotment so it can be sealed if this would be advantageous. Between 40 and 50 acres are in oats. And if all the Caldwell oats are as good as the patch behind the house looks right now, a mighty fine crop is in the making for the Caldwell-Hake partnership.

Eighteen acres are in alfalfa that is being cut for hay—one crop having been cut already. There's another 10 acres of alfalfa pasture and 10 acres of brome pasture.

Mrs. Caldwell was deeply concerned, when the first hay was cut, that she'd never get enough food cooked to feed the six-man crew. She'd heard impressive stories of the appetites that haying produces. However, she says, she got the job done and everyone seemed satisfied.

Frank, for his part, reports that that session of hay-making was the hardest work he'd ever done. He doesn't have a field baler; the hay was hauled to the yard and put up by a rented baler. He doesn't look forward with any great degree of relish to putting up the last couple of cuttings that are yet to come.

All of the corn on the farm has been sprayed once for borers, and will get another spraying when 10 days have passed. Both Frank and Mr. Hake are in thorough agreement that spraying is a positive "must" in these parts while the borer infestation is so severe and believe it will pay off extremely well.

While your reporter was visiting with the Caldwells, both of their children showed up for a visit. Don, who is 24, is presently working for a construction company in Mason City. His room is still lavishly decorated with snapshots marking back to his years in the Navy and, after he'd been medically discharged for sinus trouble, in the merchant marine.

The Caldwells' daughter is Juanita, 22, who still lives in Oskaloosa and is employed there in a jewelry store.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell have hobbies that they are deeply interested in, but which have received little attention since they moved to the farm. Frank is a flying enthusiast and took lessons Clarion up to the time he started nursemaiding a herd of cows. He had only two hours to go before he could solo. He still hopes to resume the training and qualify for a private pilot's license.

Mrs. Caldwell likes to clip and collect poems. One of her favorites is Edgar A. Guest's, "It Couldn't Be Done", which concludes:

"He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done—and he did it!"

She says that she frequently gained new hope and courage from this poem during the difficult, early days on the farm. It just seemed to fit when she and Frank were finding the days all too short to accomplish all that they had to do.

Mrs. Caldwell requested, "Be sure and mention how much we like Belmond and what a fine, friendly town we think it is. Not often does a town accept newcomers so promptly and make them feel so thoroughly at home as Belmond does."

To this your reporter might add that hard-working, likeable folks like the Caldwells are pretty apt to find a niche for themselves wherever they go.

Statewide Safety Campaign to Open Monday, July 17th

A safety poster service campaign, expected to be one of the biggest state-wide public participation safety education projects in the nation, will be launched in Iowa starting Monday, July 17, according to Norbert Locke, chairman of the safety service center committee of the Iowa Safety Congress.

All business firms and public institutions in Iowa will be contacted during the campaign by local civic groups sponsoring the service in each community.

Locke said, subscriptions to the service will include a facsimile "stop" sign with insert space for posters to be displayed in business houses and public buildings. Each Thursday throughout the year a new safety "tip" poster will be placed in the display signs by local youth groups in each community.

Posters will illustrate a specific safety message timed to appear simultaneously throughout the state each week, according to Locke. Materials supplied to newspapers and radio stations by the congress will carry out the theme of each weekly poster. Monthly movies, dramatizing Iowa safety activities, will be distributed to Iowa theatres as an added feature of the service.

In preparation for the July 17 drive date, Iowa Safety Congress county chairmen are now completing selection of local civic groups to sponsor the poster service in each community. Rev. William Gamble of Clarion is Wright county chairman.

The "stop" sign will be displayed starting August 17, in time for the Iowa "Drive Right" campaign which begins August 22 and ends September 5.

In commenting on the safety poster service, State Safety Commissioner Alfred Kahl said, "It will create a new and universal method of safety education which will reach every citizen. The plan offers the opportunity for a definite contribution to safety from persons who really want to save lives in Iowa.

"The youth participation in this safety education project and the concentrated repetition of each weekly safety lesson throughout Iowa, appear to be particularly valuable", Kahl said.

Sheriff's Expense in '48 Averaged 47c Per Person

Operating the Wright county sheriff's office in the year 1948 just exactly hit the state average on a per-person cost basis, according to figures released last week by the Iowa Taxpayers association.

The statistics show that expense to each person in the county averaged 47 cents. This was an increase of 11 cents per person over 1947, when Wright's average cost was seven cents under the state average of 43 cents.

Average costs for the sheriffs' offices in neighboring counties in 1948 were: Hancock 50 cents, Hamilton 49, Humboldt 48, Franklin 41 and Kossuth 32.

Melvin Anderson Starts Basic Military Training

Melvin J. Anderson, 17, of Belmond has arrived at Fort Ord and will immediately begin his basic training with the Famous Fighting Fourth Infantry Division.

At the completion of 14 weeks of training, Recruit Anderson will be permanently assigned or selected for a specialist school.

Anderson attended Belmond High school and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Anderson.

When Is A Drunk Not A Drunk? We Wonder If The Blood Test Tells

A fine demonstration was offered last week of the sort of obstacle that law enforcement officials may occasionally face in making a charge "stick". In this particular instance, the blood test for intoxication threw out of court a case that appeared entirely indefensible.

More or less arbitrarily, the law assumes that a person is definitely drunk if a test shows 150 milligrams of alcohol per cubic centimeter of blood. The individual in this particular case reportedly gave every evidence of being inebriated —and there was every reason to believe that the blood test would bear out appearances.

There was no question that the man had been drinking. His erratic course along the road had been reported to the highway patrol but before the officer in hot pursuit could overtake him, the driver had all but forced a Belmond motorist into the ditch to avoid a collision.

The man had amply proved that he was a menace behind the wheel of a car in the state of intoxication he had attained. It looked as if one more party guilty of "operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated" was going to get his just deserts.

Then along came analysis of the blood sample. It showed 126 milligrams of alcohol . . . But drunk or sober, the fellow can be thankful that "the law" got him away from that wheel before he made a corpse of himself—and perhaps took several others along for company.

Question: What Do Deer Have That Major Issues of the Day Lack?

If there's anything that brings delight to the newspaper editor, it is to receive either written or oral comment regarding stories and editorials which he has published. Even when the comments are critical they are welcomed as evidence that someone has read and thought over what we've had to say.

Frankly, the editorials are occasionally written for the express purpose of "getting a rise". When we feel that a subject is important enough to warrant wide discussion, we may do our blamedest to arouse discussion of it.

So what happens? We goad, we beg, we deride, we enthuse over matters dear to our heart in the hope of forcing some comment on them—and NOTHING happens. Then we print a little item in Main Street regarding a fawn being seen south of town. Promptly one kind reader after another rings us up to report deer being seen in their fields and farmyards.

Now don't misunderstand us. We're most grateful for the calls we've received regarding the surprising prevalence of deer in this vicinity. But we're left a bit puzzled as to just what deer possess as a topic of conversation that our pet issues so notably lack.

State Demos, GOP Disagree on Wisdom Of Making Hay While the Sun Shines

Isn't it odd how point of view colors the facts?

Democratic state publicity last week, making capital of the annual surplus of Iowa revenues over expenditures since 1941, declares, "It is up to the Republicans to explain why they have taxed and taxed and taxed, when it was unnecessary."

In the weekly Republican Report, it is pointed out, "Republican administrations in Iowa have proven that they can maintain necessary services to the people, operate within the state income without increases in taxes and still have a fund set aside for a rainy day."

Considering that the ample revenues of the state in recent years have been largely a reflection of good times, not added taxes, we can't feel that the Democratic criticism is very well founded.

At least the state Republican administration of the past 10 years have taken advantage of the times to place Iowa's business affairs on a sound financial footing rather than piling deficit upon deficit like the federal Democratic administration has done, while making no effort to effect feasible economies.

Hometown Candidates on Ballot Should Perk Up Election Interest

This autumn's election should hold somewhat more than normal interest for Belmond voters, since we'll have hometown candidates running for two state legislative posts.

With the Democrats having Rodney Urdahl in the field as nominee for state senator from the 37th District and the Republicans having Clark McNeal on their slate as candidate for representative from Wright county, Belmond ought to have anyway one spokesman in the statehouse after the November balloting.

Incidentally, to the best of our knowledge this is the first time Belmond has ever had two candidates for state offices in a single election. We're glad to see the home folks taking such an active interest in politics. We further deem it a healthy situation that both parties are thereby represented.

Time Will Tell If 4th-of-July Week Lit Fuse to Warfare With Russia

We can't decide whether it is appropriate — or ironical — that events should have taken the turn they did during Fourth-of-July week.

Of course, if Uncle Sam did not have the interest he has in defending the independence of free peoples the world over, American boys would not today be spending their blood on the remote battlefields of Korea. On the other hand, it appears that the threat of another worldwide maelstrom is going to force the exchange of personal independence for military regimentation by hundreds of thousands of American youths in coming months.

By now there must be few individuals in the democratic areas of the world who are so optimistic or so gullible as to believe still that democracy and communism can exist together. There obviously can be no peace for free peoples while the communist ideology of world revolution is fostered anywhere on the globe.

As a direct result, restricting the personal freedom of increasing numbers of young men will have to be part of the price of recreating a military machine capable of blocking the spread of communism. And 15 million veterans will tell you that there is small place in such a military machine for the exercise of personal liberties.

When it is required, military regimentation can be justified on any number of grounds. "Such discipline does a young fellow good" . . . "Military life puts a man in the pink' . . . "After all, when a man serves in the armed forces, he is doing it first and foremost for the benefit of himself and those near and dear to him" . . . etc., etc.

But to freedom-loving Americans it simply adds up to an unpleasant state of affairs that deprives them of privileges they're accustomed to and will be determined to reinstate with the greatest possible dispatch.

It's too soon to tell if last week's developments put a match to the fuse of ultimate open warfare between this nation and Russia itself. But Joe Stalin must certainly know that he can't tamper too much with Americans' individual liberties without the lid blowing off.

We see that Eagle Grove is currently offering its residents street-oiling of a nature briefly considered here several weeks back. We hope the proposition goes over. It will provide Belmond an opportunity to get an unbiased opinion regarding the oil-asphalt treatment for dust abatement, without first putting it to a test locally.

Young Stockmen to See Techniques in Grooming

A 4-H fitting and grooming demonstration of baby beef, dairy heifer, swine and sheep projects will take place at the Charles Nail farm, three miles west and three miles south of Clarion, this Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Joe Duea, Belmond, stock breeder, who a few years ago showed the grand champion steer at the International Livestock Show, wil conduct the demonstration for beef and swine. Morris Miller of Clarion, also an expert showman and state Holstein 4-H club member, will give pointers on how to prepare dairy heifers for fair.

Some of the important items to be covered at this demonstration will be proper feeding methods of clipping, washing, curling the hair, oiling the coat, trimming the feet, caring for the horns and showing at fair time.

If The Communists Took Our Town...

Ever think what it would be like if the Communists took over our town?

What would happen to you and me? We'd be told what to think, what work to do. Farmers' crops would be confiscated. Our kids would be taught only the Communist side. Newspapers would follow the line or be closed.

A far cry from our American democracy!

Sure, we have folks right here in town who would enjoy telling everyone what to think, how to act. But we never take them too seriously. Because we don't like dictators, amateur or professional.

Our American freedom is as simple as a man's right to think his own thoughts, exercise his own tastes. It's as basic as Joe's right to prefer ice cold lemonade . . . or mine to enjoy a temperate glass of beer.

At least we've learned one lesson from Communism. Once we start whittling at our freedom, even in little things, there's no telling where it will end.

OBITUARY

SIMON A. BOHNING

Simon A. Bohning, first son of Andrew G. Bohning and Gail S. Berg, was born Oct. 9, 1864 in Silvercreek township, Stevenson county, Ill.

He came to Iowa with his parents in the spring of 1870. After living one year south of Ackley, they made their home 10 miles north of that community until the spring of 1883, when they moved to Belmond.

On Feb. 22, 1891, Simon was united in marriage with Miss Kea Steenblock. They lived seven miles northeast of Belmond nine years, until in 1900 they moved four and a half miles west of Belmond. Here they lived until the spring of 1917 when they moved three and a half miles north of Belmond. Here his beloved wife died Jan. 2, 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohning were the parents of 10 children, six of whom are still living—Peter, Martha, Samuel, Elward, Pearl (Mrs. Chas. Aldinger of Clarion) and Paul. Four children, one in infancy and Andrew, David and Gail, preceded their father in death. Also surviving are 15 grandchildren, one sister and three brothers, Mrs. Ida Steenblock and George and Will, all of Belmond, and John of Clear Lake.

Mr. Bohning passed away the morning of June 25, 1950, thus reaching the age of 85 years, eight months and 16 days.

Architect Asked to Begin Drafting Plans for Hospital

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

The Hansen Ticket Agency, a perennial business concern which operates briefly about this time each summer, wishes to announce that it is currently accepting orders to Iowa university home football games. Anyone wishing to avail himself of the agency's services is requested to call 331 before this coming Saturday noon and make his wishes known.

Four home games will be played by the Hawkeyes this year, as follows: Wisconsin on Oct. 14, Purdue (Homecoming) Oct. 21, Illinois (Dad's Day) Nov. 11—and Notre Dame (a scrub outfit from over in Indiana) on Nov. 18.

The ante for each game is $3.50 per ticket. It is an established practice of the Hansen Agency to charge no commission for purchases made. Its customers save the price of a three-cent stamp and avoid the risk of having to settle for poor seats at a later date.

We're gonna get married BUT don't let the INDEPENDENT know!

Actually, we doubt if the Independent is ever the victim of a deliberate conspiracy of silence such as the couple above seem to be perpetrating. But frankly, our feelings are hurt every now and then when we read in the Mason City or Des Moines papers an engagement announcement involving the daughter of one of our very own readers.

Where our subscribers are concerned, we like to feel the Independent is THEIR paper; and we'd like the privilege of being FIRST with such news. It doesn't matter one iota to the city papers if WE have it first; but it kinda knocks the frosting off our cake when we read it in THEM first.

—M-S—

While we're dwelling upon the matrimonial department, there's one other little matter we'd like to take up. It concerns the fact that weddings, like sports events, community activities and other subjects covered in the paper, are NEWS.

That is, they're news up to a point; and Society Editor Louise Johnson makes every possible effort to get them in her section while they still qualify as news.

But when we don't succeed in getting the report of a wedding in our columns until two, three or even four weeks after the event took place, it comes dismayingly close to being HISTORY.

—M-S—

We know it's a busy time and one of great excitement. But a wee bit of advance planning will enable us to do right by the bridal couple and publish details of the ceremony while they're still fresh and timely.

—M-S—

Consequently, we'd like to make a desperate plea to all couples intent on committing matrimony; particularly to the brides-to-be and their mothers (we're willing to concede that the groom may have only the vaguest idea, in advance, as to what's going to transpire at the wedding—and be a little confused afterward as to what DID happen). Please, oh please, see that the details are written up in advance, or immediately afterward, and gotten to us!

—M-S—

"What'll I do?" wailed Ace Stoltenberg to Marv Sjoberg as his first turn at bat arrived during last Sunday's Belmond-Kanawha game. Two men were out — the bases were loaded — and Ace was still looking forward to his FIRST hit of the current baseball season.

"Just hit a homer," the helpful Mr. Sjoberg suggested nonchalantly; whereupon Ace made like a slugger and poled one clear over a nearby schoolhouse and out of the lot. No one was any more startled than Stoltenberg — or Sjoberg.

—M-S—

Perhaps as natural compensation for Ace's unexpected blow, Wes Boller—who has been one of the Tomahawk's heaviest hitters—accounted for TWO of Belmond's first-inning outs.

—M-S—

Stoltenberg was not the only hitter to reverse the form book Sunday. The Kanawha manager had confided to Sjoberg that Ray Wicks was on third base primarily as a reward for faithful attendance at practice sessions. "Pretty weak at bat," said the boss-man, apologetically. So what does Wicks do but lash out a second-inning homer that accounts for three runs!

Howard Boller Fatally Hurt in Freak Truck Accident

Funeral Services For Goodell Man Held on Tuesday

A tragic chain of circumstances resulted in the death of Howard Boller, 24, of Goodell about 10:45 p. m. Saturday, from injuries sustained in a freak mishap a little after 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Young Boller suffered fatal injuries to his brain when a large semi-trailer crashed through the garage adjoining his father's D-X service station at Goodell as Howard was in it to obtain a fanbelt for a customer.

Darwin Nelson, 20, of Goodell was also in the garage but was struck only a glancing blow on the right shoulder by the careening truck cab. Boller sustained multiple skull fractures and a broken left arm as the cab crashed into him.

As ascertained by Hancock County Sheriff "Dutch" Brower, the tragedy occurred in the following manner.

Stanley Johnston, 31, of Ruthven, was driving his "semi" loaded with fertilizer north on Highway 69 when his lane appeared about to be blocked by a pickup truck emerging from the filling statiton drive. Johnston said that a car from the north prevented his turning into the left-side lane so he jammed on his brakes.

The trailer "jack-knifed", according to the truck driver, swerving the heavy "semi" off the road about 80 yards south of the garage. Clipping off a telephone pole and highway signpost on the way, the rig smashed into the garage and had burst through the north wall before it came to a stop.

Fred Fulton was summoned with his ambulance to rush the injured man to Steele Memorial hospital, but examination revealed that he was beyond medical aid. Nelson was also taken to the hospital for examination but was released when his injuries were found to consist only of severe bruises.

Investigation of the accident's cause was delayed for some time by the disappearance of Lee Walton, 52, of Stanberry, Mo., who was driver of the pickup. He had been engaged in stripping bluegrass seed in the Goodell neighborhood for Clyde Lemley of Agency, Mo.

Some two hours after the mishap the authorities found Walton and after questioning he was permitted to go on to Missouri with his truckload of seed.

Nelson and another witness of the accident, Avron Krietlow of Klemme, were under the impression that Johnston had jumped from the truck cab be-

This is the semi-trailer truck, shown emerging through the north wall of Boller's D-X Service Station garage at Goodell, which fatally injured Howard Boller last Saturday. Young Boller was standing near the north wall, obtaining a fanbelt for a customer, when he was caught in the path of the runaway rig. He lived for less than eight hours after the tragic accident.

Alice Moore Will Leave Post Soon

Resignation of Alice Moore, R. N., Wright county public health nurse, was reluctantly accepted at the board of supervisors meeting held Monday at Clarion. The resignation becomes effective Sept. 1.

The young nurse, whose home town is Dows, has held her present position for something over two years. She plans to attend the University of Colorado at Boulder this fall. Miss Moore had only two years of college work prior to taking her nurse's training and plans to complete requirements for a degree.

Also at the board meeting, appointment of Mrs. Alice Dean of Clarion as deputy recorder was approved by the supervisors. She has lately been employed by the Central Telephone company as an operator.

Members of the board passed a resolution concurring on bids accepted by the state highway commission for four and a half miles of farm-to-market road improvement just to the south of Holmes. E. M. Duesenberg, Inc., of Clear Lake was awarded grading contracts in the amounts of $8,904.52 and $3,989.41 and R. E. Johnson of Sioux City for culverts at a cost of $2.357.10.

The board also transferred $500 from the general county fund to the Eagle Grove Junior Fair fund to provide that much more for financing the event.

Damages Totaling $8,681 Requested In Accident Case

Merle Pohlman and his son, Marvin, of near Galt have been named as defendants in three damage suits totaling $8,681.00 that were filed Monday in district court as the outgrowth of an auto collision on Highway 69 on Nov. 17, 1949. Plaintiffs in the actions are Russell Olson of Vernon township and his wife, Beverly, and Mrs. Betty Morford of Lincoln township.

According to the petitions, the Olson car collided with the Pohlman auto about 7:30 p. m. after the latter had stalled on the highway, two miles west of Galt, and was being pushed along the road by Merle Pohlman, who had been driving his father's car.

Both women were in the front seat of the Olson car. Mr. Olson declares that he got only $35 for the demolished auto as junk, after the collision. He claims it was worth $400 and is suing for judgment of $365.

Mrs. Olson asserts that she suffered two gashes on her face that will leave permanent scars. She adds that she was pregnant when the accident occurred and that she suffered a very severe nervous shock. Her petition asks judgment of $62.50 for medical expense and $2,500 for "permament disfigurement, scars, pain, suffering and nervous shock".

In the third suit, Miss Morford says she suffered permanent disability from a jaw fracture she sustained in the accident. She is asking $338.60 reimbursement for hospital expense, $415 for medical expense and $5,000 for "time, permanent disability, pain and suffering", making a total of $5,753.60.

Serving as counsel for all the plaintiffs are Roy Henderson of Belmond and Senneff and Bliss of Mason City. A jury hearing has been requested for each of the three cases.

Peewee All-Stars Will Oppose Dows

Next Tuesday the peewee baseballers will have their first taste of outside competition when an all-star team selected from the four squads travels to Dows for a contest. A game, here, with the same opponent was slated for Tuesday evening but was rained out.

Last Friday the Cards remained in the undefeated ranks by trimming the Yanks, 3 to 1; and on Tuesday evening the Braves nosed out the Cubs 7-6 to maintain a first-place deadlock.

This evening the Braves and Cards are scheduled to meet in a game that will leave the winner in undisputed leadership. On Friday evening, the Yanks face the Cubs.

Contracting Firm Happy to Finish Third Street NE

Residents living on Third Street NE are busy these days grading their parkings and sewing grass seed now that the farm-to-market paving project has been completed.

All pouring of concrete was completed by Central Construction company of Indianola nearly two weeks ago, but the thoroughfare was not open to public travel until this past weekend.

Part of the west end was opened last Friday and all the rest of the street by Monday morning.

Approval of the finished job by the council is still pending and the plat and schedule for curb and gutter assessments to be levied against Third Street property-owners are not yet entirely completed.

But the contractor's job is over and done with, and he was very happy to have the project behind him.

The city engineers say that, under ideal conditions, a center strip such as was laid here can be poured in as little as nine or 10 days. Halted frequently by bad weather, Central Construction required parts of 29 different days to complete the center-strip pouring.

HOLGATE FINED $100 SATURDAY ON CHARGE OF DISTURBING PEACE

Raymond Holgate, Jr., lately of Des Moines but a former resident of Belmond, was fined $100 and costs last Saturday in the court of Mayor A. W. Loats on a charge of disturbing the peace.

The charge developed from an argument Friday evening at the Harve Meacham home, where Holgate had called on a matter of business, and a scuffle between Holgate and Night Marshal Harve Seals after the latter had been called to quell the disturbance at the Meacham residence.

Officer Seals had placed Holgate under arrest and was about to lock him up in the city jail when the marshal was sent sprawling by a blow from behind when he was busy with the jail door. Seals promptly regained his feet and got the situation under control.

Mayor Loats was out of town at the time, so the policeman called Sheriff Bob Blecker in for a conference. The sheriff arrived with Patrolman Harland Sievers and they took Holgate to the county jail for overnight.

Following the hearing Saturday morning and upon payment of the fine, Holgate was freed to continue on a trip he'd been planning to take to the west coast after a brief stop-over in Belmond.

Farmers Can Reap A Rich, Unexpected Harvest If They Have A Lush Grass or Legume Pasture

A good many Wright county farmers this year have a "hidden crop" on their land, in the estimation of Extension Director Aaron Bowman. Those who have may be most pleasantly surprised at the "found money" that can be theirs by recognizing the unsuspected crop and taking advantage of it.

This is Mr. Bowman's way of saying that, grass and legume seeds being priced as they are, particularly good stands of grass and legume can well provide a richly rewarding harvest that wasn't even planned on.

A fine example is provided by 30 acres of brome grass that L. B. Oberhauser has on his farm southwest of Belmond, which "Obie" had regarded only as pasture. It's a second-year growth and extremely heavy in seed.

When "Voc. Ag." Instructor Duane Sandage visited the farm recently to inspect an FFA project, he noticed the lush field of brome and inquired of Mr. Oberhauser whether he'd thought of harvesting the seed. "Obie" admitted the thought had never entered his mind.

Duane pointed out that harvesting the seed would not interfere with use of the field for pasturage; that the seed could be gathered by an ordinary combine; that a price of 50 cents or better per

Belmond Girl's Husband Among Carrier Personnel Cited for Battle Action

Charles H. Boyd, BTFN, of Clarion is one of 1,800 men aboard the aircraft carrier USS Valley Forge who last week were awarded Korean campaign ribbons with battle star for operations off the coast of Korea.

Mrs. Loyd, nee Ardys Stearns, is living in Belmond with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Stearns, while her husband is overseas.

To the Valley Forge belongs the distinction of being the first carrier in history to launch jet planes for actual military operations.

The entire Seventh Fleet, of which the Valley Forge is a unit, received from Commander-in-Chief Harry Truman a "Very well done" for its latest operation in Korean waters. The giant carrier has been in the Far East since the first of May.

Larkin Will Head American Legion

Claude Larkin was elected at the American Legion meeting Monday evening to succeed M. C. Jensen as commander of Eimbrink Post No. 35.

Other officers named were: Carroll Bamford, 1st vice commander; Harold Rierson, 2nd vice commander; Richard Gowdy, finance officer; Keith Chandler, adjutant; Ted Behrends, chaplain; and Stanley Moe, sergeant-at-arms.

Three new directors for the Veterans' Memorial Building corporation were also elected at the meeting. They were Carroll Bamford, to serve for three years; Harley Thompson, two years; and Bob Tomson one year.

At a meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Thursday of last week, they, too, named new members to the memorial building board of directors. Ted Behrends was elected for the three-year term, Stanley Moe for two years and Claude Thayer for a year.

Retiring Legion representatives on the board were George Infelt, Fred Dahm and Fred Fulton. VFW members leaving the board were C. J. Papousek, Larry Gunderson and Claire Gagnon.

TWO TRAFFIC FINES

Two traffic cases were docketed in the court of Mayor A. W. Loats last weekend. On Friday, Ida Bronson of St. Louis was fined $3.00 and costs for passing a stop sign; and on Saturday a fine of $5.00 and costs was paid by Richard Poux, address not given, for speeding.

FOOD SALE SATURDAY

Home-cooked delicacies will be offered by members of the Trinity Ladies Aid at a food sale to be held this coming Saturday at the Tip Top Super Valu market, starting at 10:00 a. m.

Sioux City Firm Also to Oversee Construction Job

Authorization to begin work on the drafting of preliminary plans for the new Belmond municipal hospital was given the Sioux City architectural firm of William Beuttler last Friday. Members of the hospital planning board, headed by Chairman Gene Woolley, the night previous had accepted a recommendation of the building sub-committee that the Sioux City concern be engaged.

It was announced at the meeting by Mr. Woolley that the building committee also had decided upon the site immediately west of Steele Memorial hospital as the location for the new structure, in view of the unanimous preference for it shown by all architects who examined the various proposed sites.

This decision still requires approval of the city council, but it is assumed that its members will readily give it.

The Sioux City firm not only will design the hospital but also will take the responsibility of supervising its construction.

Selection of the Beuttler company was influenced to a considerable extent by the fact that the firm specializes in buildings constructed of reinforced concrete. The hospital planners felt this type of construction would be both practical and economical.

Beuttler's representative, also, had expressed greatest optimism over the ability of his company to erect the hospital at a cost within the $200,000 budget.

As broken down by the building committee, $160,000 will be allowed for general construction contracts, $30,000 for equipment over and above what will be available from the present hospital, and $10,000 for contingencies. This budget is expected to allow for 28 patients' beds.

Equipment needs have been tentatively listed as follows: waiting room $300, general office $2,000, kitchen and dishwashing room $5,000, laundry $4,500, patients' rooms $5,600, operating room $3,000, emergency room $2,000, x-ray room $5,000, laboratory $800.

Specific features to be included in the general contract are: nursery room, central sterilizing and supply, formu-

Mrs. Ray Pals Assumes New Responsibilities As President of Auxiliary

Mrs. Ray Pals was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary, at a meeting last night at the Veterans Memorial building, succeeding Mrs. Carroll Bamford.

A past president's pin and a gift were presented to the retiring president. Mrs. Leslie Smith, newly elected president of the state department of the Women's Relief Corps, was also honored with a gift.

Other women assuming office, besides the president, were: Mrs. Leland Barkema, vice president; Mrs. Harold Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Fred Allison, treasurer; Mrs. Guy Baker, historian; Mrs. Harold Svendsen, chaplain.

New members appointed to the executive committee were Mrs. Harold Rierson, Mrs. Claude Thayer and Cecelia Holtzbauer.

The new president, secretary and treasurer will be delegates to the state Auxiliary convention in Des Moines the first of August. Mrs. Guy Baker, Mrs. Margaret Bailey and Mrs. Mayme Dillon were chosen at alternates.

SALESMAN PICKED UP LAST THURSDAY NIGHT FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

George W. Trevett, 37, a Fort Dodge salesman, was arrested about 10:00 p. m. last Thursday by Highway Patrolman Harland Sievers just north of Belmond on Highway 69 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

He was heard in the justice court of O. E. McGahey at Clarion the following day and bound over to the grand jury. Upon posting of $500 bond Trevett was released until time of hearing during the September term of court.

On the same day, Justice of the Peace McGahey heard Cicero Wilson of Clarion on a charge of false uttering and drawing of a bank check. He was accused of passing worthless checks during May to a Clarion grocery store and restaurant in the amount of $15.

Upon payment of the $15, Wilson was assessed a fine of $5, plus costs totaling $6.50.

Jr. Legion Team Drops 2 to M. C.

Belmond's Junior Legion baseball team lost a pair of contests to the strong Mason City J. L. team last week but kept the score relatively close in each instance. On Tuesday the locals lost on their home diamond, 4 to 1, and on Thursday evening they were beaten at Mason City, 6 to 3.

In the second game, slipshod fielding was mixed with sparkling play until a spectator was led to wonder if it could be the same Belmond team accounting for both. Five errors were committed by the losers, but they also turned in two neatly performed double plays.

Mason City had a scare thrown into it in the sixth inning when Belmond tallied three runs. Ronnie Jost, the winners' starting hurler, was chased from the mound; but his relief, Mike Hinich, stopped the rally.

In the game here, also, the Belmond boys were guilty of five errors. They produced one nice double play in this encounter.

This Friday the Juniors travel to Forest City for a return game. They downed the Forest City team two weeks ago by an 8-0 count.

The game starts at 8:00 p. m. and local players are requested to report at the field at 6:30. On Thursday of next week, July 27, th Belmond team will play Rock the Belmond team will play Rockwell here at 6:00 p. m.

Nine Runs In 1st Win for Belmond

NORTH IOWA STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Garner	5	1	.833
Rowan	5	1	.833
Belmond	4	2	.667
Kanawha	3	3	.500
Rockwell	1	5	.167
Sheffield	0	6	.000

A big first inning—mighty big, that is—gave the Belmond Tomahawks a 10-to-7 victory over Kanawha last Sunday and kept the locals in contention for the North Iowa league baseball title. Both the loop leaders won hard-earned victories by 2-0 scores to remain in a first place deadlock, Rowan nipping Rockwell and Garner brushing past Sheffield.

Fifteen Belmond batters came to the plate in the opening frame against Kanawha before Bobby Goodnow, as relief for Starter "Dutch" Evans, forced Wes Boller out on a fly and retired the side.

Here's how the Tomahawks tallied their nine first-inning runs. Lowell Gaetzke doubled, Jake Koenen struck out, and Max Spain produced a second double. Bud Boelman singled, Wes Boller was thrown out at first, "Doc" Misner walked and Russ Gaetzke got a one-bagger.

Then "Ace" Stoltenberg smashed a homer, bringing the score to 7-0. Lowell Gaetzke was safe on a pass ball and Koenen was waved to first on interference by Catcher Jerry Pruisman. Spain again hit safely, bringing in two more runs; Nissen singled and Boller looped one to Fielder Doyce Friedow that went for the final out.

Kanawha was trailing 10 to 4 when rain interrupted the fray for nearly an hour near the end of the fifth. After resumption of the game, the losers counted three more runs but couldn't take up all the slack. Kanawha's offense was featured by Ray Wicks' homer in the second, with Jim Larson and Goodnow on base.

This coming Sunday's round of play will see one of the present co-leaders losing its share of first place when Rowan and Garner clash at Garner. Belmond will play host to the tail-end Sheffield nine and Kanawha will travel to Rockwell.

The Belmond-Kanawha summary:

Kanawha 040 001 200— 7-11-2

Batteries: Nissen and Boelman; Evans (2/3, Goodnow 8 1/3) and Pruisman.

Two Delegates Selected By RYP for Conference

At the latest meeting of the county Rural Young People, held last week at Clarion, it was decided that beginning in September, the group will hold two meetings a month instead of the usual one. One meeting will be a business and educational meeting, with recreation afterwards; the other meeting will be devoted entirely to recreation.

Two delegates, Carl Whipple and Bonnie Anderson, were chosen to represent the group at the RYP State Scholarship Training conference, which will be held from July 30 to August 2 at Iowa State college.

Although the Wright county RYP is only six months old, the organization now has 55 regular paid-up members. Several college students home for the summer attended this meeting and it is hoped that even more will attend the August meeting. The group is also expecting to see more of the recently graduated high school seniors in August.

MISS FETROW MARRIED TO ERNEST JOHNSON

Miss Adele Fetrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Fetrow of Belmond, and Ernest M. Johnson, son of Mrs. Josephine Johnson of near Belmond, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents last Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. Alfred B. McKeith performed the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar, graced with lighted tapers, white gladioli and delphinium.

"Because" was played while the candles were lighted by Richard Fetrow of Forest City, nephew of the bride, and to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" the wedding party took their places before the altar. The "Lord's Prayer" by Mallotte was played during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white embossed organdy gown over yellow taffeta and a tiara of white tulle and yellow sweetheart roses. She carried a prayer book bouquet of white gardenias and yellow sweetheart roses, tied with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

The matron of honor, the bride's only attendant, was Mrs. C. Walter Wilson of Alexandria, Minn. Her gown was of embossed aqua organdy and she carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli and yellow roses.

The bride's mother was dressed in a navy and white bemberg sheer and wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a pin-check gray suit with pink accessories and she had a corsage of Chateau roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony.

For traveling, the bride wore a navy linen dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

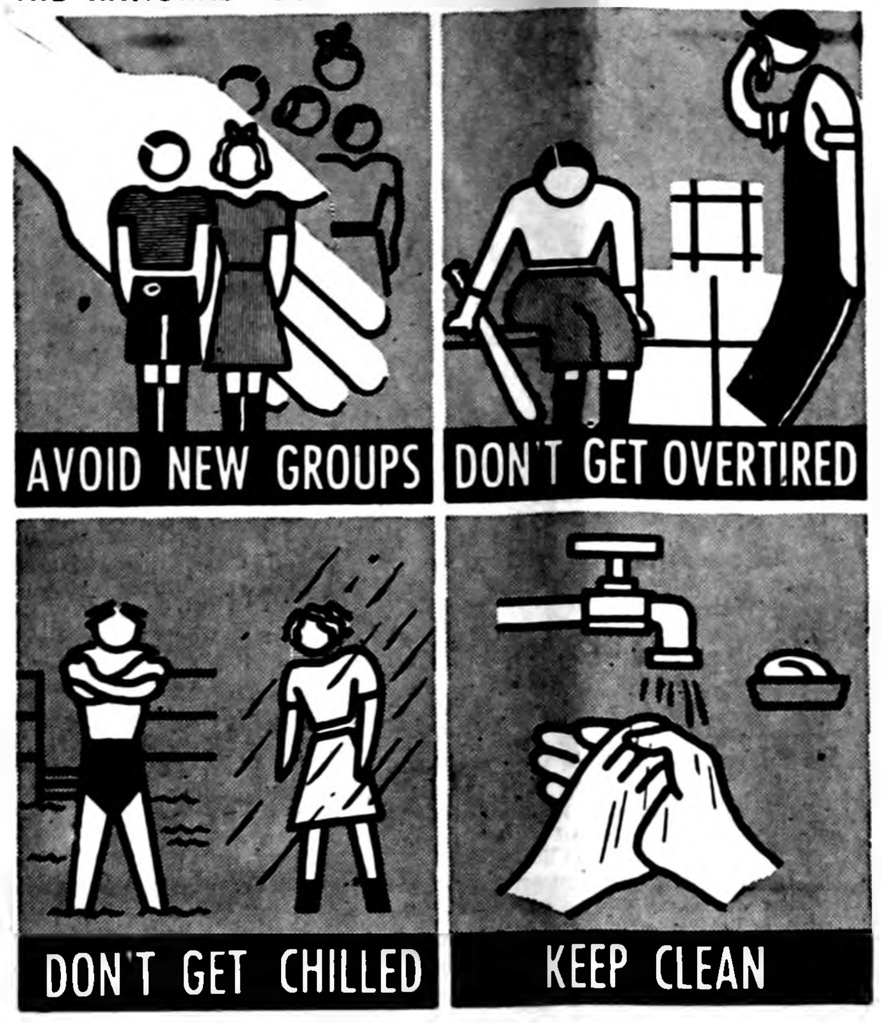
POLIO PRECAUTIONS

RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS



WHEN POLIO IS AROUND, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis recommends these simple precautions: Keep children with their own friends and away from people they have not been with right along. Don't become exhausted through work or hard play. Don't stay too long in cold water or sit around in wet clothes. And always wash hands before eating. Watch for feverishness, sore throat, headache, upset stomach or sore muscles. They may—or may not—mean polio. Call your doctor and then, if help is needed contact the National Foundation Chapter in your area.

Day Camp at Clear Lake Park Attended by Belmond Brownies

Twenty-six Belmond Brownies were among a group of 92 youngsters who attended a Brownie day camp at Clear Lake state park last Monday through Thursday. Mrs. W. S. Pritchard of Ventura served as camp director and was assisted by 12 program helpers and 14 adult Scouters from Belmond, Clear Lake, Garner and Nora Springs.

Concluding the camp events on Thursday evening, a potluck supper was provided by the girls' parents, a program of songs and dances presented by members of each of the seven Brownie camp units, and a "fly-up" ceremony was conducted for youngsters who had met Girl Scout qualifications.

Three Belmond Brownies, Pamela Martin, LaVonne McCord and Karen McMurray, were selected by popular vote of their units to serve on a camp council of 14 to plan the day camp for next year. Karen McMurray also won particular mention with an illustrated camp map which she drew.

Margot Gowdy, Barbara Mariga, Patsy Tracy and Gretchen Oberhauser served as camp aides. All are from Belmond except Gretchen, who lives in Minneapolis but is visiting in the L. B. Oberhauser home. Younger Scouts who helped with the program included Carole Chinberg and Margaret Eccles.

Unit leaders from Belmond were Mrs. Severin Chinberg, Mrs. A. M. Larson, Mrs. Arlo Stoltenberg, Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. Jim O'Connor, Mrs. Ed Nuehring, Mrs. Glenn Eccles and Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser. Mrs. Chinberg was in attendance every day.

Mrs. Clair Bonte and Mrs. Stoltenberg arranged transportation to the camp. Cars were provided by unit leaders and by Nancy Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Kirkendall, Mrs. Neil Flanagan and Charles Studebaker.

Firkins of Dows Wins Golf Prize

He went home with a handsome table lamp, which was top award in the sixth flight.

Fred Gordon and Pat Gallagher qualified for the championship flight with a 38-34—72 and 37-36—73, respectively, while George Infelt made the first flight with a 39-38—77 and "Toby" Whitman with a 37-40—77.

Infelt and Whitman tied for third in their flight, finishing with 38s for totals of 115. Gordon had the same for his final round, while Gallagher slipped to a 43, giving them totals of 110 and 116. Par was 36.

Ben Birdsall of Dows, in the second flight, had 40-39-43—122. Dr. A. M. Larson, who tied for runner-up spot in the fifth flight but lost in the prize playoff, had 42-43-43—128. In the sixth flight, Firkins had 46-43-40—129, and "Dutch" Thmopsen 49-42-45—135.

Thompson's Contributes to Hybrid Seed Corn Exports That Are Trebling Yields in Europe

Ninety percent of all the hybrid seed corn exported from the United States comes from Iowa, one way or another, the Iowa Development Commission said today.

Included among the hybrid corn producers that contribute to the seed exports is the Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn company of Belmond.

Adding up shipments from major growers and brokers, the commission reported that 400,000 bushels of seed corn from Iowa exporters has been planted in Europe this year. Seedsmen agree that this is easily nine-tenths of the total export.

In some cases, use of the American hybrid seed corn is expected to treble the yield of the European open-pollinated corn it replaces.

Although 12 corn belt states share top honors in producing hybrid seed, export is largely handled by Iowa firms.

Seed corn fom all 12 major producing states is bought and exported by Corn States Hybrid Service in Des Moines.

It serves such large clients as Pioneer, DeKalb and Pfister, and buys from many of the 2,000 small hybrid growers in the U. S. It routes all shipments to New Orleans.

Hybrid corn became important to Europe when the Germans retreated from the devastated Danube basin. Americans in UNRRA rushed in hybrid corn and harvested a 1945 crop, which is credited with saving the lives of 200,000 to 300,000 homeless Europeans. Earlier, the War Food Administration shipped hybrid seed to Antwerp for planting in bombed-out Germany, since corn returned the most fodder and grain for its shipping space.

An Italian agronomist, Prof. Luigi Fenaroli, first caught the significance of hybrid seed for his country. In 1946 he visited Iowa State college agricultural experiment station, and went home to experiment with a number of varieties.

After his experiments were published, samples of hybrid seed were distributed to 3,000 Italian farmers for planting alongside their native corn. The comparison was so striking that the following year, for 1949 planting, the Italian farmers' cooperative arranged to purchase 80,000 bushels — enough to plant 320,000 acres under intense cultivation. This year, the cooperative contracted for 100,000 bushels.

Other European countries have followed the same pattern of testing and acceptance. In France, 1200 bushels were planted in 1949. This year French farmers bought up the 48,000 bushels their government purchased, and sent a rush order for 2800 bushels more.

Before the AMG bowed out of Germany, it ordered 200,000 bushels of seed corn for 1950 planting—to be sold to individual farmers. In 1949, German farmers had planted 280,000 bushels of seed. They feed corn as fodder to their dairy cattle, and like the size of the hybrid plant. In Austria, farmers planted 56,000 bushels of seed corn, to be grown for fodder.

All told, two million bushels of hybrid seed corn have been shipped to Europe from Iowa since 1941. It has produced some startling results.

Average yield of open-pollinated European corn, even with close cultivation and often irrigation, has been 22 bushels to the acre. In some fields in Italy and Greece, use of hybrid seed tripled the yield. Italy increased its total yield four million bushels, using the same land. In countries where corn is cut for fodder, hybrid seed has returned 40 per cent more ensilage.

A bushel of seed plants about four acres in Europe, compared with seven in the U. S.

European farmers are accustomed to planting thick and thinning out the weak plants, and habits change slowly. They cultivate intensely, and where corn is grown for grain the stalk is usually topped as soon as the ear is filled. The tops are used as fodder while the ear ripens on the stalk.

Among Iowa growers who export via Corn States Hybrid Service, besides Thompson's of Belmond, are: Carlson Hybrid, Audubon; Mullins Hybrid, Britt; Vinton Hybrid; Hagie Hybrid, Clarion, Turner Hybrid, Grand Junction; Beeghly Hybrid, Pierson; Wilson Hybrids, Harlan; Berry Seed Co., Boone and Clarinda.

Only One Pair of Eyes

Whether you work frequently at a sewing machine, a typewriter or a machine in a factory, it's important to have the background painted in a color that does not contrast too sharply with the machine itself. Too much contrast requires the constant focusing and refocusing of the eye muscles, bringing on eye fatigue.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET

Merge Television and Movies In a Marriage of Convenience

By BILLY ROSE

You might not think it to look at them, but the two big branches of show business are in heavy trouble — movies and television broadcasting.

The movies, a business with plenty of product, is up against a rapidly shrinking audience, and though some of the companies are still in the black, it's a cinch they won't be when there are 10 million TV sets in 10 million parlors. Judging by the financial pages, the people who own the companies agree with me because most of the movie stocks are selling for less than half of their 1946 quotations.

Billy Rose

The television business, on the other hand, has a rapidly expanding audience but darned little product worth looking at. And, as I see it, it isn't the fault of the TV tycoons — there just isn't enough theatrical talent around to provide good live entertainment for the [illegible] half-hour shows which the networks must present each week.

In other words, unless something is done about it and pronto, one business will grow more insolvent and the other more insipid.

Is there a solution? Of course, and like all good solutions it's a simple one: Television must marry the movies, or vice versa—and if there are laws on the books which get in the way of these nuptials, then in the public interest the laws will have to be changed.

The advantage of this alliance are many and obvious. First, through the sale or rental to telecasters of film expressly made for the foot-square TV screen, the movies can start recouping some of the money that the home sets are siphoning out of their box offices. Second, on a give-and-take basis, the film companies will be able to run off their trailers in millions of living rooms, and the few tests of this type of advertising indicate that it's plenty potent. Third, the midget screens can be used to develop new picture personalities, and this, as movie men will tell you, is the real life blood of their silly business.

What can Hollywood do for Television? Plenty. A sufficient amount of the right kind of film will solve better than half of its programming problems—and I'm, of course, not referring to the grade-Z vintage stuff which certain stations now run as a last and ludicrous resort.

I'm talking about pictures expertly tailored for the small screen, skillfully staged and lighted, and which, among other things, will steer clear of the long shots which look like so much oscillating mush.

Hollywood eventually can produce darn near every type of TV program from the travelogue to the three-act dramatic play, but for openers it might do well to concentrate on the popular classics that people never seem to get tired of.

For instance, the best of the short stories of De Maupassant, O. Henry, Ben Hecht, Damon Runyon and Somerset Maugham; ditto, a series of symphonic standbys with Toscanini and Stokowski conducting; double ditto, the inspired antics of Jimmy Durante, Maurice Chevalier and a hundred others in the rhinestoned hodgepodge that makes up show business.

Access to such a stock pile of film classics would, among other things, take the bone-crushing pressure off the TV programmers and allow them to concentrate on a few really good live shows.

And before long, if they use the sense that God gave geese, the blending of the reel and the real would add up to entertainment which one could watch without rushing for the rail. The overall consequence would be that two businesses which give employment to tens of thousands would once and for all climb out of the red and into the pink.

Paramount Pictures, which paid $560,000 for an interest in DuMont some years ago, is angling to sell its holdings for $12,000,000. That would be a nice capital gain, of course, but I wonder if it wouldn't be smarter for Paramount to hold on to this stock and invest a few extra bucks in a film library to make DuMont the first TV network worth a second look.

Who knows—it might be a handy hedge against the time when there are 20 million television sets, and DuMont is considering the purchase of Paramount for $560,000.

May Use Squeak, Too

The meat packer who used all the porker except the squeal has been matched by an electrical machinery manufacturer who even uses rust. By a new steam oxidation process, this manufacturer gives steel a uniform coat of rust. The film insulates the steel and makes it resistant to moisture and burnout.

John Deere Wins First Loop Game

CITY SOFTBALL LEAGUE

	W	L	Pct.
Elliott's	6	1	.860
GMI	5	1	.800
Helland-Long	3	3	.500
Mello Maid	3	4	.430
VFW	2	5	.280
John Deere	1	6	.140

Elliott's and John Deere won scoring sprees in the City Softball League session Monday evening, the former trouncing Mello Maid 17 to 5 and the latter blasting VFW by a 14-4 margin. Mello Mail held a 4-3 lead entering the fifth, but at that point the victors lowered the boom.

Elliott's regained lone possession of the league lead with their victory, while the defeat dropped Mello Maid into fourth place. The win over the Vets was John Deere's first of the loop season and boosted them to within a notch of VFW, resting in fifth place.

Last Thursday evening VFW pulled a shocker by trimming Mello Maid 6 to 5, in a bitterly fought scrap. Helland and Long downed Kanawha in the other half of the double-header, 12 to 9.

This evening (Thursday) General Mills will endeavor to use Helland and Long as a stepping stone back up to a first-place tie. Mello Maid will tackle either Thornton or Alexander in the second tilt.

On Monday night, General Mills will cross bats with the VFW and Elliott's will tangle with Helland and Long.

fore it plunged into the garage. Johnston strenuously denied this charge and the crumpled steering wheel of the cab substantiated his denial.

Ervin Miller of Ruthven, owner of the trucking concern for whom Johnston drives, said Johnston has had a good safety record and scoffed at the suggestion that the driver would even consider abandoning the truck.

Sheriff Brower said Wednesday morning that no decision had yet been made as to whether any criminal charges would be filed, but he considered it unlikely.

Saturday had started out as a particularly happy day for Howard Boller and his wife. In the morning he had brought her home from the Belmond hospital with their first child, a son who had been born on July 10.

Funeral services for the young man were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Goodell E. U. B. church, with Rev. James Stewart officiating. Military rites were performed at the Goodell cemetery by the Belmond Veterans of Foreign Wars, in behalf of the Goodell American Legion post. Fulton Funeral home was in charge of the services.

Boller was a veteran of World War II and had seen action in the European theatre as a member of the army tank corps.

Howard was born in Belmond on March 10, 1926, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Boller. A few years later the family moved to Goodell, which had since been his home. He graduated from Goodell High school and soon afterward entered the U. S. Army.

On July 2, 1949, Howard was married to Donna Dempsey of Goodell. Besides his wife and son, Gary Charles, he is survived by five sisters and three brothers; Mrs. Elroy Latch of Charles City, Mrs. Marvin Lackore of Hayfield, Mrs. Laurence Christie and Darwin of Goodell, Harriet, Larry, Jerry and Beth, still living at home.

la room, utility room, a bathroom for male and one for female patients, janitor's closet, central store room, boiler room, public toilet and public telephone booth.

Although no contract has been signed as yet, from preliminary conversations with Mr. Beuttler it is believed that his firm can have preliminary plans for approval before the end of August. He estimated that a minimum of four or five additional weeks would be required to produce detailed plans after the preliminary sketches have been accepted.

Finance Chairmen W. H. Trafford and R. W. Courson point out that, with negotiations at the point they have reached, it is highly essential that contribution pledges be paid now.

The present time schedule provides that the architcct be authorized to advertise for bids some time in October, Obviously, no contracts can be entered into unless money to back them is in the bank.

If contracts are let before the end of the year, as is presently planned, it will be very important that the building committee know what funds can be counted upon. Pledges can be mailed or delivered to the A. C. Hanson insurance office.

pound was entirely possible. About that time, "Obie" was beginning to wonder, "Why not?'

Bob Locke, county farm planner, visited the Oberhauser farm last Friday to estimate what sort of seed yield might reasonably be expected. It's a rule of thumb that each head of seed per square yard represented one pound of seed per acre.

A count was made in one thick patch of grass. It revealed 297 heads. In a relatively thin area, a second count totaled 111 heads. Bob Locke offered the opinion that an average yield of 150 pounds per acre could be expected.

That set "Obie" to indulging in a little quick arithmetic. He'd figured the pasture would provide the equivalent of about $60 worth of hay per acre, as heavy as the brome—and alfalfa, which is planted with it—is standing. An additional $75 worth of seed per acre would put the take from those 30 acres up well over what the same number in corn or oats would produce.

Next month, the pleased Mr. Oberhauser will be carefully watching for the top three inches of brome stem to appear fully dried. Then he plans to combine that bonus crop of seed.

There may well be a number of other farmers with exceptional stands of brome, clover, alfalfa, or other desirable grasses and legumes, who can reap an unexpected harvest this year by following Mr. Oberhauser's example. If you think you may have a field worthwhile stripping, Mr. Bowman will help you to decide.

Coming Events

THURSDAY, JULY 20—

W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church will hold a pot-luck picnic in the City park at 1:00 o'clock.

Worship service will follow the picnic at the church with Mrs. Russell Porter leading the worship service and Mrs. Leslie Smith leading the program.

CONTACT

On one hand we have the man who has an office file and a desk that he does not use. If he just realized that he is "holding up production" he would advertise them for sale through a Classified Ad.

On the other hand we have a man who would pay a good price right now for a desk and letter file because he needs them in his business. And if he saw them advertised in an Independent Ad he would be ready to buy in a hurry. Want Ads make contact! Phone 331.

:-Goodell News-:

By Mrs. Amos Hanson

Former Resident's Son Dies Sunday

The Goodell community was shocked and in sadness, Tuesday, when word came that John Robert Harland Miller, six month old son of Doctor John Miller and Dr. Lenore Miller of Albany, N. Y., passed away suddenly, Sunday evening, July 9, following a brief illness. The grandparents are Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Miller of Gladbrook. These are former Goodell folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hofer accompanied by Mrs. H. L. McCorkle of Algona and Mrs. Victor Young of Clear Lake spent a few days last week in Minneapolis, Minn. The three ladies are sisters.

Mrs . John Lauen and Mrs. Henry Busse spent, Thursday afternoon, in the Clarence Bachman home near Klemme enjoying a visit with the latter's daughter, who is here from Texas.

Sunday visitors in the John Lauen home were the Andrew Lauen, Daniel Pals and Enno Ostendorf families.

Rev. and Mrs. Leroy Rhodeback, Bonnie and Jerry came, Friday, for a visit in the parental Gus Okreug home and in the home of Mrs. Rhodeback's sister, Mrs. Harry Ruka. Rev. Rhodeback is with the Methodist conference and has been recently assigned to serve the church at Arcanum, Ohio. For several years they have been at Delphos, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Evenson and sons of Fertile spent Sunday in the parental A. G. McMullen home.

Mrs. Raymond Johnson invited a few ladies to her home, Tuesday afternoon for a Stanley party.

Mr. and Mrs. Verle McNutt, Lois and Carol of Waukegan, Ill., were guests last week in the home of his brother, Robert McNutt and sister, Mrs. E. C. Kienenberger and from here went to Spencer, Thursday, to visit another sister, Mrs. Al Whitaker. The two former are teachers in the Waukegan high school.

Mrs. Robert Roth presented the Missionary study book, Thursday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Will Eimbrink. Mrs. Wilmer Burk of Belmond was an out of town guest.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Ahrenkiel were called to Rochester, Minn., Thursday evening, due to the serious condition of her brother, Hugh Clark of Conrad. He submitted to a second major operation that night. The local folks remained until Friday evening to be with her mother, Mrs. George Clark and Mrs. Hugh Clark. A Marshalltown surgeon is also at Rochester with Mr. Clark, and he is some better.

Twenty ladies of the Methodist Aid of Belmond enjoyed their circle meeting Thursday afternoon in the Sheriff home with Mrs. Bill Pals as assistant hostess.

Rosary Society Held Guest Day at Meeting

The Rosary Society held their July meeting Thursday afternoon with "Guest Day" in the home of their president, Josephine Dominy. Following the business session, the society gave Mrs. Lee Robbins a lovely wedding gift for her daughter, Norma, who will be married July 29. A social time followed and a nice lunch served. September hostess will be Mrs. Ralph Hofer. The Rosary ladies are selling gift wrappings. Out of town ladies coming to the Dominy home were Mrs. Hauko Barkema of Belmond, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Harvey Barkema and Mrs. Leo Barkema of Klemme.

Mrs. John Peterson Elected Ladies Aid President

Mrs. John Ahrenkiel and Mrs. Anton Ahrenkiel were hostesses to the E. U. B. Aid last Wednesday afternoon in the church dining room. During the business meeting the members voted to pay the deficit of $13 for the Bible school literature. The annual Dime Card party will be Aug. 16. The president, Mrs. O. C. Evenson, resigned as they are moving Aug. 1 and Mrs. John Peterson was elected to fill the vacancy. Aid hostesses for August are Mrs. Bill Ayres and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson.

BUTTER!

Golden sweet corn — with lots of golden butter . . . it's an Iowa tradition. Butter adds energy too . . . especially Vitamin A. Its natural golden color comes from rich golden cream — since four pints of cream go into the making of each pound of butter.

For nutrition, for health, for downright goodness . . . there's nothing finer than the high-score Iowa butter for which our creamery has built such a reputation. Use butter generously in cooking, and at every meal.

COUNTY'S BOND SALES REACH $165,00 TOTAL

With only one more report due on the Independence savings bond drive, sales in Wright county last week had reached only 57.82 per cent of assigned quota.

County Chairman Clark McNeal stated that series E, F and G bond sales by latest count totaled just under $165,000, compared to the goal of $285,332.

Because of heavy late sales, the treasury department changed the campaign rules to allow for credit on all mail transmittal letters and orders postmarked not later than this Monday, July 17. Previously, July 15 had been set as the deadline.

As of last week, only Marion and Boone counties had reached their quotas, with Marshall and Polk ranging third and fourth and having more than 90 per cent of their quotas fulfilled.

ARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Paul Jenison Was Corn Yield Contest Winner ast Fall; Had 112-Bu. Average Despite 'Blow'

Paul Jenison is rather inclined "keep his light under a ushel" in discussing his ability a farmer. In fact, one might en gather from a conversation ith him that he simply views rming as just a way to make a ving — and a rather difficult ay, at that.

But it all adds up to just so uch camouflage. Scratch the urface and you find not only a ighty good farmer but a fellow ho's got farming in his blood, well.

Three generations of Jenisons have farmed in the vicinity northeast of Belmond where Paul now operates his father's place—his father is Ralph Jenison, who retired three years ago and now lives in town — and we suspect Paul would find himself a "square peg" if he ever left the farm.

Evidence of his farming skill, nd the quality of the Jenison arm, was provided last fall when aul was named Wright County orn Growing Champion by the eKalb Agricultural association or producing a test yield of 12.31 bushels per acre.

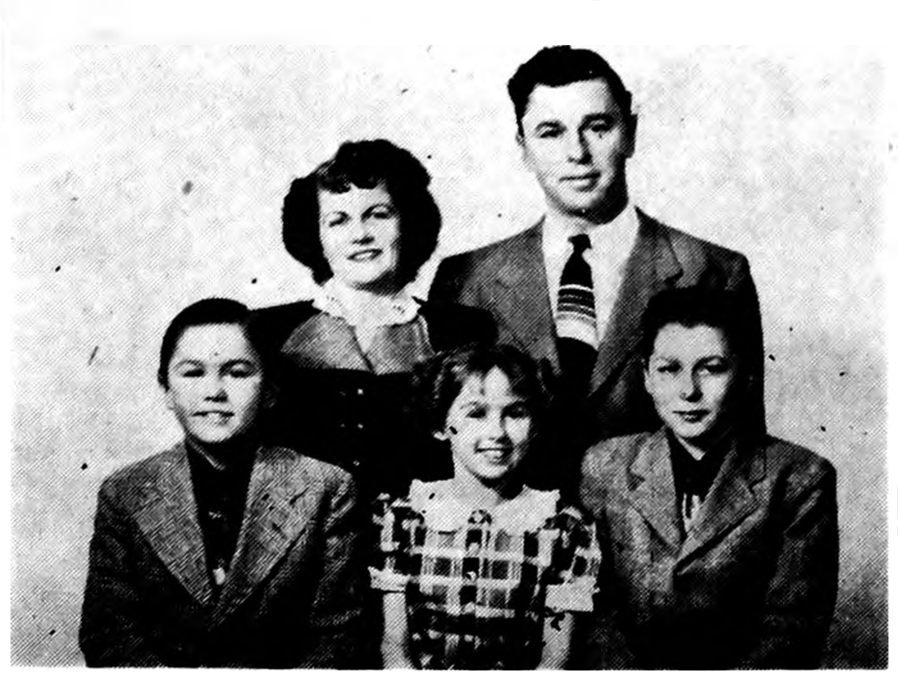
Paul hadn't even had in mind ompeting for the championship nd was surprised when the udges came around to measure is field. They chose as the test lot a portion of a 30-acre field hat had been planted and cared or no differently than the rest f Paul's corn.

We take that back — it was different to this extent. It was part of 70 acres he had sprayed against corn borers; and Paul says that the spraying really paid. He picked up an average of only nine bushels of down corn per acre in that field, despite the terrific wind storm just prior to harvest time.

In another 34 acres of unsprayed corn, the percentage of down corn ran just about normal for the rest of the county—which was plenty. Also, the sprayed ears were very handsome ones; and those from the unsprayed field plainly showed the ravages of the borer.

In the course of interviewing Paul and his wife, we also stumbled onto the fact that he had a 40-acre field of Clinton oats a couple of years ago that averaged right at 100 bushels per acre. Even so, Paul isn't one to rest on his laurels. When we got to discussing the new Shelby variety, Paul was completely open-minded about them and declared, "Sure I'll be interested in trying them, if there's a reason to believe they might be even better than Clinton."

While too many farmers this year are still on the benefits of spraying for corn borers, Paul is among those fence in regard to the actual who are completely convinced. He purchased a spray outfit of his own and all his corn has received two good doses of DDT.



Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenison and family

Paul rents the 160-acre home place from his father on a crop-share basis and farms 110 acres on the Ed Smalley farm in similar fashion. With close to 270 acres of crops to look after, he's really been kept hopping of late.

His hired hand, Harold Tuller, has just had to take an enforced vacation due to a recent bout with pneumonia. Harold has been taking a 10-day "get well" trip; and you can rest assured that Paul is looking forward to his scheduled return this Thursday, hale and hearty and ready to go.

On the home place, Paul has 54 acres of corn (a bit under his allotment), 50 of oats and 32 in soybeans. On the Smalley farm he's planted 68 in corn, 32 in oats and 10 in beans.

In the way of stock, the Jenison farm has 137 spring pigs from 17 sows; part are from litters of Poland China-Duroc sows bred to a hybrid boar, the rest from similar crosses bred to a purebred Duroc boar which is the prized possession of his 11-year-old son, Merrill. Incidentally, Paul says he plans to go back to using a Duroc boar, entirly, for his fall pigs.

Some of his earlier pigs, farrowed in February, are already nudging 210 to 220 pounds in weight and should be "ready to go" in around a couple of weeks more time.

Paul also has nine Holstein dairy cows, two milking Shorthorns and a Brown Swiss. In addition, he has eight heifer calves. A year ago all his calves were running to bulls; he likes it much better the way heifers have been making their appearance this year.

The Jenisons were "high school sweethearts" and, to the contentment of both, never outgrew their early attachment for each other. They graduated from Belmond High school in 1933 and were married June 30, 1935. Besides Merrill, they have another son and a daughter—Marlin, who is 14, and Meredith, who'll be 10 in August. All five members enjoy a very active part in family undertakings and the kids show every evidence that they'll grow up to be just as good farmers as their dad; or in Meredith's case, as helpful a farmwife as her mother.

All the Jenisons are fishing enthusiaists; in fact, only this past weekend they returned from a fishing jaunt to Leech lake in Minnesota. The boys get a big kick out of hunting, too; and Meredith says making doll clothes is a hobby of hers.

Mrs. Jenison is a highly gifted musician and finds herself kept busy with engagements to play the piano and organ as soloist or accompanist. She also plays the pipe organ at the Methodist church, which the whole family attends.

Since high school days Mrs. Jenison, who before her marriage was Maxine Nordschow, has found sewing a source of much enjoyment. Paul thoroughly approves of this hobby as one that is also highly practical from the standpoint of domestic economy.

Probably the high point in the adventures of the Jenison family came last year when mom, dad and the kids took off on what Paul described as a "delayed honeymoon" and spent three weeks on a trip to the west coast and back. At Dayville, Ore., they visited Paul's brother, Delbert; and at Pacoima, Calif., another brother, Philip, and a sister, Mrs. W. K. Phalsgraf.

Unfortunately, a state of civil war almost developed on the way home when the trip had to be greatly rushed to get Mrs. Jenison here in time to participate in the Congregational church musicale. It's still a tender subject around the Jenison household, and both Paul and the children warn her that when, as and if they undertake another trek, Mrs. is NOT to make any previous commitments that will call for a "flying" trip home.

Heart Tags Bring $169 in Donations

Contributions to the welfare fund of Volunteers of America, by purchase of "Have a Heart" tags last Saturday, totaled $169.38. Florence Baxter, campaign chairman, adds that Donald Hood and Marlan Cunninghm tied for first place among the juvenile solicitors by gathering $14.81 apiece from sale of tags.

Cash prizes were awarded to the two boys, and also to Jimmy Stadtlander, with collections of $12.88, Freddy Cronk with $11.65, Irene Redmond with $8.27 and to Wilma Pruisman, whose total was not announced.

Ten other young workers received movie passes, through the generosity of Manager Gene Bradley of the New Belmond theatre.

Miss Baxter deemed the tag day, proceeds from which go to aid the underprivileged, a success. The campaign sponsors expressed gratitude to those who gathered in "the mites" which, added together, totaled a creditable sum; and to those who made contributions.

Appreciation was also expressed by Miss Baxter to the sponsors for use of their names and to the newspaper for publicity given the tag day.

WOOLSTOCK GIRL HAS BEST "VOTE" LETTER

Marlene Thorne of Woolstock won the Farm Bureau Good Citizenship Letter Writing Contest in Wright county with the following letter to her parents as to why they should vote:

"Dear Parents:

In the beginning our ancestors left their homeland to establish a government in America, "Of the People, For the People, and By the People". The control of our government is in the hands of the people and it is your responsibility as well as every other eligible American citizen to vote regularly.

In America we have many freedoms such as Freedom of Worship, Freedom of Speech, and Freedom of Press. We can keep these gifts and keep America free only by you and all voters carefully studying the persons they think fitted for the positions.

You should vote for the candidates that will do the best work in carrying out his or her duties and the wants of the people.

To summarize the question of "Why My Parents Should Vote", I would say you should vote, so that only the ablest men will have the task of protecting our already acquired freedoms and to promote a better democracy.

These two new products give farmers a simple, practical fly control program that gets results. Both products contain DDT, both are safe and effective.

BARN SPRAY is for buildings. Mix it with water and spray it where flies settle. They die as a result of lighting on sprayed surfaces.

Livestock FLY SPRAY Concentrate, mixed with water, is for use on livestock. In addition to DDT, it contains Thanite for quick knockdown and repellancy. This gives milking time protection—something DDT alone can't do. Also kills flies that attack cows in pasture.

"Hidden" Pay

The typical American worker in 1947 received from his employer benefits of more than $424 above his wages, according to a recent study. The study revealed that business is carrying a "hidden payroll" in addition to hourly wage costs, and that this "hidden" expense amounts to an average of more than 15 per cent of wages. These non-wage costs include pension insurance, life insurance, old-age and survivors' insurance, workman's compensation, non-production bonuses, etc.

SECOND SECTION

VOL. 30 NO. 40 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, July 20, 1950 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

About one tenth of Wright county's farmers have availed themselves of the services of the Soil Conservation Commission, according to farm-planner Bob Locke of Clarion. Specifically, 186 have undertaken soil conservation measures recommended by and under the direction of the commission.

At present, another 76 farmers have applications in for guidance on soil conservation undertakings on their farms. In addition, Mr. Locke is currently engaged — and has been for the past month —in following up on conservation programs that have been in operation for some time on the original 186 farms . . . What we're implying is, Bob doesn't find time hanging very heavy on his hands these days.

To get an idea of just how Bob performs his duties as farm planner, we accompanied him last Friday on a preliminary follow-up visit to the Glenn Baker farm northwest of town. Glenn had a comprehensive rotation plan mapped out for him a couple of years ago, and Bob wanted to see just how well the plan's been followed.

In the main, he found that Glenn has been sticking pretty closely to recommendations. There were a few instances in which alteration of fields had upset the plans for rotation; but Glenn is definitely sold on the wisdom of soil conservation.

This is evidenced by excellent grass waterways he has established in a couple of large fields which this year are planted in corn. He is employing brome grass to bind the soil, and the long, numerous roots of the brome are doing a first class job.

One field, which is divided by a sizeable gully that is now planted to grass, would have lended itself ideally to contouring. Glenn said he'd called the commission office a couple of times in early spring in the hope that he might receive a hand in making plans to contour, but he failed to make connections with Bob. Both he and Bob regretted this.

They intend in the near future to start plans for the contouring of a field near the river next spring, determined that they'll get the job done this time.

Bob says that he helped plan for the contouring of about 200 acres farm land in the county this year, and previously an additional 100 acres were already being farmed on the contour. That total of 300 acres is not very impressive, he admits, when one considers that there must be 4,000 to 5,000 acres in the county that would lend themselves practically and profitably to contouring.

The 18-acre area that Glenn would like to contour next spring, directly adjoins the Iowa river on the east edge of the Baker farm. Glenn suggested that some terracing might well be to the point, in conjunction with contouring the field, as it has been washing quite badly. Bob believes that this can be done entirely with Glenn's own tractor and plow; and after another visit with Glenn intends to get at the devising of specific plans.

There's a great need for much additional contouring throughout the county, and are innumerable fields that definitely require grass waterways to control erosion, according to Bob. But he says that the geatest basic soil conservation problem in the county is that of selling the farmers on proper crop rotation. Although the majority make an effort in this direction, Bob doesn't feel that most farmers plan sufficiently over the long range in setting up their crop schedules.

Much of the soil is rapidly being depleted in humus and important nutrients by failure to work the most desirable grasses and legumes into rotation plans. No farmer can overwork his soil without knowing full well that he's doing it; but Bob says it's all too easy to have good intentions in regard to crop rotation and still fail to accomplish what should be accomplished by careful attention to crop schedules.

That's where the Soil Conservation Commission enters into the picture. Bob says the Soil Conservation Service can do much to help a farmer benefit to a maximum from time and effort devoted to rotation planning and is anxious to provide that help.

Besides assisting on rotation plans and contouring, the SCS will give advice on tile drainage, diversion of water from lowlands, construction of earth fills, establishment of wildlife areas (Glenn Baker has an excellent one), planting "living fences" of multiflora rose, (and other projects that directly involve soil conservation.

Like so many of the "new wrinkles" that the farmer is exposed to these days, soil conservation usually needs only to be tried to gain a convert. Bob declares that often the farmer who is toughest to "sell" on conservation measures in the first place becomes one of the most enthusiastic supporters of soil conservation once he's proved its value to himself.

That soil conservation PAYS, not only in protecting the value of a farm over the years but in dollars and cents over the "short haul" as well, rapidly proves itself beyond argument, these Doubting Thomases find. And from Doubting Thomases they soon change to earnest deciples.

That's Bob Locke's story; and he says he can prove it.

From Car's Ex-Owner We Hear—

Dick and Model T Made It

—Only Three Days to Houston

Dick Thompson and his Model T made it!

You'll recall the story a couple of weeks ago regarding the Minneapolis youth in a '26 Model T (we said '24, but have been corrected by an authority who should know), who was heading for Houston, Texas, and a wedding—his own.

From Myrtle Vinton Bulmer of 3240 Elliott avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., from whom young Thompson bought the car, we've received a letter giving us the outcome of Dick's journey.

The car had been in storage for more than 20 years when Dick paid ransom in the form of a $125 purchase price and freed the vehicle to perform its romantic function.

After correcting us on the age of the auto, she writes, "I had a note from Dick yesterday and, believe it or not, he got to Houston the Thursday after he was in Belmond (note: he left here about mid-morning on Monday). Said he had a fine trip and didn't even have a flat—but had to hold onto Lizzie Ford. Had many offers to sell; as high as over $250."

While Mrs. Bulmer didn't say so, it seems a fair assumption that Dick's faithful steed completed its assignment and got him and his bride to Galveston for their honeymoon.

We only hope that the young bridegroom, who only last January was released from the air corps after completing air cadet training, doesn't have to exchange his Model T for an F-80 in the too near future.

Incidentally, Mrs. Bulmer informed us that for 18 years she toured Iowa with the Myrtle Vinton Show, her own dramatic company. In fact, she well remembers playing Belmond, many years ago.

Which prompts us to state—if we may coin a phrase—"It's a small world, isn't it?"

JOLLY JOY MAKERS

Joanne Krause was hostess to a meeting of the Jolly Joy Makers on Thursday, July 6th. Karen Campbell acted as chairman. Seven members were present and all were in uniform. Mrs. Donald Baker was the leader in charge of the meeting. Guests were Carol Lewis of Eagle Grove, Mrs. J. Jergensen, Mrs. Abner Toftey and boys and Mrs. W. L. Kurtz and Larry.

Viola Rowley and Joanne Krause, delegates to district camp, and JoAnn Kurtz, delegate to state convention, reported to the club. The camping trip and cottage at Clear Lake was discussed and Mrs. Toftey, who is to be a chaperone, presented a tentative schedule of activities and work duties for the three-day vacation, July 25-27.

Opal Burras will be hostess on July 20.

Only Nine in Wright County Growing The New Shelby Oats

Nine farmers in Wright county are growing a total of 200 acres of the new Shelby oat variety which will be distributed to Wright county farmers this fall and winter.

Shelby oats is a new selection made by the Iowa Experiment Station and has the highest yielding performance of any of the oat varieties yet distributed. Shelby oats is about three to four days later than Clinton oats, tillers* less in wet years and outyields Clinton about three bushels per acre.

It is two inches taller than Clinton and a little more susceptible to lodging than Clinton but is as stiff strawed as the other new oat varieties. Shelby is a little more resistant to Race 45 Crown Rust than Clinton and is resistant to most other races of crown and stem rust, and smuts. Shelby oats kernels are white to ivory in color, thin hulled and excells Clinton in test weight.

The nine growers of Shelby oats in Wright county are: G. M. "Gus" Halverson, Jr., of Belmond township; F. R. Scott of Liberty; Henry Michels of Lake; Nels Lindvall of Grant; Laurel J. Hill of Blaine; Raymond Clark of Vernon; Dean Maxon of Wall Lake; Clarence Hildebrand of Troy; and Morse Neilsen of Woolstock, who is growing the Shelby oats for the Eagle Grove F. F. A. Chapter.

Farmers of Wright county who wish a supply of Shelby seed oats for sowing in 1951 must request the oats from some one of the Wright county growers, according to Extension Director Aaron Bowman.

The price for completely certified oats, cleaned and in new bags, will not be more than $1.00 per bushel above the November 1, 1950 Chicago cash price of U. S. No. 2 oats. Not more than 90 bushels of Shelby oats can be sold to any one grower or concern.

All the fields of Shelby oats being grown by the nine growers in Wright county have passed the rigid field inspection of the Iowa Crop Improvement association. The oats must also pass rigid bin inspection and germination requirements before being completely certified.

All the farmers growing the Shelby oats have invited neighboring farmers to look at their fields before harvest.

The Shelby oats are being grown and distributed according to the requirements of the County Seed Distribution committee as set up by the Iowa Crop Improvement association. According to Dr. H. C. Murhpy, who is in charge of the oat breeding work at the Iowa Experiment Station, and with the U. S. D. A., the only Shelby oats being grown in the state is that which has been released by the Iowa Experiment Station through the County Seed Distribution committees.

*Ed's. Note: We had to look this one up. If you don't know, either, it means, "to put forth new sprouts or shoots, especially from the root."

GRANT GO-GETTERS

The Grant Go-Getters 4-H meeting was held July 7, 1950 at Clear Lake, combined with a pot luck dinner. Barbara Barnes acted as hostess and Judith Woodin as assistant hostess. Eleven members answered roll call.

A program committee was appointed for Achievement Day, Jeanine Hardy, Nancy Barnes and Margery Murphy.

Comes Again the Familiar Problem; To Enlist, or Not to Enlist?

These days many a family is faced with that familiar domestic dilemma of 10 years ago. In those households that include a young man of draft age, there is bound to be a great deal of conjecture as to what's the best thing to do. Should the potential draftee enlist while some choice can be exercised as to type of duty desired, or should the situation simply be waited out?

For those youths who are not in school, are eager to get in on the scrap, have no ties to hold them and are faced with no serious parental objections, we see no major obstacle to enlistment. So long as they appreciate fully the risk involved and are willing to accept it, we can only say, "Somebody's got to take the responsibility of fighting for a free world. If you feel obligated at this time to shoulder your share, good luck and Godspeed!"

But to those who wish to delay military service until there is a definite need for men in their particular category, we suggest, "Don't jump the gun."

Men 25 years of age (nearest birthday) and classified in 1-A are presently listed as the first who will be called, if the state quotas for the various armed services are not filled by enlistments. If it proves necessary to tap other age groups to fill the military needs, public announcement of the fact will be made.

In the meantime, if you are in any doubt about your status, consult your draft board. Don't enlist impulsively under the impression that it's necessary to assure yourself of serving in the particular military branch that you prefer. Keep in mind your draft classification, and if there is a change in your personal status that would alter that classification, see that draft board is so informed.

It is highly improbable that any individual will find himself UNEXPECTEDLY called for induction. Just keep yourself informed in regard to the developments in selective service demands. And keep your fingers crossed.

If Joe Wants to Fight, He's Erred In Allowing Uncle Sam to Warm Up

When military events take the turn they have over in Korea, it inevitably provides the second-guessers with a field day. Curbstone critics always have the answers.

We even have our two-bits worth. We can't help but wonder why the air force had to discover the hard way that their new jet planes are not adaptable to ground support; that they can't, by a long shot, take the place of WWII Mustangs and Corsairs in this regard.

Furthermore, it has come as a distince shock to the flyers that their rockets aren't up to the job of piercing the armor on the communist 60-ton tanks. Didn't military intelligence know the type of armor employed in these tanks? Apparently not, or the necessary armaments in adequate supply would have been available.

Above are just a couple of the "snafu's" that have greatly handicapped American defensive efforts to date. Quite a number of others have come to light; we read of them in each day's news dispatches.

Having aligned ourselves with the curbstone critics by pointing out these weaknesses in Uncle Sam's military preparedness, we'd like to point out that such unpreparedness is more or less intrinsic in a democracy. The United States has been so deeply involved in converting to normalcy after the last conflict that it was inevitable we would be lagging behind our communist adversaries, who never ceased to be geared for warfare.

Now that the "cold war" is coming to a simmer, we've complete confidence that our military shortcomings will be corrected. If it is Joe Stalin's plan to gradually add kerosene to the fire until the war becomes an out-and-out "hot" one, his approach to the conflict was all wrong.

Allowed some preliminary warm-up sessions, he'll find Uncle Sam a much more formidable adversary than if the first punch had been sneaked in when we weren't looking, like the Japs did last time.

If Propaganda Can Sell Lies, It Can Also Sell Safety

Was it Goebbels who said, in effect, "Any lie that is repeated often enough will be believed?" Anyway, the Nazi bigwig who made the statement has been proved correct, over and over again. But if the remark is accurate where lies are concerned, why shouldn't repetition of vital truths be equally effective?

The newly formed Iowa Safety Congress is building its campaign for safer living on the assumption that repetition can sell truth just as well as lies. Attractive safety posters in the form of a "STOP" sign will soon be appearing in thousands of business houses and offices throughout Iowa. Each week these posters will offer a different safety "tip".

The weekly messages of these posters will be supplemented by newspaper and radio publicity, films and a wide range of community activities built around the theme of safety.

During the period of Aug. 22 to Sept. 5 a statewide "Drive Right" campaign will be conducted in the hope of demonstrating, by actual reduction of traffic deaths during that time, just how effective safety propaganda can be if widely purveyed.

What organization in Belmond will be the sponsor of the local campaign we don't yet know. But without qualification, the Independent intends to lend its full support to the project. The safety posters will be the keystone of the whole campaign. Cost of the durably constructed "STOP" signs, in yellow and black, and the cardboard weekly inserts will be only $12 a year—$1.00 per month. When the campaign gets rolling locally, we hope to see a "STOP" sign in every business house, office and public building.

Yes, we're firmly convinced that safety can be sold by repetition, just as easily as lies. If Iowans support the campaign whole-hearedly, we believe they'll be richly rewarded in lives saved and injuries avoided.

In our editorial last week commenting on the fact that Belmond this year has two candidates running for state legislative posts, the name of a third completely slipped our mind. Vernon McLaughlin, well known farmer of this community, is of course Democratic candidate for Wright county state representative. The oversight was entirely unintentional and Mr. McLaughlin's name certainly should have been mentioned along with those of Clark McNeal, his Republican opponent, and Rodney Urdahl, Democratic senatorial candidate from the 37th District.

We overheard a couple of farmers the other day discussing the pros and cons of spraying for corn borers. One reported examination of one plant in a sprayed area and another in an untreated check row. On the former were 16 borers—of which 13 were dead. The unsprayed plant was playing host to 14 thriving pests . . . There's one farmer in whose mind little doubt remains as to whether spraying will pay off or not.

———0———

Seems to us that a very obvious explanation of the corn borer infestation has been entirely overlooked. Only the Russians have ever shown enough imagination to accuse an enemy of warfare by potato bug. The channel that Red intelligence (?) is following thereby becomes obvious . . . Well?

Once Again Those Draft Categories Hold Importance

Although there is at present small liklihood of anything resembling a heavy draft in the near future, a review of draft classification seems to the point so that those in the 19 to 26 age bracket can make sure just how they stand with their local draft board.

Below is printed such a review, with explanation of what each classification means:

1-A: Available for military service.

1-A-0: Conscientious objector available for non-combatant military service (such as army medical corps).

1-C: Member of armed forces, coast guard, coast and geodetic survey or public health service, and certain registrants separated therefrom.

1-B: Member of reserve component or student taking military training.

2-A: Deferred because of civilian occupation, except agriculture.

2-C: Deferred because of agricultural occupation.

3-A: Registrant with dependents.

4-A: Registrant who has completed service. Also, a sole surviving son.

4-B: Official deferred by law.

4-C: Aliens (who must register.)

4-D: Minister of religion or divinity student.

4-E: Conscientious objector to both combatant and non-combatant military service.

4-F: Physically, mentally or morally unfit.

5-A: Over age (now 26) of liability for military service.

Iowa will have to provide only 344 men for the draft ordered last week for this coming September. On a population basis, Wright county's share of this total would be only four or five men. These inductees will be drawn from amongst the eligible 25-year-olds.

With the draft once more a matter for reckoning, selective service officials stress that all men who have registered must keep their local boards informed as to changes of address and occupation so their files will be up to date. Attaining the age of 26 does not exempt a man from his responsibility.

Farm Safety Week . . .

JULY 23 - 29

SHOULD BE CIRCLED IN RED ON YOUR WORK CALENDAR

for, during Farm Safety Week, you should devote as much time as you can spare, in checking your farm from highway to boundary post, to make sure that it is in thoroughly safe condition to reduce for yourself and others the possibilities of tragic accidents. Review carefully: Machinery and Equipment, Buildings and Farm Yard, Fire Hazards, Animals, Electric System, Hand Tools, Health Habits and your Farm Home. Correct undesirable conditions immediately.

Farm Safety Week

JULY 23 to 29

Do You Know . . .

National FARM SAFETY

That more people were killed in farm accidents than were killed in the great Chicago Fire, the Sinking of the Titanic, the San Francisco earthquake and the Johnstown flood combined. You don't hear much about farm accidents, yet farms are the scene of an alarming number of fatalities. National Safety Council figures indicate that 20,000 people are killed on farms each year.

In Farm Safety Week, we urge you to take every step to bring safety to your farm. We should also like to remind you of the benefits of ADEQUATE INSURANCE, for you, your family, your livestock, your crops, your buildings and other possessions.

Do You Know About Our FARMERS COMPREHENSIVE LIABILITY INSURANCE?

It gives you complete liability coverage on every type of accident except those involving registered vehicles, which are covered by other types of liability insurance. No farmer can say he is entirely safe without Farmers Comprehensive Liability Insurance.

WE'LL BE GLAD TO EXPLAIN THE ADVANTAGES AND COST OF SUCH A POLICY.

National Farm Safety Week Warning: Farming Amongst Most Hazardous Jobs

Farmers might be inclined to look with sympathy upon the occupational hazards of coal miners steeplejacks, "sand hogs", laborers in heavy construction and Hollywood stunt men. But before letting their sympathies run away with them, they might give a bit of sober thought to the fact that their own occupation is the third most dangerous in America on the basis of lives lost and workers maimed each year.

That is why the week of July 23-29 has been set aside by the Président's Council on Industrial Safety as National Farm Safety Week. The Council feels that great improvement could be made on the farmers' accident record if those engaged in farming would be more careful to avoid the hazards that in 1949 injured more than 300,000 and killed over 4,400 employed in agricultural work.

Last year, in fact, one out of every 15 farmers was either permanently or temporarily disabled in the course of routine work. The dollars-and-cents loss due to these accidents exceeded $75,000,000. The cost in human lives and human suffering is left open to conjecture.

Probably tractors took the highest toll in fatal and disabling injuries during the past year. Careless handling around ditches was responsible for many injuries and deaths. Permitting children to ride during tillage operations accounted for scores of tragedies.

Carelessness around moving machinery "harvests" a bumper crop of arms, legs and fingers every season. An effort to save a few seconds by unclogging a machine that's in operation has created many a one-armed farmer in a couple of second's time.

Chance-taking is so characteristic of the occupation of farming that many a farmer seems to reason that, since he must gamble on the weather, insect pests and market trends, he'd just as well make it an all out gamble and disregard reasonable caution in performing his daily labors.

Of course, the "smart" farmer protects himself against every hazard that can be foreseen. He sees that sharp tools have a proper place and are kept there when not in use; he respects the capriciousness of breeding bulls and doesn't take unnecessary chances around them; he doesn't meddle with electrical equipment where a wet floor may make him a part of the circuit.

The properly cautious farmer sees that his home and barns have adequate lightning protection, that hay isn't stored when damp, that faulty stoves and improper electrical connections are repaired; and he's cautious when smoking around farm buildings, especially if hay is stored in them.

In recent years, effective safety programs in factories have reduced industrial accidents to a small per cent of what they used to be. Whereas factory accidents used to outnnumber farm mishaps by quite a margin, today the rate in factories is only about one-third as great per 100,000 workers as on the farm.

The sponsors of National Farm Safety Week are convinced that accidents on the farm can be reduced just as sharply by eliminating the "hazard" from "haphazard" practices that cause death and permanent disabilities.

Multiflora Rose Seed Offered Again for Planting in Autumn

Thirty thousand packets of multiflora rose seed will be distributed free to Iowa farmers by the Conservation Commission for planting this fall.

This rose proved successful as a stock-proof living fence in the south part of state and, with large numbers of experimental plantings successful to date in the north part, is heralded as a great boon to Iowa's wildlife.

The thorny shrub, which grows to a maximum height and width of eight feet and is non-spreading, provides excellent refuge and nesting places for game and songbirds, as well as small game animals.

In addition to its use as a living fence and for wildlife cover, multiflora rose hedge is excellent for wind erosion control.

Free seeds in packages of 1,000 along with complete planting instructions will be mailed about the 15th of September for late fall planting to farmers making requests before September 1.

The seeds may be grown in a vegetable garden plot and demand about the same care during their first year as seedling carrots or onions. When the new plants are a year old, they may be transplanted to their permanent location.

The seeds will have about 60 per cent germination, one packet being enough for 600 plants, or 600 feet of living fence. After transplanting the seedlings must be cultivated the first year, two or three times, depending on weed competition.

A single cultivation the second year is generally required, but no further cultivation or pruning is necessary thereafter.

Requests for free multiflora rose seed should be addressed to the State Conservation Commission, 914 Grand Ave., Des Moines 9, Iowa.

DON'T "CULTIVATE" ACCIDENTS ON YOUR FARM

A field half plowed—a furrow left unturned—work stopped by accident!

To the farmer, working against time and weather, delay can mean the difference between a crop and no crop, a good year or a lean one. So accidents have no place in his schedule; they cost money, delay production—and the growing season keeps rolling along.

Yet, farming ranks third most hazardous in eight major industries. Think of it, while the death rate for all industry is 29 per 100,000 workers, in agriculture it is 55 per 100,000! One farmer in every 15 is injured on the job! Total—4400 killed, 300,000 disabled by injury every year..

The wise farmer knows where his hazards are—and avoids them. Falls, machinery and animals account for most accidents down on the farm. Their annual cost—$75,000,000. Yet, they're so easy to prevent. Just a little caution is all it takes.

Don't "cultivate" accidents and losses! Instead, "cultivate" safety and success!

SHIRLEY COULSON WED TO DOWS MAN JULY 16

Shirley Coulson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coulson, was married to Robert W. Hograbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hograbe of Dows, in an evening candlelight ceremony performed at the Methodist church on Sunday, July 16.

Rev. J. Heber Miller performed the ceremony. Jean Coulson, sister of the bride, wsa her only attendant; Harry J. Hograbe, the groom's brother, served as best man. Leonard Warden, a friend of the groom, and the bride's brother, William Coulson, were ushers.

Elisabeth Harlow of Nevada, cousin of the bride, and Caren Coulson, another sister of the bride, acted as candlelighters. Patricia Chapman was vocal soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Jenison, who also provided appropriate organ music during the ceremony.

sister of the bride, was her only

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a high-necked, floor length white net gown, with lace trimmed, finger tip veil of white illusion held in place by a seed pearl tiara. Her bouquet was of white gladioli centered by an orchid, with a cascade of white sweet peas. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlors for 125 guests.

The maid of honor wore a floor length gown of orchid bengaline and carried a colonial bouquet.

A graduate of Belmond High school and Iowa State Teachers college, the bride has taught the past two years at Popejoy. The groom, who graduated from Dows High school, is engaged in farming near Dows.

The couple planned an extended trip through the east, after which they will be at home on the Hograbe farm near Dows.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Hograbe are shown above cutting wedding cake at the reception that followed their marriage at Dows on July 16.

CITY SOFTBALL STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Elliott's	7	1	.833
General Mills	5	2	.714
Helland-Long	4	4	.500
Mello Maid	3	4	.429
VFW	2	5	.286
John Deere	1	6	.143

Helland and Long made a valiant try at properly scrambling the city softball standing during the latest two rounds of play, but a rally by Elliott's Monday evening partially thwarted the effort.

The implement team surprised General Mills last Thursday evening, dumping the Millers 3 to 2. Monday night Helland and Long went into a 5-0 lead in the first three innings of their contest with the league leaders, but Elliott's pulled the fat out of the fire with an 11-10 verdict.

In a non-league game Thursday evening, Mello Maid took a drubbing by Alexander and on Monday night John Deere was soundly thumped by Kanawha, 16 to 6.

With the league season nearing its final stages, Oscar Lundstrum of Elliott's leads the batters with a plate average of .605. The reason for the high standing the hardware team has maintained is largely explained by the fact that it boasts four of the top 10 batters.

Dick Barkema of Elliott's is runner-up, Rolland Pals in sixth and Russ Gaetzke in seventh place, with .500, .403 and .400, respectively.

Eddie Albers of GMI ranks third with .500 (says the scorekeeper) and his team mate Jay Negrete fourth with .444. Jake Boelman of John Deere is fifth with .440, Arlo Paul and Cleo Wilson, both of VFW, are eighth and ninth with .380 and .375 Stoffer of John Deere is tenth with .350.

Games this evening will see General Mills pitted against VFW and John Deere opposing Mello Maid. On Monday evening, John Deere will meet Elliott's and General Mills mixes with Mello Maid.

Milo Stark of Clarion Back in County Jail--Driving Minus License

Milo Stark of Clarion, whose penchant for running afoul of the law seems to plague him with tiresome regularity, was back in the county lock-up last week for a 30-day enforced vacation.

He was picked up by Patrolman Al Sparby on Highway 3, just east of the junction with 69, last Tuesday. The charge was operating a motor vehicle on the public highway while license was under suspension. Justice of the Peace O. E. McGahey at Clarion named the sentence.

On Wednesday, Arthur E. Halton of Joice was stopped six miles east of Clarion for passing on a yellow line. In McGahey's court he paid a fine of $2.50 and costs on information filed by Patrolman Carl Condon.

Two young men from Hampton, at leisure while the Maytag division there is tied up by a strike, were heard Saturday on a charge of taking some scrap iron from a farm to alleviate their temporary financial straits via the junk yard.

Marvin Johnson and Cecil Froning showed Justice McGahey they had only 45 cents between them. He levied a fine on each of $3.00 and costs.

When last heard from, the boys still were waiting to get back to work so they could balance their books.

General Mills to Play Softball Doubleheader

A softball doubleheader has been scheduled by the General Mills Men's club for this Friday evening at the GMI diamond.

At 7:30 p. m. the GMI team will play Alexander and at 8:45 Thornton will provide the opposition.

To help defray expenses, an admission charge of 25 cents per car will be asked, with no limit placed on the number of occupants to a car.

expenses and part to increase in the number of patients from Wright county.

While anticipated expenditures for secondary road construction are reduced from $130,000 to $100,000 and those for maintainance increased from $207,000 to $350,000, the auditor says that both figures are deceiving. He explains that the 1950 estimate for maintainance was actually a good deal short of the real need.

A considerable amount of the maintainence money, Mr. Charlson added, is ultimately obtained by transfer from the construction fund, which receives much of its money from the state.

In the final analysis, a bulk of the increased tax askings for 1951 is accounted for by the greater needs of the soldiers' relief fund and payments to state institutions — with $2,000 additional required for the old age and survivors fund (the county officers' equivalent of social security), which now requires a deposit equivalent to three per cent of the total wages compared to a previous two per cent. Road costs will be somewhat higher, too.

The increased askings boost the estimated taxes per $1,000 assessed value from $9.00 in 1950 to $11.40 under the 1951 budget. Public hearing on the budget will be held at the courthouse at 10:00 a. m. on Aug. 7.

NEW ENGINEER JOINS ROWAT-MURRAY STAFF

Donald E. French, a native of Farmington and 1948 graduate of the Iowa State college school of engineering, has joined Rowat and Murray's staff of engineers.

Mr. French comes to Belmond from Texas, where lately he had held an engineering position with Phillips Petroleum company. He started work last week and is currently helping supervise construction of the farm-to-market road at Dows.

Married and the father of two sons, two and a half years and six months old, Mr. French plans to move his family here as soon as he can find satisfactory living quarters. His wife and youngsters are remaining at Farmington until that time.

Mrs. Lloyd Green went to Waterloo, Friday, to spend the weekend with her sisters, Mrs. Ethel Kelting and Mrs. Charles Schnabel at the Schnabel home.

Braves in Peewee Lead Rowan Here on Tuesday

By virtue of a 4-3 win over the Cards last Thursday evening, the Braves went into the lead in the Peewee League baseball standings. On Friday evening the Cubs retained third place with a narrow victory over the Yanks, 3 to 2.

The Braves remain undefeated in three games. The Cards have a two-one record, the Cubs split four games and the Yanks have lost four in a row:

The scheduled all-star game with Dows had to be postponed Tuesday because of rain and was to be played last night. Next Tuesday the all-stars will meet the Rowan Peewees here at 5:30 p. m. This Friday night, the Cards and Braves meet for the second time.

Easy! This Time of Year's ROUGH ON MARRIAGES

The Independent's Court of Domestic Relations is now in session.

Advice for the day is, "For the next few weeks, if you can't speak in kind words to your helpmate, keep your mouth shut."

We have on good authority—the same being Loren E. Chancellor, director of the division of vital statistics, Iowa state department of health—that the danger period for marriages is upon us.

July and August, reports Mr. Chancellor, see more Iowa marriages go on the rocks than any other time of the year. Since 95 per cent of divorce cases in this state are either granted or denied after two months, the end result is that August through October sees matrimonial mortality hitting its peak.

Maybe hot weather and resulting short tempers are to blame; but whatever the explanation, more divorce proceedings are initiated during mid to late summer "dog days" than any other like period.

In 1948, Iowa's monthly divorce average was 464—but divorce totals jumped to 519, 478 and 510 in August, Septetmber and October, respectively. Last year the average was 453, but the same three months saw the law breaking up 526, 489 and 467 marriages.

Oddly enough, the family smash-ups are to a great degree compensated for by the fact that August and September follow right behind June as the biggest months of the year for weddings.

June of '48 saw 4,047 Iowa couples advancing to the altar—in August 2,978 pairs said "I do" and 2,849 in September. Fourth high month was way down around 2,300.

In June of '49, wedding bells rang for 3,626 couples; 2,473 were "hitched" in August and 2,582 in September. No other month saw over 2,200 weddings.

Maybe the unseasonably cool weather will keep more marriages on an even keel over the current summer. But men, if you thoughtlessly get lippy with your frau and end up paying alimony—don't say we didn't warn you.

District Court Notes

Several cases were filed in district court over the past week for hearing during the September term. Two appeals from revaluations and assessments of the board of review were included, one being filed by A. P. Thompsen of Belmond.

The clothier has appealed revaluation and assessment of personal property consisting of the stock of goods and merchandise of his store here, and of the store's equipment and furnishings.

A similar appeal, involving stock of goods and merchandise, was filed by the Eagle Grove men's clothing store of Leuthold and Hinkley.

Two petitons for judgments against Dick Hanson of Belmond were filed, by Roy Tegland and Clarence Cook, respectively, both of Kanawha.

Tegland states that Hanson owes Tegland's D-X Service $122.96 for gas, oil and repairs charged during the period of Feb. 10 and April 1, 1949. Cook's petition asks judgment for $168.30 on account of gas, oil and repairs charged at Cook's D-X Service during the period of April 20 to Dec. 19, 1949.

William Winter of Eagle Grove is asking judgment of $734 against Eagle Flying Service, Inc., of the same town. The plaintiff states that his wage agreement with the defendant provided that he was to be given 10 hours per month in flying time and that 87 hours—at $7 per hours—had been denied him. In addition, he claimed that the flying service owes him $125 in cash wages, which it has refused to pay.

Judges Pick Best Long-Time Record Books in County

Four long-time 4-H record books from Wright county are to be entered in the 1950 state contest. They were prepared by Ruth Martin, Charlene Edwards, Norma Jean Mishler and Janice Neilsen. Ruth Martin's long-time expense book was selected as Wright county's entry in state competition.

Charlene Edwards' book on leadership will be sent, Norma Jean Mishler's on citizenship, Ruth Martin's as outstanding home furnishing record and Janice Neilson's as outstanding girl's record.

The record books were judged by Mrs. Clarence McBride, county 4-H chairman; Mrs. Thomas Mathre, Mrs. Homer McGrath, Mrs. Fred Kirstein, Mrs. Melvin Olson and Mrs. Leo Woodley.

The Grant Go-Getters entered five books, which was the largest number entered from any one club.

Other placings of long-time record books were: Marcia Rasmussen, Rachel Fisher, Rachel Peterson and Janice Hammond, red ribbons; Sharon Strait, Florence Mechem, Janet Olson and Jean Ann Olson, white.

Twenty-four 4-H girls are keeping long-time record books in Wright county and nine are keeping long-time expense account books. Before a record is considered long-time, a girl must keep a yearly record book for three years.

Marcia Rasmussen, Rachel Fisher, Rachel Peterson and Florence Mechem of the Dayton Dandies; Ruth Martin of Belles of Boone; Jane Tillman of Lincoln Lassie League; Janice Neilsen of Woolstock Willing Workers.

Flames Destroy Farm Well House

Fire in the well house of the Joseph Burgess farm northeast of town brought an urgent call to the Goodell fire department early Monday morning.

Discovered about 3:00 a. m., the blaze was thought to have started in a water heater run by fuel oil. Shortly after going out in the yard to investigate the flames, Mr. and Mrs. Burgess heard a large explosion from the heater.

The well house and its contents were totally destroyed, in spite of the prompt response of the fire truck. However, the firemen successfully kept the blaze from spreading to the nearby house and other buildings.

Several windows in the Burgess living room were shattered by the heater explosion.

Of the items in the well house—which was also used as a laundry room—the Burgesses most regretted the loss of their washing machine.

Brainy 'Possum Hound Outwits Sequatchie County Jewel Thief

By BILLY ROSE

A few days ago I got the following letter from a Mr. Jake Withers of Sequatchie county, Tennessee:

Dear Mister Billy Rose,

In some recent issues of the Nashville Tennessean I noticed the columns you wrote about educated animals—dogs that could add and subtract, and horses that could figure out cube roots—and so I figured you might be interested in hearing about the smartest four-legged critter in the history of Sequatchie county.

Billy Rose

To begin at the beginning, there's a truck farmer down here by the name of Lem Albright who owns a 'possum hound which is as black as the inside of a tar barrel. Lem calls him "Einstein" and, to hear Lem tell it, the dog has more brains than a passel of professors—and after what happened the other night at our smoked-ham supper and square dance, most everyone in Sequatchie is inclined to agree.

A COUPLE of weeks ago, Mrs. Will Purd'ys mother, who lived across the line in Grundy county, passed away, and when the family gathered for the divvying up, Will's wife got a gold brooch set with eight diamonds, three of them genuine. Needless to say, she wore the brooch to the smoked-ham supper and square dance, and needless to recount, it got more attention than a team-of-four with their tails trimmed.

Everything went smooth as molasses at the social until right in the middle of a "swing your partner" when Mrs. Purdy let out a screech and fainted dead away. And when they brought her around, she began hollering for someone to lock the doors because her brooch had been stolen from right off her chest.

Fortunately, our sheriff was on hand, and after he banged the lid of the piano to get people quiet he said, "Don't nobody leave this room. I hate to say it, but there's a low-down, thievin' crook in our midst, and I'm a-goin' to search every man-jack until I find Mrs. Purdy's brooch."

"Sheriff," said Lem Albright, "I don't think that'll hardly be necessary. My hound, Einstein, as you know, is the best-behaved animal in Sequatchie county, but the one thing he can't abide is to have a thief scratch his belly. So, sure as shootin', the minute he feels the fingernails of the fella we're after, he'll start in to yowl, and we'll have the thief in no time a-tall."

SOME OF US began to laugh, but the sheriff took Lem aside, talked to him a minute, and then banged the piano lid again.

"I don't rightly know whether Lem's notion is going to work," he said, "but there ain't no harm in givin' it a try. I'm goin' to ask him to take Einstein in the next room, and then I want all of you to get in single file and come in one at a time and scratch the hound's belly."

Everybody, including the fiddlers, did as told, and sure enough, 20 minutes later the sheriff pointed at a farmhand as he came out from seeing the hound and said, "It worked, like Jake said—there's the criminal."

When the man was grabbed and searched, the brooch was found in his pocket, and so, on top of a smoked-ham supper and square dance, there was a running-out-of town party to top off the evening. And all in all, it was easily the most successful social in a long while.

Next day, when Lem was interviewed by the editor of our paper, he didn't brag much about his hound. "To tell the truth," he said, "the sheriff and me, we wasn't too sure Einstein could spot the criminal, so we helped out a mite. I rubbed a little soot from the stove on the hound's underside, and every time anyone came out of the room the sheriff looked at his hands. The first person with clean hands figured to be our man, because the thief was a cinch to make believe he was scratchin' Einstein without really touchin' his belly a-tall."

Yours truly,
Jake Withers.

Albert Winfred Russell was bron Sept. 26, 1868 at Spring Valley, Minn. of Ellen Brothers and William A. Russell and died at his home in Belmond on June 11, 1950 at the age of 81 years, that date being their 48th wedding anniversary.

As a young man he moved from Mississippi to Meserv ey, Iowa, with his parents.

On June 11, 1902 he was united in marriage to Zella Young at the home of the bride's parents. To this union two children were born, Glenn of Kanawha and Doris, Mrs. Clair D. Bonte, of Belmond.

In 1905 he moved, with his wife, to Belmond, where for the past 45 years he had practiced as a veterinarian.

Music being his hobby, he spent many years helping in choir and band work.

He was a member of the Methodist church for more than 50 years, also a member of the I. O. O. F. for over 50 years.

He leaves his wife, Zella; children Glenn and Doris; three granddaughters, Marcia Russell, Linda and Catherine Bonte, one grandson, M. Dudley Bonte; one brother, Ernest of Minneapolis, Minn., other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held June 15 at the Methodist church with Rev. J. Heber Miller officiating. Burial was in Pleasant Hill cemetery near Iowa Falls with the I .O. O. F. in charge of graveside services.

Tomahawks Seize Second Place Tie In NI Standings

NORTH IOWA STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Garner	6	1	.857
Belmond	5	2	.714
Rowan	5	2	.714
Kanawha	4	3	.572
Rockwell	1	6	.143
Sheffield	0	7	.000

Max Spain and Lowell Gaetzke led a Belmond batting barrage that brought the Tomahawks an 11-3 victory Sunday over Sheffield's down-trodden nine. The win boosted Belmond into a second place tie with Rowan in the North Iowa Standings, as the latter lost a heartbreaker to Garner, 1 to 0.

With a home run in the fifth featuring his performance, Spain lashed out four hits in five times at bat. Lowell Gaetzke got three consecutive hits, each of them a two-bagger. All told, the Tomahawks hammered the visiting pitcher for 19 hits.

On the defensive end, Bud Nissen's offerings kept the Sheffield batters well under control. He fanned nine, while walking only four, and held the losers to four hits.

Sunday's game was an even-Steven affair for three innings, neither team being able to break the ice. But the Tomahawks picked up three runs in the fourth, three more in the fifth, and Sheffield was out of it from here on.

The Garner-Rowan battle reportedly was a real thriller. After battling their opponents even through eight innings, Rowan allowed Garner its crucial run with two down in the last half of the ninth. In the third loop game, Kanawha easily disposed of Rockwell by a 10-0 count.

Next Sunday's tilts will find Belmond playing host to Rockwell, Garner traveling to Kanawha, and Sheffield entertaining Rowan.

VOL. 30 NO.41 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | Belmond, Wright County, Iowa | Thursday, July 27, 1950 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | The Family Newspaper

Annual Town and Country Sport Festival Scheduled August 11

Full Day Program Now All Planned

The Wright county town and country Sport Festival will be held on Friday, Aug. 11, according to plans formulated by the Sport Festival general committee. The one-day event will be held at the Clarion recreation park and schoolgrounds and is sponsored jointly by the Wright County Farm Bureau and the Clarion Chamber of Commerce.

Anyone in the county, either town or country, is eligible to participate in the events and those who do not enter contests are invited to watch the fun as a spectator.

Finals of five softball tournaments will feature the morning activity with special grandsatnd programs for the afternoon and evening.

Family picnics will be the order at noon, with free watermelon and coffee provided by the sponsoring organizations.

Special features for the Sport Festival will be catching a greased pig for boys 10 to 14 years of age, and rooster chases for boys, girls, businessmen and ministers.

The livestock in each case will become the property of the one who catches it.

A combined tractor rodeo and passenger car safe driving contest will be one of the main events on the evening program.

Appearing on the afternoon or evening program will be the Rural Women's Chorus and the girls 4-H chorus.

Other contests and events include bait-casting, chair quoits, dart throwing, clock golf, dashes and relays, horseshoe tournament, rolling pin throwing contests, nail driving contest, pillow fight contest and tug-of-war.

Softball games will include the final of the junior boys 4-TH tournament, the senior boys 4-H tournament and the girls 4-H tournament. There will be softball contests for Rural Young People and another for men over 35 years of age.

The final event in the afternoon wil be an all-star softball game between the north and south halves of the county.

When Apple Trees Look Like Flame-Thrower Hit Them--It's Fire Blight

Apple trees in Wright county that have small branches and spurs looking as though they had been hit with a flame-thrower, are being attached by fire blight, says County Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman.

This is the disease that prohibits pear production in Iowa. Fire blight in Iowa apple trees is the worst it has been in 25 years, according to Arden Sherf, Iowa State college plant pathologist.

Recommended control for owners who have just a few trees is to prune out the infected branches before fall. Bowman says to cut back at least three or four inches into what appears to be healthy wood, since the bacteria are actually working ahead of the dead part of the branch. Disinfect the cutting tool between each branch with a solution of one part of mercuric chloride in 1,000 parts of water.

Orchardists who observe fire blight in their trees may fight the disease with an "in-bloom" spray of weak Bordeaux mixture (1-2-50). This should be applied when 75 percent of the blossoms are open next spring.

Bowman says that the cool, wet season apparently has favored the disease this year. The common Jonathan apple is one of the varieties most susceptible to fire blight and he says these trees will bear close watching the rest of the season.

Tree owners who suspect fire blight will find black markings on the infected stem, with an ooze containing the bacteria, if the disease is present.

During rainy periods, splashing rain scatters these bacteria through the trees to most of the twigs and leaves, where new infections will occur. Earlier in the season, honeybees also spread the disease to the blossoms.

FARM-FAMILY-OF-THE-WEEK

Everett Anderson's Firm Believer in Benefits Of Soil Testing and Proper Use of Fertilizer

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Anderson and sons.

Our farm family this week qualifies for the term more by association than by occupation. The Everett Andersons of Olaf are not actually farm folks, but Everett's job as manager of the elevator certainly keeps him in contact with agriculture as closely as any farmer.

Everett's been in the grain business for better than 10 years, and before that he worked for four years as a farmhand. His entry in the grain business was made at his home town of Hardy, where he was assistant elevator manager for two years.

Managership of the Farmers' Elevator at Harcourt for three years followed and he's managed the Olaf Elevator for Owner Harry Grubbs of Boyd, Wis., for something over four years.

He says he should be as well informed on agricultural problems as a man can become — if the farmers he talks with could only agree on just what the major problems and their answers are. Since they can't, though, Everett fears he's becoming more confused than informed.

In his 10 to 11 years in the elevator business, Everett has seen a drastic change from emphasis on the buying and selling of grain to and almost equal emphasis upon the storing of grain. He anticipates that grain storage will continue to be an important phase of the business for a long time to come.

When asked what he most enjoyed about his job, he replied, "Well, it ISN'T the way the market zooms up and down these days."

Everett says he's developed an increasing interest in fertilizers and their proper application. He believes that a majority of farmers could appreciably improve their land and their crops by wider and wiser use of fertilizers.

In this connection, he has become a thorough convert to the value of soil testing.

Considering the modest cost of proper soil testing through the service offered by the county PMA office, it's Everett's belief that soil testing will save any farmer money by informing him as to exactly the proper amounts and types of fertilizer needed.

"I used to kid myself that I could tell what a field needed by looking at it," Everett admits. "Then one time I limed a field—and later soil testing proved that it didn't need lime any more than anything. A farmer will find there are few ways in which he can more profitably invest $10 or $12 than in soil-testing his farm."

As we talked with the Andersons, the conversation swung to fishing. Even Everett admitted that Mrs. Anderson is the fisherman of the family. Both she and the boys — Eddie, nine, and Dennith, age seven—see to it that the head of the house sneaks off on no fishing expeditions by himself.

Everett describes himself as "the world's champeen small fish catcher". He has yet to snag one of the big boys that every angler dreams about — but that doesn't discourage him from keeping right on trying.

For a fellow who doesn't do an awful lot of talking unless he's got something to say, there's one topic that really gets Everett started. Just say "coon hunting" to him—then sit back and relax. You're all through talking for a spell.

Now don't get us wrong. You'll not be bored; not by a long shot. Everett regales you with coon hunting stories with all the zeal of Salvation Army officer trying to sell the attractions of life hereafter to sodden bar-fly.

Take, for example, the time he had a foot crushed by a falling plank. For three weeks he'd hobbled around on crutches. Then came a chance to go coon hunting. That night the crutches were abandoned and never thereafter pnt back into use.

"Woulda looked kinda funny, needing crutches to get about my business when I was able to hunt coons without 'em," Everett points out.

Until fairly recently, he had three coon dogs which were his pride and joy. One got killed; one died of old age; and one ran away. That's why, with another coon season coming up, Everett is at present in the market for a good Blue Tick hound.

The best season he can recall is one during which he and his dogs got 27 coons. Asked if he does most of his hunting in nearby timbers, he replied that he prefers to range fairly far afield.

"Coon hunting's like fishing. No matter now good it is close to home, there's more fun to traveling in order to get your coons," Everett says. There are plenty of coons close by, he admits; but he often drives to the vicinity of Algona or Humboldt, or sometimes north of Eagle Grove, to do his hunting.

A couple of years or so ago when he was training a hound pup during a hunt in Tyrrell's woods, the pup made a temporary, tactical withdrawal with the coon in pursuit. Much to Everett's chagrin, the coon forsook the dog to plant his choppers in the hunter's leg.

Everett says the wound festered a bit, but he didn't even get a lockjaw shot. Just figured that if he was due to be killed by a coon, there'd be a certain degree of natural justice involved.

Mrs. Anderson, a former Goldfield girl who was Juen Rasmussen before her marriage, says she's a bit confused herself as to how her first name derived its peculiar spelling.

"It's just 'June'," she says, Even if it is spelled differently."

The first year after the Andersons had moved to the Olaf community, Mrs. Anderson was offered the job of teaching at Olaf school. Last year she substituted for three months at Belmond No. 4.

As a result of these two periods of teaching, Mrs. Anderson has become greatly enthused over the profession and this summer took six weeks of work at Mason City Junior college to renew her teacher's cretificate.

This fall she will resume full-time teaching at Belmond township's Center School, where she will have 12 students.

As a parting inquiry, we reverted to the topic of coons and asked Everett if he ate any of his catches.

"Sure," he replied, "We eat several every season. The important thing is to broil him good first over a grate, to cook most of the fat out. Then roast him, with plenty of bread, onions and other fixin's for dressing. Cooked right, coon loses nearly all the gamey taste some people object to."

"Of course," he admitted, "When you come right down to it, though; the dressing's the very best part of a coon roast."

IOWA HAWKEYES

Reports on 4-H shortcourse at Ames and district 4-H camp were given by Bernard Norem and Kenny Norem, respectively, at the regular meeting of the Iowa Hawkeyes 4-H club held at the schoolhouse on July 19.

Discussions were also given on record books and 4-H health examinations. Reports were given by Cecil Hill, Jerry and R. E. Lee Aldrich III, Roger Wenzel, Richard Lyons and John Lager.

At the close of the meeting, a delicious lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lyons.

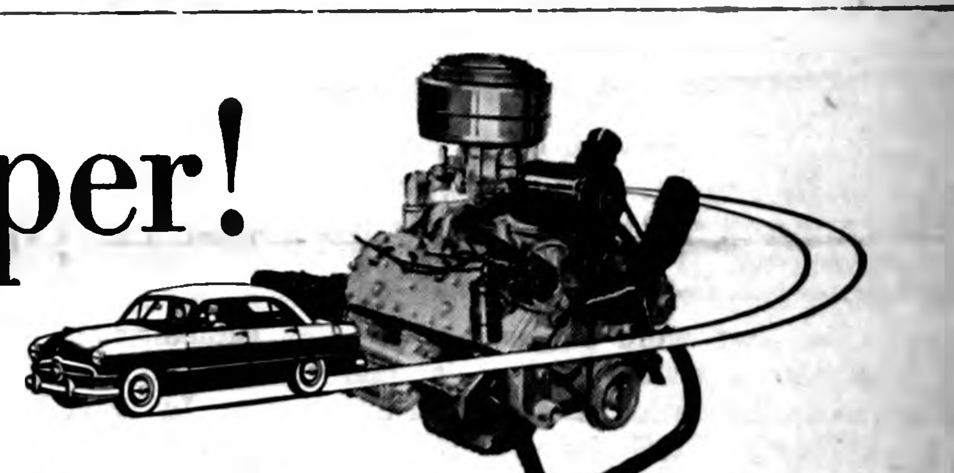
What a stepper!

Just hint to the gas pedal and she steps out like no other low-priced car. And that's true whether you're driving a Ford V-8 or "Six". But this high-stepper is a low spender when it comes to costs. You can own a V-8, for example, for hundreds less than most "Sixes"—and a Ford "Six" for even less.



What a stopper!

This '50 Ford actually helps you apply the brakes. They're 35% easier-acting King-Size Brakes that use car momentum to help you stop. Like Ford's extra-rugged "Lifeguard" Body, they give you the kind of protection you'd expect only of costliest cars. And for added safety and comfort, you ride low and level in the "Mid Ship" section of the car, between the wheels—not over them. You're cradled in comfort on "Hydra-Coil" front springs and "Para-Flex" rear springs that give a road-hugging smoothness truly amazing.

What a looker!

Yes, again in '50, Ford received the Fashion Academy Gold Medal as "Fashion Car of the Year." And Fords stay good looking because their baked-on finish is "made to live outdoors." That means high resale value which, together with Ford's low running costs, puts Ford further out front as America's savingest car.

'50 FORD

And what a saver— all the way!

Noted Military Expert Diagnoses Faults Hampering U. S. Forces

In an artice in the July 15th issue of The Saturday Evening Post, Hanson W. Baldwin has an article on the state of our national military strength, entitled, "We're Not the Best in the World." Two facts make the piece, in our estimation, very important reading.

In the first place, this New York Times-man is widely recognized as one of the most—if not THE most—authoritative analysts in this country. Secondly, the article was written before there was any inkling that the conflict in Korea was imminent.

"The average American thinks we can beat the world", Baldwin remarks, adding, "The old idea that one American can lick four or five 'foreigners' dies hard."

Americans are NOT the best soldiers in the world, "not by a damn sight" says this distinguished expert. We did not win World War II because we were best, he points out; "We won because—with our Allies—we were biggest."

Baldwin's article is not a mere blanket condemnation of American military ability and techniques. He give credit to the men and materiel that warranted praise; but he also exposes the specific weaknesses that hampered American military performance in World War II—and that promise to constitute serious obstacles to American victory in any coming war, if they are not in large part eradicated.

Without the evidence that has been provided in Korea to serve him as a guide, Baldwin outlines many — if not all — of the very shortcomings that have impeded our out-manned forces in their efforts to stem the Red tide.

He suggests that even after American tanks enter the fray, they may be hard-pressed to match the Russian monsters in effectiveness. He predicts the relative ineffectiveness of our tactical airforce in us against the enemy ground forces and in close support of our own ground forces. He foresaw the flaming spirit that has induced the North Koreans, even as Russian stooges, to advance heedlessly in banzai charges that have swept over and through our established defenses.

"We have great assets as well as some major liabilities," Baldwin concedes, emphasizing that his review of deficiencies was in no sense intended as a slur on American military virtues, "But the greatest of our assets — one which must be preserved and fostered — has been and still is our enormous industrial strength and our capacity for mass production."

In the event of an outright conflict with Russia, Baldwin continues, "the great quantitative superiority we enjoyed in World War II would be somewhat neutralized by Russian numbers. Not only numbers of men but numbers of machines, for the Russians are constructing and stockpiling during this cold-war period far larger quantities of tanks, tactical aircraft, guns and munitions than we, and they are probably expanding their capital-goods industries faster than we are."

With the all too accurate assertion that, "At the start of any war, we are certain to be fighting against superior numbers and superior fire power," Baldwin concludes, "The Americans of tomorrow can no longer rely solely on mass production. Quantity without quality could be catastrophic."

This thoughtful analysis by one of the most highly respected military experts in our nation should give those who wish to rush into an all-out war with Russia immediately, plenty of cause to reflect.

Hoarding's Surest, Quickest Way To Bring Back Rationing for All

Once more those small-minded, self-centered, thoughtless, domestic saboteurs —the hoarders—are inviting national rationing and price controls. These me-firsters are ever with us, and Belmond in not without its share.

We're happy to say that, to date, we've heard of few incidents of local hoarding. But we've heard of some. A single instance is one too many.

Every sack of sugar purchased for pure and simple stock-piling purposes, every set of tires bought in absence of need brings wartime controls a step closer.

We offer this reminder with complete lack of optimism that it will do much good. The hoarders are a breed unto themselves, without shame and without regard for others.

Don't YOU be tempted to join their ranks.

Safety Campaign, Should Pay Well In Lives Saved, Accidents Avoided

When Gov. William Beardsley was contacted some time ago by the National Safety Council in regard to Iowa participation in a highway safety campaign, he declined with the explanation that he preferred to see a more general approach made in this state to the problem safety.

That his refusal to take part in the highway campaign was not merely a "run-around" is manifested by later formation of the well publicized Iowa Safety Congress. This permanent organization will conduct a continual campaign stressing safety in nine different categories, of which highway safety will be but one.

Examination of fatality totals due to accidents in the nine different phases of safety promotion quickly justifies the governor's decision that a statewide campaign should have a wider base than traffic hazards alone.

In 1949, Iowa highways took a toll of 549 lives; another 489 were killed in farm accidents; mishaps in the home brought death to 409; fire accounted for 147 lives; industrial accidents caused 120 deaths; another 89 died in recreational pursuits; and aeronautical deaths numbered 19. No data was available on fatalities in and around schools, but they will comprise the ninth safety education medium.

Besides the 1,822 killed, accidents in Iowa last year inflicted injuries upon an estimated 200,000 and the public safety department sets economic loss due to hospital and medical expense and time lost at a total of 65 million dollars.

There is little question that heavy inroads can be made on these accident tolls by proper public education, and it impresses us that the approach of the Iowa Safety Congress to a "Plan for Safer Living" is an excellent one.

We believe every Belmond business firm should be eager to have a part in this campaign and trust that our business and professional people will readily subscribe to the safety poster service when called upon by Boy Scout representatives in the next days.

Nothing would arouse increased interest in county and state political conventions more quickly than occasional unexpected developments initiated from the floor. We readily grant that advanced planning is required to make such confabs run smoothly. But a spectator inevitably derives the opinion that they're not only planned in advance; they're "fixed" in advance. And woe betide the culprit that endeavors to upset an applecart.

—0—

The way the Iowa Democrats are taking pot-shots at our near neighbor and nominee for lieutenant-governor, Bill Nicholas, you'd almost think he was being girded for the governorship in 1952. And, it could be they're right.

—0—

You need hair in the plaster and straw to make bricks — and money to build a hospital. Time to get those pledges naid. NOW.

4-H Livestock Project Members Get Pointers

Some 70 beef, dairy and swine 4-H project members gathered at the Charles Nail farm on Saturday, July 15, to receive pointers from Joe Duea of Belmond and Morris Miller of Clarion on how to prepare their projects for fair.

Important items covered at this demonstration included the proper methods of clipping, washing, curling the hair, oiling the coat, trimming the feet, caring for the horns, and tips on showmanship.

Sheep project members visited the Sam Smith farm at Eagle Grove on Friday afternoon, July 21. Here they saw Clifford Knudsen from Jesup fitting market lambs for the Oskaloosa fair.

He explained and demonstrated the use of shears, wool cards, and the proper way to remove dirt from the wool, so as to give the lamb a blocky, stylish and attractive appearance.

"METER-ICE PLAN"

Easy! This Time of Year's ROUGH ON MARRIAGES

The Independent's Court of Domestic Relations is now in session.

Advice for the day is, "For the next few weeks, if you can't speak in kind words to your helpmate, keep your mouth shut."

We have on good authority—the same being Loren E. Chancellor, director of the division of vital statistics, Iowa state department of health—that the danger period for marriages is upon us.

July and August, reports Mr. Chancellor, see more Iowa marriages go on the rocks than any other time of the year. Since 95 per cent of divorce cases in this state are either granted or denied after two months, the end result is that August through October sees matrimonial mortality hitting its peak.

Maybe hot weather and resulting short tempers are to blame; but whatever the explanation, more divorce proceedings are initiated during mid to late summer "dog days" than any other like period.

In 1948, Iowa's monthly divorce average was 464—but divorce totals jumped to 519, 478 and 510 in August, Septetmber and October, respectively. Last year the average was 453, but the same three months saw the law breaking up 526, 489 and 467 marriages.

Oddly enough, the family smash-ups are to a great degree compensated for by the fact that August and September follow right behind June as the biggest months of the year for weddings.

June of '48 saw 4,047 Iowa couples advancing to the altar—in August 2,978 pairs said "I do" and 2,849 in September. Fourth high month was way down around 2,300.

In June of '49, wedding bells rang for 3,626 couples; 2,473 were "hitched" in August and 2,582 in September. No other month saw over 2,200 weddings.

Maybe the unseasonably cool weather will keep more marriages on an even keel over the current summer. But men, if you thoughtlessly get lippy with your frau and end up paying alimony—don't say we didn't warn you.

District Court Notes

Several cases were filed in district court over the past week for hearing during the September term. Two appeals from revaluations and assessments of the board of review were included, one being filed by A. P. Thompsen of Belmond.

The clothier has appealed revaluation and assessment of personal property consisting of the stock of goods and merchandise of his store here, and of the store's equipment and furnishings.

A similar appeal, involving stock of goods and merchandise, was filed by the Eagle Grove men's clothing store of Leuthold and Hinkley.

Two petitons for judgments against Dick Hanson of Belmond were filed, by Roy Tegland and Clarence Cook, respectively, both of Kanawha.

Tegland states that Hanson owes Tegland's D-X Service $122.96 for gas, oil and repairs charged during the period of Feb. 10 and April 1, 1949. Cook's petition asks judgment for $168.30 on account of gas, oil and repairs charged at Cook's D-X Service during the period of April 20 to Dec. 19, 1949.

William Winter of Eagle Grove is asking judgment of $734 against Eagle Flying Service, Inc., of the same town. The plaintiff states that his wage agreement with the defendant provided that he was to be given 10 hours per month in flying time and that 87 hours—at $7 per hours—had been denied him. In addition, he claimed that the flying service owes him $125 in cash wages, which it has refused to pay.

Judges Pick Best Long-Time Record Books in County

Four long-time 4-H record books from Wright county are to be entered in the 1950 state contest. They were prepared by Ruth Martin, Charlene Edwards, Norma Jean Mishler and Janice Neilsen. Ruth Martin's long-time expense book was selected as Wright county's entry in state competition.

Charlene Edwards' book on leadership will be sent, Norma Jean Mishler's on citizenship, Ruth Martin's as outstanding home furnishing record and Janice Neilson's as outstanding girl's record.

The record books were judged by Mrs. Clarence McBride, county 4-H chairman; Mrs. Thomas Mathre, Mrs. Homer McGrath, Mrs. Fred Kirstein, Mrs. Melvin Olson and Mrs. Leo Woodley.

The Grant Go-Getters entered five books, which was the largest number entered from any one club.

Other placings of long-time record books were: Marcia Rasmussen, Rachel Fisher, Rachel Peterson and Janice Hammond, red ribbons; Sharon Strait, Florence Mechem, Janet Olson and Jean Ann Olson, white.

Twenty-four 4-H girls are keeping long-time record books in Wright county and nine are keeping long-time expense account books. Before a record is considered long-time, a girl must keep a yearly record book for three years.

Elliott Increases Lead in Softball

CITY SOFTBALL STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Elliott's	7	1	.833
General Mills	5	2	.714
Helland-Long	4	4	.500
Mello Maid	3	4	.429
VFW	2	5	.286
John Deere	1	6	.143

Helland and Long made a valiant try at properly scrambling the city softball standing during the latest two rounds of play, but a rally by Elliott's Monday evening partially thwarted the effort.

The implement team surprised General Mills last Thursday evening, dumping the Millers 3 to 2. Monday night Helland and Long went into a 5-0 lead in the first three innings of their contest with the league leaders, but Elliott's pulled the fat out of the fire with an 11-10 verdict.

In a non-league game Thursday evening, Mello Maid took a drubbing by Alexander and on Monday night John Deere was soundly thumped by Kanawha, 16 to 6.

With the league season nearing its final stages, Oscar Lundstrum of Elliott's leads the batters with a plate average of .605. The reason for the high standing the hardware team has maintained is largely explained by the fact that it boasts four of the top 10 batters.

Dick Barkema of Elliott's is runner-up, Rolland Pals in sixth and Russ Gaetzke in seventh place, with .500, .403 and .400, respectively.

Eddie Albers of GMI ranks third with .500 (says the scorekeeper) and his team mate Jay Negrete fourth with .444. Jake Boelman of John Deere is fifth with .440, Arlo Paul and Cleo Wilson, both of VFW, are eighth and ninth with .380 and .375 Stoffer of John Deere is tenth with .350.

Games this evening will see General Mills pitted against VFW and John Deere opposing Mello Maid. On Monday evening, John Deere will meet Elliott's and General Mills mixes with Mello Maid.

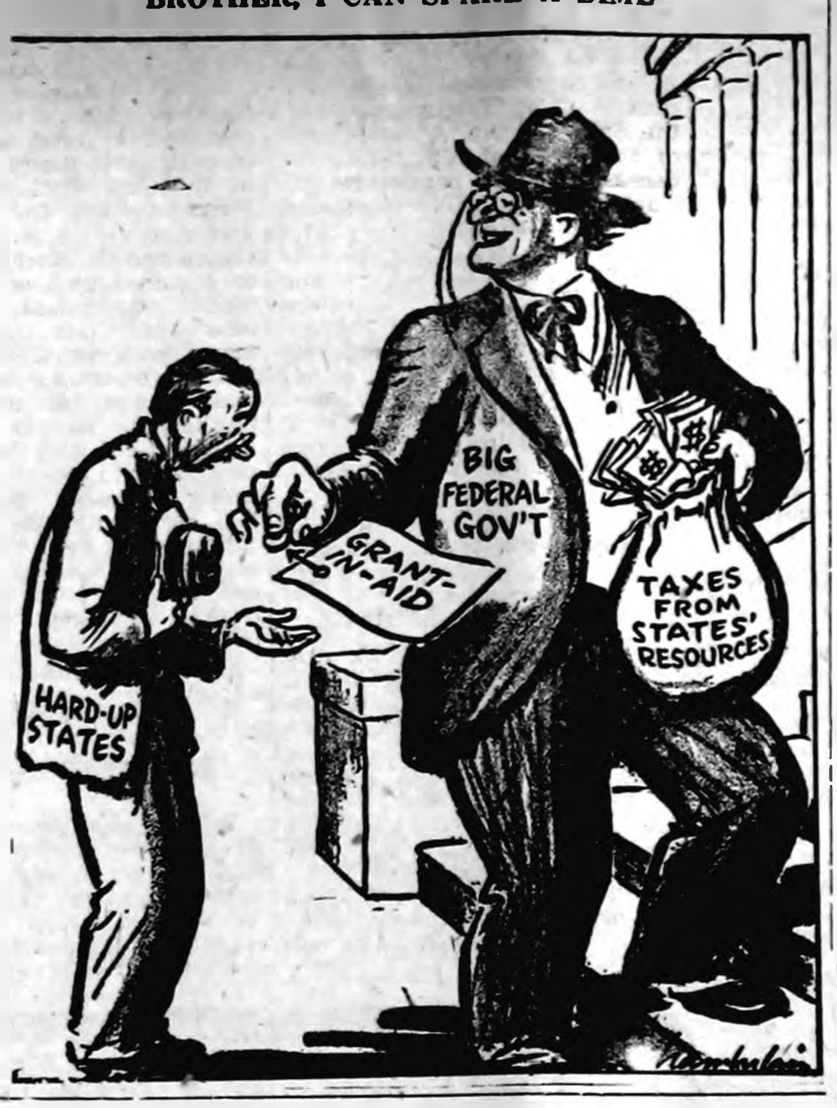
"BROTHER, I CAN SPARE A DIME"



Milo Stark of Clarion Back in County Jail-- Driving Minus License

Milo Stark of Clarion, whose penchant for running afoul of the law seems to plague him with tiresome regularity, was back in the county lock-up last week for a 30-day enforced vacation.

He was picked up by Patrolman Al Sparby on Highway 3, just east of the junction with 69, last Tuesday. The charge was operating a motor vehicle on the public highway while license was under suspension. Justice of the Peace O. E. McGahey at Clarion named the sentence.

On Wednesday, Arthur E. Halton of Joice was stopped six miles east of Clarion for passing on a yellow line. In McGahey's court he paid a fine of $2.50 and costs on information filed by Patrolman Carl Condon.

Two young men from Hampton, at leisure while the Maytag division there is tied up by a strike, were heard Saturday on a charge of taking some scrap iron from a farm to alleviate their temporary financial straits via the junk yard.

Marvin Johnson and Cecil Froning showed Justice McGahey they had only 45 cents between them. He levied a fine on each of $3.00 and costs.

When last heard from, the boys still were waiting to get back to work so they could balance their books.

General Mills to Play Softball Doubleheader

A softball doubleheader has been scheduled by the General Mills Men's club for this Friday evening at the GMI diamond.

At 7:30 p. m. the GMI team will play Alexander and at 8:45 Thornton will provide the opposition.

To help defray expenses, an admission charge of 25 cents per car will be asked, with no limit placed on the number of occupants to a car.

expenses and part to increase in the number of patients from Wright county.

While anticipated expenditures for secondary road construction are reduced from $130,000 to $100,000 and those for maintainance increased from $207,000 to $350,000, the auditor says that both figures are deceiving. He explains that the 1950 estimate for maintainance was actually a good deal short of the real need.

A considerable amount of the maintainence money, Mr. Charlson added, is ultimately obtained by transfer from the construction fund, which receives much of its money from the state.

In the final analysis, a bulk of the increased tax askings for 1951 is accounted for by the greater needs of the soldiers' relief fund and payments to state institutions — with $2,000 additional required for the old age and survivors fund (the county officers' equivalent of social security), which now requires a deposit equivalent to three per cent of the total wages compared to a previous two per cent. Road costs will be somewhat higher, too.

The increased askings boost the estimated taxes per $1,000 assessed value from $9.00 in 1950 to $11.40 under the 1951 budget. Public hearing on the budget will be held at the courthouse at 10:00 a. m. on Aug. 7.

NEW ENGINEER JOINS ROWAT-MURRAY STAFF

Donald E. French, a native of Farmington and 1948 graduate of the Iowa State college school of engineering, has joined Rowat and Murray's staff of engineers.

Mr. French comes to Belmond from Texas, where lately he had held an engineering position with Phillips Petroleum company. He started work last week and is currently helping supervise construction of the farm-to-market road at Dows.

Married and the father of two sons, two and a half years and six months old, Mr. French plans to move his family here as soon as he can find satisfactory living quarters. His wife and youngsters are remaining at Farmington until that time.

Mrs. Lloyd Green went to Waterloo, Friday, to spend the weekend with her sisters, Mrs. Ethel Kelting and Mrs. Charles Schnabel at the Schnabel home.

Braves in Peewee Lead Rowan Here on Tuesday

By virtue of a 4-3 win over the Cards last Thursday evening, the Braves went into the lead in the Peewee League baseball standings. On Friday evening the Cubs retained third place with a narrow victory over the Yanks, 3 to 2.

The Braves remain undefeated in three games. The Cards have a two-one record, the Cubs split four games and the Yanks have lost four in a row:

The scheduled all-star game with Dows had to be postponed Tuesday because of rain and was to be played last night. Next Tuesday the all-stars will meet the Rowan Peewees here at 5:30 p. m. This Friday night, the Cards and Braves meet for the second time.

Flames Destroy Farm Well House

Fire in the well house of the Joseph Burgess farm northeast of town brought an urgent call to the Goodell fire department early Monday morning.

Discovered about 3:00 a. m., the blaze was thought to have started in a water heater run by fuel oil. Shortly after going out in the yard to investigate the flames, Mr. and Mrs. Burgess heard a large explosion from the heater.

The well house and its contents were totally destroyed, in spite of the prompt response of the fire truck. However, the firemen successfully kept the blaze from spreading to the nearby house and other buildings.

Several windows in the Burgess living room were shattered by the heater explosion.

Of the items in the well house—which was also used as a laundry room—the Burgesses most regretted the loss of their washing machine.

Immense Crowd At Boller Rites Held Last Week

The E. U. B. church was filled to overflowing last Tuesday afternoon by relatives and friends attending the funeral services of Howard Boller, fatally injured the previous Saturday in a truck accident.

Rev. James T. Stewart officiated. The male quartet, composed of V. E. Harris, Bill Butts, J. J. Cook and Amos Hanson—accompanied at the piano by Marilyn McNutt—provided music for the occasion. Burial was in the Amsterdam cemetery.

The esteem in which the Bollers and Dempseys are held in this community was shown by the many who came to the funeral and by the beautiful floral offerings and memorials.

Out-of-town persons present were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dempsey and Tommy of Oklahoma City, Okla., Mrs. Eva Champlin, Mrs. Jim McKenna, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Champlin of Vincent, Lewis Dempsey of Washington, L. B. Dempsey of Keota, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dempsey and son of Eldora, Mr. and Mrs. John Dempsey of Grand Meadow, Minn.

Detasseling Army Descends on Thompson Corn Fields

Describing the organizational set-up for the big annual job of detasseling the many fields of Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn, R. B. Thompson, president of the company, said Tuesday "We run this thing something like an army."

On Tuesday the Thompson detasseling crews had reached a peak of 500 boys and girls, working within a radius of eight miles of Belmond. Mechanized equipment includes 19 detasseling machines as well as 11 school buses (six from Hampton and five from Colesburg) and three of Thompson's trucks for transportation.

R. B. himself and Carl Greenfield are the generals (supervisors). They supervise three area supervisors: Leslie Smith, Harold Loats and Vern Lein who in turn supervise the foremen, sub-foremen and row captains of each of the 10 foot crews (includes 30 to 40 boys and girls) and the overseers of each of the 19 machines (six detasselers work on each machine).

Charles Wilmarth, Research Director, supervises all of the work done in the corn breeding plots, test plots and seed-stock plots.

Work of the detasseling season got under way a week ago Tuesday, July 25, when the supervisors, foremen and overseers went out to the fields for checking, consultation and instruction. Actual detasseling was started on Thursday, the 27th. Thompson said Tuesday that it would take about another ten days to finish the job.

The detasseling process in the hybrid seed corn fields is to remove the tassels from six rows and skip two (the male rows) all through the fields. Detasselers go through the fields every day or every second day during the detasseling season. Most fields have to be covered about eight times, depending on the evenness or irregularity of tasseling. Some fields have varieties of corn which are quick shedders (pollen falls quickly after tasseling). Machines are used almost entirely in such fields. Four machines were seen working in one field east of Belmond Tuesday morning.

In the corn testing plot where new lines are bred and inbred lines increased for planting in seed-stock plots, the process of controlling the pollen is quite a bit more complicated. Thompson Hybrid Corn company has near Belmond a ten acre corn breeding plot which includes two test plots. Also near here are 10-seed plots, ranging from four to 20 acres. Seed raised in the seed-stock plots is planted the following year in the commercial seed fields.

For the most part high school age boys and girls make up the detasseling crews, with a larger percentage of girls. The smaller kids are given the jobs of working on the machines which make it easier for them to reach the tassels.

Detasselers are transported from home to fields each morning, bringing their sack lunches for their noon meal.

At present the schedule includes two bus loads out of Forest City, two out of Garner and Klemme, one out of Goodell, one out of Thornton, one out of Clear Lake, two out of Dows and Rowan, two buses and three trucks out of Belmond.

Some corn in Thompson fields had reached a height of 10 or 11 feet Tuesday. In spite of the cool summer Iowa has had to date, Mr. Thompson says that the Thompson fields are not more than three or four days behind the average maturity over a 10-year period, although about 10 days behind 1949 when corn was maturing about a week ahead of the 10-year average.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson were business callers in Fort Dodge one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hensel and girls visited at the Grover Ahrends home in Williams Sunday evening.

JR. LEGION BASEBALL CLUB TRIMS FOREST CITY 16 to 5

Belmond's Junior Legion baseball team, turned in their fourth win against three losses for the season defeating Forest City's Junior Legion 16-5 Tuesday at Forest City. The local boys scored in every inning with three of the runs coming on a 420 foot home run by Dean Freese of Rowan, with two teammates aboard.

Coach Jack Lansing uncovered a very capable fast ball pitcher in Don Heins, last year's football captain from Hampton. H. Reikena was the batting star for Forest City with a triple and a double.

A special home game has been called for next Thursday evening at 6:30 between the Junior club and the local Tomahawks. Coach Lansing said, he had a real lineup and promised the Tomahawks a surprise or two.

Intersection Collision Involved School Bus, Car With $350 Damage

A car-school bus collision in the middle of the intersection of First Street S. E. and First ave. S. E. Friday evening at 6:15 resulted in a total of $350.00 damages to car and bus, but no personal injuries.

Roland Aldrich of Galt, driving a 1948 Fraizer, was going west on First Street S. E. and hit the 1950 Chevrolet school bus, driven by Leland Holthaus of Colesburg, on the right hand side between the side door and rear wheels. The bus was going north on First Avenue S. E.

The school bus was empty except for the driver. Riding in the car with Aldrich were his wife and four children: Janet, age 11; Dennis, 9; Jim, 7; and Curtis, 4.

No one was injured, but damages were estimated at $300.00 to the car and $50.00 to the school bus.

Local officers a well as highway patrolman Sievers were called to the scene of the collision

Eradication Is Purpose of Annual Search for T. B.

The ninth annual search for tuberculosis cases among persons known to have had close contact with the disease will end with the x-raying of 35 persons at a conference to be held Tuesday morning, Aug. 8, at the courthouse in Clarion.

Alice Moore, R. N., public health nurse, has been interviewing and inviting these persons the past seven weeks, to have skin tests and, if necessary, chest x-rays to learn if they have contracted this infectious disease.

The x-rays, Miss Moore explains, will be given only to those persons recommended by their physicians. The x-ray films will be interpreted by the State Health Department and findings will be sent to the physicians where the persons x-rayed may receive their reports.

"Practically everyone I visited was willing to be tested. It is this kind of cooperation which will lead to the ultimate eradication of tuberculosis," Miss Moore said, in expressing her gratitude for the response she had received.

This tuberculosis case-finding program is sponsored by the Wright County Medical Society, the Wright County Tuberculosis Association, the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Iowa State Department of Health. Christmas Seal funds help to defray the costs.

DISTRICT SIX HOLSTEIN SHOW IS AUGUST 8th

A District Six Holstein show will be held at the Eagle Grove fair grounds next Tuesday, Aug. 8, with fifty head of Holsteins expected. Judge will be Claude Wylan of Waverly, breeder and sales manager.

There will be a picnic dinner at noon and a judging contest for the public in the afternoon. A special invitation is given to all 4-H club members to take part in the judging.

Winners from this show will be eligible to enter the State Dairy Show at Cedar Rapids, which will be held the following week.

Tomahawks Win In a 4-3 Game With Swaledale

Playing a fill-in game with Swaledale here last Sunday, after Rockwell broke up and left the North Iowa league, the Tomahawks secured a one-run margin to win 4 to 3.

Belmond's big inning was the fourth with four hits and two walks resulting in three runs. The other score came in the eighth on two hits and two walks. Bud Nissen and Russell Gaetzke each got two hits with several of their teammates getting one.

Eddy of Swaledale connected with a "homer" with one on in the fourth inning. The visitors third run was scored in the ninth inning. Gaffney pitched for the losers and Bonner caught.

The Tomahawks will play Rowan there next Sunday in a league game. Both teams are now tied for second.

Tomahawk-Swaledale summary:
Belmond — 4 runs, 8 hits, 1 error.
Swaledale—3 runs, 7 hits, 1 err.

'Support the Church' Campaign Opens in Today's Independent

Readers of the Independent are invited to turn to Page 3 of the second section in this edition, which contains a full-page advertisement on an instituition ages older than America itself—the churches.

This initial advertisement will be followed by other ads of a special series each issue for a six-month period. The series, which has the endorsement of Belmond ministers, is made possible by the co-operation of 55 Belmond business firms which view support of the Church as one important means of maintaining a stronger community.

It won't take much time to review these weekly messages, each of which is graphically illustrated, and if these messages induce interest and action, the whole community shares in the dividends. The Independent believes these messages will support the cause of Christianity and the church, non-denominationally, honestly and by means of attractive visual appeal and compelling script.

This series was prepared for publication by E. E. Keister of Strasburg, Va., a newspaper publisher and churchman, with the cooperation of a number of newspaper editors and church leaders.

The church-supporting campaign actually is on a national scale, and this series of messages is being published in no less than 30 states. It carries wide endorsement of clergy and lay leaders of all denominations.

TEMPERANCE LEAGUE SPEAKER AT UNION MEETING TONIGHT

Willis H. Lyon, representing the Iowa Temperance League, will speak in Belmond Thursday, August 3, (tonight) on the subject "Christian Loyalty in Civic Affairs."

The union service will be held at the Methodist church at 8:00 o'clock, and all are invited to attend.

This is one of a series of meetings being held in Wright county for the purpose of uniting the temperance forces for more effective work, according to a statement from Mr. Lyon.

PEE WEE BRAVES AND CARDS TIED FOR FIRST

	W	L
BRAVES	3	1
CUBS	2	2
YANKS	0	4

In a Pee Wee ball game last Friday evening the Cards defeated the Braves 5-4 which regained for them a tie for first place in the league.

Game with Rowan scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 1, was called off because too many of the Rowan players are working in corn fields, according to a report from Boyd Berghefer, summer recreation director.

On Friday, Aug. 5, there will be a double-header in league play. The first game starts at 7:00 p. m. with the Braves facing the Yanks. Cards will play the Cubs in the second game. Both the Cards and the Braves need a victory to stay in first place.

Thomas Bayliss, 73, Died At Iowa City Hospital; Services Are Here Today

Thomas Bayliss, long time resident of this community, died at the hospital at Iowa City on Monday, July 31, after he had been received there the day before. He was 73 years of age.

Funeral services will be held at the Congregational church Thursday afternoon, Aug. 3 (today) with the Rev. Alfred B. McKeith officiating. Burial will be in the Belmond cemetery with Fulton Funeral home in charge.

ROWAN GIRL DROWNED WHILE WADING IN IOWA RIVER LAST WEEK

Funeral services were held at the Rowan Congregational church Friday afternoon for Judy Anderson, 12, who was drowned in the Iowa River at Rowan Wednesday afternoon, July 26.

Judy and a little girl friend were in wading when she stepped into a hole and disappeared. Several youngsters on the bank and a grandmother of one, witnessed the tragedy. Some youngsters jumped on a pony and went to get help. Ivan Lycke and David Nelsen were first to dive in to try to find her but failed. Cecil Phifer jumped into the water to try to find her as did members of the Rowan fire department and others.

Both the Dows and Clarion resuscitators were called, but Judy had been in the water a half hour before they arrived at the scene. The Clarion resucitator was used by members of the Clarion fire department for one and a half hours but they were unable to revive the girl.

Judy was the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Anderson of Rowan. Her father passed away about two years ago. Besides her mother, she is survived by five brothers and two sisters.

Two Belmond Girls Will Compete at Clear Lake For Miss Governor's Day

The Misses Marilynn Madsen and Nancy Johnson will represent Belmond in the Bathing Beauty Pageant to select Miss Governor's Day, Saturday night, Aug. 5 at Clear Lake.

Judging will be at the lake shore at 8:00 p. m. The winner will be crowned by Governor William S. Beardsley. Each girl will ride on a float in the Venetian Nights parade prior to the judging. There will be 25 floats and approximately 15 towns in north Iowa will be represented with girls participating.

The girls will be dinner guests of the Clear Lake Junior Chamber of Commerce and will be given tickets to the Governor's ball which will follow the lake shore program.

ROBERT WHITE ON RESERVE STATUS, BACK TO AIR FORCE

Mrs. Elmer Jacobson has received word from her son, Robert White of Kenmore, N. Y., that he has received notice of his return to service in the Air Corp.

He served in World War II as a navigator and flight engineer and served a year after V-J Day in Okinawa in special reconnaissance. White is a former Belmond boy, is married and has one son.

Belmond Woman Finds W.R.C. State Presidency Keeps Her on Go -- To Visit L. A. Next Month

• • • • • • • •

One of the busiest women in Belmond these days is Mrs. Leslie Smith—or Mary F. Smith, as she is familiarly known to some 6,500 Iowa members of the Woman's Relief Corps, whom she heads as department president.

Since her election to this responsible post at Davenport last June, life has taken on more-or-less of a merry-go-round aspect for Mrs. Smith. Rarely does a week go by that her duties don't call her thither and yon over the state — and her "busy season" has not yet started.

Among the jaunts she still has to look forward to is a tour of inspection that will take in some 30 to 40 communities that have local corps — and journeys to each of the eight district meetings that will be held over the state. Highlight of her travels will be the national convention she will attend Sept. 3-7 in Los Angeles (with expenses paid, of course).

The Woman's Relief Corp had its beginning during the Civil War among women folk of the Union soldiers who helped out on the battlefields and in the hospitals, caring for the wounded, and looking after orphans of war victims.

In 1883 at Denver the present organization was formally set up, and the following year 10 corps were chartered in this state.

Most of the original towns forming corps are still in existence — Newton, Grinnell, Colfax, Marshalltown, Clinton, Wyoming and Buffalo—but others have apparently either disappeared or altered their names. In this group are Agency City, Nevinsville and Pattersonville.

Today 119 Iowa communities have Woman's Relief corps. Relationship to a one-time member of the Grand Army of the Republic is not required for membership. Any woman of good character is welcome to join, according to Mrs. Smith.

The W. R. C. carries on welfare work of many kinds, most of which concern veterans of the various American wars and their dependents. The Annie Whittenmeyer Home at Davenport, perhaps better known under its earlier name of the Soldiers' Orphans Home, is one of its major projects.

Mrs. Smith has selected as the "president's project" for this year the raising of funds to help establish a print shop at the Knoxville veterans' hospital to be used in occupational therapy.

A member of the W. R. C. for about 16 years, Mrs. Smith was a member of the Shell Rock corps prior to her family's removal to Belmond last year when her husband accepted a sales position with Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn company.

Following her election to the state presidency, her Shell Rock friends honored her at a formal dinner at which she was presented with a lovely aluminum tray as a memento of the occasion. She prizes the gift highly, since following her year in office it will be a constant reminder of the interesting year she spent as head of the Iowa Woman's Relief Corps.

Plan Old-Fashioned Labor Day Celebration, VFW Is Sponsor

Plans are now being made for a Labor Day celebration to be sponsored by the Pierce-Zeiger Post 4244, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Belmond to be held in this city Monday, Sept. 4.

Tentative plans call for a good old-fashioned celebration made up of local talent including a parade and horse show, family picnics in the city park, and a good speaker.

Also on the day's program will be a Pee-Wee all-star baseball game, to be followed by a game between Garner and Tomahawk ball clubs and a dance at the Vets Memorial Building in the evening, featuring Happy-Jake's Cowboys playing for an old time dance.

All business firms are being asked to sponsor a float for the parade and contact Keith Chandler, Bob Garms or Fred Dahm for details. A special section of the parade is being reserved for the kids who wish to decorate and enter their pets, bicycles, tricycles, wagons, etc. Other entries solicited will be from organizations.

EIGHT 4-H GIRLS ENJOY WEEKEND OF CAMPING

Eight members of the Belmond Busy Bees Girls 4-H club and Mrs. Art Homervold spent last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Riverside Bible camp at Randall. They report having a grand time.

On Sunday Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gaylen Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Strait had a picnic dinner there and brought the girls home with them.

The girls attending were Joan and Janice Slining, Maryellen Studebaker, Marjorie Sue Johnson, Myrna and Sharon Strait, Margaret and Marjorie Gabrielson.

ST. OLAF HAVING REGULAR SERVICE SUNDAY, SERMON BY REV. EVERETT NELSON

Attention is called to the fact that there was a change in the St. Olaf Lutheran church notice this week after it was printed in that section of the paper. There will be a regular worship service at St. Olaf at 9:30 Sunday morning. Rev. Everett Nelson of Wessington Spring, S. Dak., will be the speaker.

MISSOURI-KANSAS SALES MANAGER FOR THOMPSON VISITED PLANT HERE

Arch Martin of Tarkio, Mo., who is Missouri-Kansas sales manager for the Thompson Hybrid Corn company, visited the Thompson plant here Tuesday. He accompanied R. B. Thompson, president of the company, on a tour of some of the seed corn fields where he saw detasselers working. He also saw some of the work being done in the corn breeding plots, test plots and seed stock plots.

4-H Girls Clubs Plan Achievement Shows Aug. 7-14

Twelve Wright County Girls' 4-H clubs have made plans for achievement shows starting Monday, August 7, and continuing through Monday, August 14. Articles made in the "Home Furnishing" project will be judged and two exhibits chosen from each class in the junior and senior divisions for the District Junior Fair at Eagle Grove.

The Girls 4-H County committee and leaders held a meeting in the courthouse at Clarion last Tuesday, at which final plans were made for the fair.

Schedule of achievement shows for 4-H girls' clubs in this area of the county is as follows:

Wednesday, August 9—Grant Go-Getters at the Grant Center School with Mrs. Thomas Mathre, Mrs. Letti Zuber and Miss Gontarek judging.

Saturday, August 12—Jolly Joy Makers at the St. John's Parish Hall with Mrs. Homer McGrath and Mrs. Ross Mechem as judges.

Monday, August 14—Iowa U-Go-I-Go at the Community School Room in Rowan with Mrs. Leo Woodley and Mrs. Thomas Mathre as judges.

Monday, August 14—Belmond Busy Bees at the Belmond Township Hall in Belmond with Mrs. Clarence Whitten and Mrs. C. McBride as judges.

Annual Flower Show at Rowan Is August 9th

Rowan Review Club is sponsoring its annual Flower Show next Wednesday, Aug. 9, which will be held at the Rowan school building. The show will be open to the public from 2:30 to 5:00 in the afternoon and from 7:00 to 9:00 in the evening. Entries will be accepted from 8:00 to 10:30 in the morning.

One class, gladioli, is open to anyone outside the Rowan community. Three sections are included in this class: collection of six colors, collection of three colors, collection of three in any one color.

Other classes to be exhibited by those in the Rowan community include, besides the gladioli, roses, tea roses, dahlias, cannas, a wide variety of annuals and perrenials, potted plants, arrangements, special classes for children, 4-H members and Girl Scouts.

Date Changed

Attention is called to the fact that the date for the show has been changed from August 11, as originally announced, to Aug. ninth.

Premium Books Now Ready For Junior Fair

Announcement was made last week that premium books for the 1950 edition of the Eagle Grove District Junior Fair were ready for distribution last week end and that they will be passed out by the county extension office at Clarion and the fair officals.

Fair dates are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 21, 22 and 23.

Livestock exhibits are expected to hit a peak comparable with last year's show with quality in some lines to be even higher. Most improvement this year is expected in the poultry classes.

The fair will again feature the sale of the prize winning beef and pig entries at the Wednesday afternoon auction sale. Buyers from all of the big packers will be there as well as individuals from every town in the county and spirited bidding is expected on the top prize animals.

Four-H girls exhibits on home furnishings this year promise to be one of the highlights of the fair. Demonstration teams, club exhibits, booths and junior and senior home furnishings exhibits will feature this ever popular activity. Last year the exhibits featured clothing.

Time of Judging

Hogs, Monday, August 21, start at 9:00 a. m.

Sheep, Monday, August 21, start at 3:00 p. m.

Vegetable and flowers, Monday, August 21, start at 12:00 noon.

Poultry, Monday, August 21.

Dairy, Tuesday, August 22, start at 8:00 a. m.

Beef, Tuesday, August 22, start at 9:00 a. m.

Recent action by the fair board has established the ruling that exhibits in the merchants building must remain in place until 8:30 p. m. Wednesday evening. No exhibits will be allowed to be torn down or moved out until after that hour.

Tyrrell Helps Set Up Program For Livestock Feeder Day August 17

The Cornbelt Livestock Feeders Association will hold a Livestock Feeder Day at the Hotel Mayfair at Sioux City on Aug. 17.

Local feeders interested in attending the meeting should call Preston Tyrrell, who was one of the directors assisting in setting up the program for the meeting, or the County Extension office in Clarion.

The all-day program includes a morning visit to the Livestock Exchange and the famous Sioux City White Horse Brigade. Afternoon speaking program includes Vernon L. Schwaegerle, advertising manager of the American Meat Institute, and Charles W. Bauer, president of the National Association of Retail Meat and Food Dealers Inc. A round table discussion features the afternoon program. Participating in the discussion are J. H. Vinton, president of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association; Don Short, rancher near Medora, N. Dak. Emmit Horgan, rancher living near Rapid City, S. Dak.; and Don Fulton, Ismay Montana rancher.

The evening banquet speaker is Jeff Williams, well known silver-tongued wit of Chickasha, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lowenberg had their baby daughter, Beth Ellen, baptised Sunday.

Alexander Girl, 11, Is Proud Owner Of Midget Auto

Cut Courtesy of Register and Tribune

Last week, Barbara Hopkey, 11, became the owner of a new red and silver midget car in which she will be able to drive around to all corners of the farm on which she lives near Alexander.

Born with a defective spine, Barbara has never walked, and before delivery of the new car, had gotten around in a wheel chair or on a small scooter.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaehart Hopkey, had the car specially built at a cost of $893. Requiring six weeks for construction, the little car is designed along micro-midget lines, is built with springs all the way around with knee action in the front wheels.

It has an automatic starter, automatic clutch and a drive permitting a variation of speed without shifting—two forward, one reverse—scooter wheels and an aluminum body painted red. Its tank holds two gallons and the designer estimates it will make about 50 miles to the gallon.

According to reports, Barbara is doing very well in learning to drive her midget car and is very happy to have it.

Mrs. Hopkey has said Barbara will drive it only on the farm as she is too young to get out on the highways. Barbara's mother has also intimated that Mr. Hopkey is as thrilled over the little car as his daughter but it is a little too small for him to ride in with comfort.

That's the way you want your flies, and that's the way they are when you use Dr. Hess BARN SPRAY and Dr. Hess Livestock FLY SPRAY Concentrate.

BARN SPRAY is for buildings. Mix it with water and spray it where flies settle. They die as a result of lighting on sprayed surfaces.

Livestock FLY SPRAY Concentrate, mixed with water, is for use on livestock. In addition to DDT, it contains Thanite for quick knockdown and repellancy. This gives milking time protection—something DDT alone can't do. Also kills flies that attack cows in pasture.

Starfish

A starfish that loses an arm can grow another. And the arm can grow a new body.

Land of Opportunity

The freedom, opportunities and rewards for achievement in our country have directly enabled the whole American people to live on a scale undreamed of in any other country in the world.

Honey Cinnamon Toast

Toast slices of bread on one side. While still hot, butter the untoasted side of bread. Spread buttered side with honey. Sprinkle cinnamon over the top. Place slices under broiler until the bread is well browned and the dressing is well blended.

Oil Wells

In drilling for oil, man makes his deepest earth penetration without going below the surface himself. One Texas hole, though it never produced, was drilled three and one-seventh miles before being abandoned. Oil flows from two and two-third miles down in a productive well of the Louisiana bayou country.

European Citrus Demand

There is a potential demand in Europe for from 25 to 30 per cent more citrus and citrus products than before World War II. However, there is little immediate possiblity of improving the market there for United States citrus exports because of a dollar shortage in most European countries.

Lubricating Oil

Many of the best lubricating oils are now made by a solvent extraction process, in which the crude lubricating oil stock is washed by another liquid to take out impurities. To design plants for this process, engineers have to know how much of each liquid they can put through the equipment without overloading it.

Mid-Century North Iowa Fair Books. Varied Entertainment

The gates to the Mid-Century North Iowa fair will swing open Aug. 31 to give fair goers the biggest assortment of thrills, excitement and good, clean entertainment ever amassed in north Iowa, according to report from M. C. Lawson, secretary-manager of the North Iowa, fair association.

Stock car races which are gaining increasing popularity throughout the nation will be featured for the first time in this section of the state. Lawson says that 16 late model automobiles are already entered for the grueling 100-mile race.

Practically every car manufactured will be represented in the 200-lap race. Spectators will have the opportunity to see how their favorite make of passenger car can stand up against the competition, Lawson says.

The stock car races will be the feature grandstand attraction on Monday, the last day of the fair. Other afternoon grandstand attractions will include two appearances of famous Joie Chitwood daredevil show, an afternoon of horse racing and an afternoon of auto races.

Auto races are scheduled for the first afternoon of the fair. Emory Collins, four-time winner of the national dirt track championship will be competing for honors with such other nationally known racers as Jimmie Wilburn, Russ Lee, Bert Helmueller, Ernie Johnson and Clair Cotter.

The members of Joe Chitwood's world champion auto and motorcycle troupe will appear before the grandstands on Saturday and Sunday afternoon of the fair. More than 20 stuntmen will put their cars through breath-taking paces.

Chitwood, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, expects to participate in some of the events if he can break away from movie committments on the west coast. The three-time AAA speed king and seven-time competitor in the Indianapolis speedway classic specializes in precision driving feats that call for the utmost in skill, daring and perfect timing.

Friday's grandstand entertainment will feature some of the fastest running horses in the country. In addition to the professional horse races, two amateur races are scheduled.

Youngsters under 12 years of age can compete in the saddle pony race. And the western saddle horse race is open to any non-professional horses and riders from 13 north Iowa counties.

All the afternoon performances will be elaborately supplemented with specialty acts, Lawson promises.

Big time vaudeville will appear on the stage in front of the grandstand for three night performances with the presentation of "Stars Over U. S. A."

The huge, musical extravaganza will feature dancing girls, comedies, trapeze artists, tumbling acts and an array of sparkling action and entertainment.

To add variety to the grandstand entertainment, another show, "Music Hall Varieties," will be presented during the remaining two nights of the fair, says Lawson. It will feature acts from London and all parts of the world.

In anticipation of large attendance, new steel supported bleachers have been erected west of the grandstand as part of a $15,000 fairgrounds improvement program. More than 1,200 persons can be comfortably seated in the new bleachers. The old bleachers with seating capacity of less than 500 have been torn down.

A dirt fill was made to elevate the new bleachers so that all the spectators can see the entire race track. That will eliminate one of the most commonly heard gripes of North Iowa fair goers, Lawson thinks.

The popular, "World of Today" shows will bring new rides and new shows to the Mid-Century North Iowa fair midway. More than 80 attractions including 18 rides have been contracted to appear on the fairgrounds with the show.

Former Belmond Boy Now On Staff of Station KOEL

A former Belmond boy, Ed Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jenkins is now a member of the staff of radio station KOEL at Oelwein.

Ed, a graduate of Iowa University where he was also chief operator for station WSUI, is district sales representative for the Oelwein station which went on on the air Sunday, July 23. The past three years he has been civilian manager of the Armed Forces Radio Service at Valley Forge General hospital.

During the last war as an officer in the Navy, he was technical production director at AFRS headquarters in Los Angeles. He is married to a former Belmond school teacher, Ruth Gantenbein.

Better Hatch

Recent investigations indicate that soiled hatching eggs that have previously been washed in proper detergent solutions, and held under proper conditions, hatched as well as clean unwashed eggs. Normally, soiled eggs hatch very poorly, so this method of cleaning provides a method of increasing hatchability.

Braddock

Twelve miles from what is now Pittsburgh, General Edward Braddock and his troops were massacred in 1755, during the French and Indian War. In 1794, the Whiskey Rebellion took place in "Braddock's Field." The town was incorporated in 1867, eight years before the completion of the steel works for which it is now noted.

Good Tires Important

Good tires and tire maintenance are the mark of the good motorist, and they are bona fide insurance against traffic accidents caused by tire failure. By the same token, smooth tires, improperly inflated tires, tires having cuts and bruises invite accidents.

BELMOND BUSY BEES HELD ALL-DAY WORKSHOP

An all-day workshop and meeting was held by the Belmond Busy Bees at the home of JoAnn and Janet Slining, July 21. 12 members, two leaders and four visitors were present.

Roll was answered by showing exhibits for achievement day. Mary Lou Baker gave a demonstration on "How to Clean Wall Paper." Margaret Gabrielson gave an illustrated talk on different kinds of flower holders and their uses and Ruth Stockseth gave a demonstration on "The Arrangement and Cutting of Flowers." A sack lunch was served at noon and the afternoon was spent working on projects.

Diesel Trains

Many light-weight, Diesel-powered, air-conditioned streamline passenger trains represent an investment of from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 each, depending on size of power unit, length of train and other factors.

BELMOND LOCALS

About fifty relatives and friends were in attendance at the Wilson family reunion at Lake Cornelia Sunday.

Donald Barry and George Ebling of St. Paul, Minn. and Thomas Kuchera of N. Dak. were callers at the home of Mrs. J. F. Barry, Monday. The boys were enroute home after six weeks of training at San Antonio, Texas, and a vacation trip in Mexico.

Wright County Sends Delegate To Rural Young People's Conference

Bonnie Anderson of Clarion was elected to represent Wright county at the Iowa Rural Young People's Leadership Training conference held in Ames, July 30 to August 2.

This conference was designed to provide actual leadership experiences for the delegates so they will be able to conduct more effective meetings, lead in recreation, work with various sized groups, and study the objectives of the RYP program. Free time was available for participation in sports, swimming, picnic, party, and dance so it gave all the delegates a wonderful experience in their personal development as well as an opportunity to learn how to be of greater help to their local RYP clubs.

Miss Anderson was chosen as a delegate because of her interest, enthusiasm and participation in the local rural youth organization.

Raising of Cattle Brings Lester Gabrielson Most Satisfaction Amongst Farm Operations

* * * * * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gabrielson and children

Lester Gabrielson was born on the farm just northeast of Olaf which is owned by Hilko Pals, spent about 30 years growing up and working on other farms, and now is right back where he started. A year ago this spring he and his family moved back to Lester's birthplace, where he presently farms 240 acres.

After farming with his father—Gabriel Gabrielson—from the time of his graduation from Belmond High school in 1935 until 1944, Lester in that year struck out for himself and rented the C. B. Johnson place northwest of Belmond. He remained there until the move in 1949.

Lester's particular interest is cattle. For several years now he has been building up a herd of Hereford grade cows and raising beef animals for sale. At present he has 16 cows and 14 calves—most of which he'll be able to sell as steers.

He plans to increase his herd cows to about 18 to 20 in number and then level off at about that figure.

Besides the Herefords, Lester has three registered Brown Swiss dairy cows and one grade cow of the same breed. At present he is milking only the latter and one of the blooded cows. He also has a couple of heifer calves which he may keep if they look promising. He'l like to have a dairy herd of six.

Lester says he thoroughly enjoys working with the cattle. He can't say the same for hogs, but nevertheless raises quite a crop each year.

Currently he has 85 spring pigs, from 15 Duroc sows bred to a Hampshire boar. He isn't very happy over his average saved per litter. Erysipelas made some inroads among his pigs this year, which explains the relatively low average.

Although he'll be feeding most, and perhaps all, of his corn, Lester kept within his allotment of 90 acres. He also has in 60 acres of Clinton oats and 45 acres of Hawkeye soybeans. The rest of his land is in alfalfa and red clover for hay or pasture.

Like many other families in these parts, the Gabrielsons are fishing enthusiasts and never let the season go by without a trip north.

Mrs. Gabrielson's native home is Storm Lake, so naturally she's been an ardent angler ever since childhood. Lester also looks forward to pheasant and duck hunting seasons.

Mrs. Gabrielson, as Florence Mack, was teaching first grade in the Belmond school when she was talked out of a tutorial career by her persuasive swain. They at present have a brood of three — Pamela, who is six; Gayle, age three; and Neil, who is two.

When asked what her particular chores were about the place, Mrs. Gabrielson just looked meaningfully at the three younguns—and we got the point. She says, however, that she's one "town girl" who's completely happy and content as a farmwife. She thinks the country has town beat a mile as a place to bring up children.

A graduate of Buena Vista college, her major hobby is reading. She belongs to one book club, her mother to another, and a sister to still a third. Among them they keep each other pretty well supplied with goood books of recent publication. Mrs. Gabrielson fills in with magazines when the books runout.

She also enjoys knitting and crocheting, but doesn't get to do as much of either as she'd like to. With an eye on the two girls, she added that she deeply wished she were more of a seamstress than she is; keeping Pam and Gayle supplied with dresses would be a simpler matter if she were more adept with a needle, she admits.

Pam takes pride in her job as mistress of the breakfast dishes, and she also helps every now and then with the dinner dishes. Gayle is shortly to be "broken in" as an aide to her older sister.

Learning to ride a bike is Pam's project for this summer. She was given the new vehicle a year - ago, but lacked sufficient confidence to tackle it until recently.

It's a genuine pleasure to visit with "plain, ordinary folks" like the Gabrielsons. Lester, as a farmer, isn't strong on experimenting—but earnestly endeavors to keep up with the latest trends in methods and crop varieties. There's nothing extraordinary in his operation of a farm; but he's the kind of hard-working, conscientious, capable farmer that has made Iowa the agricultural kingpin of the cornbelt——and the nation.

EROSION

Each year, water and wind erosion, on farms throughout the country, "steal" the staggering amount of three billion tons of soil materials containing available and potential plant nutrients worth three billion dollars. You can put the shackles on this grand theft by adopting simple soil conservation methods for your farm.

There's nothing mysterious about conservation farming. Many farmers consider it easier than present methods. Important, too, it requires no special tools. Practically all your present John Deere Equipment is adaptable to conservation practices. In most cases, it means an actual saving in fuel and equipment upkeep because conservation farming is "level-land" farming.

Series of Messages Starting Today Will Stress Value of Our Churches

Today the first of a series of advertisements appears in the Independent in support of a campaign for improved public cooperation with the churches. Fifty-five Belmond cooperating firms are sponsoring the publication of a full-page advertisement at each week end over a period of months. Attractive art work designed especially for this series emphasizes an inspirational message to the public. Running through the advertisements is the general theme that churches are the greatest factor for the building of character and good citizenship. On that basis alone support of the churches is an act for community welfare. The firms sponsoring the series are serving their community in a wholesome way.

Cities and towns with strong churches are more easily governed and are likely to be better governed than communities without strong churches. Where churches are vigilant and actively supported, the law and its servants have a powerful ally. The value of the church as an institution tending to maintain civic stability has been demonstrated in communities where the churches were vigorously supported.

The man who prepared the series of strictly non-sectarian advertisements, the first of which appears today, planned the campaign to meet a need for constructive church advertising in the secular press. The need was indicated to him by the fact that approximately 55 per cent of the American population is unchurched and by the even more significant fact that something like 20 million of our youth are not receiving religious training.

Federal Aid's One Luxury We Can Well Forsake for the Duration

With the heavy military expenditures in prospect for an indefinite period of time, it really does seem the time has arrived for the federal government to examine the necessity of its ever-expanding grants-in-aid to state and local governments.

In a great share of instances, these projects have been foisted on subsidiary governmental bodies rather than demanded by them. Probably more of them have attracted criticism than praise—yet the deluge continues.

Probably the Indiana state legislature recently expressed the viewpoint of the state recipients of federal aid much more aptly than we could hope to, in declaring:

"Indiana needs no guardian and intends to have none. We Hoosiers were fooled for quite a spell with the magician's trick that a dollar taxed out of our pockets and sent to Washington, will be bigger when it comes back to us.

"We have taken a good loook at said dollar. We find that it lost weight in its journey to Washington and back. The political brokerage of the bureaucrats has been deducted.

"We have decided that there is no such thing as "Federal" aid. We know that there is no wealth to tax that is not already within the boundaries of the 48 states."

Federal aid outlay for the fiscal year 1950 amounted to approximately two and a half billion dollars. This is $800 million more than the total sum paid out in the fiscal year of 1948.

World conditions being what they are, the taxpayer currently can ill afford the luxury of federal aid to his state and local governments.

Ohio Insurance Firm Is Giving Break to Drivers of 'Teen Age

Many parents with sons and daughters from teen-age up to 25 will agree with the Motor Club of Iowa that the blanket increase in auto insurance rates on cars driven by young people in that age group amounts to conviction without a trial.

That the young people as a group are guilty of somewhat more than their proportionate share of accidents cannot be denied; but the general rate boost for the 'teen to 25 age bracket penalizes many for the faults of a few.

For that reason, auto insurance firms might watch with interest the experience of an Ohio concern which is introducing a new wrinkle. The company offers adult liability rates to drivers under 25 years of age who have completed driver education courses such as offered by Belmond High school.

A willingness to give careful and well-trained teen-agers the same standing as older drivers seems entirely logical. We completely agree with R. J. Allison, executive vice president of the Motor Club, in his declaration that it seems unfair to "call a strike" on a teenager—just because of his age—before he's ever had an accident.

We hope the Ohio experiment works out as well as might be expected and that it will be widely copied, to be benefit of parents whose youngsters have been properly trained to drive skillfully AND carefully.

Eagle Grove's Councilmen Frankly Tell Who to Go Where

A desperate maneuver was recently resorted to by the Eagle Grove city council which will undoubtedly be greeted by sympathetic chuckles on the parts of other small-town councilmen who hear of it. Understand, we say sympathetic; it would certainly inspire neither derisive nor mocking response on the part of brethren city fathers.

In a paid advertisement appearing in the Eagle Grove Eagle, the council members state, "Much criticism has been inflicted upon your elected city government for things it has done, for things it has not done, and often by the same group of individuals for both reasons."

The councilmen announce that explanations of their municipal endeavors will hereafter appear periodically in the same advertising space, to keep the public informed. They add that they consider their obligation to involve the interests of the community at large, rather than those of any small clique.

"In our official acts and considerations we will hew to this line," declare the embattled aldermen, "and let the chips fall where they may."

We're sure that our own city council will join us in a rousing "Bravo!" in behalf of their fellow public servants. Goodness knows, a councilman's and mayor's job is thankless enough without the officeholder being subjected to endless needling as he endeavors to serve his community's best interests.

Here is a picture of Main Street, Typicaltown, U.S.A. It is a glimpse of any town — our town. Its busy thoroughfare lined with shops of all kinds signifies the free business life which American communities enjoy.

To change this scene is unthinkable. And yet, this very picture is endangered by the many evils that haunt our land today. Atheism, communism, crime, and delinquency fill the air, and there are wars—and "rumors of wars."

To combat these enemies, we need love, fellowship, tolerance, and understanding —and the source of such weapons is to be found in the Church.

In order to equip more people with the banners of Christianity, in order to bring us all a fuller realization that the Church can save the things we hold dear, there will appear in this newspaper each week a series of religious pages. They will contain beautiful, human-interest pictures, and the brief, colorful stories will serve us all as reminders of our religious obligations.

This series is part of a nation-wide campaign designed to stimulate and renew interest in the Church—a need which concerns the very nature of our living.

And the people making this program possible, in cooperation with this newspaper, are those whose shops and establishments line the streets of our town. At the bottom of these pages is a list of names — the laymen and businessmen who feel the necessity for bringing the Church within the vision and grasp of more people.

To do this is to strengthen our way of life, to better it, and to make it more secure against the forces which seek its destruction.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BUTTER

What steps up the flavor ?

BUTTER!

Just a pat of butter in each bowl of soup doubles its appetite appeal. Adds nutrition, too. And butter does so much for the appetite appeal of other foods. Its natural golden color comes from rich golden cream — since four pints of cream go into the making of each pound of butter.

For nutrition, for health, for downright goodness . . . there's nothing finer than the high-score Iowa butter for which our creamery has built such a reputation. Use butter generously in cooking, at every meal.

VOL. 30. NO. 43 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, August 10, 1950 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

After a brief vacation at Green Lake in Minnesota, your editor has returned to the old grind refreshed in spirit—if not in mind—and impressed anew at the wide variety of means for immersing the human form in a cold body of water.

There was a variance of opinion in the Gallagher family as to the degree of frigidity which characterized Green Lake's waters. The kids invariably said, "It's swell!" The Mrs. usually would concede, "It's not so bad." As far as Yours Truly was concerned, the lake was just doggoned cold.

—M-S—

Personally, we'd just as soon have walked over hot coals as to stride stoically to shoulder depth as one of our camp neighbors was wont to do. Such a procedure we viewed as sheer self-torture.

Our youngest—age five—preferred a more direct approach. He'd wade to waist deep, then flop! His eight-year-old sister employed a close variation that might be described as the wade-and-squat method. Their mother favored the "Slow Chill"—go in to waist depth at a leisurely walk, then flick herself with icy droplets until the shock of total immersion came more as a relief than an ordeal.

—M-S—

Other methods of accomplishing a total wetting, which we observed on the beach, included: The Running Dive, The Mutual Splash-Fest (required a minimum of two participants), The Dock Walloper (a bellyflopper from the end of the pier, minus sled), The Sit-n-Kick (strictly for infants of pre-toddling age) and The Daisy-Chain—a hand-in-hand advance in willy-nilly fashion indulged in by two parties of opposite sex, each oblivious to all else but the proximity of the other.

—M-S—

The above doesn't pretend to be comprehensive. Nor does it include the Gallagher Method. The latter is a slow, soul-trying operation that requires a minimum of 15 minutes to reach its climax.

First a big toe (the most heavily callous-ed one) cautiously tries the water to confirm the owner's suspicion that a three-degree drop in the lake's temperature would cause a film of ice to form. This opening gesture is followed by a quick withdrawal after which the water is contemplated with bitter distaste for a period of five minutes.

Next the bather brashly steps in to ankle depth and the feet are wriggled in the sand to accomplish an additional one-inch rise in the water level on shin bone. Cautious advance to knee depth is thereafter accomplished, with time no consideration in the effort to keep state of shock to a minimum.

—M-S—

Now comes time for reflection. Would the derision of fellow bathers be too great to consider total retreat? Ordinarily the threat of public scorn suffices to drive the suffering victim in to waist deep—at which point he is practically committed to going the rest of the way.

Another lengthy lull in activity can be expected before, with a plunge, the unhappy body is consigned to its chilly fate. Oddly enough, once the immersion is an accomplished fact, the experience is transformed into one that's both enjoyable and invigorating . . . But that lessens the horror of the ordeal's next repetition not one whit!

—M-S—

If there is a more ardent softball fan in town than Gus Ziska, we don't know who it could be. Gus is always on hand for league play, policing up the diamond, helping to pass the hat, and doing anything else he can to further the success of his favorite sport here in Belmond.

There are lots of other softball enthusiasts in regular attendance at the games—SOME of whom are also regular contributors to the "kitty". Others have more or less enjoyed a free ride at the semi-weekly sessions. League officials are hoping that ALL the followers of the teams will be out in force for the tournament next week—WITH their quarters—to help the league end its season with a balanced budget, or reasonable facsimile thereof.

—M-S—

Undoubtedly a good many followers of Isaak Walton have sacrificed vacation time during recent weeks in much the same manner as a couple reported in the Grinnell Herald-Register. Mr. and Mrs. Avery Adkins, says the H-R, witnessed several big league games while visiting Chicago and then "spent a day or so in northern Minnesota wishing."

Fred Gordon Wins at Waterloo; Will Compete in U.S. Amateur

Fred Gordon realized an ambition of many years' standing Tuesday when he topped a field of seven would-be U. S. Amateur golf qualifiers at Waterloo to become Iowa's lone entry in the big tournament, It was his first attempt qualify, so he's batting 1.000 on that score.

It was a sweet victory for the golfing florist, who had bowed out of the recent state amateur contest in the second round. His nearest competitor was Johnny Jacobs of Cedar Rapids, 1950 Iowa golf king and six-time title winner.

Gordon was three under par for the day on the Byrnes Park lay-out. He was one under perfect figures in the morning with a 37-34--71 and in the afternoon chopped off two strokes with a 36-34--70. Jacobs was one, slim stroke behind with a 142.

At the end of 31 holes Gordon, who was playing ahead of Jacobs, held a one-stroke advantage. He bogied No. 32, parred the next two and finished with a pair of birdies. Jacobs also bogied No. 32 and added another bogey on No. 33. Although he birdied the final three holes, he couldn't overtake the Belmond entry.

Play was rained out for a half hour during the last 18, but was of little if any handicap to the golfers since it actually improved their chances of sticking a ball on the greens.

Gordon toured the 36 holes with a total of 61 putts. He had a pair of three-putt greens, but more than compensated for those slips with 13 one-putters. He was over par figures on seven holes and birdied 10.

He was one of 201 golfers who qualified for the big meet in regional play conducted yesterday, the nation over. The U. S. Amateur will be held at the Minneapolis Golf club, starting Aug. 21.

Golf Ace Breaks Clarmond Record

Fred Gordon produced a new amateur record for the Clarmond Country cub golf course last Thursday afternoon when he toured the layout in 32 strokes. His 66 for 18 holes, also turned in Thursday, was an all-time low for two rounds.

Ray Mangrum, brother of the current star professional, Lloyd Mangrum, produced the lowest score for the course with a 31 some years ago.

Gordon had a putt slip out on him on No. 5 during his hot round or he would have matched Mangrum's effort. The Belmond expert's best previous score had been a 33.

The former state champion, playing with Dick Gowdy, Pat Gallagher and George Hansen, warmed up for his record nine by stuffing in about a 25-foot putt on No. 9 for an eagle and a 34 total on his first round.

Accompanied by Gallagher on the second nine, Gordon missed par only on No. 3, where a wayward drive made him settle for a bogey five. He faced No. 9 needing an eagle to tie the Mangrum mark and placed his second shot in almost the identical spot from which he'd holed out his three earlier in the afternoon.

This time, though, he overshot and had to corral a difficult six-foot side-hill putt for his birdie.

Following are Gordon's record breaking scores, compared to par:

Par	444	443	445--36
Out	444	543	433--34
In	345	343	334--32

Hensel Brothers' Produce Business To Open Saturday

Final preparations were being rushed today to have Belmond's newest business, Hensel Brothers' Produce house, ready for its grand opening this Saturday. Occupying the former Legion building on Highway 69, the firm will deal in hatched chicks, buy and sell poultry and eggs and carry full lines of poultry feeds, remedies and supplies.

Carroll Hensel, lately of Elliott Hardware's sales force, will manage the produce concern. It will be operated as a partnership by him and his two brothers, Don and Ed. The latter two will continue their active management of their produce house at Alexander.

Free coffee and cake will be served to all guests attending the grand opening and Carroll promises gifts to all women and children visiting his place of business the first day. Several attractive door prizes will be awarded on the basis of registration and movies are to be shown.

Carroll says that Hensel Brothers will sell Purina livestock and poultry feeds, Hy-Line and AAA chicks and McComb line of poultry supplies.

For the time being, Carroll will handle all business of the produce house himself, but he says that a route man will be employed in the relatively near future.

The Hensel brothers bought the former Legion property with an eye to future expansion and both hope and expect that a steadily increasing volume of business will make it possible for them to replace the old frame building later on.

When patronage justifies it, they plan ultimately to erect a modern building equipped to process poultry for market and allow space for hatchery operations, as well as provide quarters for their current buying and selling of produce and sale of supplies.

Aug. 18 Tentatively Set As Date for Pin Meeting

Activity pointing to the opening the 1950-51 bowling season was underway at Bowl-Mor alleys this week as experts from the Brunswick factory began resurfacing of the lanes. New pinsetting machines were installed some time earlier.

Plans are now being drafted for a meeting to reorganize the city leagues, with Aug. 18 tentatively set as date for the gathering. Further information on the meeting will be available next week.

Leo Gilligan, co-owner of the alleys, says present plans provide for opening of the Bowl-Mor the last week in August.

Two Tots Struck By 'Polio' During Visit in Belmond

A vacation which Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur White of Bartlesville, Okla., had planned as a pleasant reunion here with relatives and old friends was threatened with tragedy last week as their two sons were hospitalized in Des Moines with infantile paralysis.

Bobby, age five, and Randy, who is two and a half, are now reported by staff doctors of the Blank Memorial hospital at Des Moines to be suffering from only mild cases of "polio", and their parents are counting themselves lucky that the misfortune was no worse.

The Whites had been visiting Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Blenda Ahlstrom, and with a brother, Stanley Ahlstrom of Goodell. Bobby took ill about two weeks ago, and was rushed to Des Moines when Dr. S. P. Leinbach diagnosed his ailment as "polio".

Last Saturday his young brother showed the same symptoms and was likewise taken to Blank hospital.

Bobby will likely be released the end of this week, and Randy in another week's time.

In the meanwhile, their parents are making the best of a bad proposition by renewing old acquaintances in Des Moines, where they made their home for a number of years.

They have reported to Mrs. Ahlstrom that neither child will be left paralyzed to any degree and present treatment of both boys is limited to penicilin injections.

Twenty from Belmond Attend Scout Gathering

Twenty Belmond representatives attended the dinner meeting of the Wright County District of the Winnebago council of Boy Scouts of America held Monday evening at the Clarion Grill. Judge William P. Butler of Mason City was the main speaker.

As other highlights of the occasion, Scoutmasters Glenn Martin of Belmond, Eldred Shupe and "Andy" Anderson of Clarion spoke on their experiences at the recent national jamboree and showed slides depicting the Scouts' activities at Valley Forge.

Those from Belmond in attendance at the meeting were Don Nielsen, Mrs. Erma Nielsen, Ed Eccles, Dick Elliott and the following men, who were accompanied by their wives: Ellis Elliott, Jack Shepard, R. G. "Bud" Packard, Russell Porter, Wilmer Burk, Glenn Martin, Glenn Eccles and Dan Boone.

Meeting With Hospital Architect Was Slated By Planning Committee Yesterday Afternoon

William Beuttler of Sioux City, architect who has been selected by the general committee to draft plans for Belmond's community hospital, was expected to arrive here by plane about press time yesterday to confer with key members of the committee.

Word to this effect was received early this week by Laurence Murray of the building committee, and a call was issued by General Chairman Gene Woolley to planning committee members to meet with the architect at 2:00 p. m.

The gathering was to be held today, if weather conditions prevented Mr. Beuttler's proposed trip yesterday.

The architect was to bring a contract with him for the committee's inspection. The hospital planners were particularly interested in having a limit placed on local obligations if war developments should cause delay in or postponement of construction at any stage.

In addition to announcing the meeting with Mr. Beuttler, Mr. Woolley this week revealed that the list of trustee candidates has been reduced to three. Whereas the Independent had been led to understand that all the candidates had given consent to their nomination, Mr. Woolley explains:

"Two of the candidates—Luin Cox and Claude Benson—had not been contacted prior to publication of the announcement. Had they been given an opportunity to do so, both men have told the committee, they would have declined nomination before the petitions bearing their names had been circulated.

"Therefore, these two nominees have asked that their names be withdrawn. After the six original names had thus been shaved to four, Mrs. Dorothy Courson offered to withdraw her name in favor of the other feminine candidate.

"Consequently, the committee now reports that there will be only three names on the ballot at the time of the special election. These trustee candidates will be Mrs. Eva Hansen, Ronald W. Courson and Jack Shepard, all of whom have agreed to serve if elected."

Three Taxpayers Suggest Changes In County Budget

Three taxpayers appeared at the hearing held Monday at Clarion on the 1951 Wright county budget estimate to submit a suggested change in road tax levies. Members of the board of supervisors heard the suggestion and conceded the matter warranted further study, but adopted the budget for the coming year as it had already been published.

The complaintants were Maurice Crabb, newspaper publisher; John Henneberry, city attorney; and "Whitey" Kirchoff, city engineer; all of Eagle Grove. Crux of their objection was the half-mill secondary road construction levy and two mill maintainance levy which apply to all county taxpayers.

They pointed out that the DOLLAR DAYS!

Featured in today's advertising columns are ads of a number of Belmond merchants cooperating in a bargain-studded Dollar Days event. While the Independent knows from plenty of experience that ads throughout each issue regularly receive thorough reading, it particularly recommends special perusal of those which this week are offering Dollar Day specials.

We thank you — the merchants thank you — and the family budget will be happy about the whole thing, too!

COUNTY LAW OFFICERS FIGURE 'NUFF'S ENUFF AFTER 3:00 A. M. DUTY

Sheriff Bob Blecker and his deputy, Jack Hansen, were sincerely hoping Tuesday that there might he a lull in the law enforcement activities that had kept them on the jump more or less continually for almost a week. The climax to their racing thither and yon came Monday night when they were up until 3:00 a. m. scouting for a pair of hold-up men.

Blecker about 10:40 was requested by Fort Dodge authorities to post road blocks in an endeavor to stop a pair of robbers who had just relieved a man and woman of billfold, watch and purse when the couple's car had stalled on a highway near town. The culprits were reported armed and driving a '38 or '39 Ford.

Blecker and Hansen, Patrolman Harland Sievers and members of the Eagle Grove police force stationed themselves at strategic points. At the junction of Highways 20 ano 60, a black Frazer—without license plates—zipped past the Eagle Grove officers' road block. The policemen later spotted the auto in the city park, but again it escaped them. They theorized the stick-up men had switched cars and informed the other officers.

The entire "posse" stayed on the lookout until the wee, small hours, but none caught further sight of the fugitive Frazer.

Joe Bayliss returned to the Bob Mosher home in Clarion Sunday after visiting at the H. R. Bayliss home.

Fifteen Clubs Invited To Ladies Golf-Bridge Entertainment Tuesday

Guests from 15 country clubs have been invited to participate in a ladies golf-bridge day at Clarmond Country club next Tuesday.

Mrs. C. C. Christie of Belmond heads the general committee planning the event. Other committee members are Mrs. Roy Henderson of Belmond, Mrs. Bert Sampson and Mrs. Walter Schuenhoff of Clarion and Mrs. Ben Birdsall of Dows.

Belmond club members who have not already registered for the noon luncheon are urged to make reservations with Mrs. Oranna Quigley at the club house by Saturday.

Festivities will get underway at 7:30 a. m., when coffee and doughnuts will be served prior to teeing-off for the morning's golf. The golf activities will begin at 8:00 o' clock. Luncheon will be served at 12:00 noon, with individual tickets $1.50. Bridge will provide the afternoon's entertainment.

Another Fourteen Registrants Told To Get Physicals

Sixteen more young men from this county were supposed to report at Des Moines for pre-induction physical examinations yesterday, but the Wright County Selective Service board stated Monday that only 14 were lined up for the call. It was believed that some of the number, in addition, are out of the county and would not be on hand to make the trip.

Notices to report were mailed to the following: Jack McGuire, Kenneth Johnson, Gordon Quandt, Orville Shahan, Duane Lowell Thompson and Clair Hanson, listed from Belmond.

Lyle Stromquist, Donald Roy Martin and Lyman Spence, Clarion; Marvin Johnson, Rowan; Stewart Eckhoff, Meservey; and Clarence Hilpipre, Woolstock.

Laurence Murray, local member of the board, says that the selective service office in Room 10 of the Clarion post office is now open every week-day from 8:00 a. m. to noon. The office telephone number is 867. The board has applied for permission to

"Ex-Con" and Four Companions Captured After 95-mph Chase

Five hoodlums were taken into tow by law officers about five and a half miles south of Clarion early Sunday evening as the climax of a chase that converted County K road out of the county seat into a veritable speedway.

Revolver shots fired by Patrolman Harland Sievers and pursuit at speeds reaching 95 miles an hour were to no avail in stopping the flight of the officers' quarry. The fleeing auto also crashed through two barricades but finally came to a screaming stop just short of the deep ditch which marked absence of a bridge that is being replaced.

Although the whole chase involved only 10 or 15 minutes, the story is a long one. Robert Koob, Eagle Grove policeman who was off duty at the time, shortly before 6:30 p. m. spotted the five occupants of a black Frazer sedan illegally quenching their thirst while parked on a Eagle Grove street.

The car bore Minnesota license plates as Koob rushed to get Herb Moon, officer then on duty, and the police car to return for a check-up. The Frazer zoomed out of town at 60 miles an hour and the Eagle Grove policeman gave up the futile chase after three miles. However, they warned Sheriff Bob Blecker to be on the lookout.

Blecker, with Paul Ramsey Jr., of Clarion in his car, and Patrolman Sievers with Gale Paul—Clarion officer—in the patrol car split up to watch the approaches to Clarion.

On Highway 3 at the west edge of town, Sievers intercepted a black Frazer bearing Illinois plates. As he turned around to give chase, the suspected vehicle took off and raced south on County K.

Blecker and Sievers were in continual radio contact via the new equipment recently installed in the sheriff's car, and Blecker soon joined in the sprint down the newly graded county road. When his siren had no effect on the pursued car, Sievers twice fired his revolver into the dust

Swimming Certificates Earned by 137

* * * *

Sixty-two Belmond youngsters learned to swim this summer through their participation in the Red Cross swimming program at the Clarion pool, and eight of them qualified for intermediate swimmers' certificates before the season's close.

Roger Grove, Clarion High school coach, who supervised the swimming classes, reports that Belmond had a total of 189 young water-lovers enrolled for the classes and 137 of that number earned a certificate of some type.

Space limitations make it impossible to list all 62 who qualified for beginning swimmer cards and the 38 who became intermediate swimmers. Those names will be published next week. The eight who started as non-swimming "Tadpoles" and ended up as intermediates were Bonnie Abbas, Karen Chapman, Dwight Daniels, Janice Flanagan, Janice Hanson, David Hauge, Nellie Negrete and Sara Simerson.

Betty Clair Henderson was the lone Belmondite to win a senior life saving certificate. Junior life saving certificates were awarded to Jerry Dorr, Margaret Eccles, Eleanor Ellis, Gary Gartz, Larry Larson, Carol Leinbach, Keith Madsen, Gordon Norris, Sandra Simerson, Patrick Smith and Sharon Thompsen.

All life saving candidates must be qualified advance swimmers to be eligible for a try at their certificates. Eight swimmers earned, at least, this eligibility requirement: Helen Baxter, Carolyn Classick, Anita Downs, Gary Dunton, Margaret Eccles, Alice Koppernagel, Bill Meints and Carol Thompsen.

Legion Juniors to Take On Tomahawks Tonight

Belmond's Junior Legion baseball team will step into fast competiton this evening at the high school diamond when they take on the Tomahawks, no less.

The Tommies are aiming to sharpen up their batting eyes against the juniors' pitching, preparatory to their big game Sunday with Garner — and the juniors are determined to give their elders a real run for their money. The game starts at 6:15 p. m.

Sunday the two local teams will be co-attractions at the same diamond. The Legion Juniors will meet Rockwell's Juniors at 12:45 p. m. a sa curtain-raiser to the Garner Tomahawk title contest.

Big Sea Bass Wins Prize For Steven Heathershaw

Steven R. Heathershaw of Rowan, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Nina Heathershaw, caught the prize fish and won a ship's pool while deep-sea fishing last week in the Atlantic ocean. The fishing party was off-shore about 10 miles when Steven hooked the large sea bass that topped the day's catch.

Steven and his mother have been visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Smith of East Orange, N. J., and the youngster was accompanied on the fishing jaunt by his uncle. Their craft was the E-Z II, captained by William Zuber, out of the Brielle Yacht Basin on the Manasquan River inlet.

Mrs. K. C. Nielsen, mother of Mrs. Arvid Hansen, is helping care for her new granddaughter. Mr. Lantz remained for the week.

Win Over Garner Will Let Belmond Share N-I Crown

NORTH IOWA STANDINGS

	W	L	Pct.
Garner	8	1	.888
Belmond	7	2	.777
Rowan	5	3	.625
Kanawha	5	4	.555
Rockwell	1	8	.111
Sheffield	0	8	.000

Belmond's Tomahawks set the stage for a fitting climax to their 1950 baseball season by whipping Rowan last Sunday, 4 to 2, thereby making their contest with Garner this weekend the "payoff".

The Tomahawks, alone, are in a position to climb even with Garner at the top of the North Iowa standings. A Belmond win here this coming Sunday would deadlock the two teams.

Garner enjoyed a free ride this past weekend, via a forfeit from Rockwell, as Belmond did the week before. In the only other loop game, Kanawha dumped Sheffield to plunge the latter more securely into the N-I cellar.

Besides the Belmond-Garner fracas next Sunday, Rowan and Kanawha will battle it out for third place and Sheffield will enjoy a gratis win over the now defunct Rockwell nine. These games will conclude the regular loop season except for a make-up game between Rowan and Sheffield, rain having caused cancellation of the regular scheduled tilt, and the usual post-season play-offs.

Belmond's victory over Rowan was every bit as narrow as the score indicates. Hits by "Doc" Misner, Phil Covington and Russ Gaetzke produced two Tomahawk runs in the second, and a triple in the sixth by Max Spain brought home Jake Koenen, who'd gained base on an error.

Rowan would have tied the count in the sixth, except for some over-ambitious base-running by Durton Toyne. He tried to reach home from first on a single by Burneil Jones and was caught at the plate. Bob Keleher, next man up, smashed a homer that would have knotted the game if Toyne had played it safe. That left the count 3 to 2.

Misner tallied again for Belmond in the ninth, coming home on a hit and an error after getting a pass to first base. Rowan threw a scare into the Tommies in their half of the ninth when Keleher doubled and, with two out, it looked like Dean Frease would be safe on a bobble by Koenen.

However, the Meservey ace concluded a juggling act by whipping the ball to first in time to beat Freese by about a stride; and instead of having the tying runs on base, Rowan was washed up.

Sunday's summary:
Belmond 020 001 001—4-7
Rowan 000 002 000—2-

Belmond Among Leading Communities In Support of State Safety Drive

In a radio round-up over station WHO at Des Moines regarding the drive for memberships in the Iowa Safety Congress statewide poster campaign, Belmond was cited last weekend as being one of the first communities in the state to give the project all-out support.

Glenn Martin, who has headed the Belmond Boy Scouts' solicitation for memberships, announced Monday that 47 local business firms have already signed up for the poster servise. He believes that there may be other s interested in participating. Display holders for the posters will be obtained for them if they will contact him by phone.

Following is a list of the firms that have subscribed for the "Plan for Safer Living" campaign: Meints Phillips 66, Central States Electric, Jacobson's Furniture, General Mills, Inc., Style Shop, Neil Flanagan Agency, Mennenga Service Station, Adams Pharmacy.

Spahn and Rose Lumber company, Jensen's Grocery, First State Bank, Courson-McNeal Agency, Western Auto Associate store, A. C. Hanson Agency, Loats Insurance Agency, Roy Henderson-Dr. A. M. Larson office, Case Hotel, Waddington's, Porter Standard Service, Berns D-X Service.

Downs Texaco Service, Hill Motel, Thompson Hybrid Corn company, Elliott's Hardware, Tip Top Super Valu, Kyseth and Dougherty, Thompsen Clothing, Woodward's, Ray's Radio and Television, Model Cleaners, Nolan Drug, Dan's Barber Shop, Diamond Brothers, Bonte Hardware.

Coast-to-Coast store, Helland and Long, Farmers Implement store, Hub Garage, Belmond Auto company, L. and G. Implement, Farmers Grain company, Belmond Independent, Mussell's Chevrolet garage, Belmond Cooperative Creamery, Meints Produce, Boone Furniture, Finn's Skelly Service.

At a state-wide rally of the Iowa Safety Congress in Des Moines Friday, Rev. W. B. Gamble, Wright county congress chairman, will report on preparations that have been made to support congress projects in this county.

The Rev. Mr. Gamble said he will report on county and community organization, on the progress of the safety poster subscription drive, and on the "state of readiness" here for the Drive Right campaign, Aug. 22 to Sept. 5.

In connection with the Drive Right campaign, the county chairman said his report to the congress would also cover participation here in the "check your car" program, and work being done on county road surveys.

The Rev. Mr. Gamble said the road survey is for the purpose of spotting hazardous places, and to clear weeds and vision obstructions from around intersections before the Drive Right campaign begins.

The Des Moines rally will be attended by all safety congress county chairmen, by congress officials and committee members, highway patrol supervisory officers and the governor's official safety coordinating committee.

The purpose of the rally is to consolidate the state-wide organization of the congress in preparation for the introduction of the safety poster service Aug. 17. This service will serve as a basis for all future congress projects.

At a meeting of the congress board of governors during the rally, a permanent state chairman will be elected. Frank Nye, Cedar Rapids, has been serving as temporary chairman.

Governor Beardsley will be the main speaker at a rally banquet tomorrow evening.

Fertilizing Pasture Boosts Beef Output, Cuts Costs, Speeds Steers' Weight Gains

More beef per acre at lower cost results from heavy pasture fertilization.

FERTILIZING pastures works in four ways to help farmers produce more beef per acre at lower cost, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing a recent statement by W. M. Beeson, Purdue University animal husbandman.

Beeson listed these advantages of pasture fertilization:

1—Steers on high producing pastures get more nutrients per mouthful of feed, because fertilization increases the quality as well as the quantity of the forage. Fertilization decreases the grass's fiber content, thus giving more total digestible units per a given amount of pasture.

2—A pasture's protein content can be increased from 50 to 100 per cent by the use of plenty of plant food.

3—Heavy fertilization helps increase the pasture's livestock carrying capacity. Good pastures will maintain one steer per acre, whereas it takes from two to four acres of poor pasture to support a steer.

4—Steers that are confined to lush grazing areas need less exercise to find the required nutrients. Thus they gain weight faster. Cattle on poor pasture spend more energy searching for nutrients so have less left for possible weight gains. Poor pastures are simply gymnasiums or exercise lots.

"If you don't believe this," said Beeson, "take your cattle out while they are on pasture and drive them a mile a day. Then see how fast they gain. Actually, you will drive off a lot of weight."

In stressing how fertilization helps produce more beef per acre at less cost, Beeson cited tests at the Miller-Purdue experimental farm. Fertilizing blue grass increased beef production about 200 pounds per acre, he reported, when 300 pounds of 0-20-0 and 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate were added.
